

IONE

In her letter stated that she made twenty during last year. She was asking the friends to send her pieces of prints that her fingers might not be idle. Mrs. Furnell was a long time resident of this section where she was well known. Mr. Furnell died in Ione and following his death Mrs. Furnell went to California to make her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul O'Meara and Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Cotter drove to Heppner Sunday evening to attend the special meeting now in session in the Catholic church at that place. Walter Roberts, agent, was receiving turkeys for Swift and company Thursday.

A little snow fell in this section Sunday, and zero temperature was registered both Sunday and Monday nights. The cold is especially noticeable, following the spell of spring-like weather.

Road work is now under way on the McMurray canyon road, giving employment to quite a number of men. A change of crews was made Tuesday. Ralph Harris is overseer of the work.

A little daughter was born Sunday to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Biddle who reside above Ione on Willow creek. The young lady tipped the scales at nine pounds.

The stork paid a visit to the Ritchie home early Tuesday morning, bringing a nine-pound boy to Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ball, whose home is at Boardman. Mrs. Ritchie reports both mother and baby doing well.

The Legion dance which was given at their hall Saturday night was an enjoyable affair. Cecil orchestra furnished the music.

The Hard Times dance at Legion hall Monday night was given in honor of Art Turner, as a happy reminder that he was another year older. A goodly number was in attendance and all report a jolly time.

At the regular meeting last Wednesday of the Girls' League of high school the following officers were elected: Margaret Ely, president; Dimple Crabtree, vice-president; Irene Zinter, secretary; Dot Crabtree, treasurer. The members are planning a Mothers' Tea, which will be given in the near future.

Joint installation of the officers of the Rebekah and Odd Fellows lodges was held last Thursday evening in Odd Fellows hall. One hundred and twenty were in attendance. A cafeteria dinner was served at 6:30. Following this was the installation ceremony and at its close an interesting program was given: Piano solo, Mrs. Cleo Drake; vocal solo, Donald Heliker; vocal duet, Emmet and Robert Botts; reading, Mrs. Della Corson; piano solo, Sibyl Howell; vocal duet, Mildred and Helen Lundell; yodeling songs by Robert Botts. After the program two hours of dancing was enjoyed with music by the Cecil orchestra.

Friday, January 13, was the anniversary of Mrs. Roy Brown's birth and in celebration of the event, her daughter, Mrs. Harold Gulland planned and very successfully carried out a pleasant surprise for her mother. The guests who were invited in to spend the evening were Miss Marguerite Mauzey, Mrs. Lyle N. Riggs, Miss Geneva Pelkey, Miss Maude Knight, Mrs. Elmer Baldwin, Mrs. Elisha Sperry, Mrs. Earl Blake, Mrs. Kenneth Blake, Mrs. William Whitson, Mrs. Harlan McCurdy, Mrs. George E. Tucker, Miss Norma Swanson, Mrs. Frank Lundell and Mrs. Charley Christopherson. Bridge was the diversion of the evening, high honors being won by Mrs. McCurdy and low by Mrs. Kenneth Blake. Mrs. Brown received gifts from her friends, and hearty wishes for many happy returns of the day. Delicious refreshments of chicken sandwiches, pickles, cake and coffee were served by Mrs. Gulland.

Where's Grandma? The dear old lady has been detained between California and Oregon. She arrived in Ione last week, and will meet the public in person February 1st, at 8:00 p. m., at the high school gym.

Harold Gulland spent the week end with his family in Ione. Semester examinations were held in our school last week and the following names were placed on the honor roll: Seniors—First honor roll: Elwayne Lieusallen; second honor roll, Margaret Ely; Juniors: First honor roll, Leo Young and Foster Odum; second honor roll, Theodore Thompson; Sophomores: Second honor roll, Jane Collins, Harriet Heliker, Clifford Yarnell, Bryce Keene; Freshmen: First honor roll, Elaine Nelson, Irene Zinter, Harlan McCurdy; second honor roll, Miriam Hale; Eighth Grade: Junior Mason, Charlotte McCabe, Mignonette Perry; Seventh Grade: Bertha Akers, Betty Bergevin, Ruth Crawford; Sixth Grade: Joan Sipes, Helen Lindsay; Fifth Grade: Dorothy Howell, Billy Biddle; Fourth Grade, Mary K. Blake; Third Grade, Van Rietmann; Second Grade, Marjorie Corley, Barbara Ledbetter, Donald Peterson; First Grade, Alice Nicholson, Alan Howk, Melbaene Crawford.

Leo and Joseph Gorgor of Ione were visitors in the city a short time today. These young men are farming a large tract of land north of Ione and had in 1100 acres of grain that was doing well before the December freeze-out. While the grain is not all killed, it is in a greatly weakened condition, and more of it appears to be dying out day by day, so reseeding will be the order. The boys seem to think that the extreme lack of moisture just now is going to be the worst condition to contend with in the production of a crop this year. The ground is now quite dry and there is no reserve moisture to bring the new seedling along and develop a crop. Moisture may yet reach this part of eastern Oregon in time to help, but the prospects are not any too encouraging, these men think.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Turner spent a few hours in the city Tuesday from the Sand Hollow farm. Winter is on again out that way and some snow covers the ground.

have improved the river at those points. He said the work there is not all that it should be but that the next step should be at Umatilla because the big wheat tonnage is al above that point and cannot be cleared for until the swift water between Umatilla and Pasco is controlled.

B. B. Harrogan of Pasco spoke in behalf of the people of that section and told of their interest in the project.

George Hartman, director in the Umatilla rapids association and long an advocate of the project, pointed out the need of care in order to avoid opposition from those supporting development at other sites on the river.

As chairman of the meeting last evening Mr. Dodd was authorized to name committees from the different towns to stimulate interest in the next meeting of the Umatilla rapids association.

Yielding to God. "Yield yourselves unto God, as those that are alive from the dead." Romans 6-13.

It is said that some years ago at an auction in London a violin was offered for sale which was said to be a Cremona, made by the famous Antonio Stradivarius. Having described its supposed history, the auctioneer handed it to a well known professional artist to show forth its sweetness and power; but, though the musician did his best, the tone did not seem to be especially fine, nor did its power excel that of any good violin.

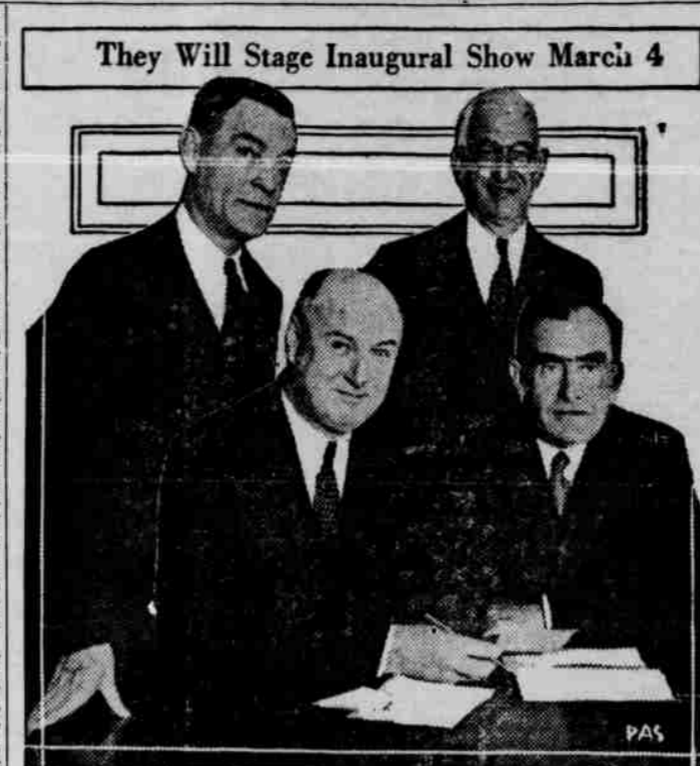

The people looked disappointed and shook their heads while the auctioneer called for bids. After some coaxing, he got an offer of a guinea and was finally able to work the bids up to six guineas but no further. Just then a man entered the auction room and pushed his way to the front and lifted the violin from its case. He keenly examined it, put it to his ear and listened as if he expected the instrument to say something to him. Then taking the bow from the case he got it and the violin ready and turned to face the crowd. Several recognized him and the name "Paganini" was whispered. He began to play. The first few notes thrilled the crowd; hats were taken off as if the drab auction room had suddenly become a Church; many were soon in tears; then Nicolo Paganini finished playing, kissed the violin and returned it to its case, and with a great burst of enthusiasm the violin was sold very quickly for one hundred guineas. Paganini had bought it. And that night at the Drury Lane theater in London he called forth wild enthusiasm from a great audience with the violin which that morning had been begging for a purchaser.

Like the grimy, old violin, many times many of us may feel that we are dead to all good; to all achievement worth while. But, as the old violin yielded itself to the touch of the great artist, let us yield ourselves unto God as those that are alive from the dead; as those to whom eternal life has been made possible by the vicarious atonement of Jesus Christ! But our yielding to God must be a voluntary act. And it must be an act of absolutely full and complete surrender; and we are to remember this: There is no substitute possible for personal, willing, unconditional self-yielding to God! Too often we withhold ourselves from God, and refuse to surrender our will and our way to His will and way; when if we would but yield ourselves to Him, He would make great achievement possible thru our yielded lives; and where formerly we thought ourselves incapable of doing anything worth while, He would bring Heavenly music from our souls and do thru us great work in the most tremendous movement on earth today, Christianity. "Yield yourselves unto God, as those that are alive from the dead."

Do you have a Church home? If not, then come and worship with us. Come into our Bible School, attend all the services of worship and test the welcome of this warm, friendly Church. For the coming Lord's Day the sermon topics are: For the morning service, "Burning Hearts." And for the evening service, "Dangerous Half-Cure." All the sermons of this Church are not only evangelical but evangelistic and you will be repaid by attendance here.

They Will Stage Inaugural Show March 4

Although plans for the inauguration of President-elect Roosevelt into office March 4th, are still indefinite, here is the committee in charge of the event. It is reported that simplicity will mark the ceremonies in accordance with the wishes of Mr. Roosevelt. Those in the picture are, seated, left to right: James A. Farley, National Democratic Chairman and Admiral C. T. Grayson, chairman. Standing: John F. Costello and John B. Colpays of Washington.

The Motorist Manual may now be obtained at the Beach hardware store and the Hunt service station. Mr. Bush, who was in Heppner last week, informs this paper that the office of the secretary of state will likely be calling in all old licenses soon. As about 90 per cent of applicants who have made no study of the manual fail to pass the written examination, the study of the book is necessary.

The little rumpus at Salem between Governor Meier and Treasurer Holman goes merrily on. We can imagine that Secretary Hoss can now sit back in his chair and enjoy the controversy to the full. Not so long since, we remember, he was the "fly in the ointment" on the board of control and had to stand against the other two. We hope there will be no bloodshed, and it may be that some good will result from the tiff. At any rate, the governor appears to be governor, and the treasurer is just as sure that he is treasurer.

A missionary has spent many years living in a far-away Indian village. There she stands now, a Gibraltar for every great and good thing. She stands for God and for better womanhood. She was visited by an American friend who found her thatched roof exposed, entirely unprotected, cows around at will. Monkeys were unmolested in their mischief. The friend said, "Lena, let me put up a fence and a gate to keep your home and garden protected."

"No, no," she said, "not that. I once had a gate and kept it locked. Late one night a group of village Christians came—outcasts. They had walked ten miles to learn more of the new way of life, and seeing the barred gates they passed on. After a night of sleep on the damp ground they walked back the ten miles. One of them died of snake bite which I might have cured. No," she repeated, "never again. I want no gate and no fence. I shall live by the side of the road and let all come who will."
