

Local Happenings

Mrs. Lester Doolittle is home from Portland, having spent ten days or more in the city with Mr. Doolittle, who is now under the care of a physician there. She reports her husband is making some improvement and he will continue his treatment at Emanuel hospital, where he is now located. While Mr. Doolittle is in a very serious condition, it is thought he will ultimately be restored to normal health. He expects to be able to make a trip home this week end or the first of the coming week.

Thursday evening at their home in the Jones apartments, Mr. and Mrs. George Mabee had as their guests to an auction bridge party, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Bloom, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Turner, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Cash and Mrs. Lucy Rodgers. Three tables were in play and honors went to Mrs. Wilson and Mr. Smith. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

Chas. Kilinger, Lexington turkey raiser, marketed 270 choice turkeys at Portland the past week, getting the top of the market for them. His crop of birds is not so large as last season, and the price this year has not been so good, yet he is pretty well satisfied with the results and thinks he is doing rather well. He will market some ten tons of birds this year. Mr. Kilinger was looking after business here Monday afternoon.

Louis Balsiger made Heppner a visit Tuesday and informed this paper that he is leaving Ione right away for Galvin, Wash., where he will engage in the general mercantile business, having purchased a store there. Mr. Balsiger and family have resided in Ione for the past 13 years, and he has been engaged in warehousing and grain buying. Galvin is situated on the Pacific highway and is close to Centralia.

Sam E. Willis, who for many years was a resident of Morrow county and who for the past number of years has been engaged in the shoe repair business at Baker, was buried in that city on Thursday of last week, following his sudden death at his shop from a stroke of paralysis. Many of the older residents of this community will remember Mr. Willis as he was a pioneer settler here.

Floyd Worden, who farms out in the Eight Mile section, was a visitor in Heppner on Friday with his family. He reports ideal conditions out his way for the on-coming crops; lots of moisture and the grain making fine headway. With the additional heavy rains of the first of the week, there is assurance that no check will be made in the progress of crop and range conditions in Morrow county.

Jacob H. Frad came up the end of the week from his Portland home and reports that much rain is still the order there. He is glad always to get back to Morrow county and absorb a little of the sunshine, though he realizes that we could use a lot of the rain here that Portland does not need but does not know just how it can be forced over the Cascades for our use just at the opportune time.

E. J. Merrill was down from the ranch near Hardman on Saturday. Beautiful growing weather has prevailed for weeks in the south end of the county and grain and grass is just jumping. Range is the best for years, and Mr. Merrill thinks the outlook right now for the coming season's crops justifies an optimistic spirit. There should be an abundant yield next summer.

Anson Wright was looking after business here Saturday from his ranch near Hardman. There is an abundance of good grass on the hills this fall and stock will go into the winter in good condition. Mr. Wright states it has been many long years since range conditions in the south end of the county were as good as they are now.

Theo. Anderson states that Eight Mile farmers were visited by heavy rains Sunday night and Monday, and the fields out that way are thoroughly wet, so much so that there should be no danger of grain suffering from a freezeout this coming winter. Mr. Anderson was looking after business while in the city Tuesday afternoon.

A. A. McCabe was here Monday forenoon from the farm on lower Rhea creek. The rain was not so heavy over his part of the county as it was about Heppner and toward the foothills. Much moisture has fallen in that vicinity this fall and Mr. McCabe says everything is okeh for the growing crops.

Range conditions at the Sand Hollow ranch of Hynd Bros. are better than for years, states David Hynd, who was in the city Monday. Mr. Hynd was also a visitor at Portland during the past week, and he thinks that business conditions are improving in the metropolis.

Jim Helms of Lexington was here for a short while Saturday afternoon. He says it keeps him busy chasing the elusive dollar around these days, and his hand is out for some of this promised "inflation" that seems to be yet "just around the corner."

Mrs. J. B. Cooley and Mrs. W. E. Brock visited in Heppner on Friday, the former at the home of her sister, Mrs. Vawter Crawford, and the latter with her sister, Mrs. Josie Jones. The ladies returned to their Pendleton home in the early afternoon.

Bert Johnson, one of Ione's school directors, was in the city the end of the week making an investigation in regard to obtaining CWA money for school repair work in his city.

Fred McMurray was in town on Tuesday from his farm home at the mouth of Butter creek taking orders for "spuds." Fred says he harvested some 5000 sacks of potatoes this year. He formerly went in for potato raising in a large way at Jordan siding.

Vawter Parker returned from a short visit to Portland on Sunday morning. He was in the city to attend a meeting of the state relief committee, representing the Morrow county set-up.

Negro minstrel and dance, Rhea Creek Grange hall, Sat., Dec. 2; music by Bud's jazz band. Adults 25c, children 10c. One admission for minstrel and dance. Program begins at 8.—Adv.

Bud Benton returned to Heppner the end of the week from Portland where he had been for the past several months. He is doing relief duty for Jack Bryant on the local paper route.

Jack Bryant underwent an operation for appendicitis at a local hospital the end of the week. He is reported to be making good progress toward recovery.

Monte Bundy, in the city Tuesday from the farm in the Alpine district, announced a variety of weather prevailing there with grain getting a good start.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Barratt spent the week end in Portland where Mr. Barratt was called on business. They returned home Sunday afternoon.

Tom Barnett, genial and optimistic resident of Lexington, was greeting numerous friends in Heppner Friday while here on business matters.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Palmateer and Mr. and Mrs. Al Troedson of Morgan were in the city on business for a short time Monday morning.

O. E. Peterson and Leonard Carlson were farmers of the Ione district transacting business in this city Tuesday.

Wanted—Horses to break to saddle at $5 per head and board. Write to Heppner or Hardman. Duff McKittrick. 27-30p

Mr. and Mrs. John Bergstrom were Eight Mile folks who were shopping in Heppner Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Harding and son Jack are spending Thanksgiving day with relatives at Yakima.

Lost—22 special pistol between Methodist church and depot. Reward. Leave at this office. 28p

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Cotter were Ione residents in this city for a short while on Friday.

Albert Nelson was shopping in town Tuesday from the north Lexington district.

Add-a-Stitch club apron sale, 40c, Sat., Dec. 2. Flamo Shop, beginning at 10:30 a. m.

Highest cash prices paid for livestock. L. J. Huston, The Dalles, Ore. 27-34p.

Horace Yokum, long time resident of upper Willow creek, was in the city Tuesday.

Studebaker light six sedan, looks and runs good, $95. John Vaughn.

Hood River apples for sale, Case Furniture Co., H. C. Case. 26-28p.

Floyd Adams was in from the Hardman section Tuesday.

Christmas Gift Idea Offered by Mrs. Sager

With the approach of another Christmas season, homemakers once more take up the search for attractive, useful and economical gifts, preferably something that can be made at home. Mrs. Azalea Sager, extension specialist in clothing and textiles at O. S. C., suggests an attractive scarf for each member of the family as one partial solution of the problem. A knitted scarf and heretofore match will please the little tot, the grade school or high school girl, while the older members of the family will often welcome a gay silk scarf. Mrs. Sager says. Scarfs, by the way, are being worn short, not more than a yard long, and tied up closely about the neck.

Two strips of plain silk material one-third yard wide and a yard long can be combined to make two good looking scarfs, Mrs. Sager says. To make them, take two strips of cloth of different but harmonious colors. Mark the center of each strip; that is, 18 inches from either side. Then mark the center of this. Connect this point to a point on the opposite side at the center 18 inch mark and at the outer edge. This makes a triangle 18 inches at base and 15 inches on either side. Each strip will cut three triangles and two small end triangles measuring 12 x 9 x 15. Intermingle the colors and sew the triangles together again so that a flat strip remains; the two small end triangles and central triangle of one color, the intermediate triangles of the second color. Sew the two sides together. Then press it so that the side seam is in the center of the scarf instead of at one side. Sew up one end. Turn the scarf inside out and blind stitch the open end.

Sheep Dipping Vat Constructed McMinnville—A dipping vat for sheep has been constructed on the Duerst farm in Yamhill county, using directions given in the U. S. D. A. bulletin on sheep dipping. Mr. Duerst was assisted in the construction of the vat and the dipping of his flock to eliminate scabs and ticks by S. T. White, county agent.

BOARDMAN

By RACHEL J. EARLOW

Twenty tables were in play at the "bug" party last Friday evening, given by the high school girls' athletic association in the gymnasium. High scores were won by Elsie Wilson and Bill Lalonde and low by Esther Jones and Alfred Turner. The girls served a lunch of sandwiches and coffee after the game and then dancing was enjoyed during the remainder of the evening.

Charles Barnes of California is in Boardman this week visiting with friends.

Mrs. Neal Bleakney of Echo is at the Weston home taking care of her mother.

Lloyd Mallory of Biggs visited relatives here Friday.

Editorial
What is school attitude? Is it the conduct of the individual student, or is it the conduct of the whole group in a student body?

Student attitude is neither of these, but it is probably the strongest single factor in deciding how much a student will get out of school. Attitude itself is the student's idea of his work. If the student is interested in his work and his activities, if he takes each assignment of school work cheerfully, and if he can go to school without wishing he were some place else, and without violating too many departmental regulations, then he has a good attitude. From this it should be evident that attitude is the student's viewpoint on school. In some schools, as a result of careful work by the teachers, nearly the whole student body has a good attitude; and in others, the students don't have a good attitude.

This attitude cannot be built by the teachers alone; the student must realize the importance of good attitude himself and then let the faculty give him opportunities to do things that will help keep up a good attitude in him.

Attitude is usually aided by the use of activities such as clubs and teams and student organizations for self-government. When students enter wholeheartedly into these various activities, they become interested in their work in school because they are having a good time while going to school. The principle is much the same as feeding a small child candy to make him do something.

The attitude in Heppner high school has shown a great improvement in this last year as is evidenced by the higher grade standings and the very noticeable decrease in the number of demerits given out this year.

Therefore, if we enter actively into our school work and play without "raising too much Cain," we will find that everything will come much easier and that our teachers will think much more of our possibilities.

Fresh Program
Station P H O O E Y broadcasting from the Paramount studios in the high school assembly room last Friday brought to us the fresh program. Dean Goodman acted the part of "speller" very well. His sonorous voice enabled him to arise to such an occasion. Katherine Parker and Nonnie McLaughlin exhibited their talents as opera singers. Dora Bailey sang a solo and gave a reading. One of the outstanding numbers on the program was a pre-tended invention by Mr. Lumley, local scientist, which ushered mankind fifty years into the future. This placed certain prominent characters of the student body in embarrassing and humorous situations, some of which, it is hoped will not prove to be true.

Fresh Have New Pennant
Having won the class rush this year, the freshmen were entitled to select colors and procure a pennant to take the place of the tiny green one which hung in the assembly the first of the year. The class chose rose and grey for their colors and secured a pennant which was hung in the assembly hall Thursday.

Have you ever—
Seen Lorena Wilson's new jacket?
Seen Anson Rugg roll his eyes?
Seen Claire Phelan studying?
Seen Ed Dick when Ethyl Hughes was very far away?
Seen James Farley, Francis Rugg or Albert Huff chew gum?
Heard Bill Cochell and Floyd Jones hold conversation in the public speaking class?
Seen Paul Phelan's new girl?

Class News
The public speaking class was a scene of turmoil during the past week. Various heated discussions were held of argumentative nature by persons who, it seemed, were quite gifted along lines of debate. The fine weather last Thursday brought the gym boys out to play baseball.

Thursday night the Benzine Ring gave a party honoring Mr. Lumley, their club advisor. After the party, Steve Wehmeyer and Francis Nickerson were initiated into the club.

Mrs. Francis Case has been substituting in Mr. Lumley's position this week.

Plans are being made for an "H" club smoker to be held at the gymnasium during the Christmas vacation.

School will be closed Thursday and Friday of this week for Thanksgiving holidays.

Four more poems were turned in to the English V poetry class this week.

The shorthand class started this week to type business letters from shorthand notes.

Baseball Scores
High school indoor baseball league scores for last week are: A team 14, D team 4, E team 19, and B team 8. The schedule for this week is A vs. C, D vs. E, B team bye.

Heppner high school's basketball quintet will practice with the town team at 4 o'clock next Friday. This practice is in preparation for the game with the two Ione teams on Saturday.

Town Team Wins
Heppner's town basketball team defeated the high school team 40-25 in the school gym Friday evening. In the first quarter the high school team led with a score of 8-4, but in the second and third quarters Coach Mabee put in his second, third and fourth strings, and the town team walked over them with a score of 40-10. Mr. Mabee put his first string back in the last quarter and they held the town regulars and ran the score up to 25. The starting lineup:

High school: Guards, Gentry and Driscoll; center, Schwarz; forwards, H. Furlong and Green. Town team: Guards, Massey and J. Furlong; center, Beckett; forwards, Hottman and Farley.

Grade School News
The eighth grade was very well pleased when they received a letter from their classmates, Ruth Green, Ruth is getting along fine and would like to be back in school.

The sixth grade has written to New York for some information on workbooks.

The seventh grade is through with the six weeks' examinations and is ready for report cards which are to be given out Wednesday.

The second and third grades have devoted much of their time this week to the study of the history of Thanksgiving.

Junior Class Play
Lorena Wilson and Edwin Dick head a cast of ten in "The Yellow Shadow" by Clark Willard, a mystery play which is to be presented by the Junior class of the high school at the gym Friday, December 15. The cast is as follows:

Neil Travis, housekeeper at Viewcrest, Lorena Wilson; Gilbert Wright, attorney for the late Maxwell Marvin, Edwin Dick; Mildred Marvin, heiress to Marvin Estate, Ilene Kilkenny; Alice Perkins, Mildred's chum, Jessie French; Hazel Wayne, Mildred's cousin, Jennie Swendig; Joe Travis, Howard Furlong; Herbert Marvin, Joe Green; Sheriff Macklin, Clifford Yarnell; Jeong Song, Bill Schwarz.

What is the "Yellow Shadow?" Amid thrills and laughter a shrewd detective solves this weird mystery and brings peace to the heiress of Viewcrest and her friends. The story takes place at the isolated Viewcrest Lodge on Puget Sound.

The Lines Laid in Washington Hillsboro—Nearly two and one-half miles of tile drainage lines, draining approximately 126 acres, were laid out on four Washington county farms recently by County Agent W. F. Cyrus and A. L. King, extension specialist in soils from Oregon State college. The size of the tile ranged from eight to four inches, depending, Mr. Cyrus says, on the area of land to be drained and the amount of fall or grade. It is particularly important, he says, to lay the tile at the right depth to get the full benefit from it.
