This cooking school will be held on January 25 and 26 in the Auxiliary room at Legion hall. (More complete information regarding hours, etc., will be given next week if possible.) The subject of the afternoon's program was "Ireland." Mrs. Henry Gorgor gave a brief talk on Ireland and the characteristics of the Irish people, their mode of living, etc., in relation to the subject matter of the book, "Twenty Years A-Growing," by Maurice O'Sullivan, which was later reviewed by Mrs. Elmer Griffith. Mrs. Gorgor also gave a few facts of the author's life and touched briefly on the lives and works of other Irish poets and authors. Mrs. Griffith's review of the book by O'Sullivan was very good, giving her audience a glimpse of the delightful style in which it was written. Comments and questions on the program followed after which delicious refreshments were served by the hostess. Programs for the six months, January to June, inclusive, were distributed to the twelve members present. The next meeting will be on the evening of January 29 at the home of Mrs. Roy Feisty with Mrs. Feeley and Mrs. Clyde Denny as hostesses.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mankin with their son and daughter and Miss Alice Patterson returned the first of the year from a trip of several weeks which took them to West Virginia and back. On the way east they stopped over at Salt Lake City where they visited the Mormon temple and tabernacle. From there they went to Fort Bridger, Wyo., where they saw one of the two remaining pony express stables in the U. S. This stable has not been rebuilt nor modernized in any way, but is just as it was in the days of the pony express. The party stopped in several Michigan cities to make short visits with relatives of Mrs. Mankin. At Dearborn a tour was made of Greenfield Village, the old-time village rebuilt by Henry Ford, also the museum built by Ford in which many interesting things are to be seen. From Michigan they continued their trip to West Virginia via Ohio. Two weeks were spent in this state visiting at the old home of Mr. Mankin. During this time the Mankin party accompanied by three nieces of Mr. Mankin took a four day sightseeing trip to Washington. There they visited the White House, the Bureau of Engraving, the Congressional Library, the Smithsonian Institution. From Washington they visited Arlington cemetery and Mount Vernon. On the return to West Virginia they saw the natural bridge over which a highway passes, is the place out of which most of the salt peter used to make ammunition for the Revolutionary war was taken. The original survey of this country was made by Washington and recently during some excavation work the survey marks undoubtedly put upon them by Washington. The return trip of the Mankins was by way of Kentucky, Kansas City, Denver, through the Red Desert and southern Idaho and so to Ione. Delightful weather was encountered throughout the entire trip, the only disagreeable part being a sand storm they had to go through in the Red Desert. Corvallis—Dr. W. A. Schoenfeld, dean of agriculture at Oregon State college, has accepted appointment to the board of directors of the regional office of the Farm Credit administration in Spokane. Dean Schoenfeld takes the place of Dr. E. M. Ehrhart who was recently made president of the federal land bank and thus ineligible to serve also as a director.

The regional board of directors, under the new administrative setup, has supervision of all four of the divisions of the farm credit administration for this district. These are the federal land bank, the intermediate credit bank, the bank for co-operatives and the production credit corporation. The work as a board member will not interfere with Dean Schoenfeld's present duties at the college.

Skeleton Uncovered.

The Morrow county road crew working near the forks of Willow creek, uncovered a skeleton one day the past week. This is the second set of human bones this crew has dug up during the past few weeks, but the first was reported to be somewhat broken up by the steam shovel. It is possible that the road workers got next to the burial place of some of the aborigines, as the skeletons are no doubt those of Indians.

C. W. Smith, county agent, is in Corvallis this week attending a conference of all extension service workers at O. S. C.

Others Have Won—You Too. "There hath no temptation taken you but such as is common to man." I Cor. 10-13.

And this is not only true of temptation, but also of every hardship, every loss, every trial of life.

We none of us ever have any sort of trials, or losses, or struggles, or hardships, but such as are common to man; such as our friends and neighbors have battled thru. Whatever difficulties we face, have been faced by others.

Some of the Corinthians to whom Paul was writing thought their troubles and trials and losses were extraordinary, and also their temptations; and they felt, therefore, that in view of this they would be in a way excusable if they yielded to temptation.

But "No," writes Paul: "Your temptations are not unusual; they are such as are common to man; they are the same sort of temptations that others have faced, and have faced victoriously, and there is no excuse for you to yield; what others have overcome, you, by the grace of the Lord Jesus Christ, can also overcome.

AND THE SAME REASONING HOLDS ALL ALONG THE LINE! It may be a hard path we travel. It may sometimes seem we shall not be able to travel this hard way any longer. But this same hard way has been trodden by other feet; the battles we now fear we shall lose, have been fought and WON by others, and we too, if we walk with Christ, shall fight and WIN!

If you have not a Church home we invite you to come and worship with us. We have a growing, interesting Bible school, with a class for YOU! You will enjoy and be helped by our services of worship. Come and test the welcome of this friendly Church. For the coming Lord's Day the sermon topics are: For the morning, "Friendship." For the evening service, "Abhor Evil."

LEXINGTON

By BEULAH R. NICHOLS.

All the subordinate granges in Morrow county were well represented at the meeting of Morrow County Pomona which was held in Lexington Saturday. The morning session was devoted to committee reports and other business. At noon everyone enjoyed the bountiful dinner which was served by the ladies of Lexington grange.

The program in the afternoon was open to the public and was thoroughly enjoyed. After the singing of a number of songs by the audience, Miss Marjorie Parker of Rhea Creek grange played a piano solo. J. D. Mickle, state dairy and food commissioner, addressed the assembly on "The Dairy Industry in Oregon." Mr. Mickle states that until two years ago there was no butter surplus in the United States, but that at the present time there are 180,000,000 pounds of surplus butter in this country and that the government is now striving to find some method of reducing the production of dairy products. Mr. Mickle says that the sale of oleomargarine is the sole cause of this surplus of butter, stating that during the past year 222,150,484 pounds of oleo was sold. He described the process of handling and shipping the product that is used in the manufacture of oleo and the picture was very unappetizing to say the least.

This address was followed by a vocal solo by Laurel Beach of Lexington and a reading by Mrs. McFarlane of Irrigon grange. Mrs. Rand of Greenfield grange favored the audience with a vocal solo and Mrs. Peter Timm and Mrs. Viola Engelman of Willows grange were heard in a pleasing duet.

After the program another business session was held at which time a number of resolutions were adopted by the grange. Those assembled then journeyed again to the dining room to partake of the supper which the ladies had prepared.

During the evening the newly elected officers of the Pomona grange were installed by Mrs. Mary Lundell of Willows. Following the installation the fifth degree was exemplified to a class of twelve. A social hour finished off the evening in a pleasant way for everyone.

Lexington School Notes

Last Wednesday the high school boys lost to Hermiston 18-16. The game was very close and hard fought throughout but very well played, only three fouls being called during the entire game. Edward Hunt was high scorer with 12 points. This week Lexington will play at Ione Friday and will have their first home game Saturday night at 7:30 with Hermiston.

Semester exams will come Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week. Exemptions will be announced on Tuesday, Jan. 16.

This Friday Doris Burchell, our yell leader, will hold a pep rally in preparation for the game with Ione. Ally, the biology class's pet alligator, survived his two weeks' vacation quite nicely although the interval of cold proved too much for his two companions, a pair of frogs.

The pet chameleon apparently enjoyed his vacation also as he had blossomed out in a new suit of green when his cage was opened.

Greeting Brings Word From Former "Gazet" -eer

Of the several New Year's greetings to reach the desk of the editor, none was more appreciated than that of J. W. Redington, pioneer "Gazet" editor who is still kicking up his heels at the soldier's home, Sawtelle, Calif., a berth he earned through loyal and distinguished service for Uncle Sam in Indian wars that featured the settling of the West. Addressed to the editor with the notation "Gazet Office—Hilarity Dept." the card was dated "Same Place, but a Little Later On," and bore the salutation "From I to U." His short note read:

"Dear Vawter: Encl. pl. fl. the six bits that either U or Nels Magnusson loaned me 40 years ago, & please slow payment on acct of unforeseen delays in the suppression of the depression, xpression, compression and oppression. Very T. Y. J. W. Redington (with the R-ed in same kind of ink)."
