THE WASHINGTON BICEN-TENNIAL.

(Autocaster Service)

DEATION

TWO hundred years ago next month, on February 11, 1732, a son was born to Augustine Washson was born to Augustine wash-ington, a prosperous planter of Wakefield, Westmoreland County, Virginia. This year we are cele-brating the two hundredth anni-versary of the birth of George Washington, because the calendar system of the English-speaking world was changed in 1756, by dropping eleven days, we now celebrate Washington's birthday on February 22nd instead of February 11th. But this whole year will be given over to commemorating the Father of this country. Everybody who can possibly afford to do so ought to make a visit to the city of Washington, and the nearby home of George Washington, Mt. Vernon, as well as to his birthplace farther down the Potomac River, at some time or other during the year. It is our feeling that no true Ameri-can can really get the spirit of America without visiting our na tional capital and seeing the historic mementos of the great leader who made our nation possible. The very clothes that Washington wore are on exhibition in the National Museum in Washington. In the great memorial building on Shooter's Hill in Alexandria erected by the Masonic Order as a memorial to Washington, may be seen the apron he wore and the gavel he wielded as Master of Friendship Lodge. In Alexandria still stands school which he built and for the which he left an endowment in his will, while the very streets of the city are a memorial, for he was the young surveyor who laid them out. St. John's Church, in which he was a vestryman, is open to visitors who are privileged to sit in bring out all the facts, both the pew which Washington occu-pied, while back from Mt. Vernon way cotton and grain are handled." is the little country church at Pohick which he attended in his earlier years. Mt. Vernon itself stands almost as Washington left with much of the furniture which he used.

Any time of the year is a good time to visit Washington. The city named for the great revolutionary leader grows more beautiful year by year and easier to get to from any part of the country. Even if you can spare no time or money tions. The farm board has nothing for any other holiday in 1932 by all to hide from the public, or should institutions to the subject of home building. According to those who keep track of such things, the country, as a whole, is five or six years behind its normal home Young folks building program. continue to grow up and get mar-ried and to desire homes of their own, and in almost every part of the country there is a shortage of available modern houses. The big problem is how to finance home building, but if the national plans which are now being developed work out there is going to be plenty of money available for those who wish to own their own homes but to not wish to pay an excessive price for mortgage money. It is possible today for any one who has a steady job, or an income that can be relied upon, to build a comfortable modern house by pay-ing in more than a quarter of the total vale of the house and lot and spreading the rest of the payment over a term of from ten to fifteen years. That is always a safe in-vestment. The would-be home wners who get into trouble are usually those who try to build a home on a smaller personal investment than 25 percent of the cost. And there never was a better time to build than now, when all sorts of building materials are cheaper than they have been for many years, and there is ample labor available at easonable wages. Once the program of home building gets under way, it will do more than anything else to revive business generally. It will make busi-ness for the manufacturers of plumbing, lighting and heating supplies, of lumber, brick, cement and all of the items that go into the construction of a house and, best of all, it will make business for the local dealers in these things, besides giving work to craftsmen in the building trades. Houses have to be furnished, and to do that makes for more business. Every house that is built adds to the wealth of the community and becomes another stabilizing influence against possible future depressions

By all means everybody who can possibly afford to do so and does not already own his own home ought to prepare now to build this spring.

LET'S SEE BOTH SIDES OF THIS FARM BOARD BATTLE.

Oregon Farmer CHAIRMAN STONE of the fed-eral farm board made two proposals in a recent meeting with which we wish to express hearty accord:

(1) When asked if he expected to investigate the farm board he replied that the board would wel-come an investigation, "but we feel that if an investigation is made by congress of the activities of the grain and cotton stabilization corporations and of the many other things the board has done, it should include in the investigation all the cotton and grain exchanges and old (2) When asked if he favored the so-called debenture plan or the equalization fee plan as modifications of the marketing act, he said he was for them when convinced they would help the farmer, but, "I think it wise to give the present conditions. That has not been done so far."

have been criticized for having failed to bring into being a perfect marketing condition for agriculture. The act was passed, the board was created and the friends of agriculture at large sat back, drew a sigh of satisfaction and said to themselves: "There! The job is done! Farm relief has been obtained!"

But the deck had not been cleared. The whole world was in an increasing economic turmoil. Business of every kind and everywhere was out of joint. Europe, Asia, Africa, both Americas, Borneo, and Tatoosh isle were distraught, unbalanced, out of gear-radiator boiling, carburetor out of adjustment, water in the gas and the oil pump not working properly.

And we expected the farm marketing act to function with 100 per cent efficiency under conditions like that! And we let the enemy damn it before the general public because it was not able to bring complete harmony out of world-wide chaos! We submit that the degree of suc cess which it has attained under such abnormal circumstances nothing short of amazing. We agree with President Hoover that the farm marketing act is a "fundamental beginning" in a great movement for sound and perman-ent agricultural stability.

We accept the challenge of its enemies. We go to the mat with them and fight it out. We will not surrender the advancement made

WHAT IS FORESTRY TOLD BY CHIEF

Extent of Science and Definition of Terms Given For Benefit of Muddled Public.

Forestry as an abstract idea has spread rapidly but forestry as the concrete, practical science of handling woodlands is far from being thoroughly understood, states Regional Forester C. J. Buck of the U. S. forest service. It is not sur-prising that such should be the case, for local conditions in different forest regions have made it ned essary to emphasize one certain phase of forestry, as for instance fire protection, planting, and in-sect and blister rust control. Hence forestry has come to "mean many things to many men.' "Forestry" is a basket-like word, defined as the art or science of forming and caring for forests. It includes all phases of forest activ-ity from planting trees to harvest-Evidently her spinal muscles were suffering from over-use. Just musing them when grown. Forests should be protected from fire, disease, insects; they should be improved to increase the rate of owth and quality of product; and if there are areas suitable for forests now lying idle, they should be reforested. Forest protection, therefore, is part of forestry; forest cultivation, or silviculture, is part of forestry; and reforestation and afforestation are part of forestry The proper understanding of these relationships is essential to a know-

Sunday School Lesson

International Sunday School Lesson for January 3. THE SON OF GOD BECOMES MAN. John 1:1-18

Rev. Samuel D. Price, D. D.

Another five-year cycle of study begins with this lesson. During 1932 we have three months with the Life of Christ, based on John's Gospel, six months with Genesis and the Era of Moses, and a closing quarter on "Christian Standards of Life." Especially helpful volumes for the year are "Peloubet's Select Notes," Tarbell's "Teacher's Guide," and Snowden's "Sunday School Lessons." Vest pocket compendi-ums are "Gist of the Lesson," Wells, and "Points for Emphasis," Moore.

You will wish to read the complete record as found in the four gospels. A "Harmony of the Gospels" is especially useful throughout the course. Matthew and Luke give the details that are related to the birth of Jesus in Bethlehem. But John goes still further back in time when he says "In the begin-ning was the Word." Here is a direct reference to the eternal exis-tence of the Second Person in the Trinity, the Son-Christ (Messiah).

John is then introduced. This is the son of Zacharias and Elisabeth. He is known as John the Baptist and is not to be confused with John the beloved disciple who wrote the Gospel we are now studying. In Luke 1 you will find fascinating details that are related to the birth of this really Old Testament character, who is styled the Forerunner of the Messiah.

Sublime activities are attributed to this Son of God. He had His major part in creation during the major part in creation during the long ago. The purpose of His earthly ministry was to provide a way of salvation for sinful man: "But as many as received Him, to them gave He the right to become children of God," John 1:12.
