YEAR'S SCHOOL PLAN TOLD TO LIONS CLUB

Endorsement Given Move
To Use Horses On Spray Road Work.

JOB TO BE LET 16TH

Dr. Winnard Visits; Committee Set
For River Meet; McMahon Cites
State Police Organization.

Edward F. Bloom, who has assumed the administrative reins of the Heppner schools which open Monday, made his bow to the Lions club last Monday. In becoming identified with the service club, he made a short talk setting out the administrative policy of greatest economy consistent with efficiency, and solicited the cooperation of Heppner citizens to the end that the school year might give the utmost service to the community. He extolled the high standard reached by the Heppner schools under immediate past administrations, and declared it his aim to maintain this standard.

In connection with the announcement that a contract for graveling nine miles of new grade on the Heppner-Spray road would be let on September 16, George Bleckman, county commissioner, told of the plan that is to be used of hauling the gravel by team-drawn dump wagons in order to provide employment for more men. To assist him in providing information as to the number of teams and dump wagons available locally, a committee of club members was appointed to contact farmers, with Chas. W. Smith, county agent, as chairman. The club gave hearty endorsement to the plan, and the committee set to work immediately following adjournment of the meeting.

Best Years Spent Here.

Dr. N. E. Winnard, for 14 years a practicing physician in Heppner from 1905, and since leaving here a resident of Eugene, was a guest of the club. He related anecdotes of former days in Heppner, depicting the 14 years spent here as the happiest days of his life. He was glad to note the spirit of optimism prevalent here, and put in a word in behalf of Eugene against the proposed merger of the university and state college.

S. E. Notson and W. W. Smead were appointed as a committee to arrange for a delegation from Heppner to be present at a hearing before a senate committee on proposed improvements on the Columbia and Snake rivers, to be held at Lewiston on September 7 and 8. Mr. Notson will present a five-minute paper at the meeting on the advantages of river transportation to Morrow county.

The club voted an appreciation of the services of Paul Marble, first vice-president, which office was declared vacant by Mr. Marble's removal to Sunnyside, Wash., and he was extended best wishes for success in his new field.

Police Give Aid.

F. A. McMahon, state policeman in the traffic division, was a guest and by request of the program committee gave a short talk outlining the state police organization. One of the chief aims of the organization is to give assistance to the public, and members of the force do not like to be considered a "dis-ease," Mr. McMahon said. The state police have been in existence just a little more than a year, under the leadership of Charles P. Pray, who has been a popular though exacting chief, he said. Under the new set-up, the various state enforcement officers were put in three divisions, traffic, game and investigation forces. The traffic officers are uniformed and carry the insignia of the organization on their cars. The game officers are required to be in uniform when on the highway, but may not wear uniform when in the mountains. The investigation department, made up of officers from the first marshal's office and from the prohibition department, are all plain clothes men who bear no distinctive insignia, and who come and go unrecognized by the public. It is the purpose of the state police to work in close cooperation with county and municipal enforcement officers, and Mr. McMahon said he had received the best of support from officers in Morrow county.

Ninety per cent of the officers in the traffic department have Red Cross first aid certificates. All carry a large amount of equipment besides spare gasoline and oil to help distressed motorists, and Mr. McMahon is among a few who have portable telephones which may be attached to telephone lines anywhere to facilitate rapid communication, both for relief and enforcement purposes. Do not hesitate to call upon a state policeman when in trouble, he said. If your combine is broken down and you have no means of getting repairs from town, you may stop a state policeman if he happens by, and he will go to town and back for the needed extra. All these things are in the day's work for a state officer, who gets every bit as much credit for such Good Samaritan acts as he does for making a dozen arrests. The state police work on a flat salary, and there is no incentive for

150 TEAMS SIGNED FOR GRAVEL JOB

Short Time to Work Keeps Committee From Seeing All Farmers;
Spray Job to be Let 16th.

In response to the request of the bureau of public roads for the number of teams available for work on the macadam job to be let on the Heppner-Spray road September 16, G. A. Bleckman, county commissioner, and H. Tamblin, county engineer, left for Portland yesterday morning with a sign-up of 150 teams secured through the efforts of the Lions club committee, headed by C. W. Smith, county agent. "We were advised that names of those having teams available had to be in Portland by 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon," said Mr. Smith, "leaving but a very short time in which to work, and it was impossible to contact all farmers of the county. That farmers are receptive to the idea is shown by the large number of teams secured in the short time, and it is certain many more teams can be had if needed."

Specifications of the bureau call for animals weighing not less than 1500 pounds. Owners of teams used will receive $3 a day, but will be expected to furnish shelter and feed. The teams will be used in hauling gravel in lieu of truck transportation for the purpose of providing employment to a greater number of men and to help lessen the expense of carrying local horses through the quiet season. The contract to be let calls for 9 miles of surfacing on the new grade between Chapin creek and Haystack canyon. It is expected the amount of work to be done this fall will depend entirely on weather conditions.

47 LIVELY HORSES ON DECK FOR RACES

More and Faster Stock to Be Seen Than Ever Before, Says Prexy.

BUCKING STRING SET

Famous Outlaws Back, Joined by
New Tornadoes; Track, Arena
In Fine Shape for Rodeo.

The opening gun of Heppner's eleventh Rodeo at 1:30 tomorrow afternoon will raise the curtain on what should be the best show in the annals of local cowboy history, declares C. W. McNamer, president, who bases his prediction on the amount and caliber of the stock rounded up for the event.

More and faster race horses than have ever been shown on the local track before are prancing in their stalls awaiting their opportunity to show. The forty-seven racing animals, many of which will go from here to the Pendleton Round-up next week, include all the relay and pony express strings the track will accommodate.

Here with racing stock are Porter, John Carter, and Shields of Long Creek, all with separate strings, Kenneth Dewey and Gilliland from Ukiah, and Moores, McNalley and Swagartz, besides a number of owners of dark horses. The lists for every race from the boys' pony race to the three-quarter-mile Rodeo County derby, will be well filled, and spectators are guaranteed all will be great races, Mac says.

Decks to be Rough.

And what a reception awaits aspiring top hands in the bucking contest, with many famous outlaws of the past joined by some sensational newcomers to provide the roughest decks a cowboy ever tried to stay upon. Black Diamond, Colored Boy, Teapot Dome, Madam Queen, Ma Kennedy, Muck-a-Muck, Wickup, Supersix and Baby Doll are all back again, and Franklin D. Herb Hoover, Depression, Honorable Archie and Dee Cox are a bunch of the newcomers whose showing in try-outs assure their metal to be of a caliber cutting them to rank with the veterans.

The lists of cowboys are filling today at Rodeo headquarters in Hotel Heppner, with entries for tomorrow closing at 8 o'clock this evening. Tommy Zahm and Fred Stark are two favorite performers in past years who have been in the city for a week warming their heels for another chance at the bucking crown.

The bucking contest will be run in the same manner as in former years, with the semi-finals and finals to be run off Saturday.

Peppy Calves Ready.

A lively bunch of young calves is on hand for the calf roping each day, and it is assured ropers will have their hands full. Then there's a bunch of steers for riding purposes, and some bulldozing may also be done if any of the boys feel so inclined.

Both arena and track at the large natural amphitheater have been put in tip-top shape. Sawdust has been applied in quantities to allay the arena dust, and grounds will be wet down as well to add to the attractiveness.

It's going to be a great show, and one you don't want to miss, Mac says.

Nye-Heppner Jct. Sector
Taken From Federal Map

A daily press dispatch last week, reporting action of a recent state highway commission meeting, conveyed the news that the Nye-Heppner Junction sector of the Oregon-Washington highway had been removed from the federal road map on the recommendation of R. H. Baldock, state engineer.

It was reported that E. B. Aldrich, eastern Oregon commissioner on the highway body, opposed the action.

GET MANY HUCKLEBERRIES.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Brown of Rhea creek were in Heppner the end of the week distributing their pick of huckleberries made at Mt. Adams in company with Judge and Mrs. W. T. Campbell of Heppner. The Browns made two trips to the Washington mountain, picking 714 gallons the first trip and buying 110 gallons the second. They said that at one time this season 4200 people were picking in the vicinity, and that there were 2200 there when they left. It was estimated that all told 20,000 gallons of huckleberries had been taken from the region this season. From his success in dealing in huckleberries friends of Mr. Brown expect him to give up the business of raising protein hay on the creek and enter the fruit business.

FRUIT JARS WANTED.

A quantity of large size fruit jars is wanted for canning tomatoes to assist in relief work. Large sizes especially are needed. Those who have jars to donate should notify county agent's office. Or if it is not desired to donate them, the relief committee would appreciate having them loaned.

The Rebekah convention of District No. 20 will convene in Ione September 15.

Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Morgan, their son Milton, and their nephew, Norton Lundell, left Monday on an auto trip to Mr. Morgan's old home in Missouri. They will also visit Mr. Morgan's brother at Coffeyville, Kansas, whom he has not seen for fifty-two years.

Loren Hale and daughter, Miriam, motored to Yakima Sunday, returning Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. John Cochran who have been visiting relatives and old neighbors here for some time returned to their home in Yakima with Mr. Hale.

Three carloads of the Harlan Curdies sheep were shipped from Harlan Monday, consigned to the Chicago market.

Mrs. Jalmer Koski and small daughter, Thelma Jean, left the first of last week for her home in Centralia, Wash., after a pleasant visit with relatives here. She made the trip as far as Hood River by auto in company with Mrs. C. W. Swanson, Miss Norma Swanson, Mrs. Frank Lundell and Billy and Norma Lou, Mrs. Fred Nicholson and Alice Catherine. The party enjoyed a picnic dinner at Flock's orchard.

Mrs. Fanny Glascock drove over from Hermiston Sunday for a few days with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Ella Davidson.

Frank Keller has been spending several days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Keller. The three spent Saturday in Pendleton and on Monday Mr. Keller, Jr., departed for Kirksville, Missouri, where he will enroll as a student in Still College of Osteopathy. He will visit enroute at Butte, Montana, where his brother, Dr. James Keller, is located.

Fred Rood of Hillsboro, administrator of the Fannie O. Rood estate, was transacting business in our city not long ago.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Maple and Miss Marjory Stefani who had been visiting at the A. E. Stefani home, returned Thursday of last week to their home in Portland. They were accompanied by Mrs. Stefani who sojourned in the city for a few days. During Mrs. Stefani's absence, Frank Lundell was rural mail carrier.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rankin, former Rhea creek ranchers now located at Hermiston, were Friday guests at the French Burroughs home.

Dinner guests at the Mr. Jordan home Saturday were Mr. and Mrs. French Burroughs of Rhea creek and Mr. and Mrs. Glen Burroughs and two children whose home is in Kirksville, Missouri. Mr. and Mrs. Burroughs, Jr., have been visiting here for some time past. They departed Monday night for their home in Missouri, going by way of California.

All Union Sunday school meetings this month will be held at the Baptist church. Plans are being formulated to make Rally Day and Promotion Sunday especially interesting to all those who attend the services. The meetings of the Dorcas society are to be resumed after a month's vacation from Aid Society work.

The preaching services in the Pentecostal Mission are now conducted on Wednesday evening by Albert Snoderly. This change from Sunday morning was made necessary by the change of services in Heppner where Mr. Snoderly is the regular pastor.

Elwayne Lueallen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lueallen, is a patient in a Portland hospital where he recently underwent an operation for hernia. It will be two weeks before the young man will be able to leave the hospital. His mother is in the city with him.

Miss Minnie Normoyle left Pendleton early Tuesday morning aboard the Portland Rose enroute to Athens, West Virginia, where she will visit relatives, and a little later return to Pendleton.

FALL FROM LOFT KILLS HARRY HAYS

Plank Breaks as Man Goes Into Rafters of Barn to Fix Lights;
Funeral Services Yesterday.

Harry Hayes, 62, was killed Monday evening when he broke through a plank in the hay loft of the McRoberts livery stable, and fell to the hard ground some 15 feet beneath. The accident happened about 7 o'clock in the evening. He was knocked unconscious by the fall, and was rushed to Heppner hospital where he died about 10 o'clock without regaining consciousness. Wm. McRoberts, owner of the stable, and his small son were present at the time of the accident.

Hayes had climbed into the loft, and walked onto the plank between the mows on either side of the barn for the purpose of inserting some new light bulbs. He had been managing the stable for McRoberts for the last year and a half.

Funeral services were held from the Elks hall at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon with interment in Masonic cemetery, Heppner lodge No. 358, of which Hayes was a member, officiating.

Hayes was a veteran farm hand in the county, having been employed on various farms for the last 30 years, the greater part of the time having been spent in the employ of D. O. Justus. Three years ago he lost the fingers of one hand in a hay chopper, and shortly afterward came to town, working at odd jobs, and part of the time was driver of the Heppner-Pendleton stage before taking over the management of the McRoberts stable.

He is survived by a brother, Geo. Hays of Pendleton, and other relatives all residing at a distance.

RODEO LID WILL BE KICKED OFF TODAY

Local People to Warm Up
Town With Heppner
Day at Dance.

BIG PARADE CERTAIN

At Least Five Organizations to Enter Floats; Nine Sets of Twins in Entries.

The lid will go off Heppner's eleventh cowboy celebration this evening, when all the citizens are urged to don their carnival regalia and attend the concert of the Heppner school band at 7 o'clock at the corner of Main and Center streets, starting off the evening's activity of carnival sports, with merry-go-round in full swing, to wind up with the big dance at the pavilion. This is slated as Heppner Night, and everyone is urged to get out and warm up the old town for the opening of the Rodeo proper tomorrow.

A bunch of concessions, with all-home hovers, will be ready and open for business at the carnival grounds this evening. And the profits will go into the general Rodeo pot. It's an all-home affair this year, and it is expected Morrow county people will be appreciative of the fact, at least by their presence enlivening the throng.

Band Will Play.

The school band, directed by Harold Buhman, will be on hand both days of the Rodeo and will pep up performances at the grounds, as well as joining in the parade. The Polson-Hendrickson dance band of La Grande, with eight pieces, will provide the music for dancing.

Aside from the big show itself, the outstanding feature of the two days is expected to be the big parade at 10:30 Saturday morning. Entries for every department of the parade have been listed, with from five to ten organization floats, at least two dozen decorated automobiles, many decorated four-horse teams, comic stunts, a long cavalcade of mounted cowboys and cowgirls—and say, who ever thought there were so many twins in the county? At least nine sets of twins have been signed up to ride on the floats.

Queen Mae In Parade.

The parade will be headed by Queen Mae II and her attendants, Miss Virginia Cleveland, Miss Kathryn Blisbee and Miss Gwen Evans. Also at the head will ride President McNamer, the judges and other Rodeo officials accompanied by the color bearers. The school band in bright uniform will follow.

Forming at the corner of Main and Church streets, the line of march will follow up Main street, starting promptly at 10:30.

The general Rodeo committee has everything well in hand to give everybody a good time. The stage is set—the latch string is out—and the lid will go off this evening.

KENNETH WOODROW JONES.
