

Local Happenings

J. G. Barratt departed yesterday morning for Montana to look after his sheep in the Spotted Robe vicinity. Recent storms had brought quite a heavy covering of snow there, he said, but there was no occasion for alarm as good facilities and plenty of feed are had for handling the sheep. Coming in from Ukiah that day, Mr. Barratt said range land up Hinton creek had been soaked to a depth of six inches and that the moisture could be expected to start the grass. He also brought report that Harry Turner on Blackhorse had dug into his summerfallow and had found that the old and new moisture had met.

Visitors over Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Benton were A. F. Christensen and wife and two children, former friends of the Benton family at Salem, where Mr. Christensen is auditor for the Standard Oil company. They have been spending a month at the old home of Mr. Christensen at Ames, Iowa, and on reaching Heppner on their return journey they expressed some disappointment that no moisture had arrived here to change the conditions of drought; however, their desires for some wetness were satisfied by Sunday morning as they took their departure in a heavy snow storm.

The Sunday school class of Miss Vallis Jones was entertained at the home of the Misses Leta and Evelyn Humphreys on Friday evening. Members of the class present were Margaret Doolittle, Carolyn Vaughn, Virginia Swendig, Norma Brock, Lois Jones, Frances McRoberts, Claudine Drake and Lucille Barlow. The party was in the nature of a surprise on Miss Jones who had just returned from taking the six weeks course at Willamette university in Salem under the direction of the State Emergency Relief association. A pleasant evening of playing games was had, and refreshments were served.

Clinton Rohrer, chief clerk in the local postoffice, arrived home Sunday evening from his vacation of two weeks, most of which was spent with his parents in Yuba City, Cal. He was accompanied by his family whom he left in Vancouver, Wash., where Mrs. Rohrer is visiting for a short time at the home of her parents. Mr. Rohrer says there was plenty of hot weather in the Sacramento valley while he was there.

Henry Taylor motored to La Grande on Sunday, taking his daughter, Miss Irene, who has registered as a student at Eastern Oregon normal for the coming year. Miss Winifred Case will be a student at the same institution this year and was taken to La Grande on Sunday by her people. These young ladies were graduates of Heppner high school, class of 1934.

Oscar Davis, Wm. Gosney and Joe Luenallen were among the CCC boys coming over from the Tollgate camp Saturday afternoon for a short visit here. They returned to the camp Sunday afternoon. This Tollgate camp is to be closed soon and a number of the men from here are enlisting for the winter and will go to camps in southern Oregon and along the coast.

For the quickest work in bagging their meat, the record of Don Cowdry and Dick Benton has not yet been beat this hunting season, so far as report to this newspaper goes. These two boys went out last Saturday morning, and shortly after noon each had killed a nice buck. Their kill was made out in Rutabaga canyon in the Volle mill vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Moore of Walla Walla and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Roles of Portland compose a hunting party who were in town Tuesday evening. They had lugged one buck and went back out after another. Mr. Moore is manager of the J. C. Penney store at Walla Walla and enjoyed a visit with J. D. Cash, manager of the local Penney store.

Buck Padberg came in Monday from the hunt where he had been with a party of Salem people. He announced that one buck had been bagged by the party. Car trouble caused Buck to make the trip into town to obtain parts for repairs.

E. W. Meyer went to La Grande on Monday, being accompanied by his daughters, Louise and Carolyn, who are entering as students at Eastern Oregon normal for the year. The young ladies were graduates last spring from the local high school.

Walter Dohyans, in town Tuesday from the Eight Mile section, announced a good fall of moisture in that section Saturday and Sunday. Henry Peterson was another visitor from the same section Tuesday, bearing tidings of the good precipitation.

The Woman's Study club will hold a special meeting Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Josephine Mahoney to have the remaining money in the treasury turned over to the Heppner library, or to continue the club.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Morton returned Sunday from a week's vacation spent at Portland and other points and Mr. Morton is back on the job as manager of the local branch of the First National Bank of Portland.

Harry French was down from the mountain ranch on Saturday. His section was visited by a snow storm on Sunday, we have been informed, and there should be no lack of moisture from this time on.

Paul Clifford Rhody of Morrow county and Lois Lundberg of Umatilla county were united in marriage by Rev. Joseph Pope at the Methodist parsonage Tuesday afternoon.

John Logan and son of Cecil were among the fortunate deer hunters, returning through town Tuesday with a nice buck each as well as the pelt of a coyote they had killed.

Henry Baker was up Tuesday from the farm in the Ione vicinity, feeling happy over the fall of moisture which he expected would bring up the newly sown wheat.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Palmer were here on Saturday from their farm home west of Lexington. Before doing his seeding, Mr. Palmer will wait for some moisture.

Notice—Special this month—Your choice of Lavendal or Voloil oil permanent wave for $3. Also regular wave $2.50 at Farris Beauty Shoppe, Ione. 27-29

Bill Greener was in from the ranch near Hardman Tuesday on matters of business connected with reopening his sawmill in the near future.

Oscar Keithley was in town Tuesday from the Ione vicinity, wearing a broad smile occasioned by the drought's end in his section.

Miss Edna Jones, graduate from Heppner high school, departed on Saturday for Corvallis to enter O. S. C. for the coming year.

I am selling my dairy herd. See them at my ranch on the highway halfway between Lexington and Ione. R. B. WILCOX. 29-31

Jason Biddle, in town Wednesday, reports a very good rain in his locality on Sunday that will be an aid in seeding.

Lost—Saturday night, new gray silk glove on Main street. Finder leave at McAtee & Aiken. Mrs. Geo. Aiken.

P. W. Mahoney is among local sportsmen who landed their buck, returning Sunday with a nice specimen.

Mrs. Anna Keithly of Pendleton is a guest this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Jones in this city.

Mrs. Casha Shaw, pioneer resident of Clark's canyon, was transacting business in town Tuesday.

Past Noble Grand club will give a card party Oct. 4 at I. O. O. F. hall, 25c. Everybody invited.

Lost—22 Remington rifle between L. Palmer dairy ranch and Lexington. Reward. Henry Peck. 29-30

Mr. and Mrs. Nils Johnson of Dry Fork were business visitors in the city Tuesday.

Cooperation
 When you see a player on a football team make a touchdown, do you ever stop to think that he could not have done this without the cooperation of the rest of the team? Cooperation cannot be confined to athletic teams; but must be carried on by everyone in all phases of life.

If you would stop to consider—almost everything you use or do is the result of cooperation. Cooperation means working together to accomplish a common goal. Perhaps the hardest place to cooperate is in the home. Yet, it seems we can cooperate with people outside our home. The ones who would do more for us than anyone else, our immediate family, are the ones with whom it is hardest to cooperate, because we do not try to do our part. In the home many times we take the attitude of, "Let the other fellow do it" instead of doing our utmost to cooperate with one another.

In school we are very slack in the matter of cooperation. A few examples are talking when we have been requested not to do so, and not getting our lessons in on time. If cooperation were there we would think of the teacher and of our fellow students when we fail to do our part. Cooperation in school is absolutely necessary, and cannot be practiced too much. Cooperation is an essential part of everyone's life and right now is not too soon to begin to acquire a knowledge of it.

Girls' Gym
 The girls' gym class has elected four leaders who chose sides for the coming semester. The leaders are Ethyl Hughes, Juanita Morgan, Arleta Ashbaugh and Genevieve Hanna. These teams will play each other in volley ball, baseball and basketball.

The Three Minute Bell
 It seems that the students in the assembly from 8:30 to 9:00 and from 12:30 to 1:00 do not understand why the three minute bell is rung. After the bell rings they keep talking, and Mr. Pevey has to call their attention to the fact. Last week some of the students didn't pay any attention to the warning, and as a result had an hour to make up after school in Mr. Pevey's room. It seems as though it would be much easier for both the students and teachers if the students would obey the rules of the high school. After all, these rules are made for the betterment of the school as a whole.

Club News
 The girls who won letters in athletics last year were awarded boy's size letters, but now they have received the regular girls' letters, which are smaller. The girls receiving awards were Juanita Morgan, Lorena Wilson, Ethyl Hughes and Jennie Swendig.

The Benzine Ring held a meeting Thursday evening at which Ed Dick was initiated. After the initiation a short program was given which was enjoyed by all.

Mr. Winter used the boys' and girls' gym periods of last week to test the eyes and take the weight and height of all the students.

Your eyes overwork in Fog Light

...but you are unaware of it until after the damage is done!

SEEING LIGHT

FOG LIGHT

DIM LIGHT

When you try to read or sew or do any exacting eye-work in very dim light, your eyes send you an immediate distress signal. That is why dim light seldom causes eyestrain—it makes you move at once to a well lighted place.

The damage occurs in "FOG LIGHT"! You don't recognize "Fog Light" immediately—perhaps because you are accustomed to it at your favorite reading chair or sewing corner. It isn't bad enough to cause your eyes to protest! They just quietly tighten their muscles and try to see better—and do it well enough to keep you from realizing what is the matter until serious eyestrain develops.

Fortunately, science has now given us an amazingly accurate and sensitive instrument—the Sight Meter—for measuring light. Its needle responds instantly to the shadow of your finger passing across its dial, or to the faint glow of a cigarette. Now, by means of the Sight Meter, our home lighting expert can show you how to arrange the lighting of your home exactly as it should be—without glare, without "Fog Light," without waste. This service is free. Our local office will welcome your request for it.

New Study and Reading Lamp Eliminates Eyestrain!

This eye-benefitting, sight-conserving lamp is endorsed by the Illuminating Engineering Society of America. Designed primarily for study and reading, this lamp furnishes the correct quantity and quality of light for every visual task. It distributes its light over a wide area. The shade, which is of the highest quality parchment, is white inside for greater reflecting power and deep enough to conceal the light source. Made in a variety of attractive styles. Prices begin at $5.95, bulb included.

What's New in COATS

$14.75

New-season coats are longer than they were last year, with a smooth-fitting, natural shoulder line! Sleeves are generally less intricate and their fullness is confined to below the elbow.

And fur collars—they're really revolutionized, with ripple revers, pull-through scarf effects, tea-time effects, rippled jabots, double question mark and frame collar, and notched lapel shawls. In the right Fall colors—low-priced!

and SUITS

Swagger suits—and how women love them!—have longer coats, too, (reaching approximately the skirt length) and arm-holes are deeper to tie in with the general fashion trend. Many of these smart suits have vestees or sham vestees, which makes the suits warmly practical. These are developed in handsome tweeds and monotones in a range of smart Fall colors!

SEE Penney's first showing of these new Fall Fashions! Just arrived—ready for you now in all their smart lines, colors, fabrics, furs!
