THE BANK OPENING.

INDICATIVE of the return of better times for Morrow county was the government program to provide the opening Monday of the Heppner branch of the First National Bank of Portland. This thought was pre-dominant in the minds of folks from over the county who joined with the people of Heppner in cel-ebrating the event. And the first the remaining unemployed as well day's business of the bank is substantiating evidence that the faith by the government back to their is not unfounded.

The opening was marked with flowers, real and figurative, express-ing good will toward the bank. Bank officials showed appreciation and pronounced their faith in the the public debt and at the same future of this territory, which was more profoundly expressed in the establishment of the bank itself.

In reality the establishment of the branch office here is no mere display of neighborliness or unwonted affection for a particular group of people. It is the result of thorough investigation of the business possibilities of the trade territory by hard-headed business men experienced in the banking business. That such an investigation by such men has resulted in opening of the branch office here speaks more eloquently of the economic stability of the section than any words of a Webster might convey. But while the bank comes as a purely business venture, its being so touches the human side of life in Morrow county that the celebration was not unwonted and the bank's value in the future should not be measured alone in cold dol-

A system of banking is essential to a well rounded economic structure for any region. Through the the record made by members of the recent times of depression our peo- rifle team in a series of five tests. ple, as well as people throughout Musicians, draftsmen and athletes, the nation, have learned just how as well as a number of men selectvitally necessary banking facilities ed at random, made up the group, are to the free flow of trade, and in turn to providing the very sustenance of life to the mass of the

Because of the vital part played by banks in the economic structure shown by team members. Intenof the country, the national government has taken extreme measures to put them on a solid, substantial footing-as President Roosevelt has put it, the government has gone into partnership with the banks. This security, added to that reflected by the enviable record of the strong Portland institution, brings to the Morrow county branch solidarity that brooks naught but confidence from the people.

It is the expressed policy of the munity and to aid in its progress in every way consistent with good banking practice. That is as it should be, and is all that the community should expect. No business should be expected to do more; all businesses should do as much.

The bank's opening has marked the beginning of a new era in Morrow county, an era the construct-iveness, and length of constructiveness of which, will yet depend largely on the initiative and constructive effort of the individual.

PATERNALISM?

PROBABLY at no time in history has any people been made more aware of attempts of its governing head to benefit the masses than has the people of the United States since inauguration of the present admin-istration. Nearly all the letters of the alphabet have been employed to The testing of the dairy cattle is designate the various government agencies that have been established to bring succor to the various classes. It is proposed to increase the public debt to the largest point in history, avowedly as an investment to enlarge the activities of the people generally so that all may have constructive employment and enjoy the privileges of life that are rightfully theirs. In adoption of the tremendously leadership by the people of the naion. In spite of maladjustments in places, the program by and large is working, and most indications point o successful accomplishment.

The sentiment of the people of Morrow county generally appears to be wholly sympathetic and approving of the administration program, but there are those who misinterpret its intentions. Some people are impatient because recovery omes slowly, and feel that they have not been given just consider-ation. There are those who feel that one's neighbor has been treat-ed better than oneself, and that because the government has given work to one it should give work to all who are similarly situated.

On the other hand there are those who question that the governmen has not gone too far in providing as much work as it has because of the danger of breaking down individual self reliance. It is the announced intention of sufficient government employment for enough of the unemployed of the nation that the additional buying poyer thereby created will stim as put those temporarily employed accustomed jobs, and thus through reconstruction of the economic structure of the country increase the output of the people generally in an amount sufficient to pay off provide more enjoyable living con ditions for everyone.

The theory is not one of paternal-And no one should expect paternalism as a result. Paternalism destroys the initiative of the individual on which the success democratic government relies.

Both groups will hen be given the same training in markmanship. If the selected group shows a marked superiority In actual rifle fire, it is believed that a standard test can be devised that will eliminate the costly practice methods now used to select men for training. Savings in ammunition by armies, military schools and oth-er organizations would be tremendous, it was pointed out. Dr. Seashore is well known in psychological research fields for his previous work. Motor coordination testing apparatus he has devised is now used in psychological laboratories all over the United States.

Old cows, mals such as abortion reactors, difficult breeders, and animals with udder disorders may well be dis-posed of. Similarly, young heifers may be culled and only the choicest ones retained. It would be much tary basis, depending upon fairness more desirable to cull out onefourth or even one-half of the herd and to feed those remaining somewhat better, than to attempt to maintain all the herd if the feed supply is limited The most economical ration to feed depends directly on the feed stuffs available on the particular farm, say the dairy specialists. A good quality of legume hay meets the requirement of growing heifers fairly well. If only grass or a cereal hay, such as out hay, is available, then it would be economical to supplement the ration of a growing yearling heifer with three quar-ters to one pound daily of a high protein concentrate such as peanut meal. It would cost about $2 to tained as a future dairy herd replacement. The question has been frequently asked recently whether dairy cat-tle can be maintained on straw. A good quality of straw will supply much of the energy requirements of cattle if they can be induced to consume enough of it, but it is so low in protein that a 600 pound heifer would have to consume approximately 100 pounds of straw daily to meet her protein requirements. The problem of straw feeding resolves itself, then, into the two con-siderations of getting cattle to consume it and supplying additional protein.

Molasses has long been used as an appetizer by diluting with water and pouring over unpalatable roughage to induce cattle to eat it By pouring two to three pounds per animal daily of diluted molasses over straw, corn stover or a poor quality of hay, cattle may be induced to eat a sufficient amount to meet most of their nutritive requirements, except for digestible protein and minerals.

A more complete consideration of this subject is given in a new mimeograph circular prepared at the college dealing with emergency
