HOOVER AND CURTIS HEAD TICKET AGAIN

Republicans Nominate at Chicago Today; President Accepts.

PLATFORM ADOPTED

Minority Report on Repeal Eighteenth Amendment Defeated and People to Decide is Plank.

Herbert Clark Hoover and Charles G. Curtis, nominees for president and vice president, will succeed themselves in office if action of the republican national convention in Chicago today receives the endorsement of the majority of the electorate at the general election in November. President Hoover was notified of his renomination by wire immediately after he was chosen on the first ballot, and a return wire of acceptance was read. Curtis received the vice-presidential nomination on the first ballot in the face of a boom started for Hanford McNider, former commander of the American Legion, now U. S. ambassador to Canada.

The convention took up the nomination of president and vice-president today following completion of endorsement of the platform plank, featured by a hot debate between the wets and drys over the plank asking that vote on the 18th amendment be referred to the people in constitutional conventions. The wets, not satisfied with the plank, were instrumental in getting a minority report returned to the convention from the committee, which laid the subject open for hot debate. The convention, however, turned down the wets' proposal of outright repeal of the amendment which would leave the matter of prohibition wholly up to the individual states.

Other planks in the platform, including support for the present farm marketing machinery, were accepted as reported from the committee.

WILL ASK RE-ELECTION.

As the time draws near for the annual school meeting, there has been some interest manifested with regard to those who may be seeking places on the school board. So far this paper has not been authorized to speak for any except Garnet Barratt and Vawter Crawford, who hold respectively the places of director and clerk. Mr. Barratt was elected to the short term last year, serving out the unexpired term of C. L. Sweek, resigned, and he has been persuaded to make the race again, this time for the three-year term. Crawford is understood to be running for re-election as clerk. There appears on the surface some keen interest in the affairs of School District No. 1, and the annual meeting on Monday should be the time when the patrons and taxpayers should get together, hear the reports and discuss affairs pertaining to the welfare of the school.

This paper would be glad to mention any other prospective candidates had we been "wised up," but not being so informed, cannot say further. However, we surmise that other names will be proposed when that order of business is reached at the annual meeting.

CAR WRECKS LIGHT POLE.

On hearing in justice court Monday, Orrin Furlong was arraigned and found guilty of a charge of reckless driving and wanton disregard of property, resulting in his driver's license being revoked for six months, a six months' jail sentence with parole, and assessment of damages to the Pacific Power & Light company. Furlong with two companions was in a car that crashed into a light pole of the company in front of the W. L. Blakely residence in south Heppner early Monday morning, breaking off the pole and causing the power service to be off for some time.

NATIONAL OFFICER VISITS.

Henry A. Hill, assistant secretary of Lions International, and Mrs. Hill were in Heppner over Tuesday night. Mr. Hill meeting that evening with the executive committee of the local Lions club for the purpose of investigating the club and giving information on the many ways in which the mother organization is of assistance to the local clubs. Mr. Hill's office is in Chicago. He and Mrs. Hill went on to Condon yesterday.

TO SPEAK AT PICNIC.

Samuel E. Notson, district attorney, will go to Weston Friday where he will be on the program for an address before the pioneers of Umatilla county, gathered for two days of festivities. This is an event that has taken place annually at Weston for the past 40 years, and this year several prominent speakers will appear, among them Walter M. Pierce of La Grande and Milton A. Miller of Portland.

MATTESON-MULKEY.

Lyle Matteson of this city and Neva Mulkey were married in this city June 3, with W. T. Campbell, county judge, performing the ceremony.

R-B. GANG TAKES LOCALS TO CELLAR

Arlington Takes First Defeat in Wheatland Series; Ione Here
For Last Home Game.

LEAGUE STANDINGS
	Won	Lost
Arlington	7	1
Fossil	5	3
Ione	4	4
Condon	4	4
Heppner	2	6
Rufus-Blalock	2	6

Last Sunday's Results:
Rufus-Blalock 7 at Heppner 3; Fossil 6 at Arlington 2; Ione at Condon.

Where Teams Play Next Sunday:
Ione at Heppner; Rufus-Blalock at Fossil; Condon at Arlington.

While Heppner was busy failing into the cellar with Rufus-Blalock Sunday, Fossil got hot and gave the Arlington league-leaders their first taste of defeat for the season, but Arlington with seven wins and one defeat has almost a cinch hold on the pennant. They have yet to meet Condon and Ione again, and they could only drop their hold on the pennant by losing both games and one of the second teams winning its remaining games.

The last league game at home will be played against Ione next Sunday. Heppner succeeded in trouncing the boys from the neighboring town in the first game, but the records of the two teams since give indication that this should be anybody's game. It is expected the Ione boys will be accompanied by a strong bunch of supporters who will be anxious for vindication.

The Heppner-Blalock fray Sunday was not as one-sided as the score would indicate, and on earned runs Heppner had the game won 3-2. Woodward and Phifer about evenly divided pitching honors, and but for a few costly bobbles at critical moments the tale would have been different. Harold Gentry was the hard-luck player of the bunch, being heavily bombarded at short, and having trouble with his throws, which accounted for four Blalock scores.

Roy Gentry started the Heppner scoring as lead-off in the first inning. He singled, advanced on Robertson's hit following, and scored on Woodward's hit after Harold Gentry had struck out. In the next inning with one away, Crawford made a safety at first on an infield hit, stole second and third and scored on a wild pitch. The last score came in the fourth inning, when with two away Hayes singled and Roy Gentry, who took his position on first base, stole second and scored on Crawford's two-bagger.

After making three runs in the second inning, Rufus-Blalock stepped into the lead again with one more in the fifth, and came through for three more in the eighth, for their total of seven.

THE SCORE:
	AB	R
R. Gentry	5	1

VISITS OLD FRIEND.

E. E. Elliott, manager Northwest Teachers agency of Portland and old-time friend of W. F. Mahoney, was in the city yesterday and took time off from business for a chat with his old friend. The friendship of the two men was formed when both were engaged in business in Bonners Ferry, Idaho, from which place Mr. Elliott was successively elected representative and senator in the state legislature. Both were instrumental in obtaining a division of the county in which Bonners Ferry was formerly located and in making Bonners Ferry the seat of government for the new county. Mr. Mahoney is vice president of the First National bank here, having kept to the line he followed in Bonners Ferry before coming to Heppner, while Mr. Elliott has made use of his experience gained as a professor in the University of Idaho before going to Bonners Ferry, to establish the agency he now manages.

WOMANS CLUB ELECTIONS.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected at the last Womens club meeting for the season, held Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Frank Turner, retiring president. Mrs. Harold C. Case was elected president, Mrs. W. O. Dix, vice president, and Mrs. Paul Marble, secretary-treasurer. Miss Jeanette Turner presided at the assembly with a piano solo preceding the election.

D. E. Gilman, who has been confined to his home in this city for the past two weeks by illness, is reported as slowly recovering but not yet able to be about.

As a mining engineer he worked in every part of the world for many years. He organized the Belgian Relief during the war, was U. S. Food Administrator, then Chairman of the Supreme Economic Council of the Allied nations. He was appointed Secretary of Commerce by President Harding in 1921, held that post through the Coolidge administration, and was elected President in 1928. Krebs Bros. Netted $4.85 On Lamb Shipment East

What is considered an exceptionally good lamb sale in the face of general commodity trends was reported to have been made by Krebs Bros. of Cecil on the St. Paul market June 7. Their sale netted them $4.85 per head, it was reported.

A news bulletin of the commission brokers contains the following information concerning the sale: Krebs Bros. loaded five double deck cars of lambs at Cecil on June 2, the shipment arriving at So. St. Paul June 6, and was sold the following day, being the first western lambs of the season. Of these 1166 head averaged 79 1/2 pounds and brought $7 a hundred pounds, 100 head averaged 71 pounds and brought $5.50. The lambs were weighed at Cecil with a good fill and showed a shrink of one pound per head over the scales at St. Paul. The Krebs lambs were rated as extra choice.

GROW YOUR MEAT BEING SUGGESTED

Winter Food Supply Easily Grown
From Cheap Feed and Stock
Says H. A. Lindgren.

While much has been said and written about growing next winter's food in this summer's gardens, an equally attractive opportunity exists this year for getting next winter's meat supply at the most reasonable price in decades, says H. A. Lindgren, livestock specialist of the state college extension service.

"Hogs are cheap and so is grain," says Lindgren. "A weaner pig fed from now till fall on such feeds as are available on the farm can be made into 125 to 150 pounds of meat for next winter's use. It can be cured as hams and bacon, made into sausage, dry salted, or canned. Pigs can be fattened on pasture with a little grain. Table scraps also make good hog feed. Under conditions such as we are now experiencing one can even raise a hog in a small pen, supplying it with green grass, table scraps, and a few pounds of grain daily. "Grass is plentiful at this time. Why not fatten a calf, cow, or steer on grass and corn, and can the product for next winter's use? Beef put up in that form is excellent and will fit in well with the garden products now being raised by many families in our state. "Mutton and lamb can be cured and smoked in much the same way that we prepare hams and bacon. The product is delicious and will add a variety which will be greatly appreciated."

Federal bulletins on methods of preparing these products are available through the local county agricultural agent's office without cost. Where no agent is employed one may write the animal husbandry department of Oregon State college, Corvallis, for the bulletins.

CASE CONTINUED.

On arraignment and plea of not guilty, the case of State of Oregon vs. Jack Harper and Jack LaLonde for larceny of calves, was continued until the December term of circuit court on order of Judge Sweek at the June term of court Monday. The indictment in this case was the only one returned by the grand jury for the June term.

'Spouts Here and There Over County Monday

As a result of the heat wave of Sunday and Monday a number of waterspouts have been reported from over the county. The one causing the greatest damage, so far as reported at Heppner struck at the head of Sand Hollow Monday evening, the force of the down-pour striking over the ranches of Ray Drake and Harry Turner. Gullies and ditches were cut in the fields and damage was extreme to gardens and much grain. The dry creek bed of Sand Hollow was suddenly transformed into a raging torrent of muddy water, rocks and gravel washed into the roads at various places and the water reached a depth of ten feet or more down the gulch.

Good showers prevailed over the county, the rain being especially heavy at the head of Blackhorse, which was swelled to large proportions by the time it reached Lexington, but no damage was suffered. Dry Fork and Democrat gulch on the west side of the county were also well filled with water, the storm coming in from that direction. A portion of Eight Mile also had heavy rain, all to the benefit of the maturing crops. Weather conditions have been much cooler since the storm of thunder and rain.

PLANS PREPARED FOR POULTRYMEN

Three New Bulletins Give Details
For Constructing Practical
Farm Structures.

Despite low egg prices, many Oregon poultrymen are taking advantage of equally low lumber prices to improve their poultry plants and get them in shape for more efficient production for the better times believed to follow.

To meet the demand for approved plans for poultry construction in this state, the Oregon State college extension service has just issued a series of three bulletins prepared by the poultry and agricultural engineering departments of the college which contain descriptions, bills of materials and detailed plans for constructing range houses, brooder houses and insulated egg rooms.

"Building Plans and Bill of Materials for O.S.C. Portable Brooder House" is the title of extension bulletin No. 446 by A. G. Lunn, head of the poultry department of the experiment station. The house described has been used successfully on the college poultry farm. It is built on runners so it may be moved at least once for each lot of chicks brooded.

"O.S.C. Range House" is the name of the second of the series, extension bulletin No. 442. This range house has been in general use for several years and has proved satisfactory as a means of rearing pullets to maturity under sanitary and fresh-air conditions, says Professors Lunn and W. J. Gilmore who are the authors.

"How to Construct an Insulated Storage Room" is the title of the third bulletin, No. 445, by F. E. Price and A. G. Lunn. Plans for this type of building were developed to meet the situation reported by cooperative and private egg dealers to the effect that producers were losing large sums every summer from off-grade eggs because of improper farm storage after first class eggs were produced by high quality flocks. The plans given in this bulletin will enable a farmer to build a room that will insure excellent storage for his eggs at a cost of materials of $15 to $40, depending on whether it is built as a separate building or as a room in an existing one.

These bulletins may be had free from county agents or the college direct.

IONE

JENNIE E. MCMURRAY.

The Fred Pettijohn home just below Ione on Willow creek was the scene of a pretty home wedding Wednesday, June 8, when Miss Hazel Rieta Pettijohn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pettijohn, became the bride of Jack Hynd, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hynd of Cecil. The officiating clergyman was Joel R. Benton of the Church of Christ, Heppner.

Under the skilled hands of Mrs. Grover Curtis of Arlington who had full charge of the decorations, the large, roomy porch which extends around three sides of the Pettijohn home, was converted into a veritable bower of roses, and amid the beautiful flowers and in the presence of more than fifty guests the marriage vows were given, the Rev. Mr. Benton using the ring ceremony. The bride wore a gown of white crepe and carried a bouquet of rose buds and sweet peas. The bride veil was held in place by a head band of orange blossoms. Her attendant was her cousin, Miss Beulah Pettijohn. She wore pink crepe and carried white roses. The groom's man was Mr. Hynd's cousin, Mr. Ewing Hynd of Ukiah.

Mrs. Hynd is a charming young lady. She graduated from the high school at Ione with the class of 1932. Mr. Hynd is a student of aviation, being a graduate of a Portland school. Late in the afternoon of their wedding day Mr. and Mrs. Hynd departed on a two weeks' honeymoon trip to Portland and the coast. During the summer they will make their home at Granite, and Mr. Hynd will superintend the several bands of sheep which Mr. Hynd, Sr., will have on the mountain range. Later they will make their home on one of the Hynd ranches.

Peter Timm and George Timm, wheat farmers of this district, motored to Pendleton Saturday, returning Sunday.

L. L. Funk, wife and daughter, returned the first of the week to their home at Wasco. Mr. Funk had been here getting out car load shipments of the dirt which is used in road building. The Funks are former residents of our city and while at their camp below town took time to call on old neighbors and friends and enjoyed the strawberry "feed" at Masonic hall Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Yocom of Wasco passed through town Saturday enroute to Heppner to visit relatives. They visited briefly at the Funk camp. Mr. Funk is a son of Mrs. Yocom.

An all-day meeting of the Baptist Aid society will be held Thursday at the Peter Timm country home.

River Transportation and Resolution to Railroads Moves for Lower Rates; Visit Pendleton.

Appreciation by the U. S. bureau of public roads of the cooperation given by Morrow county in getting its secondary money for the next two years expended on the Heppner-Spray road was expressed to the Heppner Lions club Monday by C. G. Norris, resident engineer in charge of the work of the bureau on this road. Mr. Norris said work of graveling the new grade constructed last year will probably start about July 1, if appropriations are received as scheduled. The estimate on grading calls for the expenditure of $50,000.

The new grade which connects the stretch of macadam up Chapin creek with another stretch of macadam up Haystack creek in Wheeler county to the John Day highway, is practically completed, with work of completing the road cushion now in process. Mr. Norris estimated that the grade would be open for travel in two weeks.

Visitors Present.

Mr. Norris contributed to the club program as a guest. Other guests present who added spice to the program were C. L. Sweek, circuit judge and former president of the Lions club; F. A. McMahon, state policeman; M. V. Logan, sheriff of Gilliam county, and F. A. McMenamin, former Heppner attorney now practicing in Portland. S. E. Notson reviewed the river transportation meeting held last week in The Dalles, expressing his opinion that while nothing definite came of the meeting, the matter was one of importance to the general public and one on which the people should keep informed. It is inevitable that use of the Columbia river for transportation purposes will be made some day, he said.

In line with the discussion of river transportation, which is being advocated as a means of lowering transportation rates on farm commodities to tide water, C. W. Smith, county agent, told of the meeting of eastern Oregon wheatgrowers in Portland last week, from which a resolution emanated asking the railroads to make the intrastate rate effective on all wheat shipments, whether designated for home or foreign consumption. A differential of several cents a hundred pounds exists between the intrastate and intrastate rates on wheat, for which there is no very good excuse as the farmers view it, and application of the intrastate rate on all wheat shipments would mean a saving of many thousands of dollars each year to eastern Oregon farmers, it was contended. Such a saving would mean a great deal to all residents of the section, and Mr. Smith believed the subject one worthy of consideration by everybody.

Pendleton Trip Told.

Chairman Smith also reported the visitation of local club members to the Pendleton Lions club last Thursday evening. Twelve members of the local club were present, two with their wives, and all were reported to have enjoyed the excellent program and warm fellowship of the neighboring club. Those attending from here were Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Turner, Mr. and Mrs. R. Ripley, Chas. W. Smith, Al Rankin, L. L. Gilliam, Gay M. Anderson, C. J. D. Bauman, Spencer Crawford, Jasper Crawford, W. W. Smead, Paul Marble and Chas. Thomson.

HOME FROM SCHOOL.

Among Heppner students who have been away to institutions of higher education the last year, the following have returned home this week following the close of school: Roderick Thomson, Harry Wells and Stephen Thompson from Oregon State college, Corvallis, and Ellis and Earl Thomson, Vawter Parker, Jeanette Turner, Teresa Breslin from University of Oregon, Eugene.

TO PLAY BALL AT UKIAH.

Heppner's Wheatland league ball team has accepted an invitation to meet Pendleton at Ukiah at 10:30 o'clock the morning of July 4 as a part of the program of the two-day cowboy convention and celebration to be staged there. On the morning of the third, the Mission Indians and Pendleton will cross bats.

Word was received Wednesday morning by Mrs. E. R. Huston, announcing the death of F. E. Bloom at his home in Albany on Tuesday evening. Mr. Bloom had been ill for many months, suffering with cancer. He is a brother-in-law of Mrs. Huston and is survived by his wife and two sons and one daughter. Funeral services were held at Albany today.

Judge Robinson and Walt Eubanks were Ione residents in the city for a short time today while attending to business matters.
