

IONE

JENNIE E. McMURRAY.

Ione will celebrate in a good old-fashioned way July 4th and we invite you to spend the day with us. At 10:30 a. m. there will be a short program at the park with Jesse O. Turner of Heppner as speaker. At the conclusion of the program picnic tables will be spread under the trees. Everyone is asked to bring a plate, cup, spoon, etc., as well as a basket of good things to eat. Coffee, cream and sugar will be given free by the O. E. S. Social club.

Following the picnic dinner a parade of children in any costume they may choose, and with pets and toys, will lead the crowd to the ball diamond. A prize will be awarded to the best entry and also to the most comical one. At about 2 p. m. the races will be run near the grandstand. There will be races of all kinds for everyone from one to ninety-nine years of age. Cash or merchandise prizes of the value of one dollar for first and fifty cents for second will be awarded for each race. A horseshoe pitching tournament will be played off at a time and place announced at the program in the morning.

In the evening there will be a dance at Legion hall at which time the drawing will be made for the winning number on the social club quilt.

The social club hopes that everyone will come and bring the family, a picnic basket well-filled and a holiday spirit determined to have a good old-fashioned 4th of July—the kind that doesn't cost a lot of money but sends you home after a good visit with friends and neighbors all pepped up to look Old Man Depression between the eyes and say, "Come and do your worst, I'm ready for you."

The social club appreciates the cooperation and support given them in undertaking this celebration. The club will pay all second prizes from their own funds and to the following firms and friends who contributed funds and merchandise for first prizes they are very grateful: Louis Balsiger, Paul Balsiger, Farmer's Elevator, Morrow County Grain Growers, J. The WAY of LIFE BY BRUCE BARTON

Let's Deflate Hokum

In 1895 it was proposed to John Stuart Mill that he should run for Parliament.

He answered that he was willing to do so, provided the voters understood that he would not make any election speeches or put up one cent, and that, if elected, he would support such national issues as appealed to his best judgment and do nothing for the local interests of his district.

He says in his autobiography that "a well known literary man was heard to say that the Almighty Himself would have no chance of being elected on such a program."

Nevertheless, Mill's candidacy made remarkable progress, and just before the election he agreed to appear at a few meetings in order to answer questions.

In one of his earlier books he had made the remark that the "working classes, though differing from those of some other countries, in being ashamed of lying, are yet generally liars."

Some opponent put this on a placard and at a meeting of working men Mill was asked whether he had written and published it. He promptly answered: "I did."

What followed is so remarkable that I quote it verbatim:

"Scarcely were these two words out of my mouth when vehement applause sounded through the whole meeting. It was evident that the working people were so accustomed to expect equivocation and evasion from those who sought their suffrages, that when they found, instead of that, a direct avowal of what was likely to be disagreeable to them, instead of being affronted they concluded at once that this was a person whom they could trust...."

"The first working man who spoke after the incident said that the working classes had no desire not to be told of their faults; they wanted friends, not flatterers.... And to this the meeting heartily responded."

It has long been my conviction that politics has not kept up with popular intelligence, that the people are sick of hokum and the politicians have not found it out.

I believe we are at a point in this country when men can be elected to office, as Mill was elected in London, by courageously telling the truth.

I admit I have not much evidence to support this conviction. But I certainly should like to see it tried out.

Suffered Ten Years Then Found Sargon

Recommends It Because It Proved Worth in Her Case

"Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills are the most wonderful medicines I have ever used. I say this because they have brought back my health after I had suffered for ten years. My liver was torpid and my complexion sallow. My entire system was filled with poison. I was dreadfully nervous and was losing my strength as no other medicine has ever done. But the greatest blessing of all was the way the Sargon Soft Mass Pills relieved me from constipation from which I had suffered for so many years."—Mrs. Alexander Malcott, 1405 W Sixth Street Oklahoma City, Okla.
