Junior Band is Offered.

A junior band is being organized by the band director, Mr. Buhman, and is made up of those who wish to start in the band. They will be advanced to the school band as soon as they are capable.

Those already enrolled in the junior band are Hugh Crawford, Donald Bennett, Harry Tambyn, Emery Coxen, Hubert Hudson, Betty Robinson, Alan Gibb, Margaret Doolittle and Jack Merrill.

There is still an opportunity for those who wish to start in the band work now. Anyone who is interested should see Director Buhman as soon as possible as there may not be another opportunity to enter for one or two years.

Gym Plans Made for Year.

Gym is being started vigorously this year with the spirited organization of clubs. These clubs: the Red Devils led by Margaret Nelson, the Wildcats led by Anabel Turner, the Shooting stars led by Della Ulrich, and the Shamrocks led by Hazel Beymer, are to compete against each other for a banner to be given to the all star team at the end of the year.

From these teams four managers have been selected from whom a supervising manager will be chosen to help with the schedules and posting of games.

Coach Mabee and the four leaders have drawn up a constitution of rules which states that there will be three classes of sports this year.

First, the major group consisting of soccer, basketball, speedball, and indoor baseball. Fifteen points will be awarded each team that wins one of these games and five points for entrance. Second, are the minor sports such as tennis, horse shoes, dodge ball, and Sigma Delta Psi, with ten points for winning and three points for entrance. Third, there are the all school sports consisting of track and such meets with five points for the winning team.

Later in the winter it will be impossible to run off two games a day during the thirty minutes of gym provided, so it has been decided to schedule and play these games in the gym of evenings.

Gym is proving to be very beneficial as well as enjoyable under the excellent training Mr. Mabee is providing.

Grade News.

Pupils of the first grade are working on an Indian project and a sand bed.

In the second grade room some sixth grade boys were found playing with cars in the sand bed. The teacher said they enjoyed it as much as her pupils.

The pupils of the seventh grade are working on a very interesting play project for the near future.

New students enrolled in the eighth grade are Josephine Moyer from Lexington, Donald Bellingbrock from Cottonwood, Juanita Kirk from Montana, and Miriam Timmins from Denver.

The eighth grade civics class is very fortunate in this being an election year so that they may study the organization and workings of political parties and elections from observation. Later they will hold an election of their own on sample ballots to determine their choice for president.

The class expresses itself thus: "It is the privilege of every good citizen to vote; therefore we are all going to see that our parents are registered and that they do their part and vote next November."

A rhythm band composed of all grades played yesterday at the school. The second grade rhythm band played a special number and the fifth and sixth grades sang a negro spiritual, "Hear Dem Bells."

Editorial

It is hoped that the parents and the public will do all in their power to help that very worthwhile organization, the school band. Let's everyone boost our band.

The speech given by Mr. Barratt last Monday brings to mind the significance of the Norton Winnard Cup. This cup was given to the high school by the class of 1918 who did this in memory of the sterling qualities of their classmate, Norton Winnard.

Until two years ago, this cup had been given to the best all around junior; but in the last few years the best senior has had his name engraved upon the cup.

The qualifications for this cup are: good grades, good personality, participation in some sport, although this isn't necessary, and a good social standing among classmates. A natural scholar will have no better chance for this honor than has the person who must study at home because we all admire most a person who gets high grades because he works for them.

The prestige of being a student whose name is engraved upon the cup is worth striving for; and not only is the name of this cup known in Heppner but in the whole state of Oregon.

Therefore, a Norton Winnard Cup student has a better chance in after life because he is marked for his high merits; and this is another thing for which every student should strive.

Frosh Take Oath.

The freshman initiation, a school tradition, given by the sophomores, was held last Friday night at 7:30 in the auditorium.

It lasted about an hour during which the frosh were made to do several clever stunts. June Anderson, student body president, read the oath which all frosh took and were formally admitted as members of good old Heppner high school.

After the initiation a few games were played followed by refreshments given by the senior class. The juniors had to clean up after it was all over.

Board Member Speaks.

To tell the purpose of the Norton Winnard cup which is presented to a senior each year, and something of the life of Norton Winnard, a student assembly was held Monday noon. Superintendent Bloom introduced the speaker, Garnet Barratt, a classmate of Norton Winnard and a member of the present school board.

Mr. Barratt told of the cup's being given to the school in memory of the life and splendid achievements of Norton Winnard. Six high school students have had their names engraved upon it.

The following are some of the things Mr. Barratt mentioned about Mr. Winnard. He studied hard to lead his class. He was respected by everyone and was a clean sport. He treated everyone alike. Always he was thoughtful of his parents. He attended church regularly even when he was away from home. He entered athletic sports in his junior year of high school and made good there, too.

A letter from a close classmate of Norton Winnard's in the University of Oregon and Harvard Medical school was read by Mr. Barratt. This related many interesting happenings of Mr. Winnard's college days. All that had been true of him in Heppner high school was true in his higher education days. He never sought glory and sometimes even dodged it. When he graduated from Harvard he was recommended for a position with one of the largest hospitals in the United States in New York, and he had just entered upon what gave promise of being a great career when it was cut short by his untimely passing.

In his talk Mr. Barratt said he hoped all the students would remember this cup and work for it throughout their high school course so that there would be a real contest as to the one who would receive it in his senior year. The candidate selected must possess the qualities of leadership, scholarship, and personality as exemplified by the person whom the cup commemorates.

A pep meeting and rally were held last Thursday by the student body for the purpose of arousing school spirit for the Heppner-Condor football game held Friday. At the pep assembly, Mr. Mabee, school coach, introduced the players, and then the yell leaders led the student body in a few peppy yells. The rally was held at 7:30 starting at the post office and yelling and serpentineing up and down Main street.

Heppner Wins First Game.

A green but hard-fighting Heppner high football team defeated the Condor gridsters Friday afternoon on Rodeo field 13-6.

Heppner passed, skirted the ends, and bucked the line for two touchdowns the first half. In the third period the Condor line stiffened and though the ball was constantly in Condor territory the Heppner boys didn't have the punch necessary to score.

Condor's touchdown came after their backfield men had marched through the center of Heppner's line for 50 yards.

It was a good first game and though both teams looked ragged at times, Heppner being particularly careless about off-side, they showed promise of very good mid-season ball.

The lineup for Heppner was as follows: L. G., Ted McMurdo; C., Lyle Cowdrey; R. G., Reese Burkinbine; R. T., Don Cowdrey; R. E., Marvin Morgan; F., Jimmy Furlong; L. H., Roy Gentry; R. H., Curtis Thomson; Q., Bill Schwarz. Substitutions were John Hanna, Q. and Raymond Reid, R. G.

Hehisch Committee Functions.

The Hehisch committee, composed of the student body president, June Anderson; two seniors, Beatrice Thomson and Ralph Forgy; two juniors, Della Ulrich and Armin Wihlon; two sophomores, Lydia Ulrich and Chester Christensen; and two frosh, who haven't been chosen, are to enforce all traditions and functions of Heppner high school. They have acted officially up to date at class rush day, junior loud sox day, the frosh initiation, the rally Thursday night and the game on Friday.

School Band Organizes.

The Heppner school band expects to accomplish much this year. It has recently reorganized and installed student officers whose duties are to assist the director and promote the band. The officers elected are as follows: student leader, Billy Schwarz; secretary, James Driscoll; treasurer, Juanita Morgan; librarian, Billy Coehell; sergeant-at-arms, Marvin Morgan; assistant sergeants-at-arms, Joe Green and Larry Moore. Sectional rehearsals are being
