

Local Happenings

Guy Huston was looking after matters of business in the city on Monday from the farm out at Eight Mile. Mr. Huston is replacing the older stock on his farms with new stuff, and has a fine Belgian sire to head his stables. His son also has an imported Belgian mare that just recently foaled a mare colt, which will later be registered. Mr. Huston has not surrendered to the idea that horses have given place to tractors and other power driven machinery, and believes the animals still have a prominent place on the farm. At any rate he is getting a start of fine young animals and will have no difficulty in disposing of any surplus he may raise as they come into maturity.

A "household" shower was tendered Mrs. E. J. Corbin, a recent bride, by members of Mrs. Benton's class of the Christian Sunday school on Wednesday afternoon. The party was given in the parlors of the church and attended by members of the class and friends who brought many very useful household articles to aid the bride in establishing her new home. Refreshments were featured as a part of the program of the afternoon.

Richard Peterson was here the last of the week from his home at Kimberley. Signs of spring are becoming more numerous on the John Day, but conditions generally have been backward, so Mr. Peterson reports.

Treasurer Briggs will now be behind the bars at the court house. Carpenter Bailey has been busy this week putting a "fence" around and installing a counter so that the treasurer may have better facilities for dealing with the public at his office.

OPPORTUNITY

(From "The Lion")
They do men wrong, who say I come no more
When once I knock and fail to find you in;
For every day I stand outside your door,
And bid you wake and rise to fight and win.

Wall pot for precious chances passed away.
Weep not for golden ages on the wane.
Each night I burn the records of the day;
At sunrise every soul is born again.

Rev. Tennyson Talks to Assembly
Rev. Tennyson, the Episcopal minister of Pendleton, gave the high school assembly a very educational and interesting talk Monday. He stated that one of our forthcoming difficulties would be the using of leisure time. This would be remedied by having a hobby, such as geology, music, chemistry, or other such things.

"Not Quite Such a Goose" Coming
A one-act comedy, "Not Quite Such a Goose," will be presented by the sophomore class Friday, directed by Miss Coppock. The characters are as follows: Mrs. Bell, a happy mother, Margaret Lieuellen; Albert Bell, seventeen-year-old son, Howard Furlong; Sylvia Bell, her daughter, Lorena Wilson; Phillip Flick, Sylvia's sweetheart, Billy Cochell; Hazel Henderson, Sylvia's friend, Ilene Kilkenny.

All Star Team Picked
The high school basketball team members have been coaching the high school and some of the eighth grade boys to play basketball. They held a tournament last week to pick the best team. Bill Beckett and Tom Hottman's team beat Roy Gentry and Joe Green's team in the first game 13-5; Herman Green and Harold Ayers' team beat Curtis Thomson and Cleo Hiatt's in the second game, 14-10. Then Herman and Harold's beat Tom and Bill's team, 12-10, for the championship. The all star team was picked from the teams: forwards, Paul Phelan, Jim Driscoll, Riley Munkers, Leonard Gilliam; centers, Everett Crump, Dick Benton; guards, Don Crowder, Marvin Morgan and Howard Furlong.

Smoker Was Successful.
The Heppner high school "H" club smoker which was held last Friday night proved to be a big success. There were a few very fast bouts, the most interesting probably being:
Floyd Jones vs. Johnny Hanna.
Emit Kenny vs. Jimmy Fulong.
Don Jones vs. Joe Green.
Marvin "Sullivan" Morgan vs. Gene "Corbett" Florence.
The club cleared a little over thirty dollars which will go to buy service sweaters for the graduating seniors who have made a letter for three years in either basketball or football.

Holidays Friday and Monday
The afternoon of Good Friday will be a school holiday. The Monday following there will be no school as a teachers' institute is being held at Lexington.

Reckless Driving Law

Reckless and drunken automobile drivers will be under closer scrutiny of state officials after June 9th, as a result of changes made by the state legislature in the operators' code, reports Hal E. Hoss, Secretary of State.

Every person convicted of operating a motor vehicle because of incompetency, driving while intoxicated, recklessness and hit and run drivers, regardless of the court having jurisdiction in the matter, will be reported immediately to the secretary of state for appropriate action in the matter of license suspensions or revocations, changes in the law require. These citations of traffic violations are required from all Oregon courts, which will include courts in every city and town. Previously only justice courts, district courts and circuit courts were required to forward the information.

"The fact that each municipal judge, or city recorder, is forced to make a report of all serious traffic violations upon which convictions have been recorded, will practically double the effectiveness of the curb on outlaw operators," explained Secretary Hoss. "Many serious traffic violations have come under the jurisdiction of these courts and the convicted drivers have continued to operate their automobiles because the state was unaware of the fact and could not suspend or revoke the operator's license. The new law will eliminate that condition," Hoss said.

An additional help to the enforcement of the suspension or revocation of drivers licenses is the new provision in the law requiring each convicting magistrate to immediately take up the license of those found guilty of serious offenses and forward the cards to the state department.

EXAMINER HERE 19TH.

W. C. Bush, examiner of operators and chauffeurs, will be in Heppner Wednesday, April 19, at the courthouse, between the hours of 1 and 5 p. m., according to word from Hal E. Hoss, secretary of state. All wishing permits or licenses are advised to get in touch with Mr. Bush at this time.

Lesson

By Rev. Charles E. Dunn, D. D.

Jesus Transfigured.
Lesson for April 16th.
Mark 9:2-29.

Golden Text: John 1:14.
The Transfiguration is a good lesson for Easter Sunday, for the glory of the Master's radiant face on the mountain top is akin to the glory of his risen body.

It is one of the most impressive scenes in the career of Jesus, a spectacle of high religious significance. We are at once reminded of the Baptism, for the same heavenly voice, testifying to the divine Sonship of the Nazarene, speaks again. We also find here a vivid suggestion of two supreme forces that anticipated the advent of Jesus; for Moses, the representative of the law, and Elijah, a typical prophet, both appear in the wondrous vision.

But the matchless worth of this ethereal, mystical glorification is to be found in the light it throws upon the grandeur of the Person of Jesus. Just what happened we do not precisely know. Like the birth and resurrection narratives, the story of the transfiguration is saturated with the ecstasy of poetry. Therefore it cannot be analyzed or dissected as though it were a routine bit of fact. What we can be sure of is that Jesus was mysteriously exalted in the eyes of his disciples, with a divine illumination that strengthened mightily their appreciation of His deity. To a lesser degree this experience came to Moses, whose face shone after his communion with God at Sinai; to Stephen, whose countenance, at his trial, seemed that of an angel; and to Webster, who is said, after the delivery of his famous Bunker Hill oration, to have worn a grand expression that awed those near him. Note that the disciples, at the close of his transforming experience, "saw no one any more, save Jesus only." May this be the experience of every follower of the Lord.

Again Heads Fall Show

Declaring that the Pacific International Livestock Exposition at Portland is going to continue as a great show despite the denial of state financial aid, O. M. Plummer, manager, has already reappointed Dr. G. H. Wilster, O. S. C. dairy manufacturing specialist, as head of the dairy products division of the show with instructions to make it the best ever.

"Serve notice on your friends everywhere that you are prepared to show them a good time in every department of the dairy division," Plummer told Dr. Wilster. "The more entries you can get from any part of the United States the better it will be for the industry and for the exposition. You can't make the dairy division too good to suit us."

Last year the dairy products show as managed by Dr. Wilster was rated one of the biggest in the entire United States.

Albert Adkins is doing substitute duty at the O'Donnell pasture this week, during the absence of Mr. O'Donnell.
