Mrs. Ranney and daughter Phyllis spent last week in Meacham.

The hunting season on Chinese pheasant and Hungarian partridge in this county opened last Saturday morning. The season for ducks opened Sunday noon. There are not as many out-of-town sportsmen hunting on the project this year so the local people will come nearer to getting their limit of birds this year than they have before.

Floyd Oliver, who is attending high school here, gave a party at his home in Irrigon Saturday night for the young folks of Irrigon and Boardman. The evening was spent in dancing and playing games. Delicious refreshments were served late in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Huff and son Edwin of Hood River and Mr. and Mrs. Nick Gaglia and daughter of Mosier were visiting friends in Boardman Sunday.

George Graves was injured Thursday afternoon while playing football when he collided with one of the other boys. He was taken to the Hermiston hospital where the doctor thought his injuries to be a slight concussion of the brain. He remained in the hospital over night returning home Friday.

The farmers and also town men have been going to the river and cutting willows for their winter's wood. Much good wood is available there, some of the trees being quite large. Practically all the good trees have been cut, from Coyote to Castle Rock.

Mr. Patch and Mr. Nashund of Portland were hunters on the project during the week end and staying at the A. E. Porter ranch.

S. Atteberry was a visitor in Walla Walla Monday.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Berger Sept 23 at their home in Madras.

W. A. Baker and John Jenkins made a large quantity of sorghum last week at the Jenkins ranch. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Mefford returned to Boardman last week end after visiting for a few days at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Al Macomber at Nyssa. They returned to their home in Corvallis Saturday accompanied by Mrs. Alvie Mefford and son.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Leathers of White Salmon visited Monday for a short time at the J. F. Gorham home.

Mr. Hamlin, O-W. R. & N. road master, was a Boardman visitor Monday.

IN OREGON HOMES

St. Helens—One satisfactory method of meeting requests for food and clothing is a women's utility exchange, according to the executive committee of the Columbia county home economics extension service, who opened such an exchange on October 8 at the Farmers' Market in St. Helens. A manager appointed by the committee arranges for women to keep the exchange open. No money is handled. Both townspeople and rural women have cooperated in developing the plan.

Paisley—A kitchen planned for convenience is the object of one Lake county homemaker who describes some of her kitchen arrangements: "At the left of my stove I have oilcloth with hooks to hang small articles used in cooking. The hot water tank is at the left side of the stove and the pipes running at the side make a good place to hang dishcloths. One cabinet drawer I use for papers. I find papers handy for mixing bread and cakes. I place them under the mixing bowl and then burn them afterwards. One small drawer I use for tools—wrench, hammer, soldering iron, screwdriver, pliers, scissors, and many other handy tools. Another drawer is for towels." Corvallis—"Homemade Soap" is the name of a new service leaflet just released by Miss Claribel Nye, state leader of home economics extension, who reports an unusual interest in soapmaking among rural women throughout the state. This mimeographed leaflet explains how to utilize lard, tallow and other grease in making hard and soft soap. It gives instructions for leaching wood ashes to obtain lye for soapmaking. Soap recipes include one for an abrasive soap. The leaflet may be obtained upon request by writing the home economics extension office at Corvallis.

Mrs. Galey Johnson was a weekend guest of Mrs. R. B. Rice at the Artesian Well farm.

Mr. and Mrs. John McMillan and family have moved from their ranch to their house in town where they will remain during the winter months. Mrs. McMillan has been bringing the children in to school each morning since the opening of school, but now that the fall seedling is completed at the ranch they find it much more convenient to be in town.

Mrs. Clothild Lucas and Mrs. Estelle Inderbitzen attended the Episcopal auxiliary luncheon and bridge party at Heppner Thursday.

Dinner guests of Mrs. Sarah Booher on Tuesday evening were Mrs. Effie Parkins of Palouse, Wash.; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Parvin of Albion, Wash., Mr. and Mrs. Tom Beymer and family of Heppner, Mrs. Caroline Kuns and her daughter Iva, Ralph Leach, Tom McDaniel, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dinges and son Danny, Mrs. A. Reaney, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Miller and Miss Olivia Baldwin.

Randall Martin had the misfortune to lose a rim and tire from his truck trailer while coming out of the mountains with a load of wood one day last week. He was at the top of Caldwell grade when he thot that he had a flat tire on the trailer. Upon investigation he found that the rim had come off the wheel. He walked back down the grade to look for it but failed to find it. Evidently some passing motorist had picked it up.

Mr. and Mrs. Sias were business callers in the county seat Tuesday forenoon.

Kenneth and Paul Smouse and Norman Nelson were hunting deer in the mountains this week. The boys brought out a load of wood when they returned.

Dean, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hunt, was ill for a few days the first of the week.

An auto accident occurred about a mile below town Sunday evening. A Standard Oil company man from Portland, driving a Marmon car, was coming toward Lexington when he met a car going the other way. It seems there was a horse on the highway and each driver, in an attempt to avoid hitting the horse, failed to see the other car and the two cars collided. The front wheels of the Marmon were damaged, necessitating its being towed to Heppner where the driver was forced to remain until repair parts could arrive from Portland. The other car, which was from The Dalles, was apparently not damaged since the driver was able to continue on his way.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hunt drove over to Butter creek Monday afternoon and brought home some apples.
