

Local Happenings

Word received from Mrs. Grace Medlock Ackerman announces they are now situated at Kelso, Wash., where the children, Warner and Lloyd, are in school. The mills there are running three six-hour days a week, with common labor paid 45 cents an hour. There is lots of rain, but with the new location is enjoyed though old Heppner friends are missed.

Wilson Her and Pete Stenson of Newport were among elk hunters coming through Heppner the end of the week, and while in the city were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Aiken, brother-in-law and sister of Mr. Her who formerly resided in the Lexington section, but who has been absent from the county for some ten years.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Amort of Portland stopped over for a few hours in Heppner today to visit with Mrs. Rebecca Patterson, aunt of Mrs. Amort, and to enjoy a short visit with other relatives and friends. They were returning to the city from a business trip made by Mr. Amort to central and eastern Oregon points.

Martin Lovgren, who has farmed to these many years in the Eight Mile section, was looking after business here Wednesday. He reports a considerable water shortage out his way, and this fall has been compelled to haul water for ranch purposes. The reserve supply in many wells has failed, he says.

Cecil Lutkins was in town Tuesday from out Eight Mile way. For the last eight years, Cecil has been working off and on at highway construction work, having formerly been in the wheat raising game here. He is now making wood in the mountains, and came to town for supplies.

Noah Clark announces that he will hold a public sale at his farm on Eight Mile on Friday, November 16th. Dwight Misner will be the auctioneer in charge. Stock, farm implements and some household articles are to be found listed in the advertisement in another column.

Two Charlie Iremongers from over Fossil way were through the city Tuesday on their way to the elk haunts. The two Charlies are cousins, and are more specifically designated by the initials C. F. and C. W. Both are prominently identified with affairs in the Wheeler county seat.

Mrs. Eph Eskelson was called to Pendleton on Sunday to see her sister, Mrs. Ruth Barnett, who is very ill at her home in that city. Returning home later, Mrs. Eskelson reports the condition of her sister but slightly improved.

Ed Bergstrom, who was in the city on Monday from the lower Eight Mile section, reports sufficient rain to keep the grain growing nicely, and the country out his way looks good right now.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Barratt arrived home Monday evening from Portland, driving a new automobile received in adjustment on their car which was wrecked a few weeks ago.

Mrs. Ernest Heliker and daughter, Miss Harriet, were visitors in town Saturday from their home in the Ione section, Miss Heliker undergoing a tonsilectomy while here.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Saling came over Monday from their home at Prairie City to attend the funeral of Mrs. Saling's nephew, Tom Ingram, held at Hardman Tuesday.

Dr. J. P. Stewart, Eye-Sight Specialist of Pendleton, will be at the HEPPNER HOTEL on WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 14th. Hours 9:00 a. m. to 6:00 p. m.

HARDMAN

By LUCILLE FARRENS

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 3:00 at the I. O. O. F. hall for Tom Ingram, aged 43, who died suddenly last Sunday afternoon at the Justus place near Heppner where he was working. Rev. Benton of Heppner conducted the services in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives who had come to pay their last tribute to our old time friend. Interment was in the I. O. O. F. cemetery near here where the American Legion officiated.

Thomas Ingram was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ingram, old-time residents of this community and spent most of his life in and around Hardman. He was an ex-service man, spending 11 months in France. He leaves to mourn his loss his widow, Mrs. Raechel Ingram, and small son Billy, his mother, Mrs. Mary Howard, one brother, Garland, and a number of sisters and other relatives besides a host of friends. The community extends its sympathy to the bereaved family.

Mrs. Neil Knighten was in attendance at the Columbia Union Christian Endeavor conference at Heppner during the week end.

Mrs. Anna Heiny was a week-end guest of Mrs. Irl Clary and family. The local Sunday school is having a new-member contest. The contest is arranged to be a representation of the London-Melbourne fight with Jean Leathers and Roland Farrens as captains.

The high and grade schools entertained the public at a Halloween party on Oct. 31. A general good time is reported with most of the community folks in attendance.

The play, "Beads on a String," which was presented by the community October 27, was a success, both financially and in the manner of presentation. The theme of the play centered around the activities of a number of relatives to win the favor of a rich uncle and consequently get a large share of the inheritance. Those taking part were: Ethel Knighten, who played the part of Uncle Benjamin; Charlotte Adams, his niece; Elma Harshman, Forest Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Davis, Neil Knighten, their son Bennie, Ruth Nyland, their colored maid, Lester Ashbaugh, Bennie's friend, Mollie, Pat Bleakman, Bennie's sweetheart, the detective, Jim Stevens, who carried the comedy role to perfection. $40.90 was taken in from the play, and will go for the benefit of the Sunday school. A free dance followed the play which was well attended and well enjoyed by all.

Among those who are out to enjoy the elk season is Bernard Bleakman.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hams have moved into rooms in Byland's house where they will reside during the winter months.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rowell and family recently moved into the house belonging to Blaine Chapel where they will live during the winter months.

Mrs. Harvey Harshman and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Wright were visiting relatives here one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Buschke and Mr. and Mrs. Everett Harshman are both the proud possessors of new radios purchased recently.

Mrs. J. W. Stevens recently returned from Portland where she spent the week visiting friends and relatives. She also visited her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Insley, at Salem.

Jim Stevens cut his finger severely last Monday while cutting wood. He was rushed to the doctor who took several stitches to close the cut.

Many Counties Now Organized by Producers

So enthusiastic has been the response of growers and shippers throughout Eastern Oregon to the program of the newly formed Oregon Producers and Shippers Association that organization work throughout the state will be completed before the end of this month. This was the prediction of H. C. Boyer, acting chairman of the organization. Mr. Boyer revealed that practically every county in Eastern Oregon has now formed county units of the state association, and inquiries from growers and shippers in the western part of the state indicate their eagerness to join.

Definite plans are now under way for a big state-wide organization early in January," said Mr. Boyer. "At that time we will elect permanent officers and select a board of directors representing every agricultural and shipping industry throughout the upstate counties of Oregon."

"The sole purpose of the organization is to combat the wave of radicalism which appears to be sweeping over the entire nation. Producers and shippers in our upstate counties lost hundreds of thousands of dollars last summer as a result of the Portland longshoremen's strike, which, in our belief, was fomented by a very small group of radicals."

Mr. Boyer revealed that among the sponsors of the association are such men as Herman Oliver, president of the Cattle and Horse Raisers association of Oregon; James B. Adams, president of the Eastern Oregon Wheat League; J. G. Barratt, vice-president of the Oregon Wool Growers' association; I. A. Johnson, widely known Wheeler county merchant; Glenn Marsh, general manager of the Apple Growers association; Jay Dobbins, prominent Walla Walla county sheepman; W. H. Steiwer, Wheeler county stockman, and many others who are leaders among the producers and shippers of the communities.

PLAN TURKEY SHOOT.
Tentative plans have been laid by the American Legion for a turkey shoot to be held at the rod and gun club grounds on Sunday, Nov. 18. All kinds of games will be staged in connection with the shoot, according to the plans.

Fog Light

SEEING LIGHT

"FOG LIGHT"

DIM LIGHT

● Once in a while you become very conscious of "Fog Light"—when you try to match a piece of goods, for instance, or look closely at the color. Then your eyes rebel at "Fog Light", and you want to go out in the daylight—the kind of light your eyes were made to see in!

Electric light is almost as satisfactory for vision as sunlight, if it is properly used. And now the science of seeing has been added to the science of electricity, and an instrument as sensitive as your own eyes has been developed to measure light.

The difference between your own eyes and the Sight Meter is that the Sight Meter's sensitive needle-indicator tells you in a fraction of a second whether the light you use for reading or working is good enough. Your patient eyes won't tell you for months or years—long after it is too late.

An experiment with the Sight Meter in your own home will be interesting. Just notify our nearest office if you wish our Home Lighting Expert to call. There is no charge for this service, and you are under no obligation to follow her recommendations. But remember, you have only two eyes, and they can never be replaced or completely repaired. The cost of better lighting—and eye-saving—is seldom more than a few cents a month.

*"FOG LIGHT" is the danger-zone between seeing light and dim light. It is inadequate for reading or any severe visual work, yet it gives no clear warning to your eyes. Your vision is adjusted to it by harmful tension, which, if repeated for a prolonged period, results in eyestrain. Only the Sight Meter detects "Fog Light" accurately and scientifically.
