Mrs. Dessa Hofstetter and daughter Ottilia who have been visiting at the farm home of Mrs. Hofstetter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Devin, left Wednesday morning for Berkeley, Cal. Mrs. Hofstetter, who received her bachelor of arts degree from the University of Oregon this year, will enter the graduate division of librarianship on the University of California campus and Miss Hofstetter will enter high school.

Mr. and Mrs. John Horner of Portland were visiting old-time Heppner friends Monday and Tuesday. Mr. Horner lived in Heppner as a boy, learning the saddle-making trade under his father, Dan Horner, one-time Heppner saddler and harness maker. They have lived in Portland since leaving here some twenty-five years ago, and it had been 20 years since Mr. Horner visited here last in 1914.

Mr. and Mrs. Vawter Crawford returned Sunday evening from a trip to Prineville, where they visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Schwarz. Going with them from Heppner were Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Atherton who were returning to their home at Portland, and were taken to The Dalles where they caught the train into the city Sunday afternoon.

Gus and John McMillan, Lexington residents, were doing business here on Tuesday afternoon. The "breeze" of Tuesday just about removed his ranch over to Butter creek, Johnnie states. Real estate was certainly on the move across the north end of the county.

Come in and drive the new Plymouth.—Heppner Garage.

Charles McElligott, north Ione farmer, was transacting business in the city Tuesday. He has his wheat harvest under way, using the heading and threshing method this year, and at present is just putting the grain in the stack.

Jas. Burnside and Jas. Hams were here on Tuesday from the Rood canyon section. Harvest will soon be under way and there is promise of a fair yield. Rain threatened Tuesday morning, but the wind drove it all away.

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Piercy of The Dalles were visitors at the E. E. Gilliam home in this city Saturday. They were accompanied by their daughters Pauline and Virginia. Howard Gilliam returned home with them.

Dwight Misner, "sage of the south end of the Banana belt," was in Heppner on business Monday. Mr. Misner had started his wheat harvest with returns all but encouraging.

Tom Driskell of Portland was a visitor this week at the home of his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Hayes. Mr. Driskell is on the police force of Portland.

David Hynd and Misses Annie Hynd and Nellie Doney of Rose Lawn ranch, Sand Hollow, departed on the train Saturday evening for Portland to spend a few days.

IRRIGON

Mrs. O. R. Barnes was called to Gooding, Idaho, last Tuesday by the serious illness of her daughter.

Frank Leicht and son Frankie and Barney Endrice were Walla Walla visitors Tuesday.

Mrs. D. E. Brownell of Portland visited with her mother, Mrs. J. A. Grabel, and sister, Mrs. Emmett McCoy and family, several days last week.

Hugh Grimm made a business trip to Heppner Tuesday. His stepson, Calvin Allen, accompanied him and signed up for the CCC work and remained to work for J. O. Turner until he is called.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Leach, son Dickie, and Max Leach of Wilmington, Cal., and Mrs. Helen Cupps and son Richard, mother and brother of Mrs. Leach, of San Pedro, Cal., are visiting at the home of the Leach boys' sister, Mrs. Earl Isom.

F. Griffin of Maupin is visiting his daughter, Mrs. Glenn Ball and family.

Mrs. Nora Wilson and E. Bedwell have both been on the sick list the past week.

Marjorie Williams is visiting her aunt at Prescott.

George Hendrix who has been at La Grande for some time tuning pianos, returned Friday.

Miss Irene Gillis from the State Tuberculosis association at Portland, is in Irrigon for a two weeks

Drouth Ups Farm Prices; Fruit Crop Near Normal

Some improvements in the general level of farm prices has resulted from the droughty conditions now involving nearly the entire central and western portions of the United States, according to a review of the agricultural situation just released by the office of the extension economist at Oregon State college.

Grains, hay, cotton and dairy products especially have increased in price because of the prospect for smaller supplies of these commodities. Well-established meat animals have also tended to increase in price, says the report, but this is counter-balanced by lower prices and heavy marketings of poor quality stock from droughty areas.

The sixteen north central and western states, in which small grains, hay pastures and ranges have been most seriously damaged, contain about 48 per cent of the nation's hay and pasture-consuming animals and about 54 per cent of the hogs. From these states come a large proportion of the total market supply of livestock. Normally much of the thin, unfinished stock arriving at markets are returned to the country for further grazing and finishing but recently, says the report, demand for these stockers and feeders has been greatly curtailed by shortage of hay and feed grains, both present and potential.

Fruit crop prospects cannot be accurately measured as yet, but, according to the report, United States production does not seem likely to fall much below last year and, not more than 10 per cent below average. The pear crop, estimated on June 1 at 21,425,000 bushels, is a little larger than the short crop of last year but about 5 per cent less than average. Although Oregon has an estimated crop of 2,740,000 bushels, which is about a million bushels less than average, the three Pacific coast states are expected to produce in excess of 15 million bushels, or about an average crop.

Eastern states have poor pear prospects.

Oregon, on June 1, had a condition of apples somewhat better than a year previous and about the same as the 10-year average, but prospects for the United States generally are much below average.

Students Labor to Make Own Way Thru College

At least $40,000 was earned by men and women during the past school year from jobs obtained thru the student employment offices at Oregon State college, according to the annual report made by those in charge. Most of this was from more or less steady positions where students earned either board or room or both, though much was from more than 2000 calls for part-time labor.

Men were willing to undergo a great degree of privation to remain in college, just as parents in many instances made exceptional sacrifices to keep children there, the report of Mrs. Lulu Howard, men's employment secretary, shows.

Many men batched, even after some board and room could be had for $15 a month, as they said they got by on $7 a month cash outlay by getting farm produce from home. Several mothers cooperated in operating a house for their children, taking turns cooking, and in bringing supplies from home.

Funeral services were held in Lonerock Tuesday afternoon for E. H. Kellogg, 64, who died at his home there Sunday evening. Burial was in the Lonerock cemetery. Mr. Kellogg had been suffering with heart trouble and the end came suddenly.

Edward Hall Kellogg was born July 4, 1869 at Elmwood, Ill., the only son of Wm. H. and Lavina E. Kellogg. He came west in 1892 and lived most of the time until a few months ago, in and around Heppner but has resided in Lonerock in recent years. On April 30, 1896 he was united in marriage to Jennie Perry at Heppner.

Besides his widow, who was with him at the time of death, Mr. Kellogg is survived by three sisters, all of Chicago, Ill., other relatives and friends.

The deceased was said to be a devoted, dutiful, kind and loving husband, a good honest neighbor and a highly respected citizen. He had always enjoyed good health until in January he had an attack of rheumatism, from which he seemed to have completely recovered.

Funeral arrangements were under direction of Will Burns, local mortician. The Rev. H. S. Wiley of Condon preached. Pallbearers were John Maidment, George Madden, Pat Campbell, George McLaughlin, Emmett Moore and Guy Huddleston.

Clubbers End Big Time; More Adults at Session

The Four-H club summer session broke all records for numbers at Oregon State college and the regular adult session showed an early increase of 100 students over the low point of a year ago, which college officials point to as an indication of the lightening of both the financial and educational depression.

Total club registration was 787 compared with 561 last year. Of those 319 were boys and 468 were girls. Leaders commented on the exceptionally high type of youngsters present and their interest in their work and the uniformly good conduct. The adult session brought an early enrollment of 370 not counting those to come for later term courses or those in field parties.

This year a summer session geology camp is being maintained in the upper John Day region in eastern Crook county in charge of Dean E. L. Packard of O. S. C. school of science and Dr. Ralph Luper of W. S. C. Students are attending from those two colleges and the University of Oregon.
