Roseburg-Grim and Canadian variegated alfalfa and stem-rot resistant sweet clover made the best showing in the legume nurseries on the Shambrook and Anderson farms according to J. Roland Parker, county agent, who held forage crops meetings at both places recently. Lespedeas, the much-advertised poor-land perennial legume, made practically no showing at all. Considerable surprise was voiced at the meetings at the exceptional growth made by stem-rot resistant sweet clover which had been drilled in rows with limestone on upland acid soils.

"And when she could no longer hide him, she took for him an ark of bulrushes—and put the child therein; and she laid it in the flags by the river's brink." Exodus 2:3. In these days of bacalaureate sermons and commencement addresses it might be well for some attention to be paid to what the Scriptures show us with respect to the opportunities afforded young life in all ages; and to the similarity of circumstances surrounding young life, at least in fundamentals. We are or should be familiar with the history of Moses. How an edict had gone out that Jewish sons born in Egyptian captivity should be killed; how the Mother of Moses hid him as long as she could, then made a small ark or boat of rushes and placed Moses therein and set the ark on the water where the daughter of the Egyptian king was accustomed to come and bathe. This young woman found Moses and he went from the bulrushes to the palace; and then he went much further than that. Moses became the deliverer of his people and the great lawgiver.

And we have only to briefly scan history to see how many of the world's great deliverers and leaders were claimed by the bulrushes in their infancy and childhood; and what an encouragement this should be to every young person today who may happen to be born and nurtured in the bulrushes of poverty and forbidding circumstance. Do not feel or say or think that you have no chance. Abraham Lincoln might well have said that, but not you young people of today; with our great free educational institutions, you do have a chance and a fine chance, if you will take it. Others with perhaps less chance than you, have done splendid things, so why not you? From the story of Moses take courage. Let no bulrushes of poverty or untoward circumstance ever deter you from going forward to success. If you have not a Church home, we invite you to come and worship with us. For the coming Lord's Day the sermon topics are: For the morning service, "Render," and for the evening service, "The Old Time Religion." Especially do not miss the evening service.

EVEN PITCHING DUEL UPSET BY BOBBLES (Continued from First Page) The runners to all they could make. Merrill at second, left his base to argue the point, and Wheelhouse stole that base, and scored a moment later on Fisk's hot grounder through short which Crawford failed to pick up clean in left field. That was all the scoring in that inning, and none of the markers were counted as earned. In the seventh, singles by Hostetler, McKinney and Saling gave Arlington two earned counters, and they worked in another unearned run in the eighth, their last trip up. In spite of loose playing at times, the large crowd of fans found plenty of interest to keep their tongues wagging throughout, and there were some extra good plays to offset the bad. Saling and Hostetler, River Rat left fielder and thirdsacker respectively, each jumped into the ditch to make pretty catches of fly balls; Hayes, local rightfielder, made a beautiful long peg to nab a runner at third base, and Al Massey and Wetherell, opposing catchers, each did some nice pegging to the bases to catch runners. Box score and summary:
