Farm Extension Pioneer Honored With Memorial

The man generally credited with being the father of agricultural extension work, Dr. Seaman A. Knapp has been given special recognition through a memorial passed by Congress at the recent session. This is said to be the first time that Congress has accorded such recognition in the field of agriculture.

A joint resolution passed, authorizing Epsilon Sigma Phi, the national honorary extension fraternity, to place two tablets in two arches of the department of agriculture building, designating one as Knapp Memorial Arch, and the other Wilson Memorial Arch in honor of James Wilson, for 16 years secretary of agriculture. The chapter of Epsilon Sigma Phi at Oregon State college will share in the contribution.

Ontario—Intensive use of poison bait recommended by County Agent R. G. Larson has saved many fields in the irrigated sections of Malheur county from probably complete destruction by jack rabbits forced down from the surrounding hills by the extreme drought. The bait, prepared by chopping green alfalfa and mixing it with strychnine alkaloid, was placed in lines at the edge of the sage brush. Roy Johnson of Vale killed more than 2000 rabbits with 12 ounces of strychnine, and many other excellent kills were reported. The sum of $1000 set aside by the county court for the payment of 2 1/2 cent bounties on rabbits was exhausted in less than two weeks.

Albany—About 100 pounds of straw, placed about the base of each apple tree in his 16 acre orchard, gives Ed Holloway of Brownsville an increase of approximately one-third in yield, reports F. C. Mullen, county agent. The straw is applied once every two or three years and has been found to decrease cultivating costs considerably.

Dallas—The annual inspection of growing crops for seed certification purposes has just been completed in Polk county by representatives of the Oregon State college extension service. A total of 765 acres of crops on 31 farms were inspected, and 551 acres passed. These include many fields of clover and one or more fields each of wheat, oats, alfalfa and Ladino clover. A list of certified fields is kept at the county agents office for the convenience in locating supplies of pure seed.

Baker—Cooperating with County Agent Phil Fortner in a search for a suitable cash crop for Baker county, several farmers planted peas during June and July to get data on the maturity of the crop. The purpose of these trials is to determine whether Baker county can grow late green peas for the eastern markets.

BENJAMIN F. MATHEWS.

(Gresham Outlook)

Friends of Benjamin F. Mathews were shocked to learn of his death July 20 in Portland sanitarium where he had been taken for treatment four days earlier of thrombosis of the left coronary artery. Less than a week before his passing Mr. Mathews was on the streets of Gresham apparently in his usual health. His children were summoned early in the week but on Thursday the report was given out that his condition was improving.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon from the chapel of Carroll's funeral home and were conducted by Rev. Geo. S. Maness. A quartet composed of C. E. Rusher, Mrs. W. E. Bates, Mrs. E. W. Aylsworth and L. R. Mason sang, accompanied at the organ by Miss Florence Rusher. The services were very largely attended by friends of the family from Gresham, Damascus and Portland. Interment was in the Damascus cemetery. The pall bearers were all close friends of the deceased, Carl Dahl, Ed. Johnson, Chas. Cleveland, Dan Murphy, George Kenney and J. V. Cogswell.

Mr. Mathews was born in Cameron, Mo., May 1, 1863. At the age of 15 he came to Oregon with his parents, crossing the plains with a horse team. The family settled near Athena, Ore., and there he married Miss Viola Galloway, who died in 1905. The family moved from Athena and lived successively in Heppner, Portland and Damascus, and came in 1908 to Gresham.

He married Miss Nettie Pillster in Portland February 11, 1907. Mr. Mathews engaged in buying and selling horses but retired from active work about 20 years ago.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Nettie Mathews, Mr. Mathews is survived by two sons and five daughters. They are, Mrs. Nettie Johnson and Guy Mathews of The Dalles, Mrs. Viola Avery, Mrs. Cleo Feese and Mrs. Leta Brown, all of Portland, Margaret and Woodrow Mathews of Gresham. There are three grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

A series of eight turkey tours to study problems of turkey production and management and consider the turkey outlet for the coming season have been organized by Oregon county agents in cooperation with turkey growers of nine counties this summer.

Tours yet to be held at Linn county, August 15, Marion, August 16, Umatilla, August 18, and Yamhill, August 21. The first half of the series, completed during July, included tours in Lane, Douglas, Deschutes and Crook counties.

A picnic lunch at noon followed by a speaking program is a feature of each tour. Among the speakers are H. E. Cosby, extension specialist in poultry husbandry; Clyde C. Edmond, executive vice-president of the Northwestern Turkey Growers' association of Salt Lake City; and J. C. Leey, manager of the Oregon Turkey Cooperatives, Inc. A Willardson, sales agent of the Northwestern Turkey Growers' association at Los Angeles, will also attend the August tours to discuss turkey marketing.

The Umatilla county tour is sponsored by the Eastern Oregon Turkey Growers' association, and will start at the branch experiment station at Hermiston, where results of feeding experiments will be observed. The Yamhill county tour will start from Newberg.

Lakeview—Lake county farmers are showing a markedly increased interest in Union Beardless barley in recent years, according to Victor W. Johnson, county agent, who reports that there are now more than 400 acres of this crop in the county, most of which will be cut for hay. This beardless barley was introduced into Lake county in 1927 by the state college extension service, and the first seed was planted by C. W. Ogle of the Idaho district.
