Official Paper for Morrow County.

TAXPAYERS HAVE RIGHT TO KNOW.

IT HAS been the contention of this paper for some years past that the taxpayers of Morrow county had a right to know how their money was being spent, and to whom it was going.

Last week proceedings of the April, May and June terms were printed, and this week the July proceedings appear. They show that so much money was disbursed for each of these terms, and we shall leave it to the readers of this paper, the greater majority of whom are taxpayers, if they can from these reports get an intelligent understanding of just what all the money was spent for and who received it.

There are too many such expressions as "et al," "various" and other vague and meaningless combinations of items and figures to give even a Philadelphia lawyer an inkling of what it is all about.

Touching upon this subject, and appearing at this time when the question of taxes is uppermost in the minds of the most of us, is the following from a Minnesota paper that is germane to the question we are raising here:

"Occasionally, newspaper men become the butt of over-zealous officials who think the cause of economy can best be served by eliminating some of these required publications. That's the same type of reasoning as argues for saving by eliminating periodic audits of public accounts and of books of cooperative and mutual organizations.

The stockholders in a cooperative organization are entitled to the protection which an annual audit provides them. They have a right to know exactly how matters stand in their own concern.

Sunday School Lesson

International Sunday School Lesson for July 31. Lesson Text: Exodus 16:1-5, 14, 35. Golden Text: James 1:17. Rev. Samuel D. Price, D. D.

When God wrought the deliverance at the Red Sea bringing Israel over on dry ground and destroying the Egyptians in the sea, there was great jubilation. They sang a song of victory and praise.

Would it not be supposed that this experience would inspire a new trust in Jehovah and that when the next trouble appeared they would humbly wait upon Him to show the way? In a few days, however, the spirit of complaint again appeared and, shortly, the whole congregation was murmuring against Moses and Aaron and crying for the flesh pots of Egypt.

Human nature is always the same, rebelling against the discipline and hardship which is essential to the making of character, and forgetful of the mercies of God.

In reading the story of Israel's wanderings it is easy to discover that though God bore patiently with their complaints, bestowing constant mercy and care, nevertheless unbelief was continually robbing them of highest blessing.

It is clear that God had something higher in view than they received for we read in the record of the same events in the Psalms, "He gave them their request but sent leanness into their soul." (Ps. 106:15)

THE OLYMPIC GAMES.

THE young athletes of all nations and both sexes who are competing at Los Angeles for world championship constitute, beyond doubt, the finest aggregation of physically perfect humanity that has ever been assembled at one time and place in the history of the world.

There is no question whatever that the modern athlete is far superior to those of ancient days. We often hear of the remarkable physical prowess of some of the primitive races, but in every contest where it has been possible to match an intelligent, trained athlete of the modern era against the best of the primitives, the victory has fallen to the modern.

We venture the belief that the Olympic games have done more than any other one influence to spread the gospel of physical training and outdoor sports throughout the civilized world. As we get older we realize that physical health is the most valuable asset the individual can have.

Forget the depression. Suppress it. You must live in the world about you, regardless of it and take the situation as it is and plug along, doing the best you can.

THE FAMILY DOCTOR JOHN JOSEPH GAINES, M.D.

THE DAY OF REST

I feel sure our editor will pardon me, if I seep at times a little old-fashioned; there are so many flimsy, new theories now—and so much untried stuff advanced, that it is refreshing to go back to the old trundle-bed for a bit of old-fashioned comfort once in a while.

Isn't the family doctor a sort of guardian in his community? I think so—a trusted, mentor and friend. He, above all others must conclude God's laws are always right.

So, there is a seventh day for rest. It has been so for centuries. That assumes that we work six days. He set the example for us, in this matter of first importance.

Well, how many of us observe the law—or follow the Divine example? How many of us pay the penalty which is sure, after many flagrant violations?

I am afraid that the church, ambitious to succeed in a holy cause, approaches very close to transgression when it fills the Sabbath with exacting ceremonies. Sunday is the day of all days when I keep my eye on the clock, to see that I shall not be late at any of my denominational ordinances.

Of course, BUSINESS desecrates, gallops over, takes no notice of the Sabbath, the day when soft grind trade is best, and when grease and gasoline are most in demand. Even drug stores remain open on account of emergency (?) prescriptions! Would God have it so—I wonder?
