

Local Happenings

Mr. and Mrs. Newton Hotchkiss arrived home Tuesday from Heppner where they had been for a few weeks while Mr. Hotchkiss was engaged in inspecting livestock in that region for the bank that was recently closed there. J. L. Gault, formerly with the First National bank of Burns, is in charge of the liquidation of the Heppner bank and it was Mr. Gault's desire that Mr. Hotchkiss make the field inspection of the livestock held as security of the bank. The work has been completed. Mr. Hotchkiss reports.—Burns Times-Herald.

H. G. McGrath, Shell Oil company manager at Arlington, was transacting business in the city Monday. Aside from his company duties, McGrath is manager of the river city ball team which opens the Wheatland league season here next Sunday, and promised his boys would be on deck expecting to win. McGrath is a former newspaper boy, having worked as journeyman printer and reporter with the Salem Capital-Journal, and as reporter with the Portland Oregonian.

Eliza Sutton was greeting old-time friends here Monday, dropping in for a call on his brother, Earl W. Gordon, while on his way home to Springfield from points in Idaho where he went last week. Mr. Sutton has been located at Springfield most of the time since leaving Heppner several years ago, and it had been seven years since his last visit here. He now has two grown sons, one in Portland and the other in Uncle Sam's navy with home at San Diego, Calif.

E. R. Shaeffer, in from the Hyrd Bros. Freezout ranch on Monday, reports a regular blizzard out that way as a part of the Easter program. The snow came fast and furious, but melted as it fell. The range conditions are improving in the foothill country and grass is now coming along fast, reports Mr. Shaeffer.

Walter Luckman represented his part of the Butter creek country in town Monday. It had turned a little too wet out his way to continue plowing operations, so time was taken off to come to town. The Luckman ranch is now looking pretty good as the grass is growing and range conditions improving.

Mrs. Olive E. Hussey of Willamina is visiting here with her granddaughters, Mrs. Ray Oviatt and Mrs. Vera Hapgood. Mrs. Hussey has the distinction of being a great-grandmother, her one great-grandchild being Jennie Marie, baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Oviatt.

Clarence Bauman, sheriff, is now getting around with the use of a cane, having discarded the crutches made necessary for a time by the torn ligaments in one leg received on sliding into second base in a ball game recently. The injury is still in a cast though reported to be mending well.

W. H. Instone, Lena ranchman, was transacting business in the city yesterday. Contrary to a rumor, which Mr. Instone said was circulated without foundation, he has no intention of leaving the Lena farm and moving to another place in the vicinity of Ione.

John Anglin, local MacMarr store manager, purchased a new Chevrolet this week from Ferguson Motor company. Gene Ferguson took the former Anglin car to The Dalles Sunday for delivery to Neal Heiny, brother of Mrs. Ferguson from Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean T. Goodman and children returned home the first of the week from Portland where they spent the week end at the home of Mr. Goodman's parents, helping celebrate the 86th birthday anniversary of Mr. Goodman's father.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Heslin were over Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Ferguson. Mr. Heslin is a cousin of Mrs. Ferguson. The Heslins were on their way home to Portland from Idaho where Mrs. Heslin's mother died recently.

Assistant State Superintendent James M. Burgess visited the high school Tuesday morning. Mr. Burgess was a former superintendent in the school before accepting his present position at Salem in 1929. He gave a short speech before the student body telling of our very efficient school. He said we have something that puts us across, or as one boy said, "we have the stuff." He also said that Heppner high school had turned out fine men and women and he hoped the senior class, now approaching their last days in a high school, should carry on and the other classes that as they progressed across the room finally to be in the senior class should try to give the best that is in them.

Mr. Burgess watches with interest our doings; let's try and give the best we have in order to make better men and women and to be deserving of his interest.

Miss H. C. Long, the state librarian of Salem, visited the Heppner school last Wednesday. She gave a very interesting and educational talk to the high school assembly. She told where the library is in Salem. They receive around 250 letters daily asking for books or information. One day last year the library sent out 125,000 books. The people of Oregon pay $5,000 worth of postage a year on books sent and returned to the state library.

The state library is sponsoring a free reading course, except for postage. Those who cannot attend college or afford an extension course may choose a subject and send to the state library where books are selected and mailed, one each month until the course is completed. This work was started last December and now there are over 300 people taking these courses.

Miss Long also stated if the young people wanted some very interesting and exciting books that they had stories on Oregon, written by Oregon authors and published by Oregon book companies: "Heroin of the Prairies," "Cabin at the Trail's End," "Fighting Stars," "Before the Covered Wagon," "The Conquest," "Marooned in Crater Lake," "Quest of the Sea Otter," "Customs on the Columbia."

Sophomore Skit

Who ever thought of Howard Furlong refusing to take a pretty girl to the theater, taking the part of a young man who had not yet been stricken by the fairer sex? In the skit, "Not Quite Such a Goose," given by the sophomore class last Friday morning, Howard played the above part to perfection.

Miss Oddveig Thompson, who has been a missionary for several years in Africa, will speak of her experiences there at the Valley Lutheran church on Sunday, April 23, at 10:30 a. m.

Oscar Bergstrom was called to Portland last week on account of the serious illness of his youngest son. The little fellow is suffering from double pneumonia and is reported in a critical condition.

Arthur Bergstrom, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bergstrom, came up from Portland where he is attending Grant high school to spend the Easter vacation with his parents. He was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Roy Jansson, sister and brother-in-law of Mrs. Bergstrom.

The Misses June and Dorris Allstott entertained a group of their friends on Friday evening at their home on Rhea creek. Dancing and games were enjoyed until a late hour after which delicious refreshments were served. Those present report an enjoyable evening.

Mrs. O. E. Wright has been removed to the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Helen LeTrace, from the Heppner hospital. Mrs. Wright has been suffering from a nervous breakdown.

Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clive Huston were Mr. and Mrs. Alcott Lundell and sons, Raymond and Wallace.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bergstrom entertained Mr. and Mrs. B. O. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Bergstrom and daughters, Florence and Esther, at dinner Easter Sunday.

Mrs. Chas. Beckett and Mrs. John Bergstrom motored to Heppner last Wednesday to do some shopping. They were accompanied by Mrs. S. T. Robison.

Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Robison were Lexington visitors Sunday.

The regular meeting of the H. E. club will be held Thursday, April 27, at the hall.

There will be a dance at the Dry Forks Grange hall Saturday, April 22, with the Botts boys furnishing the music. This dance is sponsored by the junior class of the Ione high school.

Barton Clark is home from Linfield college to spend the Easter vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Clark. Barton is on the debating squad at Linfield and likes it very much.

E. E. Rugg is putting into condition a tennis court at his place on Rhea creek. This should prove an enjoyable place to the young folks of the neighborhood. Tennis is a fine sport but many of us don't know how to play it. However, with this court to play on we may develop a Helen Moody or Bill Tilden.

An Easter Egg hunt was enjoyed by the Liberty Sunday school's young people Sunday morning. We plan on joining the Valley Lutheran Margaret Liewallen took the part of Mrs. Bell; Howard Furlong, Albert Bell, her son; Lorena Wilson, Sylvia Bell, her daughter; Billy Cochran, Phillip Flick, Sylvia's sweetheart; Irene Kilkenny, Hazel Henderson, Sylvia's friend and an old enemy of Albert's but that was four years before.

Albert is a problem to his mother because he is quite a roughneck and runs with a bunch of the rougher boys. Now Sylvia's sweetheart, Phillip Flick, is a well-dressed young man and instead of playing baseball as Albert does, plays tennis. Albert's mother wanted Albert to be more neat. She was not succeeding.

Hazel Henderson comes to town! That evening Phillip and Sylvia have a date to go to the show and Albert is asked to take Hazel. He is very indignant. But then Hazel comes in. Albert is taken aback. He wants to learn to play tennis. He changes his clothes, wears a rosebud, and agrees to take Hazel. He even objects to the once-loved huckleberry pudding on the ground that it made the mouth black. This play also contains some very common scenes of brother eavesdropping upon his sister and then teasing her unmercifully.

Raymond Drake and Farria Prock have returned to school after several weeks absence recovering from operations for appendicitis.

John Glavey has dropped school and is now working on his parents' ranch.

Grade News

The third grade is making original posters using the topic "Be Kind to Animals." They are paying special attention to the animals that are of more use to us.

Forrest Bogard of the third grade has returned to school after being absent since the December holidays.

The operetta promises much humor especially by the characters Dr. Slaughter and Dr. Coffin who are Anson Rugg and Gerald Cason; and their parents, Mrs. Weakly, Mrs. Crossley, and Cynthia, who are Francis Rugg, Rachel Anglin, and Jessie French. Mrs. Weakly appears to be sick all the time, having a sore foot or something. The date is set for April 27, and the admission prices are 10c and 25c.

Teachers' Institute

The teachers' institute held at Lexington April 17, had a very interesting program. The main features were addresses given by Dr. Landreth, city superintendent of Pendleton, and Mr. Burgess, state high school inspector. Also demonstrations were given by grade teachers of the county. Two Heppner teachers took part in this, Miss Bleakman, first grade teacher, giving a demonstration in reading, and Miss McDonald, sixth grade, talking on modern methods of teaching reading.

Circulars Describe Use Of Milk Powder, Cheese

The use of powdered skim milk in the home and the method of making American cheese are described in recent circulars issued by the Oregon State College Extension service for free distribution upon request. These are two in a series of circulars being put out to suggest means of meeting the present economic needs of many families.

Skim milk powder contains all the solids of whole milk except the butter fat, according to Miss Lucy Case, extension specialist in nutrition, and when purchased at 10 cents a pound provides fluid skim milk at approximately two cents a quart. The method of reconstituting the fluid from the powder is described in detail in the bulletin.

The milk is more palatable used in dishes that have considerable flavor than in bland mild-flavored dishes, says Miss Case. Various kinds of soup recipes are suggested as being well adapted to this purpose. Many desserts such as cornstarch pudding, rice pudding and custards are made from powdered milk. Bread recipes including yeast baking are given, as well as the methods for making cornmeal mush, oatmeal porridge and French toast.

The bulletin on American cheese explains that making it at home is an economy measure in saving milk which is usually plentiful on the farm. The cheese ranks high in food value, having a larger percentage of calcium by weight than any other food and being a good source of proteins and vitamin A.

"In most localities cheese gives a better return in food value for the money than other staple foods of animal origin," says Dr. Henry C. Sherman, chief of the chemistry department at Columbia university. Cheese can be used as a meat substitute and is a convenient food to have on hand because it can be kept and prepared without refrigeration or cooking.

Very little special equipment is necessary for cheese making, and the time required is five or six hours the first day and a few minutes each day for turning the cheese until it is cured. It is generally ready to be eaten when six weeks old.

The method of preparing the milk, adding coloring and rennet, pressing the curd, dressing and curing the cheese is explained fully in the circular. Several different uses of cheese are also given.

Youngberry Finds Favor With O. S. C. Scientists

The Youngberry, the rather new popular small fruit which was developed by crossing a southern dewberry with the Phenomenal berry (similar to a large loganberry), has proved more hardy in Oregon than the logan and may have a real place in the Oregon berry industry, according to a new circular of information just issued by the Oregon Experiment station dealing with this berry.

A fairly large trial acreage with some commercial plantings are already in production in Oregon, resulting in many inquiries regarding the possibilities of the new berry in Oregon. The new circular gives a brief history of its origin and considerable information on planting, training and caring for the Youngberries.

The fruit is large, wine red in color, less acid than the logan and thus more popular for fresh use, processes well in the freezing and preserving trade, and is popular with pie makers. While preliminary observation indicates it is hardy and free from serious diseases and pests, much more study is needed concerning these and other points, the circular points out.
