

IONE

present: Miss Marguerite Mauney, Miss Geneva Peakey, Miss Florence Emmons, Huston Bryson, Clell Rhea and Garland Swanson.

Mrs. Jack Hynd, Jr., entered the Heppner hospital last week and on Saturday underwent a major operation. She is making satisfactory recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. John Osteen of Cherryville, Ore., arrived in Ione last week. They are guests at the home of Mrs. Osteen's mother, Mrs. Minnie Forbes.

There was no school in the Morgan school Thursday and Friday and the teacher, Miss Lorraine Thompson, took advantage of the vacation time to visit home folks at College Place, Wash.

Last week all buildings and tanks at the Standard Oil plant were given a coat of aluminum paint. The company is having these painting jobs done at the present time to assist the unemployed and as far as possible are using local men. However, as there was no one in Ione who could do the work, a part of the workmen were from Lexington and the paint gun crew were from Heppner. The buildings at the Heppner plant were also painted.

Miss Linea Troedson, teacher in the high school at Echo, spent the Thanksgiving vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Johan Troedson, at their country home north of town. Thanksgiving dinner guests at the Troedson home were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clark and Miss Valjean of Ione.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Baker returned to their home at Walla Walla the first of last week. They were called here by the serious illness of Mr. Baker's sister, Mrs. M. R. Morgan. From late reports from the Morgan home we learn that the patient is slowly improving.

Ferry Barthelmy came up from Quinton to spend Thanksgiving with Mrs. Barthelmy who is here caring for her mother, Mrs. M. R. Morgan.

Miss Hazel Frank, a student in the Adventist school at Hermiston, spent the Thanksgiving vacation with home folks.

Following a custom of twenty years a public dinner was served at the Odd Fellows hall at Morgan on Thanksgiving day. Plates were laid for fifty and neighbors and friends feasted together to the delight of all. Those in attendance from Ione were Mr. and Mrs. Hal O. Ely and Miss Margaret, George Ely, Mrs. Willard Farrens and Mrs. and Mrs. Wallace Matthews. Mrs. Ely informs us that during all of the twenty years, she and Mr. Ely have failed only twice to be present and enjoy the Thanksgiving feast.

On Tuesday evening, November 22, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Matthews entertained with a six o'clock dinner, followed by an evening of cards. Guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lundell, Miss Norma Lundell and Clell Swanson.

Mr. and Mrs. Charley Christopherson and sons spent a part of last week with Mrs. Christopherson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Seely, at their home at Arlington.

Eating Thanksgiving turkey at the Fred Gustafson home near Seattle were the following Ioneites: Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Swanson, Mrs. Frank Lundell and two children, Billy and Norma Lou, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Swanson and Miss Eva Swanson, all relatives of the Gustafsons.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Swanson and Eva returned home Monday, coming by way of Salem for a visit at the Elma McMillan home. The others in the party reached home the middle of the week, stopping over in South Bend, Wash., for a visit with relatives.

Enjoying the hospitality of the Lee Howell home on Thursday last were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Heikler and son Donald and daughter Harriet of Saddle Butte ranch, and Miss Hattie Van Schoick of Cecil.

The Willard Blake country home was the scene of a dinner party on Thanksgiving. Present, besides the host and hostess, were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Blake, Marj K. Helen and Joan, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Blake and Billy, Dorothy Heekelis, Mr. and Mrs. William Padberg, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Padberg, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Moore, Ted Blake and Alex Huber.

Gathered around the festive board in the Emily McMurray home on the day of Thanksgiving were Mr. and Mrs. Loren Hale and Miss Miriam, Mr. and Mrs. I. R. Robison, Crystal Sparks and Fred McMurray.

Mr. and Mrs. Claud Carter of Pendleton spent Thursday of last week with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Harris of the Park hotel.

Dinner guests on Wednesday of last week at the D. M. Ward country home were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lieualten, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bergvin, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Mason. The evening was spent playing bridge.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. McNamer of Heppner served their Thanksgiving dinner this year at the sheep camp located on the old Rhea place on Rhea creek. Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Bert Mason, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Ward and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bergvin.

The school census for District No. 35 which has been taken by Clerk Harris shows a total of 126 children of school age—seventy-two boys and fifty-four girls.

Mrs. Harriet Brown, seventh and eighth grade teacher, spent the one day vacation last week at her country home near Stanfield.

Much interest was taken in the Morrow County Pomona council meeting at Cecil hall Saturday afternoon, and more than one hundred and thirty people partook of the bounteous turkey dinner served at 6:30. The regular meeting of Willows Grange was held in the evening, and at this time Carl Troedson's resignation as master was accepted, and Mrs. Ernest Heikler was elected to fill the vacancy, while her office as lecturer was given to Mrs. Sam Hatch.

NO MAIL ON XMAS OR THE DAY AFTER

Postmaster General Says Shop and Mail Early; Gives Information on Many Services.

"Shop now and mail early for early delivery," is the admonition of Walter F. Brown, postmaster general, accompanying announcement that there will be no mail delivery on Sunday or Monday, Dec. 25 and 26.

"Postoffice will make every effort to handle the Christmas mails without congestion and delay, but owing to the enormous volume this can be done only with the cooperation of the public," says the announcement which sets out a list of suggestions for Christmas mailing.

To insure delivery by Christmas parcels should be posted at least a week or ten days beforehand, and even earlier depending on the distance. All parcels must be securely wrapped or packed, using strong paper and heavy twine. Special wrapping and marking instructions are given for perishable and fragile articles and for sharp-pointed and sharp-edged tools.

Addresses should be complete with return card in upper left-hand corner. Full prepayment of postage is required with stamps in upper right hand corner. No parcel may be more than 100 inches in length and girth combined, nor exceed 70 pounds in weight.

Special instructions are given on special-delivery service, where to mail parcels, matter not mailable at parcel post rates, registering and insuring for valuable mail, domestic collect-on-delivery service and parcels for foreign countries, with the further direction that such other information as may be desired may be had at the local postoffice.

Miss Lucille Beymer entertained a group of her girl friends at a birthday party at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Sarah Booher, Wednesday evening, Nov. 23. The evening was spent in playing bunnies, consequences and other games. High score in bunnies was received by Erma Lane and low by Vera Breshars. Guests were Geneva Palmer, Vera and Helen Breshars, Erma Lane, Faye and Fern Luttrell, Ruth Dinges and La Verne White. At the close of a pleasant evening the hostess served refreshments.

Miss Erma Duvall, who is employed in the schools at Rufus, spent the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Duvall, at their Black Horse home.

On Thanksgiving day Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Roberts entertained at dinner in honor of Mrs. Sarah White. Guests besides Mrs. White were Mr. and Mrs. Neil White and family.

June, the baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Steagall, has been quite ill. At the time of this writing she is reported to be much improved.

Lexington has been having rather variable weather recently. Last week was cold and windy with heavy frosts in the early mornings. Sunday was damp and foggy, but on Monday and Tuesday this vicinity received some very good showers of rain with the thermometer registering much warmer.

Miss Eula McMillan spent the Thanksgiving vacation with friends in Antone. Miss McMillan taught in the schools at Antone last year. R. L. Bengt and family have moved from their ranch in Six Dollar canyon above Heppner to their Clark's canyon ranch.

The queen contest which is being sponsored by F. E. Barker, manager of Leach hall, is still progressing. At present there are nine contestants and the score is: Hazel Beymer 4700, Erma Lane 2350, Eula McMillan 1550, Viola Brown 1450, Veda Eubanks 1250, Della Ulrich 500, Lydia Ulrich 450, Anne McNamee 250, Elinore Adkins 50.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Ingles, Mr. and Mrs. Lester White and Miss Betsy Asher returned to Lexington Sunday after having spent the holidays with relatives in Portland.

Miss Alice Palmer who teaches at Cascade Locks, spent Thanksgiving vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Palmer.

Miss Lorraine Thompson spent Thanksgiving with relatives in Walla Walla.

Pete Christensen of Heppner spent the week end with Duane Johnson.

Thanksgiving guests at the Gene Gray home were Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Gray and sons, Clarke and Jimmy.

Mrs. Lawrence Slocum and daughter Barbara visited with Helen Farrens in Ione last week.

Lexington H. E. club will meet on Thursday afternoon, December 8, at the home of Mrs. John Miller.

Week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Bauman were Mr. and Mrs. John Cool of Methow, Wash.

Mrs. Estelle Inderbitzen is again at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edwin Ingles, after having spent the time since Armistice Day at her home in Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Palmer enjoyed Thanksgiving dinner with Mrs. Palmer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Noah Pettijohn of Morgan.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Allyn and daughter Maxine of Ione were calling on friends in Lexington Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Matteson of Ritter were at the Thornburg home one night last week.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Hurt and family of Wasco spent Thanksgiving with Mr. and Mrs. J. F. McMillan. Mrs. Hurt was formerly Miss Nova Shinn and is a sister of Mrs. McMillan.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Brown and Bill Gowd of Rhea creek visited at the George Peck home Sunday.

Joe Bond came up from Portland Sunday evening and is visiting at the W. B. Tucker home on Black Horse.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Batty in Eight Mile.

Mrs. Fred Ashbaugh came up from her ranch in Rood canyon for Thanksgiving dinner at the home of her sons, Roy and Clair Ashbaugh and families.

Miss Marjorie Montgomery, primary teacher, spent Thanksgiving with relatives at Portland, leaving here Wednesday and returning for school Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Neil Knighten were visitors in Heppner during the Thanksgiving holidays.

Mrs. Lotus Robison and son Richard spent the holidays at their ranch home.

Everett Harshman was a visitor here Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Burnside were visitors here Sunday and Monday.

Mrs. Corda Saling is now employed as housekeeper for B. F. Devore.

Billy Leathers spent the Thanksgiving holidays in Heppner, being a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Clark. She also accompanied Miss Catherine Peterson to Pendleton for a visit with Bishop and Mrs. Remington Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Buschke motored to Pendleton Tuesday.

Work at the church is proceeding nicely. The new doors have been installed and painted and the floor laid in the ante-room. Up to date there have not been many out to help but it is hoped that more will assist in the work after they have had time to recover from Thanksgiving dinner, as there is really a lot to be done. The seats have all been taken out, the floor scrubbed and painted, the floor oiled, etc. Mrs. Wes Stevens, Mrs. Frank McDaniel, Mary Ellen Inskip, Mrs. C. H. McDaniel, Lucille Farrens were working there Monday. Francis Leathers and Ed Moreland also have helped.

Mr. and Mrs. John Krebs, residents of Cecil, were visitors in Heppner for a few hours Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Wright were visitors in Heppner Saturday from their McKinney creek home.

E. J. Merrill, prominent Hardman resident, braved Tuesday's rain in a trip to the city.

Alfred Nelson, farmer of the Lexington section, was a visitor here Monday.

Irrigation Proves Big Boon

Phillomath—Three times the yield of tomatoes, more and better sweet corn, and green summer pasture are some of the beneficial results obtained this past year with irrigation by G. R. Goin near here.

Goin in reporting on his experiences to W. S. Averill, Benton county agent, says that all his garden crops made big increases in yield and showed greatly improved quality from the water. The sweet corn did not mature so rapidly hence the marketing season lasted longer.

At Heppner CHURCHES

CHURCH OF CHRIST. JOEL R. BENTON, Minister. Mrs. J. O. Turner, Director of Music.

Bible School 9:45 A. M. Morning Worship 11 o'clock Senior and Junior C. E. 6:30 o'clock Evening Worship 7:30 o'clock Choir rehearsal, Wed. at 7:30 P. M. Church Night, Thurs. at 7:30 P. M.

When a Woman Sins. "A woman in the city, which was a sinner." Luke 7-37.

Sin makes a black mark when it touches a man's character; but it makes a still blacker mark when it touches the character of a woman. For the same reason that an eclipse of the sun is more noticeable than an eclipse of the moon.

Because of their bright background, the darkest spots in the universe are the black spots on the sun. And for the same reason the black spots of sin on a woman's character are the darkest spots in the moral universe.

When sin gets a woman in its clutches, the imprint of sin's filthy fingers is almost impossible to wipe out. She becomes the victim of a social ostracism that never shows any mercy, and which is applied just because she was found out in her sin.

But God does not place any heavier penalty upon the sinning woman than upon the sinning man, even if society does. Society has a double standard of morals, one standard for women and another for men. And unjust as this is, yet no woman can escape this injustice.

In this respect society is cold and relentless and will forever shun the fallen woman.

Nathaniel Hawthorne strikingly illustrates this in "The Scarlet Letter," in which he tells of a young woman who was compelled to wear a scarlet letter embroidered on the breast of her dress as a symbol of her sin. There that letter stood out, glaring and conspicuous, telling to all the world the story of the guilt and shame of the wearer. It was a signal to everybody that she was a bad character, and was to be shunned by good people. And that is the way society always deals with a woman when she goes wrong.

She is branded with a scarlet mark of shame and disgrace and shut out of so-called polite society.

Harold Bell Wright, in "The Calling of Dan Matthews" tells of how this unfair, unjust and un-Christ-like thing creeps into Churches and of how it drove a great man from the ministry, while shielding one who should have himself been cast out from the society of decent, honest Christian men and women.

And so the doors of the Church and the hearts of the Church members should be open to all who suffer, all who mourn, all who have sinned and come short of the glory of God, lest we hear some day the Master of men say, "let him that it without sin among you cast the first stone." And it is thru the Church and work of the Church that the fallen of old earth are to hear Christ say: "Neither do I condemn thee; go thy way and sin no more." That is to be exemplified in the Church in the very community in which that Church is; in practical, everyday, kindly showing forth of the spirit of the Man of Nazareth who said, "Come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy laden and I will give you rest." In this approaching holiday season of the year let not only our Church doors swing wide with welcome to all who will come; but let also our heart's doors open in real friendship and helpfulness.

Do you have a Church home? If not we invite you to come and worship with us. You will enjoy our Bible School; there you will find an interesting class; you will find help and uplift and inspiration in our services of worship. Come and test the welcome of this warm, friendly Church. For the coming Lord's Day, the services are as follows: At eleven o'clock hour, the sermon topic will be, "Looking Unto Jesus." At seven-thirty P. M., the Women's Missionary Society of the Church will present their annual program. This will be a beautiful and very interesting program. You are invited to attend these services. Come!

HEPPNER BOY FINDS JAPAN ATTRACTIVE

Low Exchange Hindrance.

After that first evening I was prepared to meet anything that might happen. The next morning we went around to the steamship company's agent and saw some of our clientele. As I mentioned before the money exchange is very low, so we were practically prohibited from doing any business. I think that even with that against me, I did do a limited amount of business and we will some day do real things over here. We met some of the most responsible men in Japan and all of them told us they were interested but didn't feel that now would be the time to buy. Everyone was very nice though, and very soon we learned to bow and scrape when we met them, the same as they did to us. Politeness is the key word in the Orient.

That afternoon we went to Tokyo again and visited the commercial attaché and got some figures from him that will prove helpful. We then visited the Emperor's palace, etc., and went to the main part of the city to enjoy the sights. I will mention in that respect that they have some very fine shops and cafes. Each merchant has his shop in the finest order and is only too willing to do business with any foreign buyer. They have silks, satins, chinaware and anything else that one could hope to buy in the States.

Lauds Train System.

After staying all night in the Imperial hotel we took the train to Kobe. It is a distance of over 400 miles and we made it in less than nine hours. It is one of the finest trains I ever saw and passed thru several cities of over a million people and were never more than fifty yards from a rice field. It certainly is no joke that the Japanese know how to farm and it is no joke that they have to. Every inch of available ground is cultivated either by hand or with very crude implements. The common tea farmer's plot is much more attractive than the average garden in America. Terraces are used when the level ground gives out, and when they give out in the future God knows what they will do for a living. As a whole Japan is very mountainous so geographically these poor people are handicapped to a degree that is appalling to the western mind. The farmer over here doesn't have a total income of more than 500 yen a year, and that is a real fight for existence. Of course his whole family works in the rice field or whatever he happens to raise, so his labor is cheap, and he makes his own food. We were fortunate to be here in the middle of the harvest season. Each straw of rice is cut by hand, tied in bunches, and allowed to dry on a frame work. When it is dry it is either harvested by means of a flail, or if the farmer is rich, by a small hand thrasher that will harvest ten or fifteen bushels per day. The train, as I mentioned before, was very fast and very efficient. They wouldn't even blow a whistle in passing through a town the size of Portland. We stopped exactly 30 seconds at Nagoya, and that is a town of over a million. One could set his watch by the train schedule and be within 10 seconds every time. We arrived at Sannomiya station in Kobe at 5:55 and that is just when it was scheduled for. It was just a few moments from there to the Oriental hotel, also a very fine hotel. At all of these hotels and cafes they serve very fine American food at a ridiculously low price. I had a very fine turkey dinner for about 1.40 yen or 35 cents. In any hotel in business over here than Americans. Incidentally I would much rather deal with a Japanese importer than an Englishman. At least that is my impression now, but when it comes to collecting the money it may prove to be something different.

We had lunch with the steamship agents again. All these agents are very fine people. The head man in Kobe is the son of Peter Kerr of the Kerr-Gifford people in Portland. We had a real Japanese lunch. The first course was a bowl of sauce, the second an assortment of vegetables in sauce, and the third was fried (or cooked) in some manner resembling frying) shrimp and several kinds of fish. All this is washed down with hot saka, the national drink. Queerly enough this small restaurant was spotlessly clean, and one looked around to find a nice electric stove and a G. E. refrigerator. Oh yes, I forgot to mention that we had rice in the meal, too.

That is about all of interest that one could write in a letter. We went to Osaka by taxi, about 15 miles, and there took the boat and sailed. All these districts are crowded one upon another so that one can't tell whether he is in a town or not. Rice is grown right alongside a factory and all the buildings are just a few inches apart so that no space is wasted. I think this is one of the most wonderful countries in the world and would give anything to live here for a while.

IRRIGON MRS. W. C. ISOM.

Mr. and Mrs. Clair Caldwell who have been working at Wenatchee, Wash., the past two months have returned home for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Stevens of Union, Ore., visited relatives here Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Genevieve Glasgow of Newport visited friends here last week. Since her return home the announcement was received of her marriage to Jess Badger. Both of the young people were residents of Irrigon for several years and their many friends unite in wishing them happiness and prosperity.

Mr. and Mrs. Happy have moved into the Stevens house.

Miss Bessie Wilson who has been staying with her sister at Gresham, has returned home and is now enrolled in high school here.

A special meeting of the Irrigon (Grange No. 64), was called Monday night for the purpose of electing officers and transacting other important business. The following officers were elected: C. R. Woods, master; F. L. Hurting, overseer; Minnie McFarland, lecturer; Ida Braze, chaplain; Frank Fredrickson, treasurer; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Markham, assistant and lady assistant steward; W. C. Isom, steward; Fred Houghton, gate keeper, and Mrs. Fred Houghton, secretary. A motion was made to change the time of meeting to Saturday night. Motion laid on table until next meeting. A social meeting will be held again Saturday evening, Dec. 4th.

Miss Helen Heath went to Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, Wednesday evening where she spent the holidays with her parents.

Stanley Atkins motored to Walla Walla for the week end.

Henry Wier and Maurice Williams visited friends of Mr. Wier's at Albany, Ore., from Thursday until Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wright spent Thanksgiving with Mrs. Wright's parents at Parkdale.

Little Earl Collins is quite ill with what is thought to be the flu.

Mrs. A. Collins and family and Miss Leola Benefield were guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. Barker at Pendleton Thanksgiving.

Frank Leicht was a business visitor in Hermiston Friday.

Robert and John Smith are busy trucking wood from Meacham.
