Official Paper for Morrow County.

WHY WAS IT DONE?

OUT of a clear sky the end of the week came news that the Nye-Heppner Junction sector of the Or-egon-Washington highway had been removed from the federal highway map. The action, supposedly, was taken on the recommendation of R. H. Baldock, state engineer, who argued that because this sector of road had never received any aid can be met without having some effrom federal sources, there was no need of it being on the federal map. need of it being on the federal map. At the same time E. B. Aldrich, eastern Oregon's highway commissioner from Pendelton, publicly op-

One cannot help but question the reasoning of Mr. Baldock, as well as the good faith of Mr. Aldrich in the face of circumstances,

It is known that large sums of federal money have been expended within the last two years on the Pilot Rock-Nye sector of the Ore-gon-Washington highway, Nye being the point at which the John Day North and South road joins the O.-W. route. This sector was straightened and widened to bring it up to federal standards and federal money was used, showing that at least part of the Oregon-Washington highway has been greatly benefitted by being on the federal map. But so far as the Nye-Heppner Junction sector is concerned there is now no chance of it getting help from federal funds, thanks supposedly, to Mr. Baldock, who argues that because no federal help has been given, none should be.

That does not appear like sound logic. Neither does Mr. Aldrich's was engineer-in-charge during con-struction of at least part of the Nye-Heppner Junction sector of the Oregon-Washington highway. He is probably as familiar with this folks if they get too far away from piece of road as any road in the soil and the sea.

We were reminded of this by readposed that he would have more or ing that the State of New York has less of a personal interest in its decided to grant fishing licenses deton and its daily newspaper, of the rivers and lakes, bays and which Mr. Aldrich is editor, have ponds of the state. We think it been untiring in their efforts for would be a good plan to adopt evmany years to force completion of the John Day North and South bolt long ago is thoroughly timely. The liquor problem has never been ilies solved. Intemperance is still a serious challenge to the stability of merely temporary expedients, but society, and its peril is peculiarly out of them it is reasonable to exintense in our machine age. Unfortunately the clearly established facts concerning the menace of alcohol are obscured by the fierce controversy now raging over the merits and demerits of prohibition. Both sides are warring camps, and their psychology therefore tends to be that of military factions angrily circulating atrocity stories about one another.

What is needed is more light and through a chain of middlemen less heat. The failures and success es of prohibition must be studied dispassionately. Above all, the place of alcohol in our modern, complex civilization must be scientifically approached.

Now we may cherish reasonable doubts as to the wisdom of the eighteenth amendment. But certain it is that the arguments against the liquor traffic are as strong now as Rigid tests have proven that alcohol is a food only in a very limit ed sense, that it is not a stimulant but a narcotic such as ether and chloroform, and that it is a habit forming drug, a poison that lowers resistance to infection and physical injury, and may result in acute and chronic disease. Dr. Haven Emer-son, of Columbia University, sums up the case against it when he says "Alcohol as commonly used by modern man here and abroad deteriorates the cells of the body; de grades the man degenerates the

To be sure, there are eminent authorities who hold that the moderate drinking of alcoholic beverages is harmless. Yet the Life Extension Institute's handbook, "How to Live," declares that "the judgment of the majority of scientific men is against even the moderate use of alcohol." The liquor issue is now entering a new phase. We have overstressed burger attended the sthe power of the law. would give, Had Mr. Aldrich been sincere in his public stand against removal of the Nye-Heppner Junction sector rom the federal map, it seems logcal to assume that he would have advised our people, who are immediately affected, in time for them to have had a hearing before the action was taken. Mr. Baldock is but an employee of the highway commission. And under the plan followed by the state commission it is known that Mr. Aldrich has a good deal to do with making recommendations on roads under his jur-

If the state highway commission thought it necessary to ask for the removal of Morrow county's state highway from the federal map, the real purpose of which remains a mystery, the least it can do is to assure our people through definite action that the road will be taken care of in as good manner as was that section of the Oregon-Washington highway which did receive federal aid. Thus only can that body convince our people that it has their interest at heart.

That ought to mean a larger demand for fabrics of all kinds, and that, in turn, ought to mean a better demand for cotton and wool and silk and rayon, out of

We don't think American women are going to dress out of fashion very long, and while it was easy enough to cut down the long skirts and cut off the long sleeves, it is not going to be so easy to make over a short-skirted, sleeveless dress into one with full sleeves and a long
