Imagination

Dreaming and imagining things HAVE YOU EVERnot likely to happen are two of the most used of Nature's gifts. Imagination is the basis for practically all successful undertakings. First, we imagine a supposedly improb-able thing plausible. Then we ponder over it so much that it becomes a reality and we find ourselves doing it.

There isn't a one of us who doesn't dream of something better than that which we have. Dreams give all of us a longing, and the ambitious strive to make these dreams a reality.

When a student in high school dreams, the student is doing more than he realizes. He is planning through these dreams for his life after he finishes school. Whether or not he later lives the dream depends upon himself.

Just Announced to be Aired For Entire Northwest

The long awaited detailed program of production adjustment for the dairy industry has now been made public and will be submitted to the industry nationally through a series of regional conferences, one of which is scheduled for Portland. Monday and Tuesday, April 9 and 10, are the dates set for the regional conference in Portland to serve the states of Oregon, Washington and northern Idaho, according to notification sent the Oregon State College Extension service by the AAA officials at Washington. The conference is being called by the

The adjustment plan just announced will be subject to final al-terations as the result of suggestions made at these conferences according to word from Washingincludes the following provisions

1. Production adjustment aimed at keeping the national production to the approximate levels of recent late winter months. To do this individual dairymen will be offered the opportunity to sign contracts agreeing to reduce their sales of milk or its products from 10 to 20 per cent below the average for 1932 and 1933. In return they will be paid adjustment benefits amounting to about 40 cents per pound of but-terfat and $1.50 per hundred pounds of milk on the amount they reduce. The individual dairyman would be permitted to select any method of reduction he might choose, such as reducing feeding, eliminating some financed from a processing tax strating at one cent per pound of butterfat and increasing to five cents per pound as the supply is brought under control. In calling attention to the national situation that makes some form of production control necessary, the Washington officials point out that there are more cows being milked in the United States at present than ever before in the history of the country. The total is now about head of milk cows kept on about 40,000 farms. The national total is around 25,000,000 cows. Oregons production in 1932 was reported as 1,284,000,000 pounds of milk yielding 55,000,000 pounds of butterfat

Assuming that the reduction under the plan would be 15 per cent, Oregon farmers would thus be eli-gible for about $3,300,000 in benefit payments on the basis of 100 per cent participation in the plan, which, of course, is never attained.
