About this time every six weeks period blue slips are the main topic of student discussion. They are laughed at and sometimes ignored but generally they are taken pretty seriously—and rightly so. A blue slip is an official midterm statement of the scholastic standing of the student to whose parents an indication that the student is having difficulty or that the student has certain faults which should be corrected. Through the use of this system the necessity of the school's placing a failing mark against the student's record is oftentimes avoided. Therefore the blue slip system is beneficial and should be regarded as such.

Tryouts will be held Wednesday night to decide which of the school band members will compose the school "Pep" band this year. This pep band will play for the first time at the double header football games to be played tomorrow afternoon on the Rodeo field between Heppner and the teams from Echo and Lexington.

Class News

One of the main features in the high school student body program last Friday was a farce featuring a group of economists. The players participating were juniors who failed to obey the custom of wearing loud socks on junior loud socks day. The student body sang several songs, and Armin Whilon introduced the Norton Winnard cup to the freshmen and to other new members of the high school. Armin explained that this cup is awarded to the outstanding student of the senior class each year. The program was ended with the introduction of the football team.

Today the Oregon point system will be adopted by the girls high school gym classes. In this system each girl participating in five out of six of the interclub games will be given ten points toward the one hundred thirty points required in the earning of a letter.

On Columbus Day, October 12, the public speaking class will make its first appearance before the assembly in a program concerning the accomplishments of Columbus.

There will be a short but peppy football rally tonight. The high school student body will meet in front of the postoffice at 7:30. Planning future assembly programs and appointing a booster club committee were matters of business before the student body council meeting, Wednesday morning at nine o'clock.

Grade News

The second and third grades are looking forward to the installation of a sand table. Mrs. Dix, the teacher, has planned many projects for this year.

A new student, Helen Huff, registered in the eighth grade last week.

Achievement tests were given the fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades in the high school assembly Thursday. These tests are given by the county for the purpose of finding the mental ability of each child.

In order that the pupils of the fourth grade will know more of the customs and manners of the African people they are making an intensive study of Africa. Claudine Drake has carved two negro children and an elephant out of wood and colored them to aid this study.

Posters called "Moral Code for Youth," have been placed in all of the grade school rooms. These tell what every youth should do in order that they be patriotic and good American citizens.

John D. Watkins has reentered school this week. Standings of the grade school gym leagues are as follows: 7th and 8th grade boys: Braves 12, Cougars 12, Trojans 11, Lions 5, 5th and 6th grade boys: Lions 15, Bulldogs 13, Beavers 9, Elks 8.

League of Oregon Cities Names Kehrl Executive

Eugene, Ore.—Organization plans for the coming year were made here by the League of Oregon Cities last week, and the group formally named Herman Kehrl, director of the bureau of municipal research and service at the University of Oregon, as its executive secretary.

Mr. Kehrl, who will take over his duties immediately, outlined plans for regional meetings of the league in various parts of Oregon. His office, which will be located on the campus of the university, will act as a clearing house for interchange of ideas, and will assist municipalities in many ways.

More than 30 officials, representing 16 municipalities, were present for the session. Full control of the liquor situation, especially the right to raise revenue from licenses and taxes on beverages, will be sought by the cities, through the legislative committee of the league, it was decided at the meeting. A legislative program will also be formulated on unemployment relief and public works projects, and this will be presented before the special session of the legislature expected in the near future.

Cities were urged to prepare and complete data on public works projects, and the next session of the legislature will be called upon to pass legislation so that tax money can be used to liquidate these projects, Burton E. Palmer, executive secretary of the Oregon committee on Public Works Administration, told those present at the meeting.

The aims of the university bureau for municipal affairs was outlined at the meeting. Subjects on which the university will give aid and information include regulation of public utilities, distribution of tax burden, city planning, sanitation projects, legal questions, recreational and social service problems. Mr. Kehrl, new executive secretary, comes highly recommended for the position. Last year he studied the famous Minnesota league of municipalities, and did graduate work at the University of Minnesota, and previous to that served for many years as the secretary of the City club in Portland.

"I've kept track of the money it saved us this month"

"HERE it is—all put down. Whenever my telephone relieved me of a trip downtown, I made note of the nickel, dime or quarter saved. They soon amounted to more than the price of telephone service, and I also have the telephone for calling friends, and making appointments. It's true, and I've proved it—the telephone in the home costs so little and does so much that it simply doesn't pay to be without one."

Project Refinance Plans

Held Up by Unpaid Taxes

The problem of delinquent taxes on reclamation projects is one of the chief obstacles in the way of obtaining federal refinancing of district indebtedness, judging from discussion at the recent annual meeting of the Oregon Reclamation congress at Baker. The Congress took much time in digging into this problem and ended by appointing a committee to prepare, if necessary, emergency legislation to be used in clearing away the financial pathway, reports Dr. W. L. Powers, secretary of the congress and head of the soils department at O. S. C.

On this special committee are Senator Jay Upton, Bend; Donald Graham, Prineville; F. P. Ferrell, Medford; Albert B. Ridgway, Portland, and E. E. Wist, Scappoose. The executive committee of the congress was authorized to build up a fund for use in following up the Oregon district applications for refinancing.

President Sawyer brought out in his annual address that this re- finance legislation and much of the program of the national reclamation association originated with the Oregon congress. Dr. Powers, in the report of the secretary, proposed a new definition for reclamation to include "keeping in production or bringing into full production those lands that most deserve to be in production." Klamath Falls was selected as the next meeting place. The president and secretary were reelected together with the following directors: E. H. Judd, Medford; M. R. Lewis, Corvallis, and George Kanoff, Bend.

Oregon Milkmen Urged to Enter Portland Exhibit

Oregon's milk producers and distributors, many of whom are known to market some of the best milk in the country, may get public recognition for this quality by entering the annual Pacific International Dairy Products show in Portland, October 21 to 28, says Dr. G. H. Wilsler, manager of the show and professor of dairy manufacturing at O. S. C.

"Many Oregon dairy and creamerymen may not realize that this has grown to be the largest dairy products show in the country that features all products," says Dr. Wilsler. "Butter and cheese makers of Oregon have been competing successfully year after year with the best from the middlewest and east, but Oregon milk producers have for the most part left the field to other states."

All milk and cream entered must be produced October 9, and must be shipped or delivered not later than October 10. All milk scoring above certain marks is awarded signed diplomas, while the highest scoring sample gets a gold medal.
