RURAL TEACHERS MEET. (Contributed)

The Morrow county rural teachers held their first meeting last Saturday, October 15, at the Cecil school with Miss Constance Bork, teacher, acting as hostess. The Rural Teachers' club, now beginning its third year of activity, was organized with the aim of bringing the rural teachers together so that their specific problems might more easily be solved with the aid of fellow teachers, and new devices and suggestions be exchanged.

The members met Saturday morning and spent the day in making plans for the year, receiving important announcements and explanations of various activities, materials and contests, interchanging of ideas and individual plans, and the election of officers for the club.

The club, however, regretted the absence of Mrs. Lucy Rodgers, who on account of illness, was unable to be present. officers of the club elected for the coming year are: Gwen-dolyn Evans of Balm Fork, president; Rosella Doherty of Alpine, vice-president; Theresa Tabor of secretary - treasurer, and Lorraine Thompson of Morgan,

LAWYERS HAVE HOOVER CLUB

The lawyers of the country who are favorable to the re-election of President Hoover are organizing the National Hoover-Curtis association. Elihu Root is honorary president and Frederick A. Brown is president. The executive committee is composed of George W. Wickersham, George Wharton Pepper, Charles E. Hughes, Jr., Silas H. Strawn, Thomas D. Thatcher, Everett Sanders, Monte Appel, Gurney E. Newlin, William D. Mitchell, and Nathan William MacChesney, the last being chairman. It is readily noticeable that not all are republi-cans. Bardi G. Skulason of Portland is vice-president for Oregon. For Morrow county, S. E. Notson has been named as chairman; F. H. Robinson, vice-chairman; P. W. Ma-honey, secretary; and Jos. J. Nys and J. O. Turner, members of the executive committee.

U. OF O. STUDENTS ON RADIO. Two Morrow county students, now majoring in music at the University of Oregon, were recently heard over the radio from station KGW in the Collins-Irwin Sunday forenoon surprise program.
