OUR NEW PRESIDENT.

Autocaster Service.

WE TAKE this occasion to extend our compliments to the new President of the United States and to wish him the greatest possion measure of sucess in his efforts to lead the nation out of the slough into production this year.

If half of the threats of a "farm which we hear about the state of th

Roosevelt and the new Congress face. There has not been, in re-cent times at least, such an opportunity as lies before the new Ad-ministration. At the same time, since Lincoln's time, which was confronted with such perils.

We give President Roosevelt and his advisers credit for the highest motives of patriotism. We think no one can deny that Mr. Roosevelt's record of public service, beginning with the Legislature of the State of New York, as Assistant Secretary of the Navy during the Great War, and as Governor of New York for the past four years, has been a record of forward-looking, ag-gressive and intelligent effort for the common good,

But the situation which confronts America is on all fours with the economic distress which is felt in evthe United States, in this critical customer for American wheat, cot-juncture, can lift itself by its own bootstraps. And one of the great now raising nearly all of its own uncertainties is how far the nations of Europe will go in cooperating, along lines which our nation can for every farmer to begin to try to accept toward bringing about an help himself and his country by economic readjustment on a worldwide scale. That is not to imply that there are not many serious phases of our domestic situation which cannot be remedied by intelligent and courageous action at Washington. It ms certain that, in the beginning of his Administration at any rate, our new President will have the whole-hearted and effective support

Sunday School BB Lesson BB

By Rev. Charles E. Dunn, D. D.

Jesus Shows His Power. Lesson for March 5th. Mark 4:35-5:8 Golden Text: 2 Timothy 1:12

The first part of our lesson is the dramatic episode of the tired Jesus asleep on a cushion in the stern of spent in body and soul, sound aslepe on a cushion in the stern of the little vessel, unaware of the rag-ing elements. We visualize also those panic-stricken disciples, unwaves, despite their expert seaman ship. In vain are their valiant at tempts to preserve the boat's bal ance. The water persists in com-ing in, thereby threatening to swamp the shallop, and drown them all. Hastily awakening Jesus, they appeal, in terror, for His aid, "Master," they cry, "does it make no difference to you that we are sinking?" Rousing Himself, He rebukes the wind. "Silence." is His command. "Be still." The wind lace were not only college class. Supose he had said: "Good mornand associates ing, gentlemen, I have something on the Oregon State college staff.

Dr. E. N. Bressman, associate prolifers of farm crops, and Mr. Wallace were not only college class. But Paul knew the psychology of dies. It is calm.

Then follows the most significant touch in this exciting incident, that striking question, so characteristic of the Master, "Why are you afraid? Have you still no faith?" An eminent New Testament scholar holds that the entire gospel is contained within the words, "Fear not, only believe!" Jesus had an excess of faith in God. He was never afraid, because He was perfectly sure He was safe in the hands of God. How much our groping, confused, fearful, bedevilled generation needs to cast itself upon the merciful care of the Lord! The second half of the lesson is the familiar story of the violent lunatic whom no fetters could bind Living in a graveyard, wandering about in the hills, he was the terror of the neighborhood. Mark gives description of this manisc than Matthew or Luke. His graphic pen vividly portrays the wilderness of this miserable, untamed creature who, in his par-oxysms, cut himself with stones, and smote the air with bloodcurdling shrieks.

Mad as he was, however, he recognized, by some strange, inner compulsion, the authority of Jesus and ran and worshiped him. At once the Master expelled the foul spirits within the poor wretch, transferring them to a herd of swine. It was a spectacular demonstration of His dynamic power, a power pregnant today in the lives Cecil Sargent, Rt. 3, Box 232, Salem, of His heroic followers.

The country is still in the dark as to the exact methods and policies which the new Administration will undertake to make effeteive. But we believe there is a very general desire to give the new President the freest possible hand, and to clothe him with authority beyond that which has been bestowed upon any Executive, except in war time, in the sincere hope that he will thus be able to act swiftly and effective

We do not think, as we intimated that any new President taking office for the first time has ever had the opportunity which is offered to President Roosevelt. At the same time, we are not unmindful, and we are sure Mr. Roosevelt is not unmindful, of the tremendous respon sibility which the nation is laying upon him. We most heartily wish him the est of luck.

TIME TO PLANT LESS.

WINTER is nearly over, and it will be but a short time before spring planting is under way in every part of the United States. And in every part of the country farmers are more or less in a quandary as to how much acreage to bring ers' strike" which we hear about are carried out, there will naturally be a material reduction in the volume of agricultural production for 1933 and that, of course, will have a tendency to bring higher prices no new auministration has come for such as is produced. We think into the control of our Government, the realization that it is necessary for the farmers of the nation, as a whole, to reduce the acreage under cultivation has now become quite widespread.

Farmers understand that a large part of their troubles has come from retaining under cultivation marginal lands which were put to the plow during the war, when the utmost possible production was stimulated by the high prices fixed by the Government for agricultural commodities. With half the world at war the United States had to feed more than half of the rest of the world. But that condition could the new Administratiin is one filled not be maintained, and the Ameriwith pitfalls and uncertainties. necessities. We think that 1933 is a good year cutting down his planting by anywhere up to 50 per cent. If all farmers agreed to this they would find, by harvest time, that they were getting higher prices than they Supplying a week-to-week inspiration have dreamed of for years. They for the heavy-burdened who will find could pay off their mortgages, buy the new equipment they need, and so start the wheels of prosperity spinning again. We don't know what is going to happen to the domestic allotment plan of farm relief which has been discussed in Congress, but we think that in offering an inducement to the producers of staple crops to reduce their output, it is headed in the right direction.

One or two fumigations a week does no harm—it's well worth the effort.

Not so very long ago, sulphur candles were burned in rooms that had held contagious diseases. My opinion is, that such ar. agency is wholly ineffectual. I came against it once in a smallpox epidemic, and it proved utterly worthless.

A fumigant must be volatile—capable of being dispersed in the air of the room; it must be effectual against germs. Having these two properties, you have the ideal agent I have tested out a solution of FOR-MALDEHYDE to my satisfaction. If handled carefully, it is safe in the hands of the family. Its pungent, irritating odor warns against excessive dose. I use a 40 per cent solution known as "Formalin."

High Production Brings Profit

Carlton-Allan Tupper, owner of the "Good-Nuff" farm near here, is thoroughly sold on Yamhill county as a dairy region. Tupper's herd of 19 pure-bred Jerseys has led the local herd improvement association for the last two years. For the year ending last October his herd averaged 465.6 pounds of butter-fat per cow. Practically all his feed is produced at home, thus keeping costs low. In 1932 his rec-ords show that for each dollar spent for feed he realized $3.25 for dairy products. Only high producing cows and home-grown feed enable products. him to show any profit under pres-ent price conditions, he says.

Hood River-Three years of care-Hood River-Three years of care-ful testing on the local experiment station farm has shown the practicability of home-prepared oil sprays and the new Tank-Mix oil sprays, which are said to cut the cost of such spray materials in two for the orchardist. Full directions for making or preparing these sprays have been included in a new Station Circular No. 107 entitled "Oil Spray Recommendations," now available for free distribution either at the local experiment station or direct from Corvallis, says Leroy Childs, Hood River station superintendent. The new bulletin Frank A. McMenamin also contains a condensed list of latest recommendations regarding use of either dormant or summer oil sprays as determined by the Western Cooperative Oil Spray project of which the Oregon station is
