

Local Happenings

Arthur Dykstra arrived from his home at Halsey, Oregon, on Tuesday and expects to be in Heppner for several days while attending to business connected with the settling of the George Dykstra estate.

Lawrence Beach reports the snow gradually disappearing about Lexington. Had twice or three times as much snow been on the ground under present conditions it would have been little enough.

Mrs. Susan Ann Prater, for several years a resident of Heppner, died at her home in Walla Walla Sunday. She was the widow of the late I. N. Prater, and is survived by the following children: Mrs. Cora Misner and Glenn Prater of Walla Walla, and Mrs. Bessie Norton of Pasco.

Bert Johnson spent a few hours in town Friday, being accompanied by Henry Filkins. His part of the county had a lot of real winter, and also received quite a heavy fall of snow during the last storm.

Mrs. R. J. Judy, who has been a guest for a fortnight at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hughes, in this city, returned to her home in Portland Monday.

Wm. Kummerland, who was in town Saturday, found the snow had melted quite a bit more here than at his farm. He hitched up the sled and said the going was good until he got near town, then it was like the mud for it. Out his way the snow was melting gradually and running into the ground.

John Kelly, who represents Draper & Co., Boston wool buyers, at Heppner, is reported to have purchased some 70,000 pounds of Moroccan wool the first of the week for his firm, the prices paid being 8 and 9 cents per pound.

Ralph Butler was in town Saturday from the Cecil ranch. About 12 inches of snow resulted from the recent storm over the Cecil country. This settled down to about 8 inches. Mr. Butler states, and was gradually melting into the ground.

Roy L. Holtberg arrived from Portland the first of the week to take the place of E. N. Crouch as representative of the Federal Reserve bank here. He was accompanied by Mrs. Holtberg and they are domiciled in the Jones apartments.

Leon W. Briggs, county treasurer, is able to be at his office again, but has not yet fully recovered from a severe cold that caused him to take to his bed. Mrs. Briggs was sick at the same time, but is now able to be out again.

The Misses Leta and Evelyn Humphreys and their cousin, Miss Margaret Rood, who has been their guest here for two weeks, left for Portland Monday. Miss Rood is returning to her home at Hillsboro.

Tom Craig was in the city on Saturday from his ranch out north of Lexington, where there was quite a bit more snow than up this way. It was melting off slowly and being absorbed by the ground.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Wilcox were visitors here Saturday from the farm below Lexington, where they were beginning to witness some signs of the breaking up of winter.

Emil Carlson was in the city Saturday from his home at Gooseberry. He brought his son, Charles, just recovering from an attack of measles, to consult a physician.

A double-header basketball game will be played in the gym Friday evening. The high school plays the Lexington high school team at 7:30 which will be followed by the game between the Athletic club and the Stanfield town team.

The Ladies Aid missionary meeting was held last Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Guy Barlow. The next Silver tea will be held Wednesday, March 1, at the home of Mrs. S. C. Russell.

Devee Brown of Umatilla will occupy the pulpit at the community church Sunday morning. Mr. Brown has preached here several times before. Sunday school is at 10:15 o'clock and church services at 11:15.

Elder and Mrs. John Neerness returned to their home in Pendleton Monday after spending the week end in Boardman.

Mr. and Mrs. Tyler are the parents of a 7-pound son, born Wednesday.

George Agee was in Boardman visiting friends Monday. He has been staying this winter with his brother on Willow creek.

Gene Skoubo of Hermiston was a Boardman visitor Monday.

The examiner for drivers' and chauffeurs' licenses will be in Boardman at the Highway Inn on Thursday, March 9, from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

The high school defeated the Umatilla high school team by a large score at Umatilla Friday. The Boardman high school team will play the Dalles high school here Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. I. Skoubo were business visitors in Heppner Monday.

An enjoyable time was had at the Grange meeting Saturday evening. During the lecture hour the school orchestra played several selections and George Wicklander gave a reading on "Great Men Born in February." After the meeting the remainder of the time was spent in dancing.

Mrs. Nate Macomber spent the week end in Pilot Rock.

PINE CITY

By OLETA NEILL

Mr. and Mrs. Emery Cox and daughters of Hermiston were dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wigglesworth Sunday.

Joe Kenny bought the hay on the Mfa. Ollie Neill place and is lambing a band of sheep there this spring. He also bought the hay on the H. E. Young place which he will haul to the Neill ranch.

Boom and in gold

The end of almost every previous depression in the history of the world has been marked by some kind of a speculative boom.

More gold was mined in 1932 than in any previous year since world records began to be kept.

In times like these no predictions are safe, but I want to register a guess that the next few months will see a revival of speculation not only in gold mining stocks, but in other securities.

I cannot escape the conviction that the fairest systems of taxation are those that are based directly upon what the taxpayer gets for his money.

I think one weakness of our income tax system is that incomes from all sources are taxed at the same rate and lumped together.

I don't know how many bathrooms there are in the White House now, but my guess is at least a dozen.

I remember when I was a boy in Washington that there was a great debate in Congress over the question of putting a second bathroom in the White House.

I don't know how many bathrooms there are in the White House now, but my guess is at least a dozen.

The HEHISCH

Edited by the Journalism Class of Heppner High School

Editorial

On Washington's birthday, do you think that it is just another holiday, or do you think of long years ago when George Washington, our first President, was leader of the colonial troops, fighting to make us a free nation?

Let your mind wander back to the long and dreary days that he spent at Valley Forge, weeping and praying for victory, as well as fiercely fighting for the American cause.

George Washington was an "all-around man." He loved friends and cheerful neighborliness; he loved the active life of outdoor sport and vigorous work; he loved the quiet life of thought which ripened into service for his fellowmen.

"Not only for what he did, but still more for what he was, Americans honor him."

Washington Program Given

The grade school sponsored a patriotic program Wednesday morning at ten o'clock for the benefit of the entire school, faculty, and guests, in honor of George Washington's birthday.

Ending in a tragedy, the short skit given by Della Ulrich, the princess, Dick Benton, her father, the king of Piff Piff Land, and Clair Phelan, the Prince Charming, was a huge success.

Mrs. Lucy Rodgers gave a short address before the Booster club assembly last Friday.

Basketballers Win and Lose

The light, fast basketball team from Adams stopped off at Heppner Friday night and after playing the Heppner five a fairly even first half went on a scoring spree in the third quarter and won the game by a score of 48-21.

Bill Becket, though playing his first game at the center position, showed well.

The first of a series of interclass basketball games was played Wednesday with one team composed of the senior and fresh girls and the other of the junior and sophomore girls.

Teams Are Fed

A chilled feast was served for the Heppner and Adams high school teams and the Heppner and Umatilla town teams Friday, February 17, after the basketball games.

Class Notes

The first year Spanish class presented a very interesting skit entitled, "En una tienda." Bill Thomson as Luis and Ernest Clark as Rose, Luis' sister, acted out the play in good Spanish.

The junior English class presented a short dramatization of the story, "Lancelot and Elaine" today. The cast for the play was as follows: Marcel Jones, Lancelot; Miriam Moyer, Elaine; Reese Burkenbine, Lord of Astolat; Marvin Morgan, Sir Lavaline; and Paul Phelan, Sir Torre.

Grade News

First graders are reading books regularly and adding points to their reading list. They have also finished reading two supplementary readers.

The American Legion Auxiliary has introduced its annual contest for 8th grade girls.

LaVerne Winters has been absent this week from the 8th grade. He is visiting relatives in Washington.

Robert Cash is back in school after an absence of several days. He had an attack of flu which he said was "slight, just like President-elect Roosevelt's."

The second grade pupils have been cutting out pictures and studying George Washington in preparation for the program Wednesday.

The Center of Interest

The Samaritan woman at Jacob's well stopped short, her interest challenged in spite of herself; she set down the pitcher and looked at the stranger. It was a burning hot day; the well was far from the city; she was heated and tired. What did Jesus mean by such a remark?

ELKHORN RESTAURANT

ED CHINN, Prop.

She started to speak, checked herself and burst out impulsively, her curiosity overleaping her caution: "What are you talking about? Do you mean to say you are greater than our father Jacob who gave us this well? Have you some magic that will save us this long walk in the sun?"

Dramatic, isn't it—a single sentence achieving triumph, arousing interest and creating desire. With sure instinct Jesus followed up his initial advantage. He began to talk to her in terms of her own life, her ambitions, her hopes, knowing so well that each of us is interested first of all and most of all in himself.

He prepared to go but she would not allow it. Running back to the city she summoned her brothers and relatives.
