LOYALTY.

(Selected Editorial, N. E. A. Service) OYALTY is one of the most es-L sential of the virtues; likewise, one of the rarest. Just now we have in mind community loyalty-or the lack of it. In the building and growth of towns and counties and cities, or their failure to grow as they should, loyalty or disloyalty is often the determining factor.

There is one city in this region that has been pushed ahead by the loyalty of its inhabitants, nearly all of whom are constant boosters. To declare that it is the best city in all the land became a habit with the citizens there many years ago. children of the last two or three generations have been "raised" on this brand of yeast. They are all puffed up with the idea that it is the best city in existence and they couldn't believe otherwise if they tried. They do not look elsewhere for what they want, believing it can be bought in their own city. The spirit of loyalty is a passion with most of them. There may be others who practice patronizing home enterprises with only a selfish object in view, but they also are helping to build their town. No great mental capacity is required to realize that all money spent in our own community helps everybody in it, sooner or later, directly or indirectly.

In the smaller towns the com-plaint is sometimes heard that the Estates it's Summer now. School local merchants do not carry what the people want. Again, we hear that prices are lower somewhere else (at special sales probably) and some people make the trip to get something at a slight reduction, not counting the cost of the trip and the time. A saturation of community loyalty would change all this and the merchants would have in stock what the people want. Nothing would please the merchants beter than to know the home people would buy from them the same things they order by mail or make trips to purchase in other towns.

The merchants need to do their stock the identical articles that people want, and go elsewhere because do not know it. We were asked recently where a certain line of articles could be found in Louisa. We did not know because we had never had occasion to inquire at any of the stores that might be expected to have them in stock and could not recall having noticed all the boy himself. them on display. THE CALL OF MOSES Exodus 3:10-15; 4:10-12. Golden Text: Exodus 3:12 Rev. Samuel D. Price, D. D.

At last Israel's time of training was nearing an end. They had come through bitter experience to see the futility of their own strivings and to turn in faith to Jehovah as the only hope of deliverance. In like manner Moses had passed through these long, lonely years of of individual dwelling house. Enorganizat

Now Moses was chosen: chosen to suffer affliction with the people of God rather than to enjoy the pleasures of sin for a season (Heb. 11:25). But still faith faltered; he doubted his own capacity. Humility is a grace of great beauty but may become a subtle peril when we are led to question God's way for us. Note the infinite patience of Jehovah. When Moses questions, "Who am I that I should go unto Pharoah?" the reassuring answer is "Certainly I will be with thee." To his second question as to how his divine commission is to be established before Israel the tender response comes, "Thus shalt thou say unto the Children of Israel I AM hath sent me unto you." Yet even in the light of this marvelous unfolding of the nature of God a lin-gering doubt remains. Moses, like many another of God's servants, looks at himself instead of looking at the Almighty One. "I am not el-oquent, I am slow of speech," he pleads. Nevertheless, God's grace surmounts even this final unbelief, and offers the pledge, "I will be with thy mouth and teach thee what thou shalt speak." What marvelous words of encouragement are these! What a wondrous ally has the humblest child of God in all His service,

HOPEFUL SIGNS.

COLLIER'S WEEKLY bids Americans to look hopefully forward o better things in the near future. This country is basically sound, Colier's contends, and gives the folowing pertinent facts: America's nutual savings bank deposits are $1,233,000,000 higher than they were at the peak of the boom three years ago. Total bank savings exceed $29,-000,000,000, or more than an average of $1,000 to every family in the land. There are 52,000,000 savings deposits, rearly two to every family in the country.

The number of Americans owning stock has increased 40 per cent since 1929. One of the larger com-panies, the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, has gained 195,000 stockholders since the boom and now has 665,000.

The stock of American gold mounts to $4,000,000,000, more than any other nation in the world. Great Britain only has $558,000,000. A recent offering of U. S. securties was oversubscribed nine times. The income of the American people exceeds one billion dollars a week. There are still six or seven persons gainfully employed for every one idle. Foreigners owe American investors about $18,000,000,000 and foreign is out, and the small boy comes into his own.

Is there any such complete, irresponsible happiness anywhere in the world as that of the schoolboy in the long Summer vacation? We can't remember that we ever were completely happy except in those two or three years each side of twelve, when we had nothing much to do, aside from a few chores around the place, from June to September. These new houses will have steel frames and pressed steel outer walls, with flat roofs and many windows, and will be equipped with electric refrigeration, heating units and everything complete, at around $3,500 for a six-room house. It will take only four days to put up one of these nouses, and if the owner wants a bigger one he can "trade in" the old one as he would an automobile. And after the first payment there will be only one mortgage, which can be paid off at around $30 a month.

Another new industry of which we have seen several announcements is that of devices for "air conditioning" homes, offices and shops. This scheme of keeping the temperature and moisture the same winter and summer, and providing clean, fresh air all the time, works well on a large scale, so there seems to be no reason why it shouldn't work well on a one-room or one-

From Detroit we hear of some thing revolutionary in automobile design and construction which is expected to come out this Summer; new type of light-weight, low cost, high-speed car with bigger balloon tires than we have seen yet. It looks to us as if the men who are big enough and smart enough to make money and keep it are not worrying about whether business will come back or not. They know it is coming back and they are getting ready.

A lad of twelve visited our camp often. He was barefoot, save for a soiled rag that partly covered a flaming-red ankle and heel. He limped a bit painfully, but said he didn't mind it much; the member was swollen quite a bit.

Colorful Names Given National Forest Camps

Many colorful names are to be found in the list of 865 forest camps in the 22 national forests of Oregon and Washington, recently compiled by the regional forester's office in Portland.

Reminiscent of early days are such names as Emigrant, Dead Indian, Sourdough, Dutch Oven, French Pete, Gumboot, Frying Pan, and Buzzard Mine. Forest animals are remembered in such camp names as Bear Paw, Grizzly Bar, Wild Cat, Wolf Creek, Deer Spring, White Horse, Coyote, Goose Lake, Eagle Creek, Greywolf, as well as such aquatic names as Frog Camp, Eel, and Dolly Varden, Among a list of colorful names also should be included, perhaps, Blue Pool, Rainbow, Diamond, Silver, Gold, Pearl, Olive, Black and Copper.

Campers of a romantic turn of mind will perhaps prefer such camps as Enchanted Valley, Camp Mystery, Happy Camp, Honeymoon Camp, and finally Home Sweet Home. Others, no doubt, will be attracted to Whiskey Creek, Moonshine Flats, Jug Creek, Humbug, Devil's Garden, and Seven Devils, For lovers of the classics there are camps named Robin Hood, Sherwood, Yew Wood, Limberlost, Cristo. These forest comps are establish ed by the forest service as a part of the development of the recreational resources of the national forests. There are just a few simple conveniences, and no charge is made for their use. Try a G. T. Want Ad.
