WHEATMEN TO HOLD SPOTLIGHT MEETING

Lloyd Smith, Condon; W. H. Steen, Milton; Frank Price, Weston; Frank McKennon, Alice; Gilbert Courtwright, La Grande; L. L. Rogers, Pendleton; C. L. Woodward, Adams; Lowell Stockman, Helix; W. E. Ruekman, Alsea; George A. Oharr, The Dalles; Walter Smith, Pilot Rock; B. H. Grady, Wasco; Mrs. U. S. Burt, Corvallis; Walter M. Pierce, La Grande; Fred Kiddle, Island City; John Wiemar, Clem; Frank Lewis, Mikkaloo; Frank Pennington, Gwendolyn; George Webb, Mayville; L. E. Fowler, Condon; G. H. Savage, Pendleton; Sim Culley, Weston; James Harvey, Pendleton.

Varieties Theme of Stephens.

Results of the experiment station varietal trials and cooperative nurseries will be available through D. E. Stephens of Moro who will tell of several new varieties and some standard ones showing promise in some special localities.

Beer and its effect on the barley acreage will be considered by this committee in determining whether the foam-producing cereal should replace wheat to the extent prevailing in pre-prohibition days. Malt-ing varieties, proper soil conditions, harvest and threshing methods and grades for the crop will also require committee consideration.

William A. Schoenfeld, experimentation director, will explain research work by the state and federal agencies in Oregon and of the nationally organized attempts to undermine the educational research and extension agencies that provide farmer service.

Truck Problem at Issue.

With John Withycombe of Arlington as chairman and W. W. Lawrence of The Dalles as secretary, the transportation committee will bring recommendations regarding Columbia river development and convenient truck transportation. The truck problem was anticipated by the 1931 league meeting at The Dalles and it got the facts well in advance of the radical attempt to put such restrictions on the trucks as to make them useless in the light of lower grain rates to tidewater. The movement was decisively killed by the Oregon electorate in the blow-up November 8, but the truck legislation at this coming legislative session must give careful consideration. Truck transportation of grain, hay, potatoes, fruit, etc., has developed some new problems as well as the control of fly-by-night agricultural bootleggers who seek to avoid the grading and inspection regulations, are now before this and the legislative committee. Transportation committee members are Martin Dolan, The Dalles; Ed Aldrich, Pendleton; Fred Mankin, Ione; C. B. Cox, Heppner; P. S. Gilliland, Pilot Rock; J. L. Campbell, The Dalles; O. L. Babcock, Pendleton; C. A. Tomms, Moro; J. Kelly, The Dalles; Roy Ritter, Pendleton; D. W. Mieser, Ione; J. L. Davis, Kent; Dewey Thompson, Moro; Chas. Gerking, Adams; Wm. Meiners, Holman; Lloyd Parman, Condon; Orin Dyer, Mayville; Elmer McCormick, Pendleton; Will Hardie, Condon; O. V. Reser, Condon; V. Cushman, Condon.

To Review Finances.

The new federal financing facilities, the cooperative marketing of grain and the future policy of the farm board will be the big subjects before Harry B. Pinkerton's marketing and finance committee with Walter A. Holt of Pendleton as secretary. Members of this committee are Bert Johnson, Ione; A. R. Shanway, Milton; Jen Torgerson, Helix; John Woodall, La Grande; W. F. Jackson, Moro; W. H. Ragesdale, Moro; C. A. Nash, Mikkaloo; P. N. Johnson, Condon; Ed Ward, Boyd; H. V. Smouse, Ione; Carl Engstahl, Helix; Chas. Cool, Pendleton; J. O. Kincaid, Ione; L. E. Sterna, Enterprise; C. L. Look, The Dalles; J. W. Hix, Dufur; Chas. F. Story, Arlington; W. W. Wagner, Pilot Rock; Wm. H. Steen, Milton; J. G. Godknecht, Boyd; J. L. Davis, Kent; R. B. Rice, Lexington; H. H. Hurron, Alsea; H. W. Collins, Portland; John Reischer, Condon; Earl Smith, Condon; Fred Greiner, Condon; J. D. Burns, Condon; Jay Wright, Mayville; Jen Fleming, Bakeoven; E. P. Marshall, Pendleton.

Mac Hoke of Pendleton and A. B. Robertson of the Portland office as well as others close to the Agricultural Reconstruction Finance corporation will be on hand to help in clarifying the use of these new finance channels. Eastern Oregon's acute banking situation will pep up the work of this committee. The local representatives have been badly handicapped by delays in Washington, D. C., which have made wheat loans difficult and hard to make. The non-partisan board apparently cannot be blasted into action by political pressure so opportunity to eliminate some bureaucratic red tape will not be overlooked at this session.
