Where Is Zebedee?
"Then came to Him the mother of Zebedee's children, with her sons, worshipping Him." Matt. 20:20.

Where was Zebedee, the father of these sons? During the eventful years of Christ's personal ministry on earth, why did not Zebedee identify himself as a follower of Christ, along with his family?

There are great numbers of men, Zebedees, whose wives and children pursue a course of conduct in religious matters in marked contrast to that of husbands and fathers.

Where are you, husband, father, Zebedee, when the wife and mother is trying to bring up the children in the way of Christianity? Let your heart answer this question.

We all know of the broken family circles, blasted hopes, ruined lives, divorce courts, because the family circle has not been a complete, perfect circle in Christ. Husbands, and also wives, must mutually help in this matter especially for the sake of the children. It is hard for either one of the parents to combat non-Christian living on the part of the other, when trying to raise children to be God-fearing Christians; it is hard for either one of the parents to get children to Bible School, church, etc., when the other parent has no concern about it, never goes. The salvation of this nation—the whole earth—depends not upon the whoopee of peanut politicians; but upon Christian statesmanship and Christian leadership, and Christian citizenship, all of which must begin in Christian homes!

If you have not a Church home, we invite you to our Bible School and church services. Come, and test the welcome of this Friendly Church.

METHODIST CHURCH.
GLEN P. WHITE, Pastor.
Mrs. C. R. Ripley, Director of Music.
9:45 a. m., Sunday School.
11:00 a. m., Morning worship hour, message, "Paid in Full on the Atonement."
7 p. m., Epworth League.
8 p. m., Song service and gospel message, "We Would See Jesus."

"It is the blood that maketh an atonement for the soul." Lev. 17:11. It is absolutely impossible to redeem corrupted, sinful men with a corruptible price. It takes an incorruptible price to redeem corruptible beings. It takes the immortal to redeem the mortal. It takes the pure to redeem the impure. It takes the guiltless to redeem the guilty. Hence salvation must be of divine origin. And the one who rejects the atoning blood of Jesus Christ is like a derelict at sea. He is without hope and without God in this world. The mangel led to the cross; the cross to the tomb; the tomb to the resurrection; the resurrection to the ascension; and the ascension to His coming again.

Anyone who believes on the Son of God may know that he has eternal life. "He that believeth on me hath everlasting life."

You are welcome to all our services.

Fewer Apples, Same Pears And Potatoes Estimated
Pear and potato crops almost exactly the same as last year for the country as a whole and an apple crop considerably smaller are in prospect, according to August government crop estimates just reviewed by the market news service of the state college extension service.

The pear crop is placed at 22,149,000 bushels compared with 21,487,000 bushels last year. Oregon's crop is estimated at 2,880,000 bushels compared with 2,988,000 bushels last year.

The country will raise 367,399,000 bushels of potatoes, the government estimates, compared with 375,518,000 last year. Oregon is expected to harvest only 4,920,000 bushels compared with 5,460,000 last year. Leading commercial sections in this state, however, are raising just as large an acreage this year as last, say private reports to the extension service.

Total apple crop of the United States is now placed at 133,824,000 bushels of which 90,513,000 bushels are commercial. This compares with 211,596,000 bushels last year for the total crop and 104,196,000 bushels for the commercial. Oregon's total for this year and last is given at 4,950,000 bushels and 3,150,000 bushels respectively. Thus Oregon is probably to have a larger crop than a year ago, while the country as a whole will have a much smaller crop.

Oregon will produce more fresh prunes and less dried ones than a year ago, the crop estimates show. The dried prune tonnage in this state is estimated at only 17,500 tons compared with 27,000 tons last year. California's dried prune crop will be well in advance of last year, while the crop in France is a little under a year ago, balanced off by a larger crop in Yugoslavia.

FARM MARKET NEWS

More favorable conditions ahead for the sheep industry are indicated in an outlook report just released by the Oregon agricultural extension service. On the other hand, the supply of dairy and poultry products is expected to be well maintained with higher price levels mostly dependent upon increased purchasing power of consumers.

The present extremely low prices for sheep products is due to the "combined effect of increased supplies of lambs and wool and sharply curtailed consumer demand and purchasing power" the report states. Due to unfavorable conditions for sheep in the western states last winter, however, death losses were heavy and sheep numbers have been reduced.

The shorn wool crop was 7 per cent less than a year ago and the lamb crop 8 per cent less. The proportion of yearling ewes in the flocks is also below normal.

Evidence of continued keen competition in the dairy industry is seen in the increasing number of milk cows in the country. The effect of the probable increase in supply on prices is expected to be offset by stronger demand, as industrial payrolls increase.

A small increase in the number of hens is in prospect but the supply of eggs may not be larger than during the past year, unless weather conditions should again be unusually favorable, according to the report.

EQUALIZATION NOTICE.

certain operators for compensation. Is Big Educational Move.

A "Bill Moving University, Normal and Law Schools, Establishing Junior Colleges" would move the University of Oregon from Eugene to Corvallis and consolidate it with the Oregon Agricultural College under the name of Oregon State University; move the normal schools from Ashland, La Grande and Monmouth to Eugene and consolidate them under the name of Oregon State Teachers' College; establish Junior Colleges at Ashland and La Grande, dispose of Oregon Normal School property at Monmouth; move the University Law School to Salem; all said institutions and the medical school at Portland to be conducted as units of said Oregon State University; making university president ex-officio secretary of board of higher education.

"Tax and Debt Control Constitutional Amendment" would make the power of the state, counties, municipalities and districts to levy taxes and incur indebtedness subject to such limitations and control as may be provided by general law.

The "Tax Supervising and Conservation Bill" would provide for a local non-salaried tax supervising and conservation board of three members, appointed by the governor, to review budgets and regulate tax levies of the county and all municipal corporations therein; for appeal from any order of said board, either by the levying body or by ten interested taxpayers to the state tax commission; providing for said board holding hearings and making advisory recommendations as to special tax levies and incurring indebtedness, also compiling statistics and publishing information concerning public finances; repealing present tax supervising and conservation law.

More From Incomes.

"Personal Income Tax Amendment Bill" proposes to further reduce property taxes by advancing the tax on net personal incomes in excess of $5,000 from 5 to a maximum of 8 per cent; substituting an exemption from the total tax of $10 for a single person to $20 for a married person, head of a family, or husband and wife, and $4 for each dependent, instead of the present exemptions of $1,500, $2,500 and $400 respectively; and amending the provisions of the law so as to apply to the entire income of residents from personal service.

"State Water Power and Hydro-electric Constitutional Amendment" would require all water for power development and water power sites now or hereafter owned by the state to be held by it perpetually; and authorizing the state: to control, develop, lease water power and power sites; control, use, distribute, sell, dispose of electric energy; separately or within the United States, other states or state subdivisions, acquire from such sources water power and electric energy; loan the state's credit and incur indebtedness not exceeding 6 per cent of assessed valuation; commission of three nonpartisan elected members to administer these powers.

AFTER OPERATION

An operation for diseased ovary? Removal of tumor? Of the appendix? Or, for hernia? If you have had any of these operations, yours is a "surgical abdomen," or has been. And, the nerves within that wonderful structure may not function for a good while as they did before you had the disease requiring the surgery.

I often tell my patients that have had operations: "Let a mechanic stoop down before your piano and saw a hole in its 'abdomen,' let him go inside the instrument and remove part of the wires, and twist the others here and there. Then let him fill the wound in the wooden wall and varnish it anew, so that all evidence of the job is hidden. Would you expect the piano to play after the internal damage to its strings?"

So it is with the surgical abdomen, whose nerves have been originally adjusted far more perfectly than any piano-strings. You may have had the best surgeon on earth, for a most malignant condition—the operation may have been done in the highest skill of perfection, yet the damaged nerves may not perform naturally for a long time, until the parts have become adjusted to the new order of things.

Give yourself a few months time to get over the effects of your, possibly, life-saving operation.

If you have had a capital operation and yet have a quarrelsome belly, for goodness sake let up on your carpet-tack diet of "roughage." Eat soft, easily-digested, nourishing food—the kind that builds up wounded tissue and nerves. Let your bowel rest from the rough stuff; try smooth stuff.

ON OREGON FARMS

Kingsley—A field of Hybrid 128 wheat on the C. A. Knowles ranch was the only one of several fields in this section of Wasco county that passed inspection for certification. Mr. Knowles has been specializing for many years in producing pure varieties and improved strains of grain, having achieved a high reputation for winning exhibits at county, state and regional fairs. He began years ago by hand-picking grain for seed.

Prineville—Potato growers of this region are interested in the results of some tests with so-called scab-proof potatoes being made this year. Nursery plots of these varieties said to be immune from scab are planted on the E. W. Stewart, Geo. C. Truesdale, E. N. Hall and R. R. Roberts farms. They all showed excellent growth when last inspected by County Agent Tucker who obtained the start of the seed.

St. Helens—"Homemade evaporators are appearing all over Columbia county," reports Mrs. Sarah Case, home demonstration agent, who is filling innumerable requests for copies of the bulletin which explains how to make these dryers. A program of evaporation and canning is fully under way for county relief, explains Mrs. Case, who is acting as advisory member of every welfare bureau or community chest organization in the county.
