

EDUCATION FILMS LISTED BY COLLEGE

Visual Education Department Gives Information on Subjects Obtainable at Low Cost.

The department of visual education of the extension service of Oregon State college, Corvallis, is state distributor for a group of motion picture films on George Washington.

In devising means that would properly reveal Washington's contributions to American civilization, the Federal George Washington Bicentennial commission has recommended the use of motion pictures depicting the life and deeds of our first president.

The college film service also has the following films produced by Yale University Press Film Service: "Gateway to the West" or Washington the Soldier; "Yorktown" or Washington, the General; "Alexander Hamilton" or Washington, the President.

Both of these sets may be had in either 16 MM or 35 MM prints at extremely low rental prices, as compared with the cost of production, plus transportation charges.

One other Washington film is also ready for distribution from the film service. "George Washington," a one reel, 16 MM film showing a memorial to Washington and scenes of battles and other historical spots. This film traces Washington's career as statesman, and president for two terms, after which he retires from political life and returns to Mt. Vernon. This also rents at a nominal cost, plus transportation.

For further information on these films write or see your county agent, C. W. Smith.

A new film, "League of Nations," produced by the League of Nations association, is now ready for distribution. This is a 35 MM, two reel film which can be run in about 20 minutes. This film shows the beginning of the war, the nations coming into the war, the cost of the war in dollars and humanity, great figures at the peace conference, the map of Europe changes, the world court in session, etc.

Of interest to teachers and students of biology is a set of silent biological school films. These are 35 MM rental films. The subjects are as follows: "Micro-organisms of a Hay Infusion," "Reproduction," "Development," "A Microscopic View of the Blood Circulation," "Inherent Characters," "Precipitates," "Flowers," "Seeds and Seedlings," "Paper White Narcissus," "Harvesting the Golden Fruit."

A new set of glass slides has just been added to the slide and film library of the college. "The Byrd Antarctic Expedition Series." This is made up of five units: (1) The Ships, and the buildings of Little America; (2) Life in Little America and on the Trails; (3) The Flights; (4) The Dogs and Antarctic Animal Life; (5) Ice and Icebergs.

These slides are made from actual photographs taken by Captain Ashley C. McKinley, official photographer of the Byrd expedition, on the trip to Little America, and were made up by the Keystone View company.

IONE.

JENNIE E. McMURRAY.

The 6th district conference of the American Legion will meet in Ione Saturday, February 20. The following committees have been named by the Ione post and are already hard at work laying their plans to make the convention a grand success: Housing, Elisha Sperry, Cecil Thorn and Carl Troedson; entertainment, Jack Faris, William Hayes and Raymond Crowder; dance, Charles Dane, Cleo Drake and Oren Grabbill. The banquet will be served at 5 o'clock p. m. in Masonic hall dining room. The business session will be at 7:30 and this will be followed by the dance at Legion hall which is open to the public.

S. Salter of La Grande paid his daughter, Mrs. Clarence Biddle, a brief visit last week when he passed through here on his way to Portland. The gentleman expects to return this week and will visit again at the Biddle home on Willow creek.

Mr. and Mrs. Ora Barlow of Hermiston visited Friday and Saturday at the Lee Howell home. They were enroute to Corvallis to take the canning course as offered by Oregon State college. Mr. Barlow is taking this course of instruction that he may be better fitted to carry on his work in the co-operative cannery at Hermiston. During their absence Mrs. Howell is caring for their children.

J. E. Grimes and Clell Ray departed Tuesday by truck with the Grimes ranch near Trent as their destination.

The Walter Corley family were Pendleton visitors Saturday, going over to have glasses re-fitted for their young son.

Mrs. Fred Mankin and Mrs. Lee Beckner motored to Pendleton on Thursday of last week. While Mrs. Beckner shopped, Mrs. Mankin had a pleasant session with the dentist, Miss Lines. Troedson, member of the high school faculty at Echo, spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Johan Troedson at the ranch home north of town.

George Ely was happily surprised Sunday when about twenty of his friends and well-wishers arrived with well filled lunch baskets and feasted with him at the dinner hour. The occasion was the anniversary of Mr. Ely's birth.

Mrs. M. Jordan was called to the Bergen Ledbetter home the latter part of last week to care for Mrs. Ledbetter who was very ill. Mrs. Jordan returned home Monday, leaving her patient much improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Anderson and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Jones, and small grandson, Louis, Jr., departed Friday for their home in Portland after a pleasant ten days' visit in the Charles Battersby home on Second street. Mr. and Mrs. Anderson are the parents of Mrs. Battersby.

Mrs. Ella Davidson left last week for Toppenish, Wash., for a visit at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Arthur Rice.

Mrs. Mary Rood and U. S. Burk visited briefly the latter part of last week at the home of Mrs. Rood's sister, Mrs. Henry Clark. Mrs. Rood and Mr. Burk were on their way to their homes in Portland after having attended the Woolgrowers' convention in Pendleton.

The Ione high school basketball Saturday night. Our boys were defeated by a score of 21-33.

Next Friday night there will be double header games in Ione between our teams and the Condon teams. The game will start promptly at 7:30 p. m. Come out and support our home teams. They need your backing.

The high school students have set the date February 12 as the time of their basket social and old time dance. An interesting program is being prepared. The social will be held in the school auditorium. There will be no admission charges.

Mr. and Mrs. John Turner of Heppner were dinner guests Sunday at the home of Mrs. Turner's sister, Mrs. Victor Rietmann.

For the past two weeks Mrs. Fred Nicholson has been receiving treatment in a Portland hospital. Her husband and little daughter accompanied her to the city.

The American Legion is sponsoring the organization of a Boy Scout troop in Ione. The committee which has charge of the organization is composed of Walter Roberts, Fred Mankin and Charley Dane.

Mrs. Dale Ray went to The Dalles the first of last week where she entered the hospital and submitted to a major operation. Going with her was Mr. Ray and her daughter, Gladys Brashers. Mr. Ray and Miss Brashers returned to Ione on Friday evening and report that Mrs. Ray is making a satisfactory recovery.

The farmers meeting held Friday in Ione was well attended and all addresses given during the afternoon were both instructive and interesting.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hatch were Arlington visitors Friday night. Mr. Hatch went down to attend a meeting of Standard Oil men.

The Past Noble Grand club met Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. E. Swanson. Ladies present besides the hostess were Mrs. Arvilla Swanson, Mrs. Etta Howell, Mrs. Etta Bristow, Mrs. Vida Heller, Mrs. Lena Lundell, Mrs. Luvisa Louy, Mrs. Ruth Lundell, Mrs. Bernice Blackwell, Mrs. Amy Sperry, Mrs. Clara Howk, Mrs. Oliver Kincaid, and Mrs. Lana Padberg.

Degrees of initiation were conferred on Mrs. Kincaid and Mrs. Padberg and election of officers was held with the following results: Miss Lucile Bristow, president; Mrs. Mary Swanson, vice-president; Mrs. Clara Howk, secretary-treasurer.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bergevin entertained at luncheon Friday night the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Werner Rietmann, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lieualen, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Beckner, Mrs. Harlan McCurdy, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Smith. Bridge was the diversion of the evening.

Lawrence Jones of Condon was a Friday night guest at the home of his cousin, Charley Botta.

The first of the week A. E. Stefani took a truck load of hogs to the Portland market for Mr. Feeley, owner of the Rankin ranch on Rhea creek. On the return trip, Mr. Stefani brought a load of calves for Clarence Biddle who operates a dairy and alfalfa ranch on Willow creek.

As a result of the semester examinations held recently in our schools, the following pupils have their names on the honor roll: Seniors: First Honor Roll, Ralph Thompson, Muriel Patterson, Ralph Gibson, Minnie Normoyle; Second Honor Roll, Norton Lundell, Clara Nelson, Francis Ely, Juniors: First Honor Roll: Elwayne Lieualen, Ruth Keene; Second Honor Roll, Margaret Ely; Sophomores, First Honor Roll, Cyril Trevett, Alfred Nelson, Leo Young; Second Honor Roll, Bery Akers, Raymond Lundell; Freshmen, First Honor Roll, Clifford Yarnell; Second Honor Roll, Jane Collins, Harriet Heliker, Bryce Keene, Carl Lindeken.

Seventh grade: Junior Mason, Margaret Lindeken and Betty Trevett; sixth grade, Betty Bergevin, Maxine McCurdy and Ruth Crawford; fifth grade, Joan Spivey, Bernice Ring, Helen Lundell and Helen Lindsay; fourth grade, Dorothy Brady; third grade, Mary K. Blake; second grade, Van Rietmann; first grade, Betty Lou Lindsay.

Last Friday evening George Ely entertained his friends with a dancing party at his home on Second street. The guests present were Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Ely and Miss Margaret, Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Ely, W. F. Palmateer, W. G. Palmateer, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Swanson, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Swanson and Miss Eva, Mr. and Mrs. Johan Troedson, Carl Troedson, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Eckleberry, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Lundell, and Misses Mildred and Helen, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Howell, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Bristow and Walter, Mr. and Mrs. French Burroughs, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Matthews, James Warfield, Roland Wade, Miss Gladys Brashers, Claud Erashers, Norman Everson, Mabel Cool, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Howk, Emmet Botta, Robert Botta, Lawrence Jones and Francis Ely. Music was furnished by Emmet and Robert Botta. At a late hour refreshments were served and the guests departed thanking Mr. Ely for a most enjoyable evening.

The L. M. and E. W. Club was entertained Sunday at the Fred Lucas home in Lexington. Besides the club members and hosts, there were present Mr. and Mrs. C. W. McNamara and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Menegat of Heppner and Miss Florence Emmons and Lyle R. Riggs of Ione.

On Wednesday Mrs. D. M. Ward had as dinner guests at her country home Mrs. Adelia Godfrey and Mrs. Emily McMurray.

Mrs. Bert Mason and Mrs. D. M. Ward attended the meeting Monday evening of the Past Matron's club at the home of Mrs. Earl Gilliam in Heppner.

A family birthday dinner was held Sunday at the C. W. Swanson home in celebration of the birthday anniversaries of Mrs. Frank Engelman, G. A. Pettys and C. W. Swanson—all anniversaries coming within the month of January. Present were Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Troedson and daughter Frances, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Engelman, G. A. Pettys, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Swanson and Miss Eva, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lundell, Mildred, Helen, Richard and Norton, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lundell and children and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Swanson.

Preliminary work for the county declamatory contest has started in our schools.

WOOLGROWERS ACT ON MANY PROBLEMS

(Continued from First Page.)

lege extension service for help in the "Eat More Lamb" campaign, and support given the National Woolgrowers' resolutions referring to Tariff Policy, Better Livestock Financing as Contained in Hoover's Reconstruction Program, Organization Support, Truth in Fabric Policy, and Taxation Adjustments.

Thanks were expressed to the officers of the association and to the women's auxiliary for their part in carrying out the year's program of activity.

The wage scale recommended for the 1932 season was: eight cents a head and board, or ten cents a head without board, to shearers; 1 1/2 cent per head for tagging, and $40 a month with board for men employed in lambing, herding and camp-tending.

Tax Committee Sanctioned.

Recognizing the heavy burden imposed on the industry by taxation, a committee was authorized to cooperate with tax committees from other agricultural industries in order that a uniform program for the reduction of taxes may be agreed upon and carried out, and to undertake other measures, outlined in the resolution, looking to relief from this burden.

Recommendation was made that some of the unemployment relief funds be made available to the U. S. Biological survey for the hiring of additional men to control predatory animals and rodents. The work of the biological survey was commended.

Expression of thanks was tendered E. Skaggs and his organization, and newspapers for help in stimulating lamb consumption; also to Swift & Co. for supplying much advertising matter. Endorsement was given the principle of cooperative marketing, with careful consideration asked of members to this method of marketing wool; and the National Wool Marketing corporation was asked to speed the final payments on various pools of wool, and to keep their members informed at three-month intervals of the progress of wool sales.

Special thanks were accorded Frank J. Hagenbarth, national president, and Erle M. Racey, advertising manager, for their part in carrying on the national "Eat More Lamb—Wear More Wool" campaign, and all sheeps were urged to lend all possible financial support to the campaign.

Lamb pool marketing was favored in counties where farm flocks of sheep predominate; with the belief that success of the pool system is dependent upon the proper grading of lambs previous to shipment.

Commission brokers were asked to voluntarily reduce their charges during these times of economic stress, and submit revised schedules to the secretary of agriculture for his approval and authorization of effectiveness, with the understanding that the growers' organization will concede a raise in charges when conditions justify.

The National Woolgrowers' recommendation that a five-cent per head stock-yard charge be granted as an emergency measure, was endorsed, with a vigorous campaign sanctioned to obtain such a charge, the understanding to be that the charges may be advanced when normal conditions again prevail.

The organization resolved to stand squarely behind the present tariff provisions affecting wool as being beneficial to the industry. Resolutions of respect in memory of Judge William Doby and Robert Withycombe, members of the association who died in the last year, were passed by unanimous standing vote.

Dallas—Polk county dairy herds are almost completely free from tuberculosis, reports County Agent J. R. Beck, who says that practically every dairy animal in the county over one year old has been tested for this disease during the past two years and only one reactor found. Increased interest is also being shown in the eradication of infectious abortion, with a resultant decrease in the number of reactors to this test.

Local ads in the Gazette Times bring results.

At Heppner CHURCHES

CHURCH OF CHRIST. JOEL R. BENTON, Minister. Mrs. Wm. Poulson, Director of Music. Bible School, 9:45 A. M. Morning Worship, 11 o'clock. Senior and Junior Christian Endeavor, 6:30 P. M. Evening Worship, 7:30 o'clock. Choir rehearsal, Wednesday evening, 7:30 o'clock. Church Night, Thursday evening, 6:30 o'clock.

PEDDLERS OF DISCOURAGEMENT.

"Our brethren have discouraged our hearts."—Deut. 1-28.

Moses is here speaking of the ten spies who brought back the cowardly report about the giants and walled cities in Canaan, and who thus spread dismay in the camp of Israel, just as they were ready to enter into the Promised Land. The result was tremendously calamitous. Israel was turned back into the Wilderness and shut out of the Promised Land for forty years.

Discouragers like these ten spies are ever among us. They are ever going about, peddling gloom and pessimism and discouragement everywhere they go. They see grasshoppers as giants. They see only dark clouds and never the silver lining behind them. They live in the valley of shadows and never attempt to climb to the heights where the sun is shining. They never see the stars that shine and burn as beacons of hope in the heavens above. Not content to keep their fears and doubts to themselves, they go around quenching the light of cheer and hope that shines in the hearts of others.

How I dread to have these Peddlers of Discouragement come around me. They never make you feel braver, or stronger or happier. They take the very heart out of you; and make you feel as if there were less to live for. They make life and work and achievement harder for us all! And what crimes they commit! Thousands have been turned back by them from the Promised Land of success into the Wilderness of defeat and despair. Oh, let us be done with these unworthy Peddlers of Discouragement. If we have been in their ranks—let us step out of their drab company forever! If we have been listening to them—listen no longer. Let us align ourselves with the Caleb and Joshua type and group and bring in a great report that, God with us, we are able to take the country and enter into the Promised Land of spiritual and moral and material success! If you have not a church home, we invite you to come and worship with us. Come and be in our Bible school, and remain for the services of worship in this warm, friendly church. You will feel at home. For the coming Lord's Day the sermon topics are: morning worship, "What Ails Our World"; evening worship, "The Greatest Lie in Heppner."

Thomas Paine Was Early Day Editor in Colonies

As the country pays tribute to George Washington during this year, marking the 200th anniversary of his birth, the United States George Washington Bicentennial commission reminds us that it is well to mark with some thought the anniversaries of other patriots without whose loyal help George Washington might never have been able to achieve what he did. On these is Thomas Paine, who was born on January 29, one hundred and ninety-five years ago. This remarkable man was the son of a Quaker who lived in Thetford, England, a stay-maker by trade. Like all sturdy English yeomen, the father expected his son to follow the family calling, but young Thomas soon tired of making stays and became an excise-man. After a turn at this, he tried teaching in London. But already he had shown evidences of an intelligence far out of the ordinary, and had gained the acquaintance of Benjamin Franklin, then living in England. In 1774, Paine emigrated to America, bearing a letter of recommendation from Franklin, and soon obtained the editorship of "The Pennsylvania Magazine," published in Philadelphia. Even then the American air was full of the spirit of independence, and Paine not merely swung into the movement but rapidly forged to a place of leadership. It appeared that his genius was waiting for just such an opportunity, and, using his magazine as a means of expression, Paine launched the first of those writings that soon inflamed the country with enthusiasm for freedom. This was his "Common Sense," afterward issued in pamphlet form and circulated all over the Colonies. It blew away every distinction between king and commoner, boldly urged Americans to assert their own national sovereignty, and so stirred public opinion to the highest pitch.

In a publication of all Paine's letters and writings, the late Moncure D. Conway presents his remarkable writer as playing a mighty part in the shaping of the future United States. It is Conway's belief that Paine, by his clarion writings, laid the foundation for the Declaration of Independence and even some articles in the Constitution. We know that Washington was one of his eager readers, and that he deeply respected Paine for the tremendous influence this writer exerted in maintaining public morale during the darkest moments of the Revolution. Indeed, Paine's famous broadside beginning "These are the times that try men's souls," was written, it is said, on the head of a drum when Paine was a soldier under Washington's command and when the discouragements of the retreat across the Jerseys had dashed public support of the war to its lowest depths.

In the fall of 1776 Paine enlisted as a volunteer in the Continental Army and became aide-de-camp to General Greene. But military duties, far from stopping his pen, only gave him a more intimate insight with which to write, and during this period with the army Paine began that series of 16 pamphlets which he assembled under the general title of "The Crisis." These maintained his reputation as one of the leading influences of the Revolution.

But writing far from exhausted all of Paine's abilities. In 1777 he was made secretary of the newly formed Committee of Foreign Affairs established by Congress. He served one year as clerk of the Pennsylvania Assembly. In 1782 Washington got him a grant of $800, from Congress to continue his writings. In 784 New York gave him a tract of 277 acres of land in New Rochelle; Pennsylvania gave him 500 pounds, and, in 1785, Congress awarded him $3,000 to keep him from want. With independence won in America, Paine was next attracted to the struggle for liberty in France, and played a prominent part in the French revolution, at one time being thrown into prison and narrow-bank is obtained by selling debentures on the open market. Last Set-Up Best.

NO QUICK FEDERAL RELIEF EXPECTED

(Continued from Page One)

The federal intermediate credit bank was formed for the purpose of making capital loans on livestock, its capital being wholly supplied by the government. It operates similar to the federal land bank in that loans are not made directly to borrowers. It rediscunts paper of local farm loan associations whose stock is subscribed by members, only after the association has deposited a percentage of its capital stock in the form of government bonds with it. And it carefully selects the securities it wishes to take. The borrower whose paper is taken by the intermediate credit bank is not directly responsible to the federal bank which looks to the local loan association for payment. Mr. Mahoney considered the set-up of the intermediate credit bank better than that of the borrower, in that the collection policy is more in the hands of the local company.

He criticized the set-up of the federal banks in that the stockholders have no control over their policies. Take advantage of hot oil and finger wave or marcell special next week. Chapin's Beauty Shop, phone 1112.

Garnet Barratt Named On New Board Directors

Garnet Barratt of Heppner will represent the counties of Gilliam, Jefferson, Morrow, Sherman, Wasco, Wheeler and Hood River on the board of directors of the Pacific Cooperative Wool Growers, as a result of the membership election held on January 22 at the county agent's office in Heppner.

A feature of the election throughout the entire territory served by the Pacific Wool Growers was the unusually heavy vote cast by the wool grower members, indicating a growing interest in the business operations of their cooperative organizations. Directors elections are held annually at which time fourteen grower-members are elected to govern the association for the ensuing year. Votes are cast in person or by mail.

Mr. Barratt is prominent in wool growing circles of the state of Oregon. He is a vice-president of the Oregon Wool Growers association, state service organization. His father is William Barratt, old time shepman and a former member of the state highway commission. Both Garnet Barratt and his father have been members of the Pacific Cooperative Wool Growers for a number of years.

Other Eastern and Central Oregon wool growers elected to the cooperative's board of directors include Michael P. Barry, Merrill; Carl Whitmore, Joseph; Fred Phillips, Keating; and Joe Keerins, Ize. Western Oregon will be represented by E. A. McCornack of Eugene and G. A. Sander of Scio. Directors from Washington are J. T. Alexander, Chehalis; Albert Davis, Pullman; and J. O. Sorenson, Ellensburg. J. O. Rhoades, Piggins, Idaho, will represent that state. California and Nevada directors include L. A. Robertson, Garberville; Dr. Edwin Bunnell, Willows; and J. D. Yeager, Wellington, Nevada.

Thomas Paine Was Early Day Editor in Colonies

As the country pays tribute to George Washington during this year, marking the 200th anniversary of his birth, the United States George Washington Bicentennial commission reminds us that it is well to mark with some thought the anniversaries of other patriots without whose loyal help George Washington might never have been able to achieve what he did. On these is Thomas Paine, who was born on January 29, one hundred and ninety-five years ago. This remarkable man was the son of a Quaker who lived in Thetford, England, a stay-maker by trade. Like all sturdy English yeomen, the father expected his son to follow the family calling, but young Thomas soon tired of making stays and became an excise-man. After a turn at this, he tried teaching in London. But already he had shown evidences of an intelligence far out of the ordinary, and had gained the acquaintance of Benjamin Franklin, then living in England. In 1774, Paine emigrated to America, bearing a letter of recommendation from Franklin, and soon obtained the editorship of "The Pennsylvania Magazine," published in Philadelphia. Even then the American air was full of the spirit of independence, and Paine not merely swung into the movement but rapidly forged to a place of leadership. It appeared that his genius was waiting for just such an opportunity, and, using his magazine as a means of expression, Paine launched the first of those writings that soon inflamed the country with enthusiasm for freedom. This was his "Common Sense," afterward issued in pamphlet form and circulated all over the Colonies. It blew away every distinction between king and commoner, boldly urged Americans to assert their own national sovereignty, and so stirred public opinion to the highest pitch.

In a publication of all Paine's letters and writings, the late Moncure D. Conway presents his remarkable writer as playing a mighty part in the shaping of the future United States. It is Conway's belief that Paine, by his clarion writings, laid the foundation for the Declaration of Independence and even some articles in the Constitution. We know that Washington was one of his eager readers, and that he deeply respected Paine for the tremendous influence this writer exerted in maintaining public morale during the darkest moments of the Revolution. Indeed, Paine's famous broadside beginning "These are the times that try men's souls," was written, it is said, on the head of a drum when Paine was a soldier under Washington's command and when the discouragements of the retreat across the Jerseys had dashed public support of the war to its lowest depths.

In the fall of 1776 Paine enlisted as a volunteer in the Continental Army and became aide-de-camp to General Greene. But military duties, far from stopping his pen, only gave him a more intimate insight with which to write, and during this period with the army Paine began that series of 16 pamphlets which he assembled under the general title of "The Crisis." These maintained his reputation as one of the leading influences of the Revolution.

But writing far from exhausted all of Paine's abilities. In 1777 he was made secretary of the newly formed Committee of Foreign Affairs established by Congress. He served one year as clerk of the Pennsylvania Assembly. In 1782 Washington got him a grant of $800, from Congress to continue his writings. In 784 New York gave him a tract of 277 acres of land in New Rochelle; Pennsylvania gave him 500 pounds, and, in 1785, Congress awarded him $3,000 to keep him from want. With independence won in America, Paine was next attracted to the struggle for liberty in France, and played a prominent part in the French revolution, at one time being thrown into prison and narrowly escaping the guillotine, for arguing in behalf of the deposed king. He continued a prisoner until James Monroe, the new American minister to France, finally obtained his release. But during his months in prison, Paine lost favor with many of his former idolaters by writing his much-misunderstood book, "The Age of Reason," an argument for deism which many took to be atheistic. This work long cast a shadow over an otherwise doughty patriot and lover of liberty. Now his fame is emerging from under this shadow, and his truly remarkable genius and accomplishments begin to shine for what they were: writer, philosopher, soldier, and champion of liberty.

Maryland Beauty Queen

Miss Stella McGrady, 22, Rising Sun schoolteacher, won the beauty contest of the Maryland Farm Federation from fifteen other contestants.

Try a G. T. Want Ad.

We carry of full line of DAIRY and POULTRY FEEDS

We have the right feed for finishing turkeys for the market at low cost.

Steam Rolled and Dry Ground Barley and Wheat always on hand.

Special Rabbit Feed now in stock.

Heppner Trading Co. Inc. PHONE 1482 HEPPNER

Oregon City—A filbert orchard on the C. A. Vonderohr farm south of Oregon City produced only 4160 pounds per acre, even with the help of a rye and vetch cover crop. Nitrogen added to the soil failed to improve the yield, but nitrogen and phosphorus boosted the yield to 22,046 pounds per acre and the complete fertilizer made 24,960 pounds of green crop to plow under.

NOTICE OF SALE OF ANIMAL.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of the laws of the State of Oregon I have taken up the following described animal found running at large on my premises in Morrow County, State of Oregon; and that I will on Saturday, the 30th day of January, 1932, at the hour of 10:00 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, at my place on Rock creek, 1 mile below Parkers Mill, Oregon, offer for sale and sell the said animal to the highest bidder for cash in hand, unless the said animal shall have been redeemed by the owner or owners thereof. Said animal is described as follows:

One sorrel gelding, about 7 years old, weight about 350 pounds and branded XI on right shoulder. ELMER MUSGRAVE, Hardman, Oregon.

NOTICE OF ANNUAL STOCK-HOLDERS MEETING.

Notice is hereby given that the annual meeting of the stockholders of Heppner Mining Company will be held at the office of the First National Bank in Heppner, Oregon, on the second Tuesday in February, being the 9th day of February, 1932, at the hour of 2 o'clock in the afternoon of said day. The meeting is for the purpose of electing officers and for the transaction of such other business as may appear. D. B. STALTER, President. J. O. HAGER, Secretary.

ShellFish AND Oysters

ON OUR MENU DAILY

afford a delicately appetizing change for your diet.

Prepared to your order—the way you like them.

MEALS AT ALL HOURS

ELKHORN RESTAURANT ED CHINN, Prop.

STAR THEATER

Beginning January 1st, all evening admissions 40c for adults and 20c for children. Sunday Matinee at 2:00 p. m., one showing only, 30c and 15c.

Now Running Every Night, Three Changes Per Week.

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY, JANUARY 29-30:

KEN MAYNARD in "THE TWO GUN MAN"

With his famous horse "Tarzan." A plunging picture of the West when gun smoke mingled with the dust from pounding hoofs. Action, Mystery, Love.

Also "Our Boy Friends" in CALL A COP, two reel comedy, and SPEARS OF DEATH, No. 4 of the African Adventures.

SUNDAY AND MONDAY, JAN. 31- FEB. 1:

WALLACE BEERY, JACKIE COOPER and IRENE RICH in "THE CHAMP"

Here it is. Everyone has asked when it will be here. Could not get it sooner because all the big theaters wanted it in a hurry. If you have not seen it, now's your chance.

Also Cartoon Comedy and Novelty HOT NEWS MARGE.

TUES., WED., THURS, FEBRUARY 2-3-4:

"AROUND THE WORLD IN EIGHTY MINUTES"

With DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS. Fresh, Vivid, Really Different.

Joe Penner in GANGWAY, two reel comedy; a sap tries to be a gangster.

COMING NEXT WEEK: James Cagney and Loretta Young in TAXI, February 5 and 6. Eddie Cantor in WHOOPEE, in color, February 7 and 8.

The Wonder Picture of the Century, ABRAHAM LINCOLN, with Walter Huston and Una Merkel, February 9, 10 and 11.