BIG TIME PROMISED FOR NIGHT OF OCT. 20

Library Stunt Show Calls Forth Great Array of Community Talent.

MANY GROUPS TO AID

Tickets to be on Sale Next Week; Scout Patrols to Compete for Prize in Contest Again.

All sorts of goings-on are being reported from behind closed doors this week as members of the various organizations in Heppner and surrounding towns are going into rehearsal for the big event of the year—the Library Stunt Night to be held this year on Oct. 20.

This year's stunt night will be the third in succession, and each of the others has been a decided success, both from the entertainment and financial standpoints. Each year about sixteen stunts have appeared on the program, and there will probably be about that number this year. Some will be musical, some of a strictly comedy nature, but certain it is that all of them will be good. Among other rumors reaching the ears of the stunt committee is one to the effect that one of the town's leading male citizens, a member of the city council, in fact, will be cast as "the lady that is known as Lou" in a highly dramatic number to be put on by the American Legion.

The Business and Professional Women's club is rehearsing a black face stunt to be called "The Camp Meeting," and entirely different but also with a blackface motif will be the Lions' club offering, which will feature their quartet, The Rebekah lodge has asked Mary Moore to sing as their representative.

Members of the Bookworms club are promising a stunt based on some old familiar stories which will be briefly dramatized for the audience. The Eastern Star will feature a piano solo by Kathryn Parker. Heppner lodge of Elks have a stunt committee working.

This year for the first time the Lexington, Ione and Hardman communities have been asked to take part in the stunt night, and each of them plans to contribute one number to the program. Laurel Beach will sing for the Lexington entry.

The American Legion auxiliary is promising a number, though its exact nature has not been divulged. The churches usually participate in the program, but have not yet announced their plans. The Boy Scouts have been asked to take part.

The high school faculty is working up a mysterious stunt which will undoubtedly baffle the audience. The Degree of Honor Juveniles have the promise of a recitation, "Girl on the Telephone," by Dean Goodman, Jr., as their offering. The adult lodge, Degree of Honor, is also planning to furnish a stunt but the title has not been chosen. Neighbors of Woodcraft will again furnish a number for the program.

The official dress rehearsal for all organizations participating in the show will be held Thursday evening, Oct. 19, at the auditorium. Stunt chairmen wishing to arrange for previous rehearsals on the stage may do so by seeing J. T. Lumley, who will have charge of the stage for the event. Each group is to furnish its own properties and to remove them after the show.

Tickets, which will be 30 cents for adults and 15 cents for children, will be on sale at Gordon's confectionery next week. They will also be sold by a Boy Scout committee consisting of one scout from each patrol. A prize will be given the scout selling the largest number of tickets.

Proceeds of the show will be used to buy new books for the library this being practically the library's only source of funds for the purchase of books.

RELIEF COMMITTEE MEETS.

Joel R. Benton of Heppner was appointed official Morrow county relief officer at a meeting of the county relief committee held Oct. 5 at the court house in Heppner.

Iven White of the state committee was here to meet with the local group and explain the plans and working of the state committee. The Morrow County Relief committee will cooperate with the county court, the county chapter of the American Red Cross, and other relief agencies in handling cases in the county. Mrs. Walter Crosby of Willow creek is a patient in the Heppner hospital recovering from the effects of a fall she sustained last Friday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Sam McCullough, in Heppner. Mrs. Crosby was walking about outside the house when she slipped off a narrow walk. While repeated x-rays have revealed no broken bones, the injury to her hip was painful and is further complicated by arthritis.

Freak Hunter's Trophy on Display at Local Store

Attracting much interest in Gilliam & Bisbee's window is a pair of deer horns which were brought into town by Milt Spurlock after he and Mrs. Spurlock found them in the woods during the course of a week-end hunting trip. The horns, with the skeleton attached, were suspended from the forked trunk of a willow tree in the Tupper Butte district near Bull Prairie. The buck, a four-pointer, had apparently been rubbing his horns in the willow when they became lodged in the crotch between two sections of the trunk in such a position as to make his extrication almost impossible.

Evidence showed that the buck had put up a mighty game struggle which ended only when his neck broke. One point of his horns had been broken off in the struggle. Coyotes had picked the carcass nearly clean. Mr. Spurlock thinks the animal must have met his mishap within the last couple of months.

Local hunters have evidenced much interest in the specimen, saying they have only heard about such happenings before now, but seeing is believing.

Editor Making Recovery After Serious Operation

Vawter Crawford, editor of the Gazette Times, is apparently making a satisfactory recovery from his major operation performed yesterday morning at the Emanuel hospital in Portland. Word received from members of the family in Portland after the operation indicated that Mr. Crawford had stood the ordeal successfully and that attending surgeons were of the opinion that the malignant growth causing Mr. Crawford's trouble had been entirely removed. Blood transfusions made before the operation were successful, and more will be resorted to. While the operation was of so serious a nature that the patient is by no means completely out of danger, members of the family are greatly encouraged by the good news. With Mr. Crawford in Portland this week are Mrs. Crawford, two of their daughters, Mrs. Leroy Jones of Montesano, Wash., Mrs. Leonard Schwarz of Prineville, and their son, Jasper Crawford of Heppner.

IONE WOMAN IS POET.

Mrs. Raymond H. Turner of Ione has been honored by having a poem of hers, "A Tryst With God," included in a new book of Oregon verse which has just been issued by the University Press of Portland. The book, which is called "Sunset Trails—An Anthology of Recent Oregon Verse," is an attractive volume containing one poem from each of the outstanding Oregon verse writers.

Mrs. Turner, who writes under the name of Grace M. Turner, has had several of her poems published in the Pendleton East Oregonian within the last few weeks. The selection which the compilers of "Sunset Trails" included in their anthology follows:

A Tryst With God.
Last night I kept a tryst with God
Beneath the deep blue sky;
The stars that brightly twinkled
Were like candles there on high.
The scent of earth and woodland
As incense slowly rose,
And the breeze that softly murmured
Sang a hymn at Vespers close.

Oh, I know that God was with me,
Although I did not see Him there,
For my troubled heart found solace
In that scented, star-lit prayer.

The Lexington Parent-Teachers association will hold a meeting on October 25, beginning at 7:30 o'clock in the high school auditorium. The association president is sending out the following letter for the benefit of those who are not familiar with the P. T. A.: "All parents are considered members of the association whether they pay dues or not, and are very welcome at all meetings. But we believe that every family is enough benefitted by the work of the association to justify the request for dues. We wish you would all feel that this is your association; that you would come to the meetings and give one another the benefit of your criticism, advice and inspiration. Why join the P. T. A.: 1. Because it brings parents and teachers together for an exchange of ideas; making better parents, better teachers and happier children. 2. Because no group can so influence public opinion and public school officials as an interested, enthusiastic group of parents and teachers. 3. Because it is an educational movement of real significance. What becomes of your P. T. A. dues? Twenty cents is sent to the state council for P. T. A. magazine and state dues. All other funds are used in our school for helping finance the hot lunch." At this next meeting the Boy Scouts and 4-H club girls will entertain you. You are urged to come.

Scouts' Book Drive Nets Large Number Volumes

The drive for library books conducted last week end by the Boy Scouts under the leadership of the scoutmaster, Phillip Foord, netted the library nearly 400 volumes. The members of the library board were particularly pleased with the high quality of the books donated, many of them being volumes which the library has wanted for some time. The Flying Eagle patrol, under the captaincy of La Verne Van Marter, came out with honors in the drive, bringing in close to 200 books. The Lions and Flaming Arrow patrols, led by Jackson Gilliam and Don Turner respectively, were practically in a tie for second place with about 130 books each.

BIRD SEASON OPENS.

Chinese pheasants, Hungarian partridges and quail will have to start scurrying to cover next Sunday, Oct. 15, when the annual open season on these sporty game birds begins in 17 Oregon counties, including Morrow. The season will close Oct. 31.

The Chinese pheasants are easily the most sought-after birds of the lot, but many persons express a preference for the Hungarians, even though they are smaller. Not a great many quail are killed in this county, most hunters being after the larger birds.

Bag limits on the various types of birds are: China pheasants, 4 birds in any one day or eight in any seven consecutive days, provided that it is unlawful to take more than one female Chinese pheasant in any seven consecutive days; Hungarians, four birds in any one day and not to exceed eight in any seven consecutive days; quail, ten birds in any seven consecutive days; grouse and native pheasants, four birds in any one day or eight in any seven consecutive days.

The passing of another old-timer was chronicled during the past week with the death at four o'clock Sunday morning at his home in Heppner of David Eugene Gilman, who had been a resident of Morrow county for nearly 40 years. Although Mr. Gilman had been in poor health for many months and his death was not unexpected, it was nevertheless a distinct shock to his numerous friends in the county. He would have been 83 years old next month.
