OUT of all the discussion of veterans' relief and bonus proposals some interesting and useful facts have emerged.

Take, for example, the fact that in the great war the United States had less than four and a half million men mobilized on both sides of the Atlantic and had a casualty list of only 360,300 killed and wounded.

Those were the people who were hardest hit by the war, and they might be expected to be carrying a far heavier burden in the way of relief for the injured and support of the families of the killed.

We have been advised of the activities of the National Economy League, whose slogan is "millions for the war disabled and not one cent for political pensions."

Archibald B. Roosevelt is secretary of the National Economy League. Mr. Roosevelt was one of the four sons of Theodore Roosevelt who served in the World War.

We do not think that any necessary relief should be denied to any former soldier, sailor or marine who was actually disabled as a result of his war service.

JACOB THE AGED FATHER. Genesis 46:1-7; 23:30; 47:7. Rev. Samuel D. Price, D. D.

Pharaoh had personally invited Jacob to come and take the journey in the "wagons of Joseph." Our Master Teacher is gracious in giving us aids to faith, for many are still slow of heart to believe, like the two who walked and talked with Jesus on the road to Emmaus.

In Hebron was the place of ancestral burial. On this traditional site are the most venerated shrines of the Mohammedans. Care is taken to bar all others but Moslems from visiting this shrine.

All anxiety about the journey to Egypt was removed at Beer-Sheba. The Jacob had further audience with God at the altar of worship. This change of home was in the purpose of Jehovah as we read the promises made to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob.

suit of his war service. We do believe it is time to call a halt on paying out the people's money indiscriminately to able-bodied men merely because they happened once to wear Uncle Sam's uniform.

WE HEAR a good many people remarking that the younger generation has no manners, that the boys and girls of today are rapidly sliding down to perdition and that things were so much better when these complaining individuals themselves were young.

We seem to remember having heard old folks talk in a similar strain when we were young. We are strongly inclined to believe that the bad manners and worse morals of youth have always been a subject of complaint by their parents and grandparents from King Solomon's time, and perhaps farther back than that.

Our belief is strengthened by recently seeing a letter written in 1795 by an English woman who said among other things:

"Our manners become more licentious, our men are indifferent, our women bold and assuming, the pertness of fifteen is allowed to give access to the silences of her superiors and understanding, for who can wish to hold an argument with a flippant tongue? But a more serious consideration is the hideous dress of the present day, for to be perfectly fashionable is to be half naked."

In the same letter elderly women were criticised for resorting to cosmetics in the effort to make themselves look younger. We have heard people around here talk about how disgusting it is for a woman old enough to be a grandmother to try to look like a flapper.

One thing is certain. That is, that each generation has to learn its own way about and find its own way of living. In other words, codes of manners and behavior generally are good only for the generation that subscribes to them.

MARY A. NOTSON, Reporter.

The wet press is making a great hullabaloo about the stand taken by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., on the repeal of the 18th amendment. His integrity and well-meaning may not be open to question, but it certainly is assumed to speak with authority in regard to a question upon which he is no better authority than any other citizen.

Another weak spot in his pronouncement is his failure to suggest anything as a substitute. He gives a very plausible reason, from the wet standpoint, for not submitting a substitute. He said it would be difficult for the country as a whole to agree in advance upon a substitute and that if any substitute were proposed, it would be more difficult to secure the repeal of the 18th amendment.

"We challenge the wets to solve the liquor problem with anything better than total abstinence. We challenge the wets to produce a better educational program than facts concerning alcohol as divulged by science. We challenge the wets to substitute something better than law observance. We challenge the wets to produce a program of liquor regulation which liquor men will obey and which can be guaranteed as a remedy for drunkenness, vice, lawlessness, corruption, and waste."

Mrs. J. A. Anglin motored to Yakima, Wash., Tuesday, to remain in that city for a week while she is looking after some repairs to their residence property there.

He's In a Tough Spot - By Albert T. Reid

The FAMILY DOCTOR by JOHN JOSEPH GAINES, M.D.

WHY PEOPLE LOSE CONFIDENCE

Situated as I am, at a health resort, I meet folks from all over our land. I listen to their reasons for leaving the home physician, and find out why many employ quacks, just to get "stung."

Here are some reasons why the patient left the home doctor, as I take from my notes:

"My home doctor didn't examine me as I thought he'd ought to."

"My doctor told me there was nothing the matter with me but 'nerves.'"

"He just wouldn't examine my kidneys—and I knowed the seat of my trouble was there."

"Doc didn't do nothin' for me but prescribe . . . an' I got tired of that; didn't do me no good."

"He just didn't seem to understand my case."

"After the hard times set in I couldn't keep up my payments, and Doctor just seemed to lose interest."

"My doctor ain't a liver doctor—and I know it's my liver."

"O, I got to readin' about this doctor that don't operate; he described my case to a dot. . . I paid him $250 in advance, but I ain't no better yet; he says it will take a long time."

These are typical answers. I wonder if you honest physicians ever stop to think that it may be OUR FAULT that we sometimes lose our patronage?

The meanest patient that you have, Doctor, is entitled to the very best that is in you. If you give him that and he is still disloyal and disobedient, the quicker the quacks get him the better.

EMBACH NEW HEAD MARKETING CO-OP

Background of Activity in Livestock Raising and Banking Behind New Wool Executive.

Lieutenant Colonel Harry B. Embach, newly elected general manager of the National Wool Marketing Corporation, was born forty-four years ago in Detroit, Michigan.

With a natural love for livestock and the freedom of the outdoors, it was not strange that in this pioneer settlement he should be attracted to the livestock business, and for a number of years was in the cattle business and later on connected with the pioneer firm of Babbitt Brothers, Flagstaff, Arizona, in livestock banking.

In 1923 Col. Embach was called to manage the affairs of the Arizona Wool Growers association as its secretary. From a small beginning, he developed this association into a strong and useful organization of which the big men of that state were proud to be members.

When the Reconstruction Finance Corporation was created, Harry was drafted. He responded and gave to that huge undertaking the benefit of his wide experience with livestock management and finance.

From that position he was unexpectedly called to manage the affairs of the National Wool Marketing Corporation. At considerable personal sacrifice, he accepted the call and is now devoting his full time to these new duties. With such a background, the wool growers of the United States may well feel that they have a friend at court, and that the affairs of the National Wool Marketing Corporation under his management will be conducted along the lines of sound business principles may be taken for granted.

Mr. Embach served in the army during the World War. After the termination of the war, he became executive officer of the National Guard of Arizona with the title of lieutenant colonel, and is now in the Field Artillery Reserve corps. He is married, has two children, and will make his home in Boston.

ON OREGON FARMS

Klamath Falls—Reliance wheat is being tried out this year by Harold Bunch of the Henley district and French Johnson of Tule Lake, in cooperation with County Agent C. A. Henderson.

Roseburg—Plans for a greatly enlarged dressed turkey exhibit at this year's turkey show were made at a recent meeting of the directors of the Northwestern Turkey Breeders' association, reports J. C. Leedy, county agent.

The Dale's—A recent check-up made by County Agent W. Wray Lawrence indicates that crested wheat grass, tall oat grass, brome grass, tall fescue, English rye, Reed's canary grass and winter blue grass are making the most promising showing in the second year in 15 nurseries in Wasco county.

Lakeview—There is more than one way to kill a cat—or a squirrel. Victor Johnson, Lake county agent, has mixed 48 pints of liquid strychnine to be mixed with dandelion greens and fed to old squirrels, which, for some reason, apparently do not take the poisoned grain usually used for this purpose.

Possil—"Our kitchen is quite pretty now" remarked a young homemaker of Wheeler county recently, when speaking of inexpensive kitchen improvements. "In the middle of the floor we placed an imperfect piece of linoleum with one border missing. We painted the border around it, so that the total cost is less than $4.50."

Apricots—Peaches—Ripe July 1 to 15, and Aug. 5 to 25. Free peach offer for apricot customers. May pick them yourselves. Edmonds Orchard, Umatilla, Ore. 15-18.
