

Local Happenings

Pastor Joel R. Benton and Mrs. Benton were called to Billings, Montana, on Wednesday evening in answer to a telegram received announcing the very serious illness of his sister, Miss Ruth Benton. From the nature of the telegram Mr. Benton was led to believe that his sister could not live long, so he and his wife hastened to her bedside, leaving by auto for Spokane, where they expected to take the train for Billings. Miss Benton visited with the family of her brother here the summer of 1932, and many Heppner people became acquainted with her. Miss Benton was a returned missionary from China, where she spent a number of years and more recently she has been head dietitian in a hospital at Billings.

Many of the older residents here, and a goodly number of our woolmen, will remember W. W. Stabler who made regular visits to Heppner for many years in the capacity of woolbuyer. From the Journal at Prineville we learn that he is still on the turf and following the old game. He will buy wool again this season, his field of operations being Crook and Wallowa counties. He will also deal in rams and ewes for breeding purposes. His son, W. W. Stabler, Jr., is a resident of Crook county, living in the Powell Butte district.

Leo Cooney and Roy Ball were Boardman residents in this city on Friday, having business matters to look after there. These gentlemen report rather wintery conditions for the north end of the county. Some eight inches of snow, which had all disappeared when they made their visit here. The soil received full benefit from the moisture.

Six Months Under AAA
In Oregon Summarized

Start of the new year finds Oregon's agricultural industry well along in adapting itself to the almost revolutionary changes brought about by the application of the national agricultural adjustment act. What has transpired to date may be just a beginning, but when summarized according to major commodities the record begins to look formidable already. Here it is in the most brief outline:

WHEAT—Oregon growers signed up to remove 126,800 acres from production and in return qualified for $2,777,000 in domestic allotment benefit payments for the first year. All organization work is completed and some counties have received the checks for the first payments to growers. The northwest as a whole reports 14 per cent reduction in winter wheat acreage planted. Emergency export association moved 10 million bushels of northwest surplus.

HORTICULTURE—Northwest Tree Fruit Industries, Inc., formed as trade group of all northwest tree fruit shippers under trade agreements and code of operation designed to bring orderly marketing practices more profitable for the producers. Walnut industry organized under similar agreements in conjunction with California area.

CORN-HOGS—Emergency purchase of pigs and brood sows carried on to limited extent in this state. Corn-hog production control plan launched with possible maximum benefit payments on hogs totaling $720,000 and $123,000 for corn. Full sign-up not expected, however, because of nature of industry here.

DAIRYING—Emergency butter surplus purchasing carried on by AAA in this region. Trade agreement among dairy products manufacturers drawn but not yet approved nationally. Milk marketing agreements provided for but none applied for in this state. Production control to be launched soon but details of plan not yet available.

LIVESTOCK—Beef may be included under dairy adjustment program.

FARM CREDIT—Reorganization of federal farm credit structure under farm act brought many applications for mortgage refinancing from Oregon farmers. State Agricultural Advisory council for aiding in farm debt adjustment set up under federal program. Four federal agencies set up at Spokane to handle all forms of government supervised farm credit in this district.
