4-H CLUBBERS COMING.

THERE is no greater agency at work in the United States today in the interests of true Americanism than boys' and girls' club work.

Dr. Wilson, University of Montana economist who spoke before the Eastern Oregon Wheat League convened in Heppner last year, gave as the greatest stumbling block to Russia's five-year plan the failure of the Soviet government to place a premium on the home and family life.

Contrast this to the United States where every married man is or should be an executive, the head of a little government of his own, the problems of which it is up to him to solve, and the destiny of which depends upon his counsel and administrative principles.

In this primary governmental unit, as was said, the man should be the executive, for such is the American plan—"I promise to love, honor and obey." Granted that this is the case, the man may be likened to the governmental executive, and his helpmate, to the cabinet, directing the various lines of household activity.

Great care is used in the selection of our national executive, and the selection of his helpmate, the cabinet, is watched with keen interest to see that men of the proper capabilities and possessing the right ideals have charge of the nation's destiny.

Should less care be used to provide for the future security of the primary unit, than for the present orderly administration of the national government? Surely the future stability of the American government depends upon the security of the home.

Sunday School Lesson

International Sunday School Lesson for September 27

THE SPREAD OF CHRISTIANITY IN ASIA

Golden Texts: Acts 14:27; Rev. Samuel D. Price, D. D.

This Review Lesson is of special importance because of the large amount comprehended in the quarter's lessons and since the regular study has been interrupted in many cases by reason of the summer vacations.

Gloom incident to the crucifixion and then the Ascension of Jesus Christ was fully dispelled by the stupendous events that took place in Jerusalem on the Jewish feast of Pentecost.

Preaching and personal work followed, and miracles were confirming signs that attracted the attention of the people.

Church organization was developed as occasion required and the order of deacons was established to give adequate attention to the worthy poor.

When Heppner entertains the Morrow county 4-H Club fair October 10, it is helping to spread the message of boys' and girls' club work; it is encouraging the boys and girls already enlisted to greater effort in their work and putting its ock on the principles to which they have subscribed.

Every progressive business works constantly for new business, for this only is it possible to compensate for the loss of old business—a certain amount of which is bound to slip away—and to expand.

HARD TIMES AND MATRIMONY

FROM all over the country we get reports that there are more people getting married than there have been for a long time.

Some of the people who have noticed the increase in marriage licenses wonder how these young people have the courage to take the jump when jobs are scarce and none too secure.

We have been told of several cases where the young man lost his job and the girl kept hers. They had been engaged for some time but were waiting to get more of a stake together before hitching up.

On the whole, we think this getting married when times are hard is a good thing. We were beginning to fear that matrimony was going out of fashion.

For a while it seemed as if work too, were going out of fashion. There are not so many youngsters complaining because they have to do something for their pay as there were a couple of years ago.

WAR CLOUDS DISAPPEARING

IT REALLY looks as if the war cloud which has hung over the world ever since the Armistice were clearing away.

France and Germany are making friendly gestures toward each other. The Anti-Prohibition Association says that magicians are exceedingly bad, and that the proper way to handle the alcohol problem is thru education and moral suasion.

While business cycles thus have a throbbing, pulsating character, and ebb and flow, their movement lacks precise regularity. Human nature, as just noted, is intimately interwoven, and where ideas, ideals, fashions and motives play a heavy role allowance must be made for infinite variations and peculiarities.

While these peculiarities of particular business cycles add to the labors of business men, since forecasting cannot be done with the accuracy of tide tables, they add, also, variety and spice to life.

THE FAMILY DOCTOR

By JOHN JOSEPH GAINES, M.D.

ODDS AND ENDS.

Since I last touched this subject, I have noticed in the big daily newspapers that no fewer than twenty-five deaths have occurred from "heart disease" in one great metropolis of the middle-west.

Men—all of them. One none of them over sixty years old. All of them big, two-figured, bull-necked fellows. Some of them were personal acquaintances of mine.

Better be a skinny" with a bundle of nerves and a cow-horn stomach, in the mad chase for the dollar. Then, you can at least avert the heart disease benediction, the over-stuffed wares of the mortician, the tall marble shaft—all these, till you really want to die and have it over with.

each other. The French people are beginning to realize that the old days of Imperial ambition are a thing of the past in Germany, that the German people actually do control their own government, for the first time in history, and that they are just as human and peace-loving as the French themselves.

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

MARY A. NOTSON, Reporter. The W. C. T. U. is fifty-eight years old. It has organizations in more than 10,000 communities. It has gone forward, although it was predicted that when Miss Frances Willard passed away it would decline.

Steel rails, bolts, bars, wheels, concrete, brick, mortar, stone, glass, copper wire; these and their companion materials make up that strong and rigid slave, our "iron man." By such rigid means are the processes of twentieth century production controlled.

One of the leading women in the fight for nullification of the eighteenth amendment, speaking in Washington, said, "We have won the fight against prohibition; now we must win the fight against total abstinence." Yet, her organization parades itself as an organization in the interest of temperance.

The Anti-Prohibition Association says that magicians are exceedingly bad, and that the proper way to handle the alcohol problem is thru education and moral suasion. However, they do not seem to be using any of their time or money to put such a program into effect.

casting cannot be done with the accuracy of tide tables, they add, also, variety and spice to life. The business waters cannot become stagnant. There are always problems to be solved. In this ebb and flow of business is a challenge to the brains of business.

"Yes," said the facetious barber, "we're up-to-date here. We shave you while you wait."

"No; hat."
