

Local Happenings

Dan B. Stalter came over from his Mayflower mine near Austin, arriving Sunday evening and stayed over until today on business. Mr. Stalter said the summer had been cool up at the mine, and rheumatism in his wrists had prevented him accomplishing as much work as common. Also, he says, the passage of 76 winters has probably slowed him up a bit. The mine has been visited by three engineers this summer who made an appraisal of the property, and immediately on his return Mr. Stalter was expecting another engineer to look it over. He believes prospects are very good for selling the property.

William Hammond, in charge of the department of inspection of operators and chauffeurs from the office of the secretary of state, passed through Heppner Friday on his way from Salem to take in the Pendleton Round-Up. He says that the work in his department has been progressing well, and is much pleased with the cooperation received from the public.

Mr. and Mrs. John Turner spent several days in Portland this week while Mr. Turner is on a vacation from his duties as manager of the local Union Oil company station. They left yesterday for La Grande where they took Mr. Turner's mother, Mrs. R. W. Turner, for a visit at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Walter LaDusire.

Harvey E. Miller, president of the Morrow County Wheat Production Control association and also president of the North Heppner community committee, reported the work of checking up on the acreage of farmers in his district to be taken out of production to be progressing well when he was in town Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Vawter Crawford expect to leave for Portland this afternoon where Mr. Crawford will undergo examination at the hands of medical specialists. He has been prevented by illness from taking active charge of his editorial duties for some time, being confined to his home though not bedfast.

Jimmy Furlong and Lyle Cowdrey, who departed last week for Laramie, Wyo., with the expectation of entering the University of Wyoming, arrived back in Heppner the first of the week. "Met with some hard luck on the road and decided to return home," they said.

Rev. M. G. Tennyson and sister, Miss Alice Tennyson, were visiting in Heppner yesterday from Pendleton. Mr. Tennyson announced that Rev. Thomas Lewis will again hold services at All Saints Episcopal church here next Sunday.

Mrs. Grady B. Seay of Los Angeles and Mrs. W. Clifford Clark of Glendale, Cal., daughters of the late Ashbel Lahue, returned to their homes the end of the week after attending their father in his last illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernor Sackett of Salem have been spending a week visiting at the home of Mrs. Sackett's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Notson, Mr. Sackett the while enjoying an occasional deer hunt.

Harry Dinges, manager of Lexington Farmers Warehouse company, was transacting business in the city yesterday. Mr. Dinges and family look in the Pendleton Round-Up on Saturday.

Harold Cohn and R. A. Thompson arrived home Sunday evening from Browning, Mont., where they have sheep on summer range. They made the 700-mile trip by car in one day.

Miss Ireta Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Taylor, underwent a minor operation at Heppner hospital Tuesday morning, and is reported to be making excellent progress.

H. D. McCurdy, who operates both wheat and sheep on a large scale from the headquarters ranch in the lower Eight Mile vicinity, was in Heppner Monday on business.

Dr. J. P. Stewart, Eye-Sight Specialist of Pendleton, will be at the Heppner Hotel on WEDNESDAY, Oct. 4th. Hours 9 a. m. to 5:30 p. m.

Emil Johnson, pioneer of the Hardman community and its leading merchant and garageman, was transacting business in the city Monday.

Lloyd Matteson has recovered sufficiently from the wounds received when he was shot recently, to be up town the first of the week.

Ardian Engelman took time off from his farm duties in the Ione vicinity long enough to transact business in the city Monday.

Chas. W. Barlow and Earl W. Gordon motored to Portland Monday afternoon on business, returning yesterday.

Joe Swendig, who has been in the C. C. C. camp at Innaha for the summer, returned home the end of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Thomson returned the end of the week from Portland where they had spent the week.

Home Loans Expected To Bring Tax Relief

Reports from every section of Oregon indicate that the Home Owners Loan corporation is functioning in a most satisfactory manner and relief is being given to the distressed small home owner, according to J. P. Lipscomb, state manager of the corporation.

Manager Lipscomb early this week stressed the following points in connection with the Home Owners Loan corporation:

The corporation is the keystone of the NRA program. Unless the home owner saves his place the NRA cannot be successful, so closely are the NRA and the Home Owner Loan units inter-related.

Under our national recovery program all must make sacrifices. The holder of mortgages should do his part by taking the corporation bonds. It is simply a matter of patriotism.

The Home Owners Loan corporation bonds are 4-per cent semi-annual bonds for 18 years, the government guaranteeing the interest for this term.

The corporation bonds are non-taxable. In many states a 4-per cent bond that is non-taxable is as good as a taxable 6-per cent investment.

The United States Treasury accepts these bonds as security for federal deposits at par, in that respect placing them on equality with any United States bonds.

Holders of mortgages, bankers and investors should be advised that if the corporation fails due to lack of support and millions of homes are sold under the hammer, the value of their billions in home mortgages also will be destroyed.

Within a short time large numbers of these loans will be closed in Oregon, thereby throwing hundreds of thousands of dollars into the county treasuries of the state to take care of unpaid taxes. Schools and all divisions of the state government will be benefited and a positive step toward recovery will have begun.

Editorial

Do we know the connection between cheering for the team and good sportsmanship? Sometimes it appears to the public that we do not.

Cheering for our team means going out to a game and standing behind the team; giving the team some yells and songs; showing them that we care whether they win or lose by telling them about it. Cheering does not mean razzing the other team or booing our own team when they make a poor play. If they make a poor play give them a yell and put as much behind it as if they had made a touchdown. The team needs more encouragement when they are losing than when they are winning. However, that does not mean that they do not need encouragement when they are winning. Whether the team is winning or losing let's show our loyalty towards them.

When we sing our school song, "Loyalty," do we think about what we are singing or do we just sing the words without any meaning. Those words have a meaning and we should show that we know the meaning and voice it when we are singing. Let us show the team we are loyal to them whether they win or lose.

If the team loses a game it isn't their fault. They put everything they had into the game and tried to win. Show them we appreciate their efforts and that we are for them.

We are starting our football season, and basketball season is not far off. Let's practice good sportsmanship and loyalty throughout these seasons by getting out to the games and fighting with and for our teams.

Old Traditions to be Renewed

Heppner high school's student council came to a decision in regard to its program for the year. The program had been planned at an earlier meeting. In contrast to the policy of the last few years, the traditions and activities of the high school are to be rigidly observed.

Some of the old high school customs, while they haven't been entirely dropped, have deteriorated into mere formalities. They have been continued by the student body president only because the constitution of the student body requires it. The announcement of almost any activity is received with very little enthusiasm; picnics are lightly attended, and the general interest of the students is very low. The only events receiving much attention are Class Rush Day, Freshman Initiation, and Senior Dress-up Day. Even on Junior Loud Sox Day many fail to follow the loud sox custom.

The Hehisch committee was originally formed to state student affairs and prior to the last year no meetings of this body had been held for over two years. Last year many experiments were tried for the purpose of starting the rapidly dying spark of school spirit to burning again and certain definite lines of action were laid out as foundations. This year these foundations are to be enlarged upon and the main structure built up. The promise of a school annual, the continuation of the "H" club, the reorganization of the Booster club, and the formation of many other types of club work, all ought to have an exhilarating effect on our school spirit.

School is much more than merely a place to acquire book learning. It is also a place where the foundations for our later social lives are laid. The activities which one encounters in high school are the instrument by which this social education is accomplished. Therefore, in consideration of these subjects it is hoped that the student body will solidly support all activities which the student council and the Hehisch committee sponsor.

Doctors McMurdo, Gray and McCrady have again kindly consented to give the pupils of both grade school and high school thorough examinations. The examinations will take the better part of two days to give.

Officers were elected for the coming school year at a meeting of the Home Economics club last Wednesday. The following were elected: president, Annabelle Turner; vice-president, Ilene Kilkenny; secretary-treasurer, Margaret Farley; reporter and historian, Lorena Wilson.

Student Body Council Meeting

Plans were made at the student body council meeting Wednesday for a pep assembly to be held Friday afternoon. The council also decided that student body taxes for the first semester will be fifty cents. All those students who have paid their taxes before the games which are played at Heppner will be admitted free. The admission will be fifteen cents for the students who have not paid their tax. According to the student body president, Francis Nickerson, it is a moral obligation as well as a duty of every high school student to pay the tax.

At 2:30 Thursday afternoon the Frosh started the annual class rush that by 4:20 had humbled the braggart sophomores and had earned the freshmen the privilege of hanging a full grown banner in the assembly room. The Frosh cleverly displayed an elopement scene with Johnny Hanna, the hero; Louise Anderson, the heroine; and Dean Goodman, the Jewish father. The score was tied when the boys' relay, the last event in the afternoon, was called. The winning of this even gave the frosh their victory.

Thursday will be clean-up day in the chemistry laboratory when the students of the class will clean house in preparation for their experiments. The first experiments will be made on the following Thursday, that day having been set aside as laboratory day.

Heppner high school's football squad for the first time in the history of the school, will play two games in one day. On October 6 it will meet both the Lexington and Echo high school football teams on the home field.

Grade School News

Although Ola Hiatt moved to Echo the enrollment of the fourth grade remained the same. Andrew Huff of Walla Walla enrolled in the fourth grade this week.

The new fourth grade spelling books were handed out to the pupils Monday.

The new seventh grade arithmetic books, which are furnished by the school district, were given to the pupils Monday.

Grade School Sport News
