

Local Happenings

J. Logie Richardson and friend, T. L. Hannint, president of Steel Tank and Pipe company of Portland, enjoyed several successful hunts the first of the week. On Monday they went out and got a nice bag of birds, and on Tuesday they landed a nice buck in two hours time after they hit the timber. They got another nice bag of birds Wednesday, following which hunt Mr. Hannint left for home satisfied that this country is indeed a game paradise.

W. V. Pedro departed Tuesday for his new location near Gold Beach, Walter Corley of Ione trucking down his personal effects. After following the sheep game here for some ten years, in which time "Bill" made many friends hereabouts, he fell victim to the lure of the coast country as offering a promising future for the same line of endeavor. A host of well wishes accompany him to his new home.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernor Sackett, who spent a week visiting at the home of Mrs. Sackett's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Notson, returned to their home at Salem on Monday. They were accompanied as far as Portland by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Notson, who started on their way to Seattle from where they will sail on November 17 for the orient and the mission field of Tibet near the Chinese border.

Mrs. Adelyn O'Shea, former teacher in the local schools for several years who is now located as bookkeeper with a firm in Seaside, visited the first of the week at the home of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cohn. Her son, Dick, is attending military school near Tacoma.

Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Ferguson arrived in town Friday from their home at Gold Beach, visiting since with relatives and friends. Though Mrs. Ferguson's health has been poor, she is showing improvement and withstood the trip quite well.

Anson Wright and son Clyde were business visitors in the city Tuesday morning from their home in the McKinney creek section. Good showers are reported out their way, enhancing growing conditions.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Kinsman of McMinnville, former Heppner residents, were in the city the first of the week looking after property interests and enjoying a renewal of old-time acquaintances.

Mr. and Mrs. Harley Hall, Billy Church and Mrs. Everett Downing of Portland are visiting this week at the Henry Hapgood and Bert Kane homes and enjoying some of the sport of hunting.

Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Hansen of Flora, Wallowa county, arrived the end of the week for a visit at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Slocum.

Mrs. Andrew Kelly was called to The Dalles Wednesday afternoon by the serious illness of her mother who was visiting at the home of another daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Akers were up from Portland over the week end visiting at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barlow.

Dr. J. P. Stewart, Eye-Sight Specialist of Pendleton, will be at the HEPPNER HOTEL on WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 31st. Hours 1:00 to 6:00 p. m.

F. B. Nickerson departed Monday evening for his annual hunt on Lonesome creek over in Grant county with a party of old hunting cronies.

Mrs. William C. Hayes arrived the first of the week for a visit at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Nickerson.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Cash motored to Walla Walla Sunday in response to word of the serious illness of Mr. Cash's sister.

S. E. Notson and J. L. Gault motored to Portland Monday on business, returning home Tuesday evening.

Among recent successful hunters going out after the elusive deer are Earl Eskelson and Gene Ferguson.

Mrs. Hal L. Stiles of Portland arrived the first of the week to visit her mother, Mrs. Josie Jones.

Found—On Main street Sunday, bag of car tools. Hubert Albee.

Wanted—A single bed or twin beds. Inquire Gazette Times. It.

Josephine Mahoney left for Portland Sunday to visit friends.

from the liberal element of both of the old political parties, will probably be born at a convention to be held in one of the coast counties with a number of the prominent Progressive leaders of the state in attendance.

In upholding the validity of the municipal debt refunding act of 1933 the state supreme court reiterated the principle that "the power of the legislature to enact a general law applicable alike to all cities is paramount and supreme over any conflicting charter provision or ordinance of any municipality, city or town." While the act authorizes city councils to refund matured bonds without submitting the proposition to the voters, attorneys here point out that it does not authorize the waiver of tax levies provided by bonding ordinances for the retirement of bonds. Six Oregon cities have already taken advantage of the refunding act and at least 17 others are expected to do so, according to attorneys appearing before the supreme court in defense of the measure.

Harriett C. Long, state librarian, has sent out an S. O. S. call for donations of books on psychology, diesel engines and current problems. The books, according to Miss Long, are needed to supply the demand from adults who are enrolling in the night classes being sponsored by Uncle Sam to provide jobs for needy teachers. Many of these students are unable to buy textbooks and the resources of practically every library in the state have been exhausted by the demand. A few libraries are buying additional books on these subjects but most of the libraries are without funds to finance purchases at this time, hence the appeal for donations.

Morrow county school districts reduced their debt load by nearly $54,000 during the past year according to figures compiled by C. A. Howard, state superintendent of public instruction. Outstanding bonds were reduced from $200,100 to $182,400 and the school warrant debt was whittled down from $136,643 to $100,687.

Reports from every county in the state show a reduction of more than $4,000,000 in the school debt burden. Outstanding bonds have been reduced during the year by $1,326,862 to a net of $17,264,775 while the warrant debt of the school districts which on June 30, 1933, had mounted to the staggering total of $6,065,563, is now down to $3,353,935, a reduction of $2,701,627.

Howard points out that the progress made by the school districts against their debt load in the midst of the recent depression was made possible largely through curtailment of activities and reduction of teachers' salaries. Nearly 50 per cent of the schools of the state have discontinued courses in physical education, many others have discontinued music courses and still others have dropped vocational subjects.

Oregon's outstanding bonded indebtedness has been reduced by more than $10,000,000 during the past six years, according to a report by State Treasurer Holman. The state debt which reached its peak in 1928 at $63,325,710 is now down to $52,534,510 and includes $25,375,900 in Veterans' bonus bonds, $34,866,750 in highway bonds, $2,172,760 in district interest bonds and $210,000 in farm credit bonds. Partially offsetting this indebtedness are assets valued at $26,394,388, reducing the net debt to $26,270,122. Most of these assets are held by the Veterans' bonus commission and include first mortgages covering bonus loans, contracts of sale, farm and city property taken in on foreclosure, and cash.

Budget director Henry Hanzen has announced that he expects to recommend to the next legislature that the pay cuts put into effect by the 1933 session be continued for another two years. Condition of the state's finances is not sufficiently improved to justify restoration of the old pay scale, in the opinion of the budget director. Hanzen's announcement comes as a blow to the hopes of hundreds of state employees who had been looking forward to an increase in the monthly pay check after the present "economy" act expires next March.

BE as careful of your eyes as a watchmaker is of his... DON'T TRY TO READ IN

Fog light

You know when light is too bright or too dim. Yet how often have you settled down to read or work under a light that was neither dim nor bright and wondered why your eyes became tired? That's "Fog Light"—the dangerous light zone in which a watchmaker never works.

Your eyes won't tell you until it is too late—but the Sight Meter can. It has only one "electric eye," but it registers instantly the condition of light you use in reading, studying, sewing or working.

Don't strain your eyes night after night, year after year, under light that is in the dangerous "Fog Light" zone. Let our Home Lighting Expert measure the lighting everywhere in your home, accurately and scientifically, with the Sight Meter. Arrange for this free "check" of your lighting with our nearest office. The appointment will be made to suit your convenience.

*"FOG LIGHT" is the danger-zone between seeing light and dim light. It is inadequate for reading or any severe visual work, yet it gives no clear warning to your eyes. Your vision is adjusted to it by harmful tension, which, if repeated for a prolonged period, results in eyestrain. Only the Sight Meter detects "Fog Light" accurately and scientifically.

Every school child deserves this STUDY AND READING LAMP

This new design study and reading lamp has an inverted open-top bowl of diffusing glass under its parchment shade, which produces the correct combination of direct and indirect illumination at all times. When this lamp is placed on a table, all seated around it see without eyestrain. This is why it is ideal for children, whose eyes are still developing. The specifications of this lamp are the result of a survey by the Illuminating Engineering Society. Made in various models which begin at $5.95, bulb included.
