Save Money on Plowing, Says Jackman of O.S.C. Among new ways for Oregon farmers to cut down cash expenses in operations this year, E. R. Jackman, farm crops extension specialist at O. S. C., mentions particularly the possibility of saving in plowing. "Plow shallow," says Jackman, "particularly if you use tractor plowing this spring, as the deeper you plow the more money it costs. This may sound like agricultural heresy, but results at the experiment station show that if you disk first, then five-inch plowing results in yields exactly as good as 8 to 11 inch plowing." For eastern Oregon farmers he makes a similar suggestion by pointing out that by disking all the stubble first one can then take his time about getting it plowed and thus save putting out cash for hired help. "If I couldn't afford to hire help I'd disk all the land and then come back and plow it, extending the plowing into June if necessary," says Jackman. "June plowing if the land is disked first isn't so bad. It is not as good as April plowing, but it beats June plowing without disking and beats it badly."

EDITORIAL With all the talk of the depression and unemployment going on, why not do your part in helping these economic conditions by cleaning up your home and office building. You can give employment and put those hoarded dollars back into circulation. Come in and let us explain to you how easy you can have a new coat of paint put on your property, or how easy it is to have your home or office remodeled. DR. ESKELSON, P.D.Q. The Wise Counsellor declares that the man who "sits tight" waiting for the depression to leave will more likely than not find himself holding nothing but the sack when that time comes—for he is doing the very thing to prolong the condition he desires to avert. No waving of wagic wand is going to bring better times.. They will be had only through redoubled effort by thte majority of the people. Economy is necessary. But an economy program which includes curtailing of the greatest force in merchandising—ADVERTISING—is certain to defeat the purpose of such a program. Advertising is more necessary now than ever before, because people must be convinced of the value of things before they buy— And again the greatest advertising opporunity in years is present—as probably never before were merchants able to offer such attractive bargains... Today the purchaser's dollar is worth $1.79 in the value of the merchandise it will buy, affording
