

CANDIDATES' FATE PUT UP TO PEOPLE

Polls for Primaries to Open at 8 O'Clock in The Morning.

WILL POST RETURNS

Gazette Times to Assist in Giving Information; Candidates Active As Voting Time Nears.

Primary election campaign days, marked in Morrow county by a passive interest by the majority of the electorate and increased activity by candidates as polling time nears, come to a close today and tomorrow the fate of the candidates will be in the hands of the electors. The polls will open at 8 o'clock in the morning and will close at 8 o'clock in the evening.

For North Heppner, South Heppner, Ione and Lexington precincts two election boards have been named and counting of ballots will start at 10 o'clock in the morning or as soon as twenty or more votes have been cast. In the other nine precincts there will be only one board and counting will not start until the polls close. No returns will be given out until the polls close, but shortly after closing time it is expected enough votes will have been counted in the precincts having two boards to give some indication of the trend of the voting there.

Voting Places Named.

In Heppner the usual voting places will be used, voters of North Heppner casting their ballots at the Peoples Hardware company store, and those of South Heppner voting at the court house.

For the benefit of the public, the Heppner Gazette Times and W. W. Smead, Associated Press reporter, will join forces to furnish bulletins of returns as quickly as they can be tabulated. These will be posted at the Heppner Hotel. Reporters in each precinct have been contacted to provide out-of-town returns.

So far as can be determined local interest has centered mainly in the contests for county offices, the state representatives, and the U. S. Senatorship, with lesser interest in the contests for state offices. The only contest on the democratic ticket which appears to have created any stir is that for representative in congress between Walter M. Pierce and Francis V. Galloway. All other battles are being staged on the republican ticket.

For U. S. Senator, Frederick Steiwer appears to have the largest following, being backed by a strong club in Heppner, and having the endorsement of the grain growers and wool growers cooperatives. Robert N. Stanfield has had some active support, while A. E. Clark, backed by Governor Meier, will undoubtedly find favor with those of the electorate who have confidence in the Meier program. No supporter appears to have developed for the other candidates, Kenneth Harlan and Robert Gordon Duncan.

Other Contests Appear. Small interest has been expressed in the republican contest for representative in congress between Robert R. Butler, incumbent, and J. M. Richards, though the latter has contacted the granges of the county, in which organization he is an active worker. Butler has been on the job at Washington, leaving it to his friends to carry on his campaign.

None of the candidates for state offices in the contests on the republican ticket have campaigned locally in this county so far as can be determined. Hal E. Hoss and Geo. A. Palmister are battling for secretary of state, Rufus Holman and Milt Scherping for state treasurer, and Earl C. Bronough and I. H. Van Winkle for attorney general. Hoss, Holman and Van Winkle are incumbents of the respective offices.

All of the candidates for state representative from the twenty-second district comprising Morrow, Gilliam, Sherman and Wheeler counties have been more or less active. Voters will choose two of the four candidates, who are Edward E. Rugg and Jesse Ogden Turner, both of this county, E. W. Snell, Gilliam county and P. N. Shown of Wheeler county.

Three contests appear for county offices. They are county commissioner with four candidates, G. A. Bleakman, Creed Owen, Frank S. Parker and Arnold G. Pieper; county clerk, with the race between Gay M. Anderson and Paul M. Gemmill, and sheriff, with C. J. D. Bauman and Glen R. Hadley as opponents.

GO TO DESCHUTES FISHING.

The fame of the Deschutes as a fisherman's paradise attracted six Heppner men who pulled out Monday evening with their luggage to try their luck. Included in the party were D. A. Wilson, Art Erik, G. G. Norris, R. B. Ferguson, Mark Merrill and Leonard Schwarz. They were equipped for a stay of several days.

DECREASED FLOW FROM WELL NOTED

Council Takes Immediate Steps to Investigate; Auditor's Report Read at Mid-Month Meeting.

That the city's artesian well had decreased in flow to an extent where the city dads thought it necessary to take immediate steps of investigation, was revealed in the special order of business before the council in mid-month meeting Monday evening. Immediate steps were taken to get in touch with A. A. Durand, driller, at Walla Walla, to get his opinion of what should be done, and to get, if possible, a log of the well.

Several theories were advanced as to what might have caused the decrease in flow, and to determine whether the supply of water was diminishing or whether the water was escaping somewhere in the well, one of the councilmen suggested that a packer be used. It was said that the well is cased to a depth of only twenty feet below the surface of the ground, and the theory was advanced that in capping the well the water had been forced out through crevices below the casing.

The council ordered that the chlorination plant be put in readiness so that water from Willow creek at the old intake might be turned into the pipe in case of emergency.

The meeting was held open for further consideration and immediate action as soon as contact was made with Mr. Durand.

A report of the recent audit of the city books by Mrs. Daisy Noe of Baker was read to the council, and was laid aside without action, except that the city attorney was asked to secure a better record system for the recorder's office and the recorder was asked to make a more complete report to the council of the collections, in line with the auditor's recommendations. It was also recommended that the city procure additional steel filing cabinet facilities for the records of the city treasurer.

Local Golfers Trimmed; Blackburne Pars Course

Arlington sportsmen had a big day in Heppner Sunday, when, besides taking the baseball game by a large margin, they also grabbed the golf match in the morning by the impressive score of 37-7. But the Heppner golfers don't feel so bad. They say that considering the number of Scotchmen on the visiting team, there is really nothing to be ashamed of. For instance, A. E. Blackburne, on his first round of the day turned in a 31, exactly par for the course, to hang up a record the first time the feat had been accomplished. The lowest score previously recorded was 34. And young Bud Fisk opened the eyes of the spectators by driving the small white ball into the ether for a total of 300 yards on the ninth hole, one of the longest drives ever witnessed on the local links.

It was really a day of golf thrills, to which youthful Louis, Gilliam added his bit by turning in a 77, low score for the local team. Arrangements are being made for a return match at Arlington.

Pupils of Davis School Receive Samoan Letters

Exceedingly interesting has been the social intercourse between pupils of the Davis school near Ione and pupils of the Tau school, Manua district in American Samoa through the medium of the Junior Red Cross, reports Miss Audrey Beymer, who just completed her work as teacher of the Davis school last year. In addition to an exchange of Christmas gifts in which the Davis pupils received a group of Samoan articles which were recently displayed in Heppner, the Morrow county children recently received a number of letters from their South Sea island friends, of which the following is representative:

"Tau Public School, at Manua District, April 23, 1932.

"Dear friends in Davis School: I write you some story about my school, books we use are Philippine reader book five, grammar modern english book two, arithmetic middle grade, geography essentials, hygiene book two.

"I go to school eight o'clock and begin to nine o'clock in the morning and we close three o'clock P. M.

"The length of my village is about 5 miles, but my island is very (beal) beautiful of all islands in Samoa. Our school months start on March and we stop to November. My holidays New Years Day, Washington's Birthday, Flag Raising Day, Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day and the Friday following.

"I wear the Samoan lavalava on Sunday we use the white lavalava and go to church.

"Birds in Samoa are tropic birds, orioles, calaos, bats, doves and also animals, dogs, pigs, horses, goats, cows, but no lion and tiger in Samoa.

"I was very glad because I found your Christmas gifts last year. I wish you would not forget me. Thanks for your presents sent last Christmas.

"The end. Will close with best wishes to you. God bless you and me, good bye.

DIPLOMAS AWARDED TO 24 GRADUATES

Victor P. Morris Cites Educational Needs of Future at Rites.

CLAUDE HILL NAMED

Senior Boy Gets Norton Winnard Cup; Legion Auxiliary and W. C. T. U. Awards Given.

Twenty-four seniors of Heppner high school received their diplomas at the graduation exercises at the gym-auditorium last Thursday evening before a crowd that packed the auditorium to capacity, probably the largest assemblage ever to gather in the building. An expectant hush prevailed throughout the audience as Claude Hill was named winner of the Norton Winnard memorial cup by Paul M. Gemmill, member of the class of 1918 and associate of young Winnard whose meritorious scholastic career ended with his graduation with honors from Harvard medical school, shortly after which he fell victim to the scourge of typhoid fever and died.

Victor P. Morris, economics professor at the University of Oregon, in the graduation address told of the educational needs of the future while inspiring his listeners with his pictorialization of life's goals. In this complicated economic age with machinery displacing human labor, greater stress must be put on the education which teaches youth how better to utilize his leisure hours, rather than to spend all the time in educating it to make a livelihood, the speaker said. Great strides are being made in this direction, and as this type of education progresses coming generations will be assured a greater degree of happiness.

Harriet Gemmill, representing the American Legion Auxiliary, presented Irene Beamer with that organization's award to the eight grade girl whose character, leadership and example of Americanism marked her as worthy of the recognition. High tribute was paid Miss Beamer in the presentation speech.

Receiving their diplomas at the hands of Charles Thomson, chairman of the school board, who, in a few well chosen words paid tribute to the class and to the school administration, were Ralph Benton, Earle Bryant, Virginia Cleveland, William Cox, Nancy Jane Cox, John Franzen, Claude Hill, Eddie Kenny, Florence French, Rita French, Mary Gemmill, Alma Hake, Lola Hiatt, Vallis Jones, Mary McDuffee, Lucile Meyer, Louise Meyer, Adele Nickerson, Phyllis Pollock, Viola Ruby, Evelyn Schultz, Iretta Taylor, Mary Thomson and Ruth Turner.

Other awards presented were those for the American Legion Poppy poster contest, and those for the recent W. C. T. U. essay and poster contest. The poppy contest awards were made by Mrs. Gemmill, and the W. C. T. U. awards by Mrs. Clara Beamer. Named for the auxiliary poster awards were Adele Nickerson, high school; Irene Beamer, seventh and eighth grades, and Ruth Green, fifth and sixth. Winning posters will be sent to the state department for entrance in the state-wide contest.

Musical numbers on the program included "Songs My Mother Taught Me," girls' glee club, and "The Swan," duet by Anabel Turner and Winifred Case. W. R. Poulson, retiring superintendent, gave a short farewell address. He departed Friday morning for Los Angeles.

PUPIL, TEACHER HONORED.

On Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Parker entered into a country home in honor of their niece, Gladys Reaney, who makes her home with them, and Mrs. Frank Turner, her teacher. The guests were the seventh and eighth grades of the Lexington school and the following adults: Mrs. A. Reaney, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Miller, Mrs. A. Baldwin, Mr. and Mrs. Edw. Ingles, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Turner, George Gillis, Mrs. Indertzen, Mr. and Mrs. Glen White, Mr. and Mrs. Gale Johnson, Mrs. Merle Kirk, Mrs. Omohundro and A. Ritchie.

The lawn was brilliantly lighted so that the young people could carry on their games in the open. The large living rooms were decorated with tulips and festoons of pink and green which were the class colors. At 8:30 the crowd assembled for a program arranged by Mrs. Parker. Group singing was followed with prayer by Rev. White, a piano solo by Iris Omohundro, a tableaux in which Gladys, Mrs. Turner and Mr. and Mrs. Ingles participated, and Meditation by Mrs. Andrew Baldwin. At the close Mrs. Parker presented Mrs. Turner with a beautiful flower bowl on behalf of her classes, to which she responded. The remainder of the evening was spent on the lawn where refreshments of sandwiches, chocolate and doughnuts were served, the latter being fried in a huge chaldron where everyone had a part. Mr. and Mrs. Parker proved themselves to be very capable hosts for the occasion.

GRAIN BODIES CLEAR STEIWER

Local Cooperatives Say Senator Had No Part in Naming Officials Of Farmers' Organizations.

During the course of the primary campaign, some of the candidates for senatorial nomination have, directly or indirectly, attempted to attach to Senator Frederick Steiwer some responsibility for appointing executive positions with the Farmers National Grain corporation and The Grain Stabilization corporation.

To correct any misapprehension, we wish to advise that the farmers own and control the Farmers National Grain corporation; that it is not a governmental institution, nor a subsidiary of the farm board. The Farmers National Grain corporation, in which the signers here to are stockholders, is a private agency not unlike any Oregon corporation. It determines the number and salaries of its employees, and the character of their work, without outside political influence of any kind. No member of congress has asserted, and there is no member of congress who can assert, any authority at all in connection with these matters. The farm board itself does not and cannot select its officers or fix their salaries. Senator Steiwer did not participate in nor influence, directly or indirectly, the selection or the fixing of the salary of any of the officers or employees of the Farmers National Grain corporation, or of The Grain Stabilization corporation.

The Farmers National Grain corporation is a farmers' cooperative organization, and is not a political agency, and has been kept free from politics. It has run its own business in its own way, in the interests of its stockholders, and will continue to do so. Any effort to drag it into politics will be resented by the undersigned, and by all others interested in the success of these enterprises.

Steiwer Dinner Held; Kilkenny Gives Talk

Local supporters of Frederick Steiwer, United States senator from Oregon who is seeking re-nomination at the primaries tomorrow, gathered for a dinner at I. O. O. F. hall Friday evening. W. P. Mahoney presided and John Kilkenny, Jr. of Pendleton gave the main address extolling the accomplishments of the senator.

The local Steiwer-for-senator club has close to one hundred enthusiastic supporters who have been actively at work. A number of out-of-town men attended the banquet including Earl W. Snell of Arlington and P. N. Shown of Fossil, both candidates for state representative from this district.

COUNTY HEARS ANTI-WAR TALK; LOCAL ORGANIZATION STARTED

"If you want to see an end of the depression, you must look for it in a reduction in the cost of war preparation," declares J. J. Handsaker.

Mr. Handsaker, associate secretary of the National Council for Prevention of War, who gave a number of addresses on war prevention during the week in Morrow county.

"War and war preparation are costing this country $5,500,000 every minute. The fear of war has paralyzed business and this with excessive tariffs in almost every country has checked the normal flow of trade on which the return of prosperity depends.

"For war preparation alone, the world spent last year more than four thousand million dollars and of this sum total the United States spent more than one sixth. Now, when frantic telegrams are sent to Washington urging federal relief for unemployment, the U. S. senate the other day passed a bill authorizing a new navy to cost $616,000,000. How they expect to get the money for this they did not say, although the country is going into the 'red' at the rate of $5,000 every minute now and congress is hysterically trying to balance the budget by increasing letter postage to 3c, putting a 2c tax on every check, discharging postal clerks and reducing rural free delivery.

"To make such an expansion of the navy sense just at this time, the world is bound to interpret our action as a war-like gesture just when the nations are honestly trying to prevent war and reduce taxation everywhere, at the world disarmament conference.

"If the senate measure becomes law, it will utterly violate the spirit of the arms truce by which we agreed that for a year we would begin no new construction, that the atmosphere of the disarmament conference might be improved."

Mr. Handsaker urged that letters be sent to Congressman R. R. Butler opposing the navy bill. He believes that if such a measure is not passed that the disarmament conference will be able to reduce aggressive weapons such as tanks and gas, to reduce possibly by a billion dollars the cost of war preparation and provide for a permanent commission to work for further reductions. Letters in support of such a program should be sent Miss Mary Wooley, American Delegation, Geneva (6c postage) and to President Hoover.

While here Mr. Handsaker addressed the Lexington Grange, Lexington Christian church, a union meeting of Heppner churches, the Lions and the Business and Professional Women's club. He left Wednesday to address the Arlington chamber of commerce.

He is a brother of Rev. T. S. Handsaker of San Diego, Calif., formerly pastor of the Christian church here.

A Morrow county committee on war prevention was organized last Sunday night following the address of Mr. Handsaker at the Christian church. The executive committee, which was given power to add to its membership, consists of M. L. Case, chairman, Mrs. F. W. Turner, secretary, S. E. Notson and Mrs. Lucy E. Rodgers.

He had to fire her so they could be friends—BEAUTY AND THE BOSS—Star Theater, Sunday and Monday.

EXPOSE OF SEANCE TOO LATE IN GAME

Arlington Again Beats Locals 16-2 as Clow Does His Stuff.

BOBBY RESCUES DAY

Red-Headed Butter Creek Youth in Debut Gives Crowd Thrill; Will Pitch Against Fossil.

LEAGUE STANDINGS:
Arlington 4 0 1,000
Heppner 2 2 500
Ione 1 3 250
Fossil 1 3 250
Condon 1 3 250
RufusBlack 1 3 250

Last Sunday's Results:
Arlington 16 at Heppner 2, Ione 7 at Fossil 4, Condon 3 at Rufus-Black 4.

Where the Teams Play Next Sunday:
Fossil at Heppner, Rufus-Black at Ione, Condon at Arlington.

Kewpie Clow and his uniformed assistants from Arlington staged a replica of the seance at Arlington to week before for the benefit of the large Heppner audience at Red Head Sunday afternoon, when the river boys again trounced the hillbillies 16-2 and the revengeful exposure of which Manager McCready dreamed came near being a complete failure. There was but one redeeming feature. Bobby Woodward, a red-haired youth from lower Butter creek, came to the manager's rescue in the eighth inning to wind up the meeting and prove that Kewpie's mysticism could be fathomed.

Woodward, who will be on the mound here against Fossil next Sunday, whiffed five of the six batters to face him and allowed but one roller which was taken easily by Ferguson at second and tossed to first for the put-out. Arlington had previously battered Roy Gentry for ten hits in three and a half innings, and had touched up Charlie Wilcox in the next three and a half for six more, giving them a total of 16 hits for as many runs, while Heppner solved only six of Kewpie's floaters for safe blows which netted two runs, both of which were earned. Seven of Arlington's runs were earned, with the others being permitted on wild throws and bobbles of which the scorer noted eight.

Heppner scored in the fourth inning, Rohrer singling and making home on Aiken's two-bagger immediately following, and lastly in the fifth on successive two-baggers by Wilcox and Roy Gentry, Wilcox scoring.

Kewpie himself wielded the heavy bat of the day, clouting a triple, a double and two singles, which accounted for five Arlington tallies. Naturally the crowd was elated in the ninth when Woodward struck him out.

Arlington's scores were made three in the first, two in the second, six in the fourth, three in the fifth and two in the seventh innings.

Upsets in the other league games were recorded Sunday, with Rufus-Black, trail-senders, trouncing Condon 4-3, and Ione retaliating their defeat at the hands of Fossil the Sunday before by reversing the 7-4 score. Heppner and Ione are now

COMMITTEES SET FOR CHAUTAUQUA

Depression Busting Entertainment Coming Under Big Tent June 2 to 5; Subscriptions Now Due.

Committees to have charge of the various details of staging Morrow county's annual free chautauqua at Heppner, June 2 to 5, were named this week by the directors. The program is calculated to provide real gloom-dispelling entertainment, that, for the four days at least, will bury Old Man Depression.

Payment of subscriptions has been progressing well, the directors announce, adding that it is hoped all will make payment soon. A small number of reserved seats may be procured by those who desire them, which will also help the directors to add to the success of the chautauqua. Reserved seats are provided chautauqua supporters, one seat being reserved for each $2.50 subscribed. No admission charge is made to take in the entertainment and a warm welcome is extended everyone to take in as much of it as possible.

The committees announced are: Publicity, Jap Crawford, Jos. J. Nya.

Tent, grounds and stage, W. W. Smead and G. A. Bleakman. Seats and ushers, Paul Marble, Earl Eskelson and Albert Adkins. Reserved seats, Earl Gordon, J. W. Hiatt and Gay M. Anderson.

The reserved seat checks will be available at Gordon's confectionary store in exchange for subscription receipts.

The big tent entertainment this year will include a wide variety of appeal, with two leading stage plays presented by superb casts; music, reading and novelty entertainment; rapid fire cartoons, beautiful crayon landscapes, a ventriloquist's dummy; a dizzy fun and frolic program of magic and mystery, and two top notch lectures, one on "Courage" and the other Uncle Sam's Stake in China and Japan," by two outstanding lecturers.

Forest Fire School On; Emergency Men Ready

Officials of the Umatilla national forest, rangers, lookouts and emergency fire fighters gathered yesterday at Tupper ranger station for a three-day school, at which instructions are being given for taking care of Uncle Sam's forest in readiness for another fire season. J. Irwin, district superintendent, assisted by officials from the Pendleton and Portland offices of the forest service are in charge. In attendance are a number of members of the local emergency fire fighting squad, organization of which was perfected Monday evening at the Hiatt & Dix store.

J. W. Hiatt was reelected chief of the squad, with Leslie Rasmussen as assistant, Leonard Gilliam named cook and Francis Doherty, timekeeper. Other members are Vinton Howell, Reith Burkenbine, Gay Anderson, Joe Swindig, R. B. Ferguson, Leonard Schwarz, Jap Crawford, Gerald Slocum and Jim Thomson. Hiatt, Rasmussen, Gilliam are attending the school here. Anderson, Swindig and Burkenbine will close Friday in time for the men to reach their respective voting places.

Farmers Picnic Slated At Ione for June 3rd

An all-day farmers' picnic with a basket lunch at noon, sports and program has been announced to be held at Ione on Saturday, June 3. Arrangements are being made by the Morrow County Grain Growers association who are sponsoring the appearance on the occasion of "Farmer" Brown, noted lecturer on farm problems.

Mr. Brown is slated to appear on the afternoon program, along with a number of other speakers provided by the extension service of Oregon State college. Coffee, cream and sugar will be provided free to everyone at the noon luncheon by the grain growers. A public dance to be held at the Legion hall in the evening will wind up the day's activities.

CATTLEMEN TO CONVENE.

The Cattle and Horse Raisers association of Oregon will hold its annual convention at Burns May 27 and 28, according to announcement just received from the secretary, C. L. Jamison. The program includes a long list of speakers including specialists from Oregon State college, and men prominent in cattle and horse raising in Oregon and Washington. Herman Oliver, president, will preside at the business sessions, and O. M. Plummer, president of the Pacific International Livestock exposition, will act as toastmaster at the annual banquet to be held at the close of the convention Saturday evening, the 28th. Frank Irvine, editor of the Oregon Journal of Portland, is slated as the banquet speaker. An urgent invitation is extended to all cattle and horse men of Morrow county to attend.

ATTENTION MEMBERS.

Kate J. Young lodge No. 29, D. of H., meets Tuesday, May 24th, at 8 o'clock in Odd Fellows hall. There will be initiation and refreshments. All members are urged to be present. Clara Beamer, Secty.

COST OF WAR HURTS BUSINESS OF NATION

Revival is Dependent on Success of Geneva Par- ley, Speaker Says

LIONS SEEK RELIEF

Umatilla Move to Get Federal Aid On Local Roads, Backed; Give Chautauqua a Boost.

"On the success of the international disarmament conference at Geneva largely depends the revival of business," John J. Handsaker, anti-war worker, told the Heppner Lions club Monday. He urged the members to use their influence with senators and representatives to forestall legislation which contemplates the expenditure of $616,000,000 in the next ten years to augment Uncle Sam's navy. Such a move, he said, would almost certainly defeat the purpose of the Geneva conference to bring about a reduction in world armaments.

Huge Expense Cited.

He quoted President Hoover as saying that the cost of war and the expense of preparedness were large contributing factors toward the present business stagnation, and that the return of prosperity was largely dependent upon the Geneva conference. The expense of the World war to the United States to date is 52 billion dollars, and before the debt is paid the United States will have paid 100 billions because of it, the speaker asserted. To visualize the immensity of this amount, he said that if payment had been started at the time of Christ at the rate of 50 dollars a minute, and a payment had been made every minute since, the debt would not yet be settled.

The speaker gave as the main causes of the paralysis of business, the immense indebtedness incurred for the recent World war, the added great cost of maintaining the machinery of war, and the high tariff barriers created by the leading nations of the world. The latter he likened to the storekeeper who would charge customers for coming into his store to trade and then wonder why they went elsewhere.

Road Aid Asked.

Besides listening to Mr. Handsaker's address, the lions voted to join a move started in Umatilla county to petition the district's senators and representatives in congress to use their influence toward obtaining federal aid in completing road projects in the two counties, including the Heppner-Spray road, for the purpose of providing needed employment.

S. E. Notson, president of the Morrow County Free Chautauqua association, called the attention of the club to the coming attraction under the big tent here June 2 to 5. Termed the prosperity chautauqua, this year's entertainment will serve to bury Old Man Depression in accordance with one of the club's objectives, he said.

Mrs. J. O. Turner obliged the club with a piano solo that was well received, and Mrs. C. R. Ripley accompanied the group singing, including singing of the new "On to Oregon" song, a copy of which was recently received through the courtesy of the Portland Lions club.

Tree Planting Marker Here; Wehmeyer Assists

The brass plaque to mark the tree-planting at the city's artesian well at the forks of Willow creek arrived the first of the week, and preparations are being made for its installation in the near future. The marker was ordered by the local Washington Bicentennial organization, and is inscribed "In Memory of George Washington, Trees planted by Citizens of Heppner—1732-1932."

Many of the trees planted at the site last year are still growing. Mrs. Arthur McAtee, president of the group, reports, and in addition F. F. Wehmeyer, forest ranger, planted 150 more trees this year. Mayor McCarty has given word that a strong lock will be placed on the gate at the entrance, and a sign will be posted warning the public that anyone found molesting the trees will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

GO TO STATE CONVENTION.

The state convention of the Business and Professional Women's clubs of Oregon convenes in Klamath Falls this week end. The Heppner club will be represented at the convention by Mrs. W. P. Mahoney, Mrs. Lucy Rodgers, Mrs. W. O. Dix, the Misses Madge Coppock, Lucile McDuffee and Gertrude Doherty. The ladies departed for Klamath Falls this morning.

B. P. W. DANCE SUCCESS.

The benefit dance sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's club at the Elks hall Saturday night was pronounced a success with a large crowd in attendance and a general good time. A local orchestra made up of Harold Ebnuna, Harold Beckett, Miss Juanita Leathers and Dean T. Goodman provided the music.
