W. C. T. U. NOTES

MARY A. NOTSON, Reporter What has become of the loud and insistent promises of the wets that the youth of the land should be protected under the new liquor legslation? When the drys wanted a provision written into the new law forbidding the sale of beer to minors the wets voted the amendment down without giving even reason-able time for debate. Last fall, the wets of all parties assured us that saloon must never come back. When the amendment repealing the 18th amendment was framed did it contain any provision to outlaw the saloon? It did not. A few members of congress refused to vote for resubmission of the question because no provision was made to outlaw the saloon. Under the proposed amendment, if it should he adopted there is nothing to prevent the return of the saloon, and the saloon will return. The only way to prevent the return of the to retain the 18th amendment. On July 21, vote: 301 X No. I vote against the proposed amend-This proposed amendment the 21st amendment if adopted and will repeal the 18th amendment.

Do not be misled by Section 2 of the proposed amendment. It very graciously proposes to forbid "The transportation or importation into any state, territory, or possession of the United States for delivery or use therein of intoxicating liquors, in violation of the laws thereof."
This is pure "sop." It is intended to catch the unwary. It is a deliberate attempt to deceive dry voters into thinking that they are voting for some protection to the dry states. This power has always been one of the powers of congress. It was written into the Webb-Kenyon law. Putting it into the constitution will do little good when members of congress who have taken a solemn oath to uphold and support the constitution vote to legalize beer. No honest person who knows the facts will contend that 3.2 beer. which is the old four per cent by The older people who have memories that do not trick them can remember when men got drunk on
