speaker was enjoyed by a large crowd at 10:30 a. m. A picnic dinner followed with groups of people eating at various places, some at the Legion hall, some in the park and others at various homes. The debate on the sales tax immediately after lunch between Mac Hoke of Pendleton for the measure, and Ray Gill, master of the State Grange, against it, held the attention of a fine audience. After the debate a ball game between the "ees" and the "more or less has been" was greatly enjoyed. Races for all followed and the day was wound up with a free dance for everybody at Legion hall.

The Women's Topic club held their July study meeting at the home of Mrs. Earl J. Blake on Saturday afternoon. The subject for the program was "Vacation Spots." The Campfire girls returned from their camping trip in the mountains last Saturday afternoon. They report a wonderful time with no accidents to any of the party. Among other things the girls did work for which they can secure campfire honors. Fires of various types, including a fire started in the rain, were built and in nature study work the girls learned to identify thirteen flowers and five weeds. On one rainy day they made spatter prints of some of the flowers they had gathered. On Friday, the one really fine day of the trip, they took a long hike, built shelters of fir boughs near their cabin, in which they spent the night and held a ceremonial around a camp fire. A happy bunch of girls returned to their homes, looking forward to another such good time next year.

Mr. and Mrs. Mearl Blake and son spent the first part of the week at the ranch home of Mr. Blake's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Blake. Their home is in Portland.

At Heppner CHURCHES

CHURCH OF CHRIST. JOEL R. BENTON, Minister. Mrs. O. Turner, Director of Music. Bible School..... 9:45 A. M. Morning Worship..... 11 o'clock Senior and Junior C. E. .... 7:30 P. M. Evening Worship..... 8:00 o'clock Church Night, Thursday at 8:00 P. M. Idol Worship

"They that make them shall be like unto them; so is everyone that trusteth in them." Psalm 115-8. If we make an idol, or worship an idol, we shall become like the idol we worship.

Some one has said: "Whatever sits at the summit of any man's ambition is his god, no matter what other god or gods he may profess to worship and serve."

And if we make and worship idols we shall be hollow as the idol is hollow; we shall be senseless as the idol is senseless; we shall be heartless as the idol is heartless. We may glitter as the idol glitters, on the outside, but that is ALL.

There are as many idols today as when the Psalmist wrote; they have merely changed their form. Not so many, perhaps, worship sticks and stones, and blocks of carved marble, or images bedecked with jewels and hung with costly draperies; but today, uncounted millions worship money or fame or physical beauty or worldly power and rank; and in terms of eternity and the "more abundant life" of which Christ speaks, all these worldly idols are as empty of any lasting worth as the merest idol ever set up.

We shall become empty and vain if what we worship is empty and vain; or fine and noble and strong if what we worship is fine and noble and strong. So, there is nothing in all life MORE necessary for us to examine CAREFULLY, than the aims and objects of our worship—not merely our fancied worship in Church—but our REAL WORSHIP, in Church, in the home, in society and in business. God must be the objective of our REAL WORSHIP.

If you have not a Church home, we invite you to worship with us. Come and test the welcome of this friendly Church. For the coming Lord's Day the sermon topics are: For the morning service, "The Task of the Church." For the evening service, "Echoes of the Turner Convention."

FARMERS' LOANS NOW AVAILABLE

Agent Not to Assist in Scaling Down Indebtedness; Eight Million Distributed.

Spokane, Wash., July 6th.—J. A. Scollard, agent of the land bank commissioner for the Twelfth Federal Land Bank district, covering Washington, Oregon, Montana and Idaho, stated today that since President Roosevelt signed the Emergency Farm Mortgage act, May 12, to date applications had been received by him for loans aggregating $8,000,000. A good many of the inquirers, he said, apparently have the impression that the commissioner's agent would intercede for them and obtain a scale-down in their indebtedness. Mr. Scollard explained that any reduction in the amount of debts owed by the farmer must be obtained through agreement between the farmer and his creditors. He said that the commissioner's agent does not take part in any such readjustment agreement.

"The agent is ready with the money to advance, on acceptable security, so that the farmer can tender his creditors cash in settlement for his debts but the commissioner's agent does not act as a mediator or go-between in such settlements," said Mr. Scollard. "In fact, it would expedite matters materially if farmers fully understood that if they expect to get a curtailment in their debts by offering cash to their creditors they should know how much cash it will take to pay off or curtail their accounts before they apply to the commissioner's agent for a loan. It is just as easy, perhaps more so, to settle on the amount before applying for a commissioner's loan than it is to do so afterwards."

"The principal purpose of making commissioner's loans is to re-finance farmers' indebtedness, particularly second mortgages and personal indebtedness. It has been found that many creditors, particularly those holding second mortgages, are willing to agree to scale down their loans when they are assured by the farmer that he is going to apply to the commissioner's agent for a loan.

"Farmers who are heavily in debt, of course, find it necessary in many instances to get their creditors to agree to a curtailment in order that they can be refinanced. This is rather obvious for the commissioner's loan, when added to all other loans against the property of the farmer, may not exceed 75 per cent of the appraised value thereof and in no instance can a loan of more than $5,000 be made to any individual.

"Farmers who obtain commissioner's loans are finding them of distinct advantage in that for the first three years they are not required to pay anything on the principal and the interest rate is only 5 per cent, most of the loans being made for a 13-year period. During the last 10 years installments on the principal will have to be paid annually or semi-annually so as to discharge the debt completely within the period agreed upon."

Mr. Scollard said there is still much misunderstanding among farmers as to the way commissioner's loans are made and that adequate security must be put up before a loan can be made. The property must be appraised and a report made, all of which requires time.

Prineville—The practicability of establishing a stand of alfalfa with oats as a nurse crop was well demonstrated last year and this spring on land seen on a recent alfalfa tour of the county. One 8-acre field of Ladak alfalfa was viewed which was seeded last spring with Victory oats. The oats yielded 86 bushels to the acre, leaving a per-acre stand of alfalfa. This came through the winter in fine shape, sowing no injury from the severe weather.

Mosier—W. L. Howland and Elmer Root, Mosier orchardists, have established codling moth traps again this year to determine flight of the moths so as to indicate the best time for applying sprays. This is the second year these two men have carried on such work with the county agent. Some orchards in the district are trying banding trees with medicated paper in an effort to assist in worm control while cutting down excessive spray applications which bring residue problems.

Coquille—For the second consecutive month, Charles McCulloch of the Coos Bay Herd Improvement association had the high producing herd of all those on test in the state, according to the official test report for the month of May, just released by R. W. Morse, extension dairyman of Oregon State college. Mr. McCulloch has also had the second highest producing cow on test for the past two months.
