

Local Happenings

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Smith of La Grande were over Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Hayes in Heppner. They were on their way to The Dalles where they expect to make their home in the future, having been residents of La Grande during the past year. Mrs. Smith, formerly of this city, is a sister of Mrs. Hayes.

John Parker and Miss Marjorie Clark who were visitors for "home-coming" at the University of Oregon during the past week end, returned home Monday, being accompanied by Mrs. P. A. Anderson who was visiting for a few days with her husband in Portland.

The American Legion auxiliary will meet in regular session at Hotel Heppner Tuesday evening, November 15. A large attendance of members is desired.

Hugh and Chauncey Grim, Irrigon residents, were visitors here on Wednesday, bringing the election returns from their precinct. Election passed off very quietly in Irrigon and the Grim brothers report the day being wet, as there was a heavy downpour of rain over the north end of the county.

Mrs. E. R. Huston has been confined to her home during the past week by illness. She is reported to be better at present and was able to be up town for a short time on Wednesday.

We will begin a special meeting on Nov. 15th at 7:30 p. m., at the Methodist church with Rev. Robert Brymer as evangelist. Come and bring a friend.

Editorial

A holiday is a day for having a "good time." But how many of us who hail a holiday so joyously ever stop to think of the real significance of the events which holidays commemorate?

Armistice day, November eleventh, is a day set apart in memory of a great event in our nation's history. Peace was established—the nation was saved—but at the cost of thousands of lives of our country's bravest men.

We should all come to realize more what the signing of the armistice which ended the war means to the world.

Heppner Defeats Ione 26-7

Heppner, through a brilliant passing attack, defeated Ione 26-7 at the Rodeo grounds last Friday afternoon.

In the first half, Engelman, Ione halfback, went around end to the two yard line. Ione punched the ball across on the next two downs and Engelman converted for the point. Heppner received and after several line plays Gentry stepped back and threw a nice pass to Morgan who crossed the goal line standing up. Thompson went around the left side of the line for the extra point. Heppner's second score came a few minutes later. Gentry again passed, this time to Thomson who crossed into the end zone after a long run through a broken field. Heppner lost the extra point on an offside penalty.

Two more passes, which resulted in touchdowns, were completed in the third quarter. The first was to Morgan who placed the ball on the one foot line and two plays made the touchdown and extra point. The second was to Thomson who cleverly avoided the opposing tacklers for another touchdown. The try for point failed.

In the fourth quarter Heppner had the ball most of the time but was in its own territory.

A strong wind was blowing which greatly slowed the game.

The line-up:
 Heppner Ione
 Langdon le Eubanks
 Morgan re Morgan
 D. Cowdrey rt Bristolow
 Ayres let Carlson
 McMurdo lg Botts
 Burkenbine rg Heliker
 L. Cowdrey c McCabe
 Schwarz in Engelman
 Thomson rh Pettyjohn
 J. Green q Akers
 Furlong f Lieudallen

Substitutes for Heppner: Hanna, H. Green, Harris, Bryant, Phelan, Gilliam and Gentry.

School Vote Agrees With Nation's Vote

Elections were held in the American History and Civics classes last Monday on sample ballots. The results showed a Democratic tendency.

American History votes were as follows: President, Roosevelt 19; Hoover 11; U. S. Senator, Steiwer 17; Representative, Butler 16; Secretary of State, Hal Hoss 24; State Treasurer, J. W. Maloney 16; Attorney General, Van Winkle 17; County Coroner, McMurdo 17; and the passing of the following amendments and bills: taxpayers' voting qualification amendment; criminal trial without jury by consent of accused; six percent tax limitation; oleomargarine tax bill; personal income tax law amendment; state water power and hydroelectric constitutional amendment.

The Civics class votes were: Roosevelt 12, Hoover 8 and Thomas 2. The other measures were about the same as those above. The class did not vote on several of the issues.

Rally Has Large Attendance

With pretty little sparks of burning oil dropping in masses on a black background, and from a large sack and oil covered H and I standing some five or six feet in the air, the Heppner high school gathered on the golf course to witness a beautiful and spectacular sight last Thursday night. While the proudly arrayed letters flamed vividly, Francis Nickerson and Frances Rugg, yell leaders, led the high school in a few "alive" yells. Coach Mabee gave a short talk and a few of the football boys presented their bright views of last Friday's game. The group sang "Fight the Team Across the Field" and gave due notice to Roy Gentry, Wrex Langdon, Curtis Thomson, Lyle Cowdrey, Ted McMurdo and Jimmie Furlong who fought and pushed their way through the last lineup they will face for old H. H. S. on the home field.

The "mascot," Howard Gilliam, and the little pride of the football team, made quite a diversion in front of the crowd to which he displayed a bright "shiner" caused from missing a pass in football practice.

The defeated I fell first leaving the glorious H victorious for some moments more.

Pep Rally Held

A pep rally was held in the assembly last Thursday afternoon at one o'clock. The program began with a number by the pep band. The students were honored by having with them three business men of Heppner, who are Heppner high school graduates. Questions were asked the alumni much to their embarrassment, and also the embarrassment of the present football team. The first victim was P. W. Mahoney, who graduated with the class of '23, questioned by Bill Schwarz.

Q. Mr. Mahoney, how does the high school spirit of today compare with the period when you were in school?

A. I think the school spirit is just about the same now as it was then.

Q. How do you think the individual players and teams of today rate with those of your era?

A. Our men averaged fifteen pounds heavier to the man than the team of today.

Q. What about the 40-0 trimming that Condon gave you?

A. The roads were rough in those days and a carload of our players failed to arrive, but we never permitted a team like Pilot Rock to defeat us.

Q. Were the attendance and support at games larger than the attendance at games this year?

A. No, the town support is better now than it was then.

Q. What do you think will be the outcome of the game with Ione tomorrow?

A. If the boys fight hard, we should be victorious.

Next on the spot was Leonard Schwarz, questioned by Roy Gentry.

Q. Who was your biggest rival in your last year of football?

A. Pendleton.

Q. Is there anything in particular that you remember about that game?

A. Only one thing, the large score that they piled up against us.

Q. How does this year's team compare with the team of that day?

A. They are better coached now than they were then.

Q. How has football changed as to roughness and plays?

A. Football is not so rough now because of the barring of the flying block and flying tackle; the plays are much more scientific today.

Next, Mr. Barratt, who graduated with the class of '18, was questioned by Curtis Thomson.

Q. Mr. Barratt, do you like the game better as it is played today than as it was played in your high school days?

A. Yes.

Q. There are quite a number of seniors on our team, and we wondered if the loss of players was considerable at the time of your graduation?

A. About 40 per cent of the team graduated.

Q. Were there a lot of husky fellows in your class that year?

A. Yes.

Curtis: I didn't think so.

A. Why?

Curtis: Well, how was it that the freshmen had you scared to come on the playground?

A. I don't remember that.

Curtis: Well, I heard that when the seniors tried to make the freshmen address them as Sirs, and Misterns, the freshmen made threats of cold showers and paint and thus kept you away from the playground.

A. You must have been talking to Dad Driscoll!

Q. Mr. Barratt, do you think an athlete in training should keep early hours?

A. Yes.

Q. If so, how was it that you kept an all night watch on the top of the old schoolhouse roof with a bucket of tar in your hand in order to keep the freshmen from painting the roof?

A. (blushing) I hold Dad Driscoll responsible for most of these questions; but that was school spirit in the good old days of '18.

The fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades were guests of the high school. The meeting was closed by a number from the band.

Class Notes

The sophomore English class has started a two weeks' contract on short stories of the following authors: Hawthorne, Poe, Doyle, Barrie, Kipling, O. Henry, Mark Twain, Bret Harte, and a few modern authors. The number of stories read by each student determines his grade. Fifteen stories is the minimum and thirty is the maximum.

Tap, tap, tap, the keys are clicking as the soldiers are steadily marching on the Armistice Day posters which are being made by the first year typing classes as their assignment for this week. Last week, Miss Coppock taught the classes how to make soldiers and generals, also stars, with the different characters of the typewriter. In making these posters and booklets the students are required to use their own initiative.

Notebooks were made by the Domestic Science and Art classes at the beginning of the year to keep their required work in and to work up the projects as they liked. The Domestic Science notebooks are covered with green and white checked cloth so they could be kept clean. The clothing books are covered with cloth and blanket-stitched around the edges. The front was decorated with original designs. Esther Adams chose blue material and pink decoration with the initial "E." Louise Moyer had pink for a background with a sun-bonnet baby of blue print worked on the cover, and Hazel Beyer had a blue background on which she outlined in embroidery thread a cat and dog design which she tinted. There were many other attractive designs which have not been mentioned.

The "A" section of the freshman English class is writing a short story. Each student is writing a part of the story.

A Roman newspaper is to be published in the next two weeks by Miss Palmer's World History class. The staff is: co-editors, James Driscoll and Richard Benton; reporters, Viola Brown, Irene Beamer, Fred Hoskins, Marshall Fell, Ernest Clark, and Kathryn Healy.

The newspaper will deal with sports, news, etc., just as does a modern newspaper. The names of students will be used in a Roman setting.

The Hermiston student body has invited all the Heppner students to a barbecue after the game Friday between Hermiston and Heppner.

Cougars and Yanks Score a Tie

The Cougars and Yanks played to a tie in a game of touch-football during the gym period last Thursday. The game lasted for about thirty minutes. The Cougars kept the ball in the Yanks' territory most of the time. They made their larger gains with passes. The Yanks made their gains by skirting the ends. The referee for this game was Gerald Cason.

The tiny green sophomore pennant which the freshmen so kindly gave them has disappeared and a new blue and white one will soon take its place. The sophomores have received a letter stating that their new pennant will soon be here.

Grade News

An improvement of new curtains has been added to the third grade room. These make the room look quite cheerful.

The third grade has completed its Christmas boxes to send to Hawaii.

The first grade is making a dictionary and has completed some attractive language booklets.

The seventh and eighth grades are having a contest writing Armistice plays.

Last Wednesday afternoon Mr. Bloom spoke to the seventh grade geography class on Alaska where he taught for two years. The following Friday, A. D. McMurdo spoke on the Philippine Islands where he spent two years during the Spanish-American war.

The school pep band will play in the morning and parade and again in the afternoon at the Heppner-Hermiston football game.

Value of Various Milk Forms for Poultry Told

Which is best for poultry—dried skim milk or creamery buttermilk? In answering this question F. E. Fox, associate professor in poultry husbandry at Oregon State college, says skim milk and buttermilk have practically the same feeding value, and whether it is in dry or liquid form is largely a matter of choice or convenience.

In comparing prices, however, Fox says that buttermilk at 1 1-2 cents a gallon will give a cost for "total solids" of about 2 cents per pound, while dry skim milk at 4 cents a pound will mean a cost for total solids of about 4 1-2 to 5 cents a pound. He therefore believes it is largely a matter of which can be obtained the more cheaply at any given place—labor and convenience considered.

Junction City—Seven acres of wilt resistant sweet clover on the Glen Strome farm here has just yielded 4200 pounds of seed, the crop being so heavy that harvesting was difficult. A neighbor, C. A. Schooling, harvested 1250 pounds from 1 1-4 acres. This strain of sweet clover is the increase from a single stalk developed at the experimental station, and is the only strain yet found that can be grown successfully in western Oregon. It provides green pasture through the dry late summer period.

IN THE HEPPNER LIBRARY

Three biographies recently acquired in the Heppner library are: "Holy Prayers in a Horse's Ear" by Kathleen Tamagawa; "Queen Victoria," by Lytton Strachey, and "Grandmother Brown's Hundred Years," by Harriet Connor Brown. "Holy Prayers in a Horse's Ear" is an autobiography written by a girl whose father was a Japanese and whose mother was an American of Irish descent. Her experiences in Japan where she was considered an alien by the Japanese, and in America where she now resides and is considered an alien by the Americans, is extremely interesting.

"Queen Victoria" is considered a masterpiece by critics, and the author, Lytton Strachey, was proclaimed the most eminent biographer of our time for his vivid portrayal of one of the most famous women in history.

"Grandmother Brown's Hundred Years" is the life-story of an old lady who had lived more than a hundred years, as related by her daughter-in-law, Harriet Connor Brown. The panorama of her life, her early days in Ohio, then later on an Iowa farm is beautifully portrayed.

This book received the Atlantic Monthly prize for the best biography of 1930.

Oregon Butter Showing Improvement in Quality

Steady improvement in the quality of butter made by Oregon creameries is shown in a compilation of 3 1-2 years results of butter scoring conducted by the dairy department of Oregon State college as a service to buttermakers of the state.

The first year of the scoring approximately 20 per cent of the samples submitted for scoring graded below 90, 39 percent were between 90 and 91, 33 per cent between 91 and 92, and less than 8 per cent 92 or above. The proportion in the higher scoring divisions has steadily increased until for the first seven months of this scoring year only 13 per cent of the samples scored below 90, only 32 per cent between 90 and 91, while 34 per cent made the 91-92 class, and 21 per cent got into that distinguished rating of 92 or above.

"Our aim is to eliminate, if possible, all butter scoring below 90 with the conclusion of the fourth year of scorings," says Dr. G. H. Wilster, head of dairy manufacturing at the college. "In the latest month's samples, only 10 per cent fell below 90."

STUDY CLUB TO MEET

"Samoa" will be the subject for discussion at the November meeting of the Women's Study club, which will be held Monday, Nov. 14, at 7:45 at the A. A. McKee home on Court street. Mrs. W. P. Mahoney, Mrs. E. F. Bloom and Mrs. George Mabee are the program committee arranging the evening's entertainment, which will consist of both music and informal talks by members of the club.

UNION SOCIETY TO MEET

The Union Missionary society meeting of the Methodist, Episcopal and Christian churches will be held on Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 16, at the Christian church.

MISSIONARY MEETING SET

The regular meeting of the missionary society of the Church of Christ will be held at the church parlors on Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 15th.

Explosion of Gasoline Brings Safety Hint

Most all motorists have experienced the unpleasantness of being "out of gas" and once having gone through the hardships attached to the adventure, are thereafter more careful in observing the contents of their gasoline tanks.

But that there is a great new danger in measuring one's gasoline is brought out by Secretary of State Hal Hoss who has just received a newspaper clipping relating the death of a motorist and the burning of his automobile although the unfortunate driver did not light a match during his examination of the tank. This person used an iron rod and in scraping it against the side of the gasoline tank, a spark was created and an explosion resulted.

Moral: Do not use tools or metal articles to measure gasoline.
