Farrens of this city, to Gerald Simpson of Salem. The wedding is planned for this month. On last Thursday afternoon Mrs. Elmo McMillan and Mrs. Homer Lyons (Arieta Farrens) were hostesses at the McMillan home in Salem for an informal tea in honor of Miss Genevieve Farrans. Miss Farrens and the hostesses greeted the guests. The attractive serving table was covered with an Italian lace cloth and was centered with a large bowl of acacia, daffodils and Japanese quince flanked by tall yellow tapers. Baskets of mixed garden flowers were placed about the drawing room. Mrs. Harvey W. Parker poured and assisted in the serving were Mrs. Malcolm G. Smith, Mrs. William H. Rush and Mrs. Clark Jackson.

The high school basketball team played two games during the week end. On Friday evening they met the Boardman high school here in the school gym and were defeated by a score of 23-18. The Davidson boys again played the freshmen in a preliminary game and won. A game between the high school and town girls teams resulted in a high school victory of 11-7. On Saturday the lone high school boys team journeyed to Hermiston where they were defeated by a score of 13-4.

Mrs. George Tucker and Mrs. Harlan McCurdy were hostesses on Monday at the home of Mrs. Tucker for a dessert bridge in honor of Mrs. Kenneth Blake whose birthday it was. Guests were Mrs. Victor Rietmann, Mrs. W. A. Wilcox, Mrs. Clyde Denny, Mrs. Louis Bergvein, Mrs. Ruth Rietmann, Miss Norma Swanson, Mrs. C. W. Swanson, Mrs. Cleo Drake, Mrs. Ernest Lundell, Mrs. Earl Blake, Mrs. Werner Rietmann, Mrs. C. F. Feldman and Mrs. Frank Lundell. Orange sherbert and Valentine cookies were served. High score was won by Miss Norma Swanson, second high by Mrs. Victor Rietmann and low by Mrs. W. A. Wilcox.

B. F. Peetz, representative of a life insurance company and a brother-in-law of Robert Montgomery, Sr., is registered at the Park hotel. The high school student body had a Valentine party in the school gym Tuesday evening. Games were played and refreshments of fruit salad, cake and chocolate served.

Each room in the grade school held a Valentine party Wednesday afternoon with valentine boxes, refreshments, games and everything. Mr. and Mrs. George Tucker were hosts to a small group of friends at their home Thursday evening. Three tables of bridge were at play. High scores were won by Mrs. Kenneth Blake and E. G. Sperry.

J. H. Blake of Philomath is visiting at the home of his son, E. J. Blake. Lowell Clark writes his mother, Mrs. Henry Clark, of an interesting trip which he and Maurice Mundorf of the CCC camp at Gunter, Ore. took recently. In a boat which they had built of scraps of lumber left over from the construction of their camp they set out for sea down the Smith river. On the hundred-mile journey they only met three or four people, traveling through a rough country most of the trip. At one point their boat struck a rock and was overturned but they managed to save their supplies which were wet but still usable. At another point they were forced to carry their supplies around a waterfall and to let their boat down over the falls with a rope. At the end of their journey—tidewater—they traded their boat for a ride back to their camp. They report a grand good time and enjoyed the outing immensely in spite of dampness which made it hard to get their meals at times. They were given an interesting write-up in the camp newspaper.

community and live on the old home place. Miss Glea Sias spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Sias. Miss Sias is teaching at Shaniko this year.

H. N. Eurbel of Sheridan and C. O. Eurbel of Corvallis visited at the Burchell ranch last week. The Lexington town team took two out of three games last week, losing to Kinzua 57-44 on Wednesday and winning from Echo and Helix on Friday and Saturday. The fastest and hardest game was played at Helix Saturday night with the final score 52-44 for Lexington.

Miss Dona Barnett is ill at her home here this week. Guy Shaw is now employed at the Henderson Brothers garage. On Friday night, Feb. 16, the Lexington town team will play Jack Allens Hoopsters from Pendleton. This should be a very fast and close game as the Pendleton team is composed of ex-high school and college stars.

Mrs. J. G. Johnson and Mrs. Mae Burchell entertained the Three Link club at the Johnson home Tuesday evening. Election of officers was held. Mrs. Ola Ward and Mrs. Eva Lane have returned from a visit to Portland.

Lawrence Beach and Elmer Hunt made a business trip to Pendleton Wednesday. The Science club meets each week on Wednesday from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m. It has been decided to charge a membership fee of 25c.

School Notes The tennis court is now complete except for the backstop. A good many sets have been played on the court especially during the week end. It is surprising how many tennis racquets have come to light. A town team will very likely be formed and some good tennis matches can be worked up before school is out. The new tennis court tapes are quite effective in marking the court. The final reading of the amendment to the student body constitution was made in a special meeting last Friday. At a meeting this week the student body will vote on whether or not chenille letters will be awarded to the girls as well as the boys.

The only game last week was played with Echo Friday night in which Echo was the winner. The loss of this game gives six victories and six defeats for the Lexington team. Ione will play here Friday, Feb. 16 at 7:30, and on Saturday the team will go to Fossil to play. The student body play, "Laugh Clown," is beginning to show signs of a real performance as the rehearsals proceed this week. The cast is particularly well chosen and is portraying the characters in a professional manner. The date for the play will soon be announced.

The state library is preparing a great many free non-credit reading courses to meet the needs of students who are not in school, or adults who wish to further their education. A wide number of fields is provided and the person selecting the desired course receives a book each month on the subject of his selection. The only charges are for postage on the books and from the state library. Postage is at a reduced rate, also. To indicate the wide choice of subjects a few from the list are included: Accounting, aeronautics, agriculture, American literature of the Twentieth Century, animal husbandry, antique furniture, astronomy, etc. Anyone interested in this type of education is asked to get in touch with Supt. Williams.

Last Thursday the Science club met to elect officers. Claud Wilcox is president; George Gillis, vice-president; Edna Rauch, secretary-treasurer; LaVerne Wright, sergeant at arms. Claud Wilcox, Bernice Martin and Lester McMillan were appointed to draw up a charter which will be presented at the next meeting. The business meeting was preceded by a talk on gun powder by Mr. Gillis and some experiments by the club sponsor, Mr. Williams.

The commercial law class will have an opportunity to use their knowledge of law Friday afternoon. A mock trial will be held by the class with Vester Thornburg presiding as judge, Claud Wilcox as bailiff, Alfred Van Winkle, Faye Luttrell and Rose Thornburg as attorneys. The jury will be empaneled from the student body.

Oregon's Diamond Jubilee To be Held at Medford
Medford, Feb. 14.—Echoes of rumbling covered wagon wheels will again be heard when Oregon celebrates its seventy-five years of Jubilee during Oregon's Diamond Jubilee to be held in Medford from June 3-9, when events which made history will be reviewed in imposing pageantry. Admitted to the union on Valentine's Day, 1859, Oregon, derived from the word Ourag, has made remarkable strides since the region first became known dating back to the discovery of the Columbia river in 1792, followed by the explorations of Lewis and Clark in 1805.

White men knew little of the great country of the west for numerous years following the travels of Lewis and Clark, and it was not until 1835 when the first overland crossing was successfully completed by missionaries inspired to come west following the arrival of four Fathead Indians in St. Louis. The Indians wished to learn more of the wisdom of the men of pale faces and take back to their tribesmen the information they so eagerly sought. History states two of the aborigines died in St. Louis and another succumbed on the way back.

Missions paved the way for the influx of settlers, who also followed in the wake of trappers and traders, gradually building a new Empire against discouraging odds of hostile Indians and conditions which made self-preservation an arduous task. Unsung deeds of heroism are written on forgotten pages of unrecorded history as hardy pioneers surmounted great difficulties in moulding a state, which began to have crude forms of government during the days of the trappers, beginning in 1823, followed by provisional government in 1845, territorial government in 1849, and statehood in 1859.

Faithfully these stirring epochs of Oregon will be shown again to Jubilee visitors, encouraging a deeper appreciation for the efforts of early pioneers who became inured to hardships and found joy in visions they held for the future of a land of which they were the builders. All Oregonians are urged to celebrate in Medford and Jackson county, which itself, played an important part in Oregon's yesterday.

Miss Nye Represents State
Miss Claribel Nye, state leader in home economics, will represent Oregon, without expense to the state, at the dedication of a new home economics building at Cornell university, New York. The occasion is being made one of national significance in home economics through the presence of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Dr. Louise Stanley, chief of the federal bureau of home economics. Miss Nye expects to return in time for the home interests conference at O. S. C.

Dairy Control Plan Told; Some Farm Pork Tax Free

Removal of the minimum limit in the hog section of the corn-hog control plan, establishment of farmer exemptions under the hog processing tax, and outline of the tentative plan for dairy production control are late developments under the AAA, according to a review of the agricultural officials at Oregon State college.

The recent address by Secretary Wallace on "The Dairy Dilemma," contained the first authoritative explanation of the kind of production control contemplated for dairying by the AAA. Even it is still tentative, however, as to details, hence there is still time for it to be carefully considered by dairymen through the country looking toward possible changes or additions before the final contract foras are arrived at.

The plan proposed by Wallace calls for an individual voluntary farm allotment amounting to 85 per cent of the average annual production of each dairyman over the past three years. Thus, cooperating dairymen would agree to reduce production 15 per cent under the base period. For such reduction, to be made by dairymen, they would be compensated by adjustment payments to be financed from a processing tax on butterfat which would reach a maximum of five cents per pound, with a compensatory tax on oleomargarine. As substantial advance payment as possible would be made to each dairy farmer soon after his contract is accepted.

Secretary Wallace promises to keep the plan as flexible as possible so as to permit expansion of the industry as fast as consumer demand warrants. There are other angles of the plan about which more will be announced later. The change on the corn-hog plan allows any grower of hogs to join and receive benefit payments in return for reducing his production by at least 25 per cent. Previously an average of three litters a year was the bottom limit necessary before a man could sign a hog contract. This change is expected to increase the total Oregon sign-up very materially, as most hog producers in this state are relatively small producers.

The change in the hog processing tax allows each farmer an annual exemption of 300 pounds of pork products he sells or trades from slaughterings of hogs of his own raising. This applies only where his total sales of products in any marketing year do not exceed 1000 pounds.

Peavy Selection Brings O.S.C. $4800 Book Gift
Corvallis.—A special set of books valued at $4800 has been presented to the Oregon State college library by Mrs. Mary J. L. McDonald to commemorate the appointment of Dean George W. Peavy as acting president of the institution. The set is a 24-volume specially illustrated and bound copy of the Gettysburg edition of the complete writings of Abraham Lincoln.

Mrs. McDonald has been a liberal supporter of the school of forestry through gifts of timber tracts for use in experimental forest work, and has in addition contributed more than 1000 volumes of fine and rare books to a special collection now established under her name in the college library. The latest gift set was made up to order, is exquisitely bound, and contains many original documents related to the life of Abraham Lincoln purchased for inclusion in the set intact which are of untold interest to students of the period.

Two Changes in Grades Recommended for Wheat
Proposed revision of the federal grain grades, now before the country for discussion, might well include the creation of two new subclasses of white wheat, believes George R. Hyslop, head of the farm crops department at O. S. C., who is a recognized authority on this subject. He headed a federal committee that held hearings and formulated many of the present proposals for revision.

Pacific northwest farmers and buyers of northwest wheat would profit from a new extra-soft white sub-class which would permit southern millers especially to get the soft wheats for pastry and hot bread flour that they desire, says Hyslop. Another pure white club sub-class would take care of the large amount of pure club wheat now grown but which must go as merely western white. Farmers who desire these or other changes made are advised to write the secretary of agriculture and members of the Oregon congressional delegation.

O.S.C. Training Teachers For Emergency Schools
An emergency nursery school program has been decided upon for Oregon by the federal relief administration, and Oregon State college has been selected as the training center for teachers to be placed in charge of the emergency schools. Such training, in fact, is already under way on the campus at Corvallis under the direction of Mrs. Sara W. Prentiss, acting head of household administration.

The emergency nursery school project is the sixth educational program launched by the federal relief administration through use of CWA funds. It is sponsored by the U. S. office of education. Communities of the state that want such emergency school established secure the necessary allotment of CWA funds and make application for a school through the local school superintendent and the state department of education.

The training school at Oregon State college started February 10

ON OREGON FARMS

Walnut Grows Large Root
Dallas.—A six-year-old walnut tree can have a root more than 50 feet long. Polk county walnut and filbert growers are certain of this, because they have seen such a root dug up by Mr. Bates of the Salem district which was 48 feet long and had been broken off several feet from the end. This root was exhibited at two nut growers' meetings the past month, one attended by 36 growers and the other by 66. It effectively demonstrates the need for a large distance between walnuts as well as other trees, according to County Agent J. R. Beck.

Lake Farmers Grow Ladak Seed
Lakeview.—Four Lake county farmers have ordered 125 pounds of certified Ladak alfalfa seed, practically all of which will be seeded in rows for seed production, reports County Agent V. W. Johnson. Farmers who will plant this seed are George Perkins and Mark Partin, New Pine Creek; Roy Perry, Lakeview, and Frank Ott, Paisley. Ladak has become very popular as dry land forage, but seed supplies have been limited.

U. O. RESEARCH RECOGNIZED
Eugene.—Discovery of the source of many of Matthew Arnold's ideas, a finding that is expected to bring about a new evaluation of this great writer and critic of the nineteenth century, was announced at the University of Oregon by Joseph W. Angell, graduate assistant in the department of English.

Mr. Angell found that one of the sources drawn on extensively by Arnold is Ernest Renan, noted French writer-critic, and the findings are considered so authoritative that an article "Matthew Arnold's Indebtedness to Renan's 'Essai de Moral et de Critique'" has been accepted for publication in the international journal "Revue de Littérature Comparee" of Paris.

U. O. PROFESSOR HONORED.
Eugene.—Dr. Harold J. Noble, associate professor of history at the University of Oregon, has been elected a member of the American Council of the Institute of Pacific Relations. Dr. Noble is the second university faculty member chosen by this group, and will serve with Wayne L. Morse, dean of the school of law, who was chosen a few days ago. Dr. Noble, although one of the younger historians of the Pacific Coast, is already regarded as an authority on the Orient. Much of his life was spent there, and he attended several institutions of higher education in Chinese and other Oriental cities.
