there has been much of pleasure down through this 50 years. Mr. and Mrs. Turner have been blessed by a family of six sons and one daughter, all of whom grew up in this community, five of them having builded their homes here; these are F. W., W. H., J. O., S. W. and J. W. Turner; while one son, Loy M. Turner resides in Long Beach Calif., where he is superintendent of the city water department, and the daughter, Mrs. W. L. Grande Oregon. Mr. Turner first engaged in the cattle business here, and this ven-ture was not a financial success, his biographer stating that he pur-chased the stock at $40 per head and after feeding them through several hard winters eventually disposed of them at The Dalles for $10 apiece. Grain raising, sheepraising and butter making were other farm labors engaging the attention of Mr. Turner and his good wife for successive years, but the members of the family reaching an age that required better school facilities, the farm home gave place to a home in Heppner, from which point Mr. Turner carried on with the farm for many years, later retiring when his sons took over the 10:00 a. m. ranch properties.

The reunion Sunday was indeed a ... 7:30 p. m. happy event, not only for Mr. and 7:30 p. m.
