

Local Happenings

John Anglin and Harlan Devin motored to Walla Walla Sunday to attend the quarterly convention and banquet of the Safeway and MacMarr stores. Close to 100 men were in attendance, all from this district, and Mr. Anglin reports a very profitable and enjoyable meeting. Mrs. Anglin and her father, Mr. Sowers, and Mrs. Charles Hiatt accompanied them as far as Weston and Milton.

Mrs. J. M. Burgess and daughter, Doris Elaine, have been visiting Heppner friends for the past week, coming up from their Salem home, and remaining here while Mr. Burgess has been doing field work in this part of the state in connection with his office as assistant state superintendent of public instruction. They have been house guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Poulson.

Maurice E. Smead of Portland enjoyed a hunt with his father, W. W. Smead, and Dr. A. D. McMurdo the end of the week. Mr. Smead is agency organizer for a life insurance company with headquarters in the city. He returned home Monday.

M. R. Morgan was a visitor here Wednesday from his home at Ione. The warmer weather with the showers is bringing up the grain and grass, but more rain is the real need of the north end of the county, Mr. Morgan states.

Elmer Griffith, warehouseman of Ione and Morgan, was looking after business here Wednesday forenoon. The continual rise in the wheat market is making the people of the Wheat City feel a lot better, Mr. Griffith says.

Al Rankin, manager of Hotel Heppner, left yesterday for Portland to attend the Pacific International Livestock exposition. He expected to show his English bulldog, Rascal, son of White Marquis, in the kennel show.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Sweek were visitors in the city last Thursday, coming over from their Pendleton home to attend the roll call evening of Heppner lodge No 358, B. P. O. Elks.

Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Mahoney were in attendance at the Washington-Stanford football game at Seattle last Saturday. Both are U. of W. alumni.

To Rent—Finished house, room for chickens, cow and pigs; known as Elbert Cox place. See George Moore, city. 32-33.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mankin were in the city Monday from their Ione farm home, and attended the Rod and Gun club dinner that evening.

A 35-cent dinner will be served by the Willing Workers of the Church of Christ beginning at 6 o'clock tomorrow evening.

Lost—Tire, tube and rim, 31x5.25, between Heppner and Kelley prairie. Suitable reward. Charles Jones, city.

Edward A. Lindeken, the Ione tractor farmer, was in the city for a short time Monday on business.

Mrs. J. E. Grimes, restaurant proprietor of Ione, was doing business in the city Monday.

Will weave your rugs into rugs and carpets. Margaret Rippee, city.

PINE CITY

ALMA NEILL, Correspondent.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles DeSpaine and son Eldon and daughter Betty, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Howland and children, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Gillette, Mr. and Mrs. Knight, all of Pendleton and Mr. and Mrs. Charley Bartholomew were Sunday visitors at the Joe Farley home.

Mrs. J. P. Conder, who has been visiting on Butter creek for the past week, returned to her home in Heppner Saturday.

Tom O'Brien, who has been in the Hot Lake sanitarium, came home Wednesday.

Mrs. W. D. Neill and Mrs. Conder called on Mrs. Jarmon Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Mary Bartholomew, who has been staying at the home of her son, Charley Bartholomew, went home with her daughter, Mrs. Floyd Dooley, who lives in Estacada.

Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Neill and Mrs. Conder made a business trip to Hermiston Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Young, Miss Marie Young and Paul Bull spent Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Burl Wattenburger.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Morehead went to Athena Saturday where they visited at the home of Mr. Morehead's sister, Mrs. Frank Coppock.

Church was held at Pine City Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. J. S. Moore visited Mrs. Gunnar Lindhe Saturday and Sunday and returned home Monday.

A shower was given Mrs. Walt Wigglesworth Friday afternoon at her home. Those who attended were Mrs. O. F. Thompson, Mrs. Hazel McCarty, Mrs. Mary Foley, Mrs. Phoebe Bartholomew, Mrs. Princess Thompson, Mrs. Fay Finch, Mrs. Nora Wattenburger, Mrs. Laura McCarty, Mrs. Ollie Neill, Mrs. Bernice Wattenburger, Mrs. Lucy O'Brien, Mrs. Isabella Corrigan, Mrs. Norma Neill, Mrs. Gladys Madison, Mrs. Gladys Corrigan, Mrs. Anne Schmidt. The delicious refreshments of apple pie and coffee were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Hughes and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hughes visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Bartholomew, Monday evening.

A party sponsored by the young people of the community was given at the Pine City auditorium Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Wattenburger and Burl Wattenburger and son Junior were visitors in Heppner and Ione Monday.

RENOVATING COMPLETED.

Renovating of the Luper building, damaged in the fire on Main street several weeks ago, is nearing completion, with quarters for the Curran Hat shop now being finished. The Clark barber shop has resumed business in their former location, with bright, new quarters, after doing business since the fire in the rear of the McAtee & Aiken pastime. The building has been modernized in front with large plate glass display windows, and presents an attractive appearance. The former Noble building has been razed, and the bakery building will be removed, the extent of the fire damage to these buildings exceeding the fifty percent limitation for reconstruction.

BRIGHTENING QUARTERS.

E. G. Noble and J. B. Snyder, who operate the Noble harness and shoe repair shop, have been actively engaged this week in painting and fixing up the interior of their new quarters in the Slocum building on lower Main street, into which they moved after the fire of a few weeks ago. Their place of business now presents an attractive appearance.

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

MARY A. NOTSON, Reporter.

Our wet friends in their propaganda attribute nearly every adverse condition to prohibition. They seem to work on the theory that because something has occurred since 1920 which is not all that we might desire, prohibition is to blame. If their argument is valid, then some other things should be included on the other side. No one would claim, however, that all of these things were wholly due to prohibition, but no fair minded person will deny that prohibition had much to do with them. Here are a few of them:

The loss of 17,000 saloons; the loss of $353,000 in Federal income from taxes on $1,817,000,000 worth of liquor; a decrease in 64 per cent in liquor drunk; a loss of 38 out of 50 "Keeley cure" and 50 out of 60 "Neal cure" organizations; a decrease of from 10 to 60 per cent in juvenile court cases; a loss of 54 per cent in the number of children cared for by welfare organizations; a decrease in the number of 18 to 20 year old boys sent to penal institutions amounting to 11 per cent. Is anybody sorry because of these losses?

Among the gains which have taken place, we may mention 28 per cent increase in milk consumption; a gain of 30,000,000 new savings depositors; 68,000,000 more life insurance policies; 47 per cent more hotels; a gain of 150 per cent in high school enrollment, and an increase of 500 per cent in the number of college students; a 30 per cent reduction in infant mortality. Prohibition is a big factor in all these things.

Will Rogers points out that statistics show that, since prohibition was adopted, the consumption of candy has gone up from $150,000,000 to $400,000,000 per year; soft drinks from $50,000,000 to $275,000,000; and ice cream from $55,000,000 to $306,000,000.

Of all the utterly foolish arguments for the legalizing of beer the one which crowns the list is that the depression would be relieved by the restoration of beer. There is not a beer drinking country as well off as we are. In everyone of those countries unemployment is more acute than it is here, and the general economic conditions are worse. Yet sensible people are expected to swallow this wet argument favoring beer.

A few nights ago, a genius by the name of Drake was "on the air" boosting for booze. He asserted that there is more liquor made now than there was in pre-prohibition days. And in almost the next breath he asserted that the repeal of prohibition would mean the use of a great deal more grain for the manufacture of liquor, and that this would help the farmer by reducing the surplus. Do not laugh about this, for there are people in this community who have been saying that this fellow had simply given prohibition a "knock-out."

Tip on Mayonnaise.

In making mayonnaise it must be remembered that much beating is necessary. It is also necessary to have all the ingredients and all the utensils very cold. They should be placed in the refrigerator two hours before making the dressing, if possible, but if that is not possible the bowl containing the ingredients while making should stand in a bowl of chopped ice.

Careful beating will usually keep mayonnaise from separating. If it does separate it is possible to make it good by adding to it a half cup of thick white sauce and beating it thoroughly until a creamy mixture results. A little more seasoning may then be necessary.

Delmonico Pudding

Put one quart of milk into a double boiler and let come almost to the boiling point. Beat yolks of five eggs light, add six tablespoons sugar and beat again until exceeding light. Mix three tablespoons of cornstarch with a little cold milk. Add to the eggs and sugar, and stir into the hot milk just as it is about to boil. Add a saltspoonful salt, then stir until well thickened. Pour into a dish that can be sent to the table and stand in the oven for ten or fifteen minutes until firm. Remove and spread over the pudding a layer of canned apricots or other fruit. Beat the whites of the eggs to a stiff froth, allowing one table-spoonful pulverized sugar to each egg. Spread lightly over the top and put into a coolish oven to color a golden brown.

French Dressing.

Rub a cold salad bowl with onion or garlic. Then put in it a half teaspoon of salt and a quarter teaspoon of pepper and a small cube of ice. Stir until the salt is dissolved and remove the ice. Pour in six tablespoons of olive oil and from one to two of vinegar or strained lemon juice. Beat thoroughly with a fork and then pour over salad, seeing that each piece of lettuce gets the dressing all over its surface. Any flavored vinegars may be used to give a special flavor.
