

LEXINGTON

By HEULAH R. NICHOLS
1934 will long be remembered as the year of the big free show to be given by the grange at Lexington on the evening of August 11th.

The men of the grange have full charge of the show and have engaged a colored troupe of singers and musicians, also a hypnotist of note who promises to put five men, picked from the audience, under his magic power at one time.

Another big feature is the beauty contest (for men only). A valuable prize will be given for the ugliest mug stuck through a hole in the curtain on the stage. The public is invited.

Maynard Hardy and party of friends from Mitchell, S. D., were guests of Mrs. Elsie M. Beach last week. Mr. Hardy is a cousin of Mrs. Beach.

Mr. Hardy and his friends went to the coast and on to Seattle from where they expected to take the northern route back to South Dakota.

The Rebekah lodge of this city met Tuesday evening with the newly installed officers in the chairs for the first time.

Most of the farmers in this community have completed their harvest. In most cases the yield has been rather light, not more than one half as much as usual.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul DeF. Mortimore and children of La Grande spent a few days of last week at the home of Mrs. Mortimore's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Tucker.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvie Young of Medford are spending the week with Mrs. Young's parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Cox.

Mr. Saunders, piano tuner from Walla Walla, is in town this week. T. M. Scott left on the train Friday night, going to his home at Salem after spending the week here with his daughters, Mrs. W. L. Copenhagen and Mrs. W. B. Tucker.

Earl Warner was a Pendleton visitor Thursday. Mrs. David Steagall of Monument is the guest of Mrs. Wilbur Steagall this week.

at Salem after a visit of a few weeks at the J. E. Swanson home and by Mrs. Garland Swanson who will visit friends and relatives in Salem for a short time.

Mrs. Inez Freeland of Ione and Charles Christenson of Mill City have signed contracts to teach in the local high school during the coming year.

Misfortune seemed to have picked Johnny Eubanks for its victim last week. On Tuesday he had a finger badly crushed while handling gas drums and two days later his truck ran off the McNabb grade with some damage to a wheel.

Mr. Emert and daughter Patricia returned on Thursday night from a visit of several weeks with relatives in California.

Mrs. Kittle Turner of Tacoma was a guest at the home of her sister, Mrs. Elmer Griffith, at Morgan last week.

Mrs. Turner departed for La Grande the last of the week to attend the celebration of the anniversary of the coming of the railroad which was held in that city the latter part of last week.

The evening services will be held at the Church of Christ. Young peoples union meeting 7:00. Evening worship 8:00. Sermon, "Getting Ahead of the Devil."

Prayer meeting Thursday evening 7:30. You are very cordially invited to attend all these services.

"There is every assurance that the emergency education program will be continued this year. It is especially desirable that classes for adult education be arranged and that persons over 16 years of age be encouraged to use the opportunity to continue their education.

Our people should begin plans for these classes so that no time will be lost when the funds are made available." The county superintendents themselves and the people whom they serve should feel deeply grateful for this opportunity made possible for them by the state department of education and the University of Oregon through a host of capable, interesting, and well informed teachers and lecturers, among whom were:

Jay C. Knode, Prof. of Education, University of New Mexico; Bernard Hinshaw, Head of Art Dept., Illinois Wesleyan University; Lillian Kayser, Remedial Teacher, Los Angeles Public Schools; B. Alden Lillywhite, Chicago Relief Administrator; Emma Henkle, Oregon State Normal School; Ida Mae Smith, Oregon State Normal School; Roy L. Skeen, Eastern Oregon Normal School; Norman F. Coleman, Pres. Reed College; P. A. Parsons, Prof. Sociology, U. of O.; P. M. Collier, Prof. English, U. of O.; Geo. Turnbull, Prof. Journalism, U. of O.; Alexander Goldenweiser, Prof. of Thought and Culture, U. of O.; Harriet C. Long, State Librarian; Carroll D. Clark, Prof. of Sociology, University of Kansas.

May I suggest that you consider the transportation of high school pupils from the smaller high schools to the larger ones both for economy and for a possible improvement in high school instruction. For example, Irigoin to Boardman; Hardman to Heppner; Lexington to either Heppner or Ione. There are just enough pupils in each to make a comfortable bus-load.

C. W. Barlow departed for Portland today to look after some business affairs. When he returns he will be accompanied by Mrs. Barlow and Lucille who have been spending a short time in the city with Mrs. Barlow's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Akers.

State Republican Club to Organize at Eugene 28th

Following the unanimous mandate of a preliminary meeting held in Portland during May, the Oregon Republican club will perfect a permanent organization at Eugene, on Saturday, July 28. Since this is the final day of Eugene's far-famed Oregon Trail pageant, a large group of Republican men and women are expected to attend for the two-fold reason.

policies and plans.

E. G. Boehnke, president of the Lane county chapter, is in charge of the committee on convention arrangements, assisted by Hugh Rosson, Frank Reid, Lawrence T. Harris, Fred Stickels, J. E. Turnbull, Mrs. Frank L. Chambers, Mrs. J. L. Hesse, Cal Bryant, Mrs. C. A. Huntington, Mrs. Mary Near, Sid King, Fred Guyon, Dr. M. C. Harris, Robert M. Fischer, Robert Callahan, A. C. Fournay, Clarence Lombard, Lynn McCready, A. R. Paris, Clarence Simon, and Frank Hill. There will be morning and afternoon sessions in the Elks' Temple and a six o'clock banquet in the Men's building at the University of Oregon.

tion to stop over at a banquet at Corvallis on Friday evening, July 27, following which committee caucuses will be held. Burton Hutton of Corvallis is in charge of arrangements for the banquet, assisted by George Penson and a large committee.

Stewart Weiss of Portland, advisory board member, will lead a large caravan from Multnomah county. State officials in charge of the Eugene convention are Britt Nedry, Tigard, chairman; Mrs. Mildred Fortner, Portland, secretary; Burton Hutton, Corvallis, treasurer, and Joe Singer, Portland, sergeant-at-arms.

There'll Never be a "Last Round-Up"! Famous Pendleton Show 25 Years Old

The Round-Up, Pendleton's historic show that keeps the glamor of the old, wild West alive, will celebrate its twenty-fifth (Silver Jubilee) anniversary September 13, 14, and 15.

An honorary order of "Pendleton Top Hands" is now being organized in Pendleton, with its members pledged to perpetuate the Pendleton Round-Up through succeeding generations.

The brilliant pageantry of range sports that made the shout of "Let 'er Buck!" known around the world in the Round-Up's quarter of a century of history will thrill the throngs at Pendleton again this year. Having weathered the past three trying years with colors flying and the dauntless spirit of Til Taylor still in the saddle, the Pendleton Round-Up emerges this year with a greater show than ever.

A new thrilling event, the "wild ride," will be added to this year's three day show with 12 vicious bucking horses mounted and bucking in the arena simultaneously, all released from the snubbing horses at the same instant.

Perhaps the greatest parade ever held at Pendleton will be seen this year, for George Strand, director of parades, is collecting additional historic buckboards, stage coaches, freight wagons, pack train equipment and other priceless relics of early day transportation. The usual colorful historic features of the parade will be maintained.

The "Westward Ho" parade will be held Friday, September 14, instead of Saturday as has been the custom at previous Round-Ups. To those who have attended the Round-Up for years, this is of special importance, for real dyed-in-the-wool Round-Up visitors never want to miss the spectacle of the great "Westward Ho" parade.

In 1910 when Pendleton citizens felt that the modern West was arriving and the old, wild West was disappearing, the first Round-Up was held. The incorporators were Max Baer, (no relation to the present heavyweight champion), Will Ingram, Leon Cohen, J. H. Gwinn and J. H. McAllister. The first president was J. Roy Raley and the first treasurer was Roy W. Ritner, this year's business manager of the Round-Up. Fred W. Steiwer, now in the United States Senate, was on the first Round-Up board, with Til Taylor, last of the truly great sheriffs of the old West, Roy Bishop of the Pendleton Woolen Mills, and L. G. Frazier, who is now serving his 25th year on the Round-Up board. This year's president of the Round-Up is Dr. Wilson D. McNary, who served also in 1933. The past presidents were Henry W. Collins, Tillman D. Taylor and J. Roy Raley.

The first year's Round-Up surprised Pendleton with a gathering of 10,000 visitors which taxed the housing facilities of the city until every private home was filled. The budget for the first year's Pendleton Round-Up was only $2,630, whereas budgets of succeeding years were between $20,000 and $80,000, as the show grew in size and world-wide renown.

The first "Happy Canyon" night pageant was held in 1911 and, depicting the conquest of the West, has proven, year after year, a worthy companion to the thrilling arena events of the day. This year, as in previous years, some of the world's greatest cowboys—bucking horse riders, bull-doggers, ropers and relay riders will be competing for generous cash prizes and coveted championship trophies. Pendleton's famous string of bucking horses is being supplemented with new ones that are expected to gain fame equal to that of Roosevelt Trophy, Long Tom, Philip Rollins, No Name and other almost unconquerable buckers whose performances have helped establish the Pendleton Round-Up as the "greatest of them all."

Livestock Director Herbert Thompson has found some new bucking horses and is still picking them up wherever a truly sensational bucking horse can be discovered.

Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Andrews and daughter, Mrs. Helen Montgomery of Portland, and Mrs. Mary Simmonds of La Center, Wash., were visitors here Wednesday and today, leaving immediately after noon to return to their homes. These people were formerly residents of Heppner and Morrow county and it has been many years since they were here last.

Mr. Andrews lived for a long time down at Alpine and he went out past the old home place and on down to Hermiston, just to note the changes that have taken place since he left the country. They enjoyed meeting numerous old time friends at Heppner, but the town did not look quite natural.
