SHERIFFS EXTEND DUTIES. Condon Globe-Times.

The Morrow-Gilliam county line was wiped out so far as sheriff's duties are concerned with the transfer this week of deputy cards between Frank Bennett, Gilliam, sheriff, and C. J. D. Bauman, sheriff of Morrow county.

Mr. Bennett is a duly appointed deputy sheriff of Morrow county with authority limited to duties of a deputy sheriff. The same applies to Mr. Bauman so far as his duties in Gilliam are concerned.

By these acts Bennett can cross the county line to make an arrest if occasion demands. If a warrant is served in this county for a person who lives or goes across the line, Bennett can make the arrest without necessity of calling the Morrow sheriff, who would otherwise make the arrest, take the person to Heppner and send for Bennett to come after him.

"I believe this will save taxpayers of the two counties considerable money in a year," Bennett says. "I am favorable to making a similar agreement with Wheeler and Sherman, our other neighboring counties."

Cooperation with the high school patrol boys has not been what it should be. The boys on the school patrol put themselves to quite a bit of trouble to insure the safety of the school children. They stay by their post until all the children have passed, thus making them get home late to eat. Although there has been no one run over this year, we can never tell what may happen. High school students are old enough to take care of themselves, but when they do not obey the traffic rules they set a bad example for the younger people, and we can hardly expect the grade school pupils to obey the traffic rules if we high school students do not.

Students are urged to follow the following rules: Do not jaywalk but cross street or highway at right angles. Walk on highway only when absolutely necessary. Where necessary to walk on highways, keep on the left side.

"Seventeen" Set for January 26 On January 26th the junior class play "Seventeen" is to be given in the gym. There will be a matinee for grade children. Admission will be 25 cents for adults, 5 cents for children at the matinee and 15 cents for the evening performance.

Come and hear Frank Anderson and Anson Rugg serenade the girls with a beautiful heart-breaking ballad. See Claire Phelan spluttering at the baby talk heard on his front porch and Armin Wilton in a negro role. You can get the inside dope on school love affairs if you see this play.

The cast is as follows: William Sylvannus Baxter, Anson Rugg; Mr. Baxter, Harold Ayers; Joe Bullitt, Frank Anderson; Genesis, Armin Wilton; Johnnie Watson, Billy Thomson; George Crooper, Francis Nickerson; Mr. Patcher, Claire Phelan; Wallie Banks, Matt Kenny; Jane Baxter, Anabel Turner; Lola Pratt, Lora Gilman; May Patcher, Miriam Moyer; Ethel Boke, Rachel Anglin; Mary Brooks, Florence Moyer; Mrs. Baxter, Marie Scribner.

Come, and help the junior class make the play a success.

Exemptions Posted Wednesday Exemptions are being granted this year to all students who have an average of three. Mr. Bloom announced that besides having a minimum average of three a desirable class attitude is essential to be exempt from any subject.

Duodette Formed by Chorus. The girls' quartet and the boys' octette are again practicing after the holidays. These two groups have decided to work together in a mixed chorus of twelve. Booster Club Books Made The books are bound in purple and gold paper with "Booster Boom Book" written on the front. These books contain the new yells as well as some selected from old yells. They are to be presented to the members of the Booster club at the next meeting. These books are to be carried by the members to all games and in this way assist the yell leaders in giving the yells. The typing classes typed these books last week.
