George Hughes, wife and daughter Alma, of Vancouver, Wash., passed through Heppner on Tuesday, remaining for a short visit with his uncle, Sam Hughes, and other relatives, and then to Eight Mile to visit until the end of the week at the home of his sister, Mrs. Laura Driskell. Mr. Hughes left Heppner 34 years ago and this is his first visit here since that time. The editor of this paper remembered him as a lad, and we acknowledge a pleasant call.

At their mountain home near Reid's mill on Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Cason entertained in honor of Miss Winifred Austin, sister of Mrs. Cason, and her father, Chas. Austin. The chicken dinner was enjoyed by the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Turner and daughters, Jeanette and Anabel, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Turner, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Turner and daughter Jean, Mrs. Harry Turner, Miss Beatrice Thomson, Anson Wright and Mr. and Mrs. Kruger.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. H. Latourell and Carl and Verner Troedson departed Tuesday morning for points east. The Troedson boys were to pick up a new Ford at Flint, Mich., and drive it home, while Mr. and Mrs. Latourell were to go on to Vandalia, Ohio, where Mr. Latourell expected to participate in the Grand American trapshooting tournament slated to begin this week end. All expected to take a peek at the world's fair at Chicago before returning home.

D. A. Wilson motored to John Day Sunday to take John Farley back to his home there and the management of the Wilson John Day store after a week's visit with relatives and friends here. James Farley who relieved John came back with Mr. Wilson. Henry Alken, Rodeo president, also went as far as Long Creek where he transacted some Rodeo business.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Huston and Mr. and Mrs. Mark Taylor motored over to Walla Walla on Sunday, spending the most of the day in the park there. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor, who were on their vacation here, had never been in the Walla Walla valley, and they all enjoyed the day in that fertile section of the Columbia basin.

Mr. and Mrs. U. S. Burt of Corvallis were in the city Monday. Mr. Burt is on the staff of the college extension service, and Mrs. Burt is a former Morrow county girl, nee Miss Mary Gamger. They were accompanied by Mrs. Burt's sister, Mrs. Henry Clark of Ione, and her two daughters.

Chas. Allinger was in town Wednesday shaking hands with numerous old friends. He makes his home near Milwaukee, south of Portland, and reports conditions thereabouts none too good. It has been a very dry season and crops of all kinds are short.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd DeBunce and John Anglin motored to Yakima Sunday to visit Mrs. Anglin, who has been in the Washington city for several weeks supervising the renovation of some property recently acquired by the Anglins there.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Ferguson and Marylou motored to Portland and Prineville Monday, returning home Tuesday with Kay who spent a week visiting at the home of his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Schwarz at Prineville.

Jasper Crawford of the G. T. force was called to Portland over the week end on matters of business. He was accompanied on the trip by J. Logie Richardson of Heppner Abstract Co., who enjoyed a visit with his family.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Smith of The Dalles were in Heppner Saturday with Mrs. Pauline Quaid of Portland. Mr. and Mrs. Smith being interested in the property of Mrs. Quaid on Balm Fork.

Joseph Eskelson, pioneer Morrow county farmer of the Lexington section, came up from his home at Salem the end of the week. He was visiting over the week end in Heppner at the home of his son, Earl Eskelson.

Another important consignment is that of 35 head of what the breeders call the "New-Rambouillet," a breed of rams with "not a wrinkle in a carload," from the Deer Lodge Farms company at Deer Lodge, Mont. This company has sold the three high studs, the high pen of five and the highest average at the two most recent Casper, Wyoming, sales.

The largest sections of the sale will include 200 each of Rambouillet and Hampshires, with the remainder of the 550 head divided among Lincoln, romneys, Romel-dales, Cotswolds and Panamas. Colonel A. W. Thompson of Lincoln, Nebr., will act as auctioneer. The sale will open at 10 o'clock in the morning at the Round-Up grounds in Pendleton.

"Buck buyers throughout Washington and adjacent territory are invited to this sale, which will offer the finest consignment of the various breeds gathered together for any similar sale at any point in the far west," said Mr. Holt. "Persons wishing to improve their special matings through the purchase of stud rams will find their needs supplied by this sale, and the range operator can meet his requirements of the breeds mentioned in any numbers to suit the purchaser."

Buyers attending the eighth annual Oregon ram sale at Pendleton August 27 will find the offerings there in keeping with the high standard of past years, according to Walter A. Holt, secretary of the Oregon Wool Growers' association, sponsoring the sale.

Among the 550 high quality animals already consigned to the sale will be 25 Rambouillet rams from the famous breeding establishment of John K. Madsen of Mount Pleasant, Utah. Rams from this flock have averaged the highest price at the national sale at Salt Lake during the past 10 years, and during the current year had the highest average at both the California and Texas sales.
