

Local Happenings

Paul Gemmell visited with his family in town Saturday from the road camp on Heppner-Spry highway. Owing to a bad break in the machinery, the big crusher was delayed for some time in getting to work. This had been fixed and the rock is now going through the machine and the spreading of gravel will proceed. In this work a number of teams and wagons are being used and work of an emergency nature is thus being provided. Mr. Gemmell reports that weather conditions have been fair at the road camp and no delays on this account have so far occurred.

Frank E. Parker of Heppner Flat who was quite seriously injured in the face from the kick of a horse early last week, was in town Monday, having quite fully recovered from the effects of the mishap, though his countenance is yet somewhat disfigured. Had the face of Mr. Parker come in direct contact with the hoof of the horse, the results would doubtless have been more serious. It happened, however, that the force of the kick was spent on a post that hit Mr. Parker and this proved to be no gentle tap.

Henry V. Smouse, wheatraiser of Ione, visited Heppner Monday. Farmers of his section have all finished their fall seeding and many of them have the plowing done. The season has been ideal for farm work and the acreage sown to grain throughout the Ione wheat belt is normal, the farmers feeling optimistic and looking forward to improved conditions. Mr. Smouse accompanied J. A. Troedson of Morgan to Heppner, the latter gentleman having business to transact in the county seat.

Mrs. Leonard Schwarz departed Monday for Prineville for a visit with Mr. Schwarz who at present is running a meat market in the Crook county metropolis. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Ferguson and Mary Lou accompanied Mrs. Schwarz and on the way a short stop was made at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Reavis at Moro. Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson returned home Tuesday forenoon.

Jas. Burnside was attending to business affairs here Friday from his home at Rood canyon. Out his way the grain and grass have been coming along fine, the fall weather being ideal. Recently Mr. Burnside dressed out a registered Duroc Jersey hog that weighed just 500 pounds when cleaned and ready to be cut up.

Kenneth Ackley, one-time news reporter with the Gazette Times, dropped in on his friends here Tuesday in company with Jack Clary, manager of Oregon Legionnaire. The men were doing business for the state American Legion, going back to Arlington in time for the sixth district conference there that evening.

Mrs. Elmer Hunt, heading Lexington's relief workers, was in Heppner Saturday to inquire about relief supplies to be furnished under auspices of the Red Cross. Lexington is reported to be well prepared for relief and will be able to meet the needs of the community during the winter months.

E. J. Merrill spent Monday afternoon and night in Heppner from his ranch southeast of Hardman. Mr. Merrill is running sheep and reports a lot of good feed on the range just now. A slight fall of snow occurred along the foothills Sunday night, but this was chiefly in the shape of sleet.

Oscar Keithley and family have recently moved to the Howard Anderson farm on Eight Mile where they will make their home. Mr. Keithley, who was in town Saturday, reports having finished with his fall seeding and grain is coming up well.

Monte Hedwall, former butter-maker with Morrow County Creamery company, visited over Sunday with friends here, coming up from Burns where he is now located. He returned to the Malheur county seat Monday.

Lawrence Reaney, formerly a resident of Morrow county, but now residing near Vancouver, Wash., where he is engaged in truck farming, spent the week end at Lexington and Heppner visiting with his relatives.

Mrs. Mabel Piper, who has been a guest for the past ten days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Smead and enjoying a visit with her parents and other relatives, will leave Saturday for her home at Marshfield.

The National Woolgrowers association is convening in Portland this week, drawing several persons from this county. Among them is J. G. Barratt, a vice president of Oregon Woolgrowers association.

Miss Margaret Smith, stenographer in the office of C. W. Smith, county agent, is visiting this week with relatives in Portland. During her absence Mrs. Orrin Furlong is caring for the work.

"Smilin' Thru" always brings memories of tender significance. You'll not be disappointed with Norma Shearer in the stellar role at the Star theater next Tuesday-Thursday.

Miss Daisy Albee, who visited at the home of her mother here for two weeks, left yesterday morning on her return to Los Angeles where she holds a position.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bergstrom were Eight Mile folks in the city Monday afternoon.

Louis Balseger, warehouseman of Ione, attended to matters of business here Monday.

C. B. Ashbaugh of The Dalles, district manager Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company, made an official visit to Heppner last evening.

Assessor Jesse J. Wells, who was confined at home for some time by illness, was able to resume his duties at the court house again this week.

N. A. Clark and Bob Allstott, Jr., were looking after business in this city Monday afternoon from their respective ranches on Eight Mile.

Mrs. Ray Kinne is enjoying a visit with her mother, Mrs. E. M. Melich of Yakima. Mrs. Melich arrived at Heppner during the past week.

Herman Nelson was in town Friday from his farm near Hardman, and spent a few hours here while looking after business.

"Okah America!" Lew Ayres out of Winchell, Winchell, at the Star theater tomorrow and Saturday. It's a wow!

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Gourley of Little Butte creek were transacting business in the city Wednesday.

sister, Mrs. Lee Howell. Coming to Ione with Mr. and Mrs. Barlow was Teddy Leavitt, well known evangelist, who is conducting a series of religious services in Hermiston. There being no services there Monday night, Mr. Leavitt took the opportunity to preach once again in the Christian church in Ione. He was greeted by a good sized audience, one car load of friends coming from Heppner and two from Lexington.

Miss Maxine McCurdy was a week-end guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Peterson in Heppner.

The Adventist people of our little city are now holding their Sabbath school each Saturday at the Geo. Frank home in upper Ione. For some time past they have been meeting at the J. W. Christopher home on Second street.

The Catholic people are meeting as usual at the Paul O'Meara home on each second Sunday in the month, under the leadership of Father P. J. Stack of Heppner.

A fellowship meeting of the people of the Pentecostal faith was held Monday at Heppner. Those in attendance were Mrs. Fred Buchanan, Mrs. Ray Barnett, Mrs. Willard Farrens and Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Ritchie.

The Ione schools will close Friday, December 23, to reopen January 3. The teachers plan on spending the vacation at their various homes. The attendance at school at the present time is far below normal because of so many of the pupils being ill with heavy colds or flu. Daily practice is being held on the high school play, "Where's Grandma?" which will be presented December 22.

Edward M. Keller, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Keller of Ione, and Miss Jessie Belle Parke, of Sidney, Ohio, were married at seven o'clock Wednesday evening, November 30, in the Presbyterian church at Kirksville, Missouri.

Rev. Covert officiated while Mrs. Covert played the wedding march. Raymond Conner and Mrs. Conner, close friends of the bride and bridegroom, were best man and matron of honor. Twelve guests witnessed the marriage ceremony, one of the guests being Frank Keller, brother of the bridegroom. Mr. Keller is a senior in Still college of Osteopathy and Surgery at Kirksville, Missouri. He is a graduate of the Lexington high school and before going to Still college, had one year of work at Whitman. Mrs. Keller is a graduate of the Still college training school for nurses. Immediately following the wedding ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Conner, best man and matron of honor, served a wedding supper in honor of the newly-weds.
