13TH RODEO IS OPENING

OLD WEST PARADE SATURDAY FEATURE

No Main Street Parking
Asked; Entries to be on Hand at 9.

CARNIVAL IS READY

KOIN Orchestra to Make Bow This
Evening; Band All Set; Season
Admission May be Had at $2.

At 10:30 Saturday morning, Rodeo crowds will be treated to one of the outstanding features of the three-day show when the Parade of the Old West passes in review. Brightly decorated floats, ladies of the gay '90's riding side-saddle, four-horse teams, Indians in war regalia, officials of Rodeo and of the Pendleton Round-Up, Queen Shirley and Queen Dimple, and the long cavalcade of mounted cowboys and cowgirls, pets, comedy stunts, band music—all will go to make of this a stellar attraction.

To clear the way for the parade, orders have been given for no parking on Main street Saturday until after the parade, and to aid folks in obeying the order the committee has secured the use of a number of vacant lots where free parking will be permitted.

All entries are requested to be on hand near the Methodist church corner by 9 o'clock to facilitate getting them in place. The parade will form with the head at the corner of Gale and Church streets, and will proceed up and back down Main street.

Arrangements for this event as well as the other extra Rodeo attractions are well in hand.

The election of Miss Dimple Crabtree of Morgan as Queen Dimple was announced following voting at the final queen's dance at the local pavilion Saturday evening, and her royal attendants will be Miss Beth Wright, Rhea creek; Miss Irma Lane, Lexington, and Miss Mary Cunha, Lena. Theirs should prove a popular reign through these three days of Rodeo.

The Schmidt Amusement company had their rides and concessions established at Main and Center streets yesterday evening, and were open for business, surrounded by a flock of longing youngsters.

And this evening Vernon Leathers and his KOIN studio band from Portland will be on hand for the dancing at the pavilion, and will preside also tomorrow and Saturday nights.

The Heppner school band, in their bright uniforms, will play at the show each day, besides appearing in the parade and at other intervals. They have been working overtime for the last three weeks, and will make a snappy appearance.

Rodeo headquarters has been established at the Frank Shively garage where all show entries will be made, and all information regarding anything connected with the Rodeo will be disseminated. Tickets for the show will also be available there each morning. For those interested in saving on the cost of admission, adult tickets for all three days may be purchased for $2.00.

Show admission prices are 75 cents for adults today and tomorrow and $1 Saturday, and 25 cents for children today, free tomorrow, and 50c Saturday.

HOUSE CONTRACT LET.

Try-Outs Reveal Likely-Looking Tophands Who Will Go Up in Show

Some little inkling of what may be expected to happen this afternoon, and the afternoons of tomorrow and Saturday, was given at the try-outs last Sunday when a large gang of fans saw some top-notch bucking exhibitions. All of which led to the conclusion to watch that boy Rutherford when he goes up in the show.

Glenn Rutherford, whose home town is Boardman in the north end of the county, drew one of the toughest mustangs of the lot in the last tryout. And he rode him to a finish—"a championship ride in any show," so many said.

Five boys went up all told on five different horses, and all were good riders, excepting that Lloyd Dewey of Ukiah miscalculated the prowess of Al Smith and was left lying in the dust.

It so happens that occasionally Al just runs and kicks up his heels a bit, forgetting to do his stuff. That's why he was tried out Sunday. Well, this time, he lit out lickety-split and when he got up a good head of steam, he proceeded to blow off. He just naturally migrated way to one side all at once and Lloyd continued in the same direction in which Al started, though Lloyd's momentum forward ceased and he sat down.

A pretty fine ride was made by Bob McDow of Dayton, Wash., who drew a cute little bay horse with obstreperous mannerisms. In the snubbing process, Ed Hughes, snubber, just barely escaped a boxing at the hands of this mustang's front feet. Finally the horse was all cinched up and Bob was up—way up, as the critter when released went off the ground about six feet with all four feet and a hump in his back like a dromedary. But Bob stuck.

Buck Tiffin, who placed second in the northwest bucking at Pendleton last year, and Jack Hartman, one of the winners at the last Ukiah show, were the other riders who did their stuff. All of these riders will be in the lists for the show.

F. & S. Bank Declares

3rd Dividend, 15 Pct.

J. L. Gault, receiver of the Farmers and Stockgrowers National bank, has received telegraphic advice from the Comptroller of the Currency at Washington that his recent recommendation for a third dividend of 15 percent to the creditors of that bank has been approved. Checks covering this dividend will be prepared promptly, forwarded to the Comptroller for his signature and should be ready for distribution about September 20.

With the former dividend of 40 percent released last September together with the 15 percent disbursed in February of this year, the present dividend of 15 percent makes a total return to the depositors of this bank of 70 percent which result has been accomplished entirely from the collection of the bank's assets, no part thereof having been supplied for dividend purposes thru the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

CLUBBERS, QUEEN ARE LIONS GUESTS

H. E. Cool Family Has Enviably Record in 4-H Club Work.

MISNER TELLS TRIP

Lee, Charles Notson, Vernon Sackett Club Visitors; Rodeo President Presents Queen.

Probably the most outstanding record for a single family in 4-H club work in the county is that of the H. E. Cool family of Ione. Four young Cools, Mabel, Opal, Alvin and Maude, have won more than 50 ribbons in their several years of sheep and calf club work, 12 of the ribbons being firsts and one a championship ribbon.

Miss Mabel Cool, eldest of the children, displayed the ribbons and told of the work required to obtain them, before the Lions club Monday noon luncheon. Present also were Opal and Maude, but Alvin was unable to be present due to illness. Mabel and Opal have been in club work seven years, and Alvin and Maude for five. Mabel, who one year was beaten out by only two points for the right to show at the national 4-H club fair at Chicago, will exhibit at the state fair this week end.

Another Lions club guest was Miss Dimple Crabtree, whom Lions president C. J. D. Bauman cited as another champion, having won the election to be queen of the Rodeo starting today. Queen Dimple is a close neighbor of the Cools, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Crabtree. To her introduction by Rodeo president Henry Aiken the Lions responded with hearty applause.

It was a day of visitors at the club meeting, with visitors providing all of the program. Vernon Sackett of Salem, who was present with his brothers-in-law, Lee and Charles Notson, sang two solos which were well received. These men were introduced by S. E. Notson, father of the Notson boys and Mrs. Sackett who are visiting in Heppner—Lee and Charles after an absence of several years.

Lee, a member of the Lions club in his home town, Logan, Iowa, where he is photographer and service station operator, made a short talk in lighter vein. Introduced by his father as the small son of the family some 30-odd years before, Lee's talk was emphasized by the impressive size of his 300-odd pound physique. Charles, a Methodist minister, who has been in the east for several years is in Heppner with his wife to spend about a month before sailing for Indo-China to take up work in the mission field.

The "star" performer of the program introduced by President Bauman was Dwight Misner who told entertainingly of a recent trip to Yellowstone national park with Mrs. Misner and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mankin, all of Ione. Mr. Misner went into detail as to how the transportation and finances of the trip were arranged, gave many interesting highlights of the trip and considerable description of the points of interest visited.

"Before starting on such a trip one should have a big wheat crop," he said. "Or failing in this, it is well to be on the good side of the missus." He credited Mrs. Misner with holding the purse-strings, and Mr. and Mrs. Mankin with furnishing the transportation, telling it all in a humorous manner. He was somewhat disappointed in the number of animals seen in the park, having looked forward to the animals as a special attraction. The party saw but one herd of elk, a herd of buffalo—not much more interesting than a herd of cattle, said the speaker—and a number of black, brown and grizzly bears. The young of the grizzly, largest of bears in the United States, weigh but eight to fifteen ounces at birth, was a believe-it-or-not cited.

A sight described as one of less enjoyable nature, was the loading into an ambulance of several people who had been badly injured when their car plunged over the bank of the Yellowstone river. The accident happened just below a beautiful falls, and Mr. Misner surmised that all the occupants of the car were looking back at the falls, allowing the car to go uncontrolled over the bank.

SENATOR UPTON VISITS.

Jay H. Upton, state senator and republican candidate for congress, arrived in Heppner yesterday and is remaining over today to take in the Rodeo. Senator Upton is now on his way home to Bend after covering most of the district, and reports prospects favorable for his election. He was introduced about town yesterday by S. E. Notson, and was accompanied to Ione and Lexington yesterday by W. W. Smead.

QUEEN DIMPLE.

Miss Dimple Crabtree, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Crabtree of Morgan, holds the reins of Rodeo queen this week end. A charming lass of 18 who learned her way around with horses through a life spent on the farm, she was elected queen in the popular voting conducted in connection with a series of six queen's dances, with the final vote taken at the dance here Saturday night. Queen Dimple led the voting throughout as the representative of Willows grange, her sponsor.

NOTSON FAMILY ENJOY REUNION

All Children Present After 21 Years to Celebrate 39th Wedding Anniversary.

For the first time in 21 years all the children of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Notson were at home Tuesday. The occasion was the 39th anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Notson which occurred near Dunlap, Iowa, August 28, 1895. It was a jolly housewarming for Morrow county's district attorney and his wife at their home on Gale street, featured mainly by a large family gathering and renewal of acquaintanceships.

Coming farthest were Charles, the youngest son, with his wife, who made a cross-continent trip from Washington, D. C. They are stopping at home for a month before sailing to west China to take up work in the mission field on the border of Tibet. Since finishing his high school work at Heppner, Charles was graduated from Asbury college in Kentucky and has held pastorates at several places in the east. He filled the pulpit for union services at the Church of Christ last Sunday evening and was well received. Mrs. Charles Notson is also a graduate of Asbury college, and will deliver the address at the union services at the Methodist church.

42 ELK SEEN IN BAND.

Forty-two elk in a single band were seen by Olin and Neva Bleakman and Miss Dorothy Lorenzen on Pendleton prairie one day last week, reports Bert Bleakman, father of Olin and Neva, who has charge of the Ditch creek guard station this season. Twelve or 15 of the band were bulls, Mr. Bleakman said. Miss Lorenzen, a friend from Portland, was especially enthusiastic about the sight as she had not before seen an elk. Mr. Bleakman was in town for a short time Friday.

State Woolgrowers Pick Heppner for Convention

The executive committee of Oregon Woolgrowers association, meeting in Pendleton Monday evening, picked Heppner for their next convention, announces J. G. Barratt, association vice-president. The time for holding the convention will be chosen by the president and secretary and is expected to be some time in January.

Mr. Barratt extended Heppner's invitation to be host to the woolgrowers this year, the second time this city has had the privilege of entertaining woolmen of the state. The last woolgrowers convention was held here in 1916 when Mr. Barratt's father, W. E. Barratt, was association president. Mr. Barratt promised the woolmen they would be entertained here without being charged a registration fee for entertainment and has assurance of plenty of support to make good his promise.

Rev. and Mrs. B. Stanley Moore and small son and Mr. Moore's mother, Mrs. E. F. Moore, arrived in Heppner Tuesday evening for a visit of a couple of days with Heppner friends. The Moores have been located at Ontario since leaving Heppner three years ago, and are just returning to their home there after enjoying a vacation which took them to Oregon coast points and as far north as Seattle. Extremely hot weather had been experienced at Ontario before they left, the thermometer registering as high as 108.

STORE CLOSING SET.

All the grocery and retail stores will close from 1 o'clock until after the Rodeo, today, tomorrow and Saturday. Other businesses also signed a closing agreement but because there were some businesses which did not agree to close, the committee has left it up to those signing as to whether they will close. Today and tomorrow the last delivery will be made at 1 o'clock, and Saturday the last delivery will be made late in the morning.

There will be no closing of businesses in Heppner, Monday, Labor Day.

COWBOYS, BUCKERS RACE PONIES COME

Starting Gun at 1:30 to Raise Curtain on Typical Western Show.

INDIAN RACE SLATED

Native Americans in Full Regalia to Vie Saturday; Plenty of Competition Promised.

At 1:30 this afternoon the 13th annual Heppner Rodeo will be on its way—to make new champions in the sports of cowboys, to furnish entertainment to the throngs of visitors, and to give zest to the life of all as the haze of Indian summer drifts over the hill lands rich in the lore of cowboys and native Americans. It's round-up time on the range, but it's rodeo time in Heppner.

The calves are bawling in the corrals; the wild mustangs are tethered in their stalls, stamping and snorting their displeasure; and the cowboys are gathered about awaiting their chance to match their skill, to see who shall be adjudged the best. And the hot-blooded race stock from many a prize sire and worthy dam, they, too, are snuffing into the air awaiting the call to the post.

"He's up!" "They're off!" Yes, it's rodeo time! The judges are here. The city's in gala attire. Naught but suspense awaits the opening gun.

Hot dog vendors, ferris wheel and merry-go-round, all the accouterments of the carnival have arrived. For several days the folks have been drifting in for the holiday—and at 1:30 this afternoon the fun will start.

The program each afternoon, with events announced by the Standard Oil public address system, will include saddle horse race, pony express race, calf roping, boy's pony race, bareback bucking contest, free for all race, bucking contest, amateur calf roping contest and relay race. On Friday will be added the two-year-old race, and on Saturday the Morrow county derby and the Indian war bonnet race. The last race was arranged for this week. It will be run by Umatilla Indians in full regalia through special arrangement with the Pendleton Round-Up association.

Twenty-five of the toughest bucking horses in eastern Oregon, including eight from the Pendleton Round-Up string, eight Tony Vey horses and nine Rodeo horses are on hand. There's Madam Queen, Black Diamond, Muck-a-Muck, Teapot Dome, Ione, Lexington, Lena, Rhea Creek, Herb French, Al Smith, Strip and all the rest of the game, some new and others with well known records for outlawry in the annals of Rodeodom.

And the buckaroos? They're still arriving this morning. But Glen Rutherford, Buck Tiffin, Bob McDow, Jack Hartman, Pat Fisk, Tom and Al Tibbets are among the gang and Al Tibbets are among the gang of tophands. Then there's Kenny Dewey, Leonard Carter, Virgil Piquet from over in the John Day country, who with Eddie Sheridan, Joe Pedro, Bob Fletcher, will be in the lists either as riders or ropers. Phone calls and telegrams were being received at headquarters yesterday afternoon, promising other entries who had not yet arrived.

Harry Dick and Jim White are among a group of Indians who have arrived with race stock. Then there's Kenny Dewey, Add Moore and Frank and Gerald Swaggart
