Editorial

Besides merely eating, drinking, and being merry there should be a thought in our minds about the first Thanksgiving and what the Pilgrims gave to us.

Thanksgiving—what does that word mean to you? Oh—a big turkey, dressing, food of all sorts with many goodies.

Perhaps we have fun but it's doubtful whether we have as much excitement and gaiety as the pilgrims manifested. They had few luxuries but were grateful for their few. Few of us are really thankful for what we have, but in this year of need let's really think about how many things we have to be happy for when we attack a large drumstick.

Underclassmen Hold Party

The freshmen and sophomores held the freshman return party last Friday night. About all of the students were present. Doughnuts and cider were served.

Up to this year all of the classes held one big party, but due to the large number it is hard to make the party a success, so here after the freshmen and sophomores will have their party first, and the juniors and seniors will hold their party later.

Boosters Are Active

The committee on the organization of the Booster club has finally completed its investigation of the questionnaires. A list of those eligible to belong to the club will be posted Monday. There will be fifty members. Ten more will be eligible to join in the spring.

Associate members include members of the pep band, football, basketball teams, and the managers. More upper classmen have been enrolled than lower classmen.

Since the membership is not complete, many members of the high school will have an opportunity to become eligible by entering into all school activities with a cooperative spirit. This applies especially to lower classmen who have two or three year yet in school.

Squad Limited to 20

Basketball practice will start Monday. The number of candidates for the squad has been limited to 20 men. This limiting of the number of candidates is done in order that the coach will be able to handle them on the basketball floor.

Those wishing to turn out have to leave their names with Gene Mikesell.

Basketball League Forms

Four basketball teams formed by and under the name of Gordon's, Elks, Gazette Times and Wilson's are to be organized. These teams with four high school teams will form a league.

More Gym Changes Made

Because four clubs of girls gym do not get enough time to play, they have been given a period on Friday. By this method all teams play a short game Monday. Four minutes of each game are devoted to the main team and three minutes to subs. On Wednesday and Friday only one game is played.

Darrel Harris Wins Publicity

There was a small but loud explosion in chemistry class last Thursday. Darrel Harris was the "victim." In an experiment on sodium acting with water the sodium burned so fast it exploded. Darrel had placed a small piece of sodium in some water. The directions said to "hold a square piece of glass in front of the evaporating dish to protect the face." He did this at first but when the sodium took fire he removed the glass to see better. Then came the explosion splattering the alkaline base that had been formed about. Some caught Darrel in the eye and gave some discomfort for about a day. His apron saved his clothes.

Benzene Ring Initiates

Initiation of Kathryn McLaughlin into Benzene Ring, chemistry club, was held during the regular meeting Monday night. The club had a very effective initiation. Kathryn is the first new member of the club since it was organized. There are now 12 members besides Mr. Lumley, adviser.

Students Attend Funeral

High school students and those grade pupils wishing to attend were dismissed at 1:40 o'clock last Wednesday to attend the funeral of Virginia Cleveland, a graduate of Heppner high school and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Cleveland, prominent Heppner people. The student body and the class of '32 each contributed a basket of flowers.

Girls Discuss Business

The Home Ec club held a meeting last Monday to discuss coming events. The group is especially concerned about transportation for the trip to Pendleton to the initiation. Another important item is a Christmas bazaar.

Class Notes

The domestic science class served two breakfasts this week after completing that unit. The orange color scheme was carried out with orange marigolds, orange candles, and place cards made from orange paper and candy pumpkins. Gladys Cason was host and Vallis Jones was hostess for the first breakfast. The second day Caroline Moyer was host and Gladys Cason, hostess. "Ye Merrie Stenos" of the advanced secretarial training class are attending other classes to observe and take down the conversation by shorthand notes.

The typing classes were supposed to have completed the first three hurdles in their contest on the 18th.

Regular practice of the junior class is now in progress under the direction of Miss Straughan. The play will be given some time next month.

Some of the students in clothing one class have completed and handed in their first problem for the year's work. These articles of clothing are displayed in the sewing room.

Some of the students in junior English worked for extra credit last week by handing in any news items they could secure. The maximum number was not less than five news stories or a rate of one a day.

Grade News

Miss Leathers, the seventh grade teacher, was ill most of last week. Mrs. Gerald Slocum, a former grade school teacher, took her place during that time.

The first grade is making attractive Thanksgiving decorations for their room. The second grade is making Thanksgiving picture booklets and is studying pictures of the Pilgrims going to church and the return of the Mayflower.

Philip Cohn and Jimmie aBratt will spend their Thanksgiving vacation in Portland.

Sea plant and snails have come to life in the aquarium with the goldfish in the second grade. The children of the third grade entertained their mothers Wednesday afternoon. They told of the Pilgrim's first Thanksgiving day and sang songs.

The fourth grade is working on a circus project. They are hoping to have a sand table made by one of the boys for this.

Melbro Cox came back to school Monday after being absent for some time.

From the Melting Pot

There are some points—I might call them rules—that I feel pretty safe in abiding by, subject to very moderate amending for special cases. I will mention a few. I have learned that the adult man needs at least one meat ration a day, cooked in the manner he likes best. The working man needs more meat than the housed man. I do not permit heavy meats for the evening meal.

The adult human body needs one or two eggs daily, cooked as the individual prefers.

I prefer cooked fruits to raw fruits, as a rule. From the producer to the consumer these days, may pass the viand through a dozen pairs of more or less dirty hands. It takes more than a casual rinsing to remove germs; cooking does the work. Stewed dried fruits are my absolute favorites for winter eating.

The fruit portion of the meal, roughly speaking, may furnish from one-third to one-half the volume of the ration. We, as a nation, eat too little of well-selected fruits.

We do not give enough attention to the volume of water taken. A patient weighing 150 pounds should drink a total of a half-gallon of water daily. Don't await thirst, if you are sedentary. Get the habit of drinking methodically.

I am often asked, "Shall I drink milk?" This by people who are merely run-down from over-strain of affairs. I ask, "do you like it?"

"Yes." "Then drink it." But if the answer is, "No, I can't say I like it, but have been told it is good for me." Then I say, "take a glass now and then, but abandon it if it causes distress." "Trial and error—" you know.

Local Happenings

The big crusher is ready for operation at the main road camp on Heppner-Spray highway, and the spreading of the surfacing material is going on with favorable weather conditions. During the past week there was a fall of some six inches of snow on the summit of the mountains, but this soon disappeared. A number of teams with dump wagons as well as many trucks will be utilized in spreading the gravel. Just now we would not advise traveling this road unless the chains are on the cars, there being some pretty tough stretches of gumbo to get through. Beyond the road camp for some three miles, the surface is well packed by the traffic out to Spray, but some six or seven miles from the camp toward Heppner the going is not so good, but can be negotiated with chains.

Garnet Barratt returned the first of the week from Portland where he visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Barratt. Mr. Barratt senior was recently removed to a hospital to undergo treatment, being in a critical condition. While in the city, Garnet attended the wedding of his cousin, William Hynd, son of Mrs. Robert F. Hynd, who took for his bride Miss La Velle Meiner of Portland.

Returning home over the Oregon-California and Sherman highways

Saturday from Prineville, the editor noted very little traffic and very few cars and trucks coming and going. This is in keeping, no doubt, with the stringency of the times. At Redmond vast herds of fine turkeys were in evidence and at many farms the birds were being prepared for shipment to outside markets. Some 1500 head of cattle were on feed at the big ranches near Hay creek crossing where there seemed to be an abundance of hay. These cattle will go to market in February and March, we were told.

Charles Klingler, extensive turkey raiser of the Alpine neighborhood, was doing business in the city Monday afternoon. He has been getting some of his turkeys off to market, but in limited quantities only, as the prices offered are a bit low. Heavy rains have also been a hindrance in getting the birds dressed, but this is of minor importance, as the results to the grain that is coming up will be an offset.

Leonard Schwarz departed for Prineville on Friday evening and for a short time will be in charge of the Prineville Meat market. He was accompanied to the Crook county capitol by Mrs. Schwarz and Mr. and Mrs. Vawter Crawford, the journey being made through the mountains via Heppner-Spray and Ochoco highways.

A guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Mahrt for the Thanksgiving holidays, is Mrs. Anna Gamble of Brownsville, who arrived here Tuesday morning. Mrs. Gamble was godmother to Mrs. Mahrt, rearing her from a small child and she is a very welcome guest at the Mahrt home.

Carl Nyberg, contractor, came in from the camp on Heppner-Spray road Sunday, and departed on Tuesday for outside points. Mr. Nyberg is interested in several other road contract jobs besides the Heppner-Spray road, and is looking after his interests on this trip.

Gay Anderson Jr, accompanied Lowell Turner up from Portland Monday, both arriving to spend Thanksgiving at their homes here. Gay has been taking a ground course in aviation and Lowell has been studying barbering in Portland schools.

R. W. Holtberg, representative of the Federal Reserve bank, who has been in Heppner during the past month, returned to his home at Portland on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Taylor came up from Portland on Saturday night for a visit with the parents of Mrs. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Huston.

Guy Chapin and Clyde Wright were business visitors in the city Tuesday from their homes in the Hardman vicinity.

Charles Marquardt, Lexington wheatraiser, was a visitor in Heppner on Tuesday.
