

Local Happenings

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Noble enjoyed a trip to Yakima valley over the week end, visiting several points of interest in that part of Washington and going almost up to Mt. Rainier—in fact would have gone on through the Natches pass if it had not been for the deep snow encountered. At Natches they visited with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hall, former residents here and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Noble, and they looked up Harley Adkins and Clair Walton, other former Heppnerites, who are with the railroad company at Yakima. Mr. and Mrs. Hall have a 16-acre tract of land within the limits of Natches that is being intensively cultivated to numerous varieties of fruits and are getting along well. Their daughter is a teacher in the schools of Yakima.

Mrs. Wayne Conroy of Klamath Falls, sister of D. M. Ward of Ione and Mrs. Flora Dimick of Heppner, spent the past week visiting her relatives in this county. Mr. and Mrs. Ward, Mrs. Dimick and Mrs. Conroy motored to the old family home at Lone Rock Armistice Day and joined the other members of the family in a reunion, the first time they had all been together in fifteen years. Mrs. Viola Ward, their mother, returned with them, and is visiting with Mrs. Dimick here for a short time. Mrs. Conroy departed Wednesday for her home at Klamath Falls. Mr. and Mrs. Ward taking her on the way as far as The Dalles.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Kincaid of the Ione section, were visitors here on Tuesday. Mr. Kincaid reports his fall-sown grain coming along well, although he was rather late in getting the seeding done. He was also out elk hunting during the past week but failed to bag any game. His son, who was with the party, knocked a big fellow over the rim rocks that landed some 300 feet below, but thinking it had only been wounded and gotten away, he told another party if he found him to put his tag on the animal; this the other party did and young Kincaid was sorry that he did not make a follow-up and get his own tag on the elk.

Word received here by Mrs. Ealor Huston, worthy matron of Ruth chapter No. 32, O. E. S., announced the death of E. H. Buhn at his home in Grants Pass on Monday. Mr. Buhn was formerly in the jewelry business at Heppner and on leaving here he disposed of his business to J. O. Peterson. He was a member of Ruth chapter, and the announcement stated the funeral would be held at Grants Pass this, Thursday, forenoon.

Rev. Joseph Pope, pastor of the Methodist church, spent Monday and Tuesday in Hood River where he attended a gathering of church workers headed by Dr. Jabez Harrison, superintendent of the Portland district, and Miss Tucker, director of religious education of the same district. He reports an enthusiastic and profitable two days in religious instruction.

The Home Economics committee of Rhea Creek grange are sponsoring a dance to be given at their hall on Saturday evening. The proceeds of the dance will go toward cleaning up the expenses in connection with repairs to the grange property which was seriously damaged by the flood of last May.

Harry French was in town Tuesday from the Camas Prairie ranch. He reports work as started on the clearing of the right-of-way for the completion of the Rock creek sector of Heppner-Spray road, and if the present good weather prevails the entire job will be finished before winter is over.

Dan Hanshaw, who farmed for many years in the Sand Hollow section, came up from his present home at Hillsboro the end of the week. He gets back to Heppner about once a year nowadays and enjoys renewing old acquaintances. He is enjoying good health and fair prosperity, he says.

W. H. French, south-Hardman resident whose Blue mountain farm adjoins the Heppner-Spray road, was in town Tuesday. With the final gap in the Spray road soon to be completed, Mr. French is in hopes there may be some real timber development in his section.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Green were Eight Mile folks in Heppner Saturday afternoon. Mr. Green is of the opinion that much more moisture should come to his section before freezing weather sets in; it will be added insurance of a better wheat yield the coming harvest.

Jim Helms is busy like a cranberry merchant these days, getting ready for the big sale at his farm home south of Lexington on Tuesday, the 20th of November. G. L. Bennett, auctioneer, is to cry the sale.

Poster Collins was in town Tuesday from the Camas prairie farm south of Hardman, and stated that as yet they have no snow out his way, but that moisture has been rather plentiful of late.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Turner spent the week end in Portland, attending the U. of O.-O. S. C. football game and enjoying a visit with their daughters, Jeanette and Anabel, who were in the city from Eugene where they are attending the university.

Clifford Sims visited for a short time yesterday with old-time Heppner friends while on his way home to Milton from Arlington. His position as receiver for banks at both Arlington and Milton keeps him on the road a good bit these days.

Frank Papinau is in Heppner hospital with a badly broken leg received when his team ran away while he was cutting wood in the mountains. He received a compound fracture of the leg, besides a sprained ankle.

Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Gemmill and Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Crawford spent the Armistice Day holiday in Pendleton, taking in the Legion festivities and enjoying a visit with the W. E. Moore family, former Heppnerites.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Bloom spent the week end at Portland, where Mr. Bloom had matters of business to attend to. Armistice vacation allowed many of our school faculty to make visits to outside points.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Schwarz of Prineville spent the week end in Heppner visiting at the homes of their respective parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schwarz and Mr. and Mrs. Vawter Crawford.

Bub Clark and son Ernest, and Merle Kirk were members of a successful elk hunting party returning to town the end of the week. Frank Shively was also a member of the party.

J. S. Johnson, who farms near Ione, was looking after business here on Tuesday. He is much pleased with the way grain is coming along in his part of the county.

Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Ferguson, Jasper Crawford and Roderick Thomson motored to Portland Saturday morning in time for the annual grid battle between Oregon and O. S. C.

Lost at Rhea Creek Grange hall Saturday night, Nov. 10, a lady's brown coat with fur at collar and sleeve, and brown silk lining. Reward. Finder leave at G. T. office.

Dr. A. D. McMurdo was the only lucky hunter in a party of six hunting in the Desolation vicinity during the elk season which closed Sunday. He bagged a spike bull.

The nine-months-old baby of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Majeski of the Lexington vicinity is quite ill with pneumonia at the home of Mrs. Maggie Hunt in this city.

Bert Johnson and Walter Eubanks of Ione and Harold Robinson of Portland were in town Tuesday for several hours, transacting business.

Ben Cox, who has been in a critical condition for some time at Heppner hospital is reported by his physician to be improving.

Doc Brown, prominent resident of Condon, was a visitor in Heppner on Saturday, while looking after some business matters.

Mrs. Clara Beamer and daughter, Miss Irene, spent the week end visiting in Portland. They returned home Sunday evening.

H. O. Ely was among residents of the Ione district transacting business in town Tuesday.

Watch for the Donut Car Saturday; it will call at your home.

Winners Announced in Safety Jingle Contest

"Life is too short for that pace, said Sylvester. As he sped around a truck on a curve near Westchester. His widow mourned long, and the thought sore distressed 'er, That nothing was found, but the vest, of Sylvester."

Submitted by Mrs. Mary S. Graham, 353 Iowa St., Salem, the above safety jingle was awarded first prize by the judges who scanned several hundred entries in the contest conducted by this paper and the Oregon State Motor association, as a feature of the statewide "Let's Quit Killing" campaign to select a successor to the well-known but worn-out "Here lies the body of William Jay, who died maintaining the right of way."

Second prize went to Mrs. Paul Nye, Brownsville, who submitted the following "pome": "A neighbor of mine named Johnny Greene Was the fastest driver I've ever seen. Now he and his car are a total wreck, For he couldn't stop to save his neck."

Third prize was awarded to S. Shirley Roberts, 304 Pacific Ave., West Forest Grove, for the following jingle: "An opera singer ran a race, But found his car was losing place. The light was red, He went ahead. Now angels hark to William's bass."

Fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh prizes went to Mrs. A. J. Somppi, RFD 5 Albany; W. Taylor Cooper, Box 553 Newport; Anna Winterhalter, 911 Narreagan St., Medford; and Eva M. Ferguson, Toledo.

Many excellent jingles were received during the period of the contest, and its sponsors expressed gratification at the large number of persons who showed interest in the "Let's Quit Killing" drive by their entries. Prize money checks have been mailed to the seven winners.

The Donut car will be around Saturday; watch for it.
